San Francisco Ruling May Cloud Marin Gun Control

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO —A legal cloud over Marin County's proposed gun registration ordinance was cast yesterday by the California Court of Appeal in a ruling striking down a similar San Francisco ordinance.

The court ruled that the city ordinance was invalid because the state had preempted the field of gun control laws and also because the ordinance conflicted with state gun laws.

San Francisco's law would have required gunowners to register their weapons with the police, but unlike Marin's ordinance, also would have empowered the chief of police to suspend, cancel or revoke a registration certificate "for cause."

Marin's ordinance would empower the sheriff to cancel a registration only if a misstatement were found on the application by a gun owner to register his weapon, noted Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

Terming this difference "substantial," Maloney added that "no one can predict what the Supreme Court will do." San Francisco City Atty. Thomas M. O'Connor yesterday said the city will appeal to the state Supreme Court to overturn the ruling.

Marin's gun registration ordinance was adopted in June by the board of supervisors, but suspended when its opponents successfully petitioned to put it on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. All voters in the county will be eligible to vote on it (Proposition A), but the ordinance would apply only to gun owners in unincorporated areas.

Registration with the sheriff's office would cost $1 per firearm, or up to $10 for collections of 10 or more firearms.

The Sausalito City Council has agreed to enact a gun registration ordinance after the election, regardless of whether the county's ordinance passes.

The Sausalito ordinance is even more narrowly drawn than Marin's according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, who cautioned the council in June that it has no more than "a reasonable chance of being upheld." The city's proposed ordinance, he said, requires registration of all firearms, but gives no power to police to revoke a registration permit.

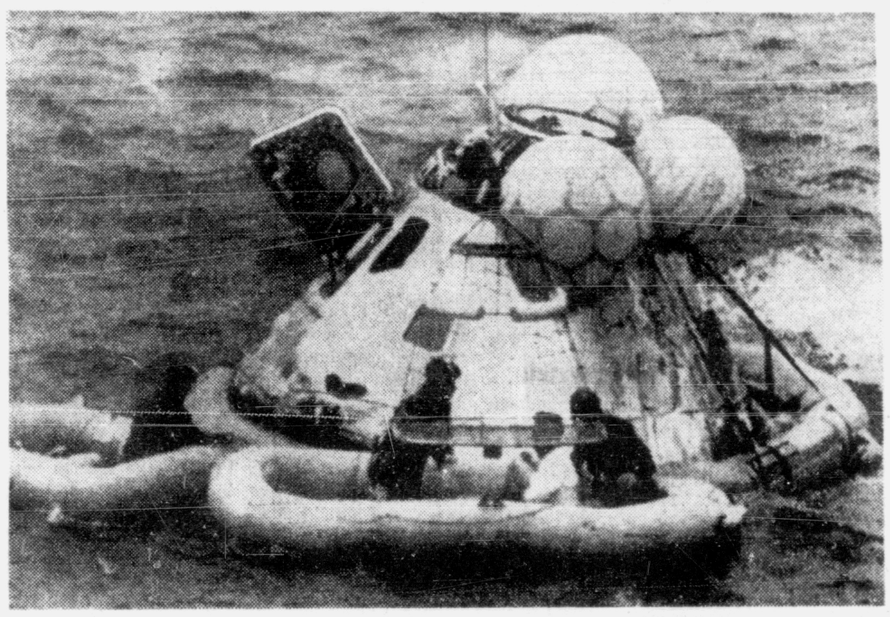
Jordan noted that a key objection to the San Francisco ordinance by the court yesterday was that it was a "licensing" law because it gave police power to revoke a registration permit.

Jordan said he had not yet read the court's decision, but that if it shows the court is not going to allow any local gun laws, then the city's ordinance will be invalid.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said he was "confident the case will be upheld on appeal, even to the United States Supreme Court."

The unanimous opinion of the three-judge court, written by Judge Wakefield Taylor, ordered suspension of enforcement of San Francisco's law. "We conclude that once state legislation has partially regulated this field, further statewide uniform treatment appears to be the more reasonable approach," he wrote.

Apollo Astronauts Ride Craft To Near-Pinpoint Splashdown



HISTORIC MISSION OVER — The Apollo 7 astronauts Capt. Walter Schirra, Maj. Donn E. Few Anxious Minutes As Wind Tips Capsule

ABOARD USS ESSEX (AP) — Apollo 7's astronauts rode their "magnificent flying machine" to a near-pinpoint landing in the Atlantic Ocean today and were reported in high spirits and apparently good physical shape after being ferried to this aircraft carrier by helicopter.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham gave searchers 20 anxious minutes before they were found floating in serene seas just five miles from the Essex.

Officials reported Apollo 7 landed just one-third of a mile off the actual aiming point in an example of almost perfect markmanship. Exact location was 1,100 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham were the first U.S. astronauts to re-enter without wearing their helmets. They elected to leave them off because they wanted to be free to blow their noses to prevent possible pressure damage to their ears and sinuses as a result of head cold congestion.

EARDRUMS ALL RIGHT

One doctor, who made a quick examination of the astronauts, said "there definitely were no ruptured eardrums."

The successful landing climaxed a sensational 11-day space voyage which put the United States on the doorstep to the moon.

After a blazing trip back through the atmosphere, Apollo 7 drifted to earth, dangling under its three large orange and white parachutes. It struck the water at an angle and the astronauts immediately cut the shroud lines.

WAVE ACTION

Wave action tipped the 6 and one-half-ton craft over so that it was bottoms-up, which was anticipated. This submerged their radio antennae and helicopters were unable to zero in on the beacon. They were further hampered by clouds and a light rain that reduced visibility.

But within seven minutes Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham had inflated flotation bags that righted their spaceship. Helicopters then located the beacon and were overhead quickly.

Fifty-five minutes after the 4:13 a.m. PDT splashdown, the astronauts were deposited by helicopter on the rain-swept deck of the Essex.

BEARDED TRIO

The bearded trio appeared shaky and tired as they stepped onto a red carpet rolled up to the helicopter. But they waved happily as hundreds of sailors in dress whites cheered and a band played "Anchors Aweigh."

Physicians reported after a quick examination that the three felt fine and were in good spirits.

They were all smiles later when they received a telephone call from President Johnson at the White House.

"I salute the three of you as well as the thousands of men on the space team," the President said. "We here in the Capitol and all over this country and the world are very proud of you this morning."

Eisele replied: "Thank you very much, Mr. President. It

J. E. Sheeks Named To Span Board

Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, a law partner of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was named to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board of Directors today in a 3-to-2 decision of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Sheeks will fill the term of Thomas D. Hardcastle, who resigned last month because of pressure of business. Hardcastle's term runs to Nov. 20, 1970.

Supervisor John F. McInnis nominated Sheeks, and won the backing of Ernest N. Kettenhofen, board chairman.

LBJ Signs Gun Curbs, Asks More

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson signed today a gun control law restricting inter-state sales of rifles, shotguns, and ammunition. He said it was the most comprehensive gun control law ever signed, but that "not nearly enough" had been done.

The President had called for licensing of gun owners and registration of all firearms, but he said "the voices of a powerful lobby—a gun lobby" have prevailed "for the moment in an election year."

"Big as this bill is, it still falls short," the President said because of the lack of licensing and registration provisions.

Climaxing years of controversy, the legislation won final approval from the Senate and the House shortly before Congress adjourned last week.

The legislation supplants the firearms section of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act passed within days of Kennedy's assassination.

Here are principal provisions from the new state bill:

Interstate sales of all firearms and ammunition by mail are prohibited, except among federally licensed manufacturers, importers, dealers and collectors.

Over-the-counter sales of firearms to nonresidents of a state are banned, except that a person can purchase a rifle or shotgun, but not a handgun, in an adjoining state if it is legal under the laws of both states.

In such out-of-state purchases, the buyer has to file an affidavit of eligibility and to allow time for a police check; the

Mill Valley Boat Harbor In Doubt

By ANNE BARDWELL

A stunned Mill Valley City Council learned last night that objections by the Army Corps of Engineers to a Richardson Bay development plan may bring to naught the city's seven-year dream of a small boat harbor.

At the heart of the matter was the question of whether or not the Nowell plan for 17 acres of fill and development would be able to handle spoils from the Saucelito Canal dredging, essential if the proposed municipal harbor is to have access to the bay. Any alternative might price spoils disposal — and the harbor — out of sight.

When the engineers' objections came to light — with the reading of a letter sent last week to County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost by Frank C. Boerger, corps' district engineer — developers Tom E. Nowell and William M. Nelson laid the blame on County Planner Paul C. Zucker, who has objected to their plans, which would include creation of two islands and high rise buildings.

Boerger wrote that the Nowell plan is "incompatible" with corps' dredging plans because it would eliminate 20 acres of spoils disposal area from the Richardson Bay Shoreline. It would also, Boerger said, require relocating the Saucelito Canal 70 feet northeast of its present alignment.

Boerger's report on the Nowell development's spoils capacity

Young Husband, Wife, Daughter Die In Head-On Petaluma Crash

Three members of a Nevada family were killed yesterday in a headon collision near the Petaluma Adobe State Historical Monument about a mile outside the Petaluma city limits.

Traveling a in a compact car were Jack Leete, 20, of South Shore, Lake Tahoe, whose parents live in Petaluma; his wife, Mary Ann, 18, formerly of Petaluma, and their daughter, Valerie, 3. They were pronounced dead at Hillcrest Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said their car, southbound on Old Adobe Road, collided with a northbound station wagon driven by Kenneth Anderson, 16, of Petaluma, about 1:45 p.m. The impact drove the front end of the Leete auto into the front seat.

Anderson, a student at Petaluma Senior High School, escaped with face cuts and was reported in good condition today in Hillcrest Hospital.

Cause of the crash has not been determined.

The Leete family had lived in Nevada for six months.

A native of Santa Rosa and educated there, Leete was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leete of Petaluma.

He is also survived by three brothers, Richard Leete, serving in Vietnam, Steve Leete of North Caroiina and Thomas Leete of Petalua; four sisters, Patricia, Kim and Lyn Leete, all of Petaluma, and Mrs. Jackian Thomas of Healdsburg.

Mrs. Leete was born and educated in Petaluma. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mezzanatto of Santa Rosa, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Eva Bordessa of Cotati.

Their daughter, Valerie, was born in Santa Rosa.

Commuter Tax Hit As Colonialism

By BONNIE BARD

SANTA ROSA — San Francisco's tax plans for residents of surrounding counties were likened yesterday to England's colonial era in America as Douglas J. Maloney, Marin County counsel, argued in Sonoma Superior Court that the proposed 1 per cent commuter tax is taxation without representation.

Appearing before Judge Lincoln F. Mahan with Maloney, Richard Moore, Alameda County counsel, charged the proposed San Francisco tax is illegal under both state and federa, constitutions. They spoke on behalf of their counties as well as Contra Costa, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

"San Francisco and the commuting counties may not be the colonies, nor is Joseph Alioto King George III, nor is a tea bag a brown bag, but the same principle applies," Maloney said.

After hearing oral arguments for more than two hours, Judge Mahan took the matter under submission, but did not indicate when a decision would be made.

Referring to the measure as "gross discrimination," Maloney said San Francisco is flouting the state Legislature which denies cities and coun-

AN UNINVITED GUEST VIEWS SPLASHDOWN

ABOARD THE U.S. ESSEX (AP) — The Apollo 7 recovery operations had an interested uninvited witness today.

The Ekholog, a Russian trawler identified by the U.S. Navy as an intelligence ship, shadowed the Essex throughout the early daylight hours as the aircraft carrier sped toward the Apollo splashdown point.

The ship was faintly visible from the flight deck of the Essex.

Ninety minutes after the astronauts came aboard the Essex, the trawler was reported less than two miles away.

Sirhan's Home Search Defended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two policemen said today that two brothers of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan gave permission to search the Sirhan home a few hours after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy fas mortally wounded on June 5.

The prosecution in the case of the 24-year-old Jordanian charged with murder in Kennedy's death conceded that the officers, William E. Brandt and Dante A. Lodolo, had no search warrants.

And one officer said that one Sirhan brother, Adel, 29, indicated a belief that Sirhan was involved in the fatal shooting.

These were the highlights of a Superior Court hearing on a defense motion to suppress evidence found in the home.

UKIAH MURDER

Sister Testifies As Defense Rests

SAN JOSE (UPI) — The defense completed its case in the lengthy murder trial of two Washington State farm youths yesterday with testimony by the sister of one of the defendants.

The trial of Thomas E. Braun and Leonard E. Maine, accused of murder, kidnap, rape and assault, was then recessed until tomorrow when final arguments will begin. The case was expected to go to the jury by the end of the week.

Maine and Braun, both 20 and of Ritzville, Wash., are accused of the fatal shooting of Timothy Luce, 17, son of the Lake County district attorney, in a Hopland vineyard Aug. 21, 1967.

Luce's girlfriend, Susan Bartolomei, 18, Ukiah, was kidnaped, raped at a Turlock motel, shot five times and left for dead in a gully in the Sierra foothills.

The suspects were arrested a few hours after Miss Bartolomei, now partially paralized, was found beside a road.

The Washington youths also were accused of killing a Seattle housewife and a Portland salesman during a weekend spree in three states.

Braun's sister, Mrs. Barbara Rosario, 21, Odessa, Wash., testified yesterday they were products of a broken home and "Tommy didn't get along too well" with his father.

Mrs. Rosario said she and her brother went to live with their father, Reinholt, on his wheat farm in Ritzville, Wash., after their mother died at the age of 28 due to a criminal abortion.

"Father and Tommy didn't get along too well," she said. "Dad didn't feel that Tommy was really his son, and Tom was aware of this."

Defense attorney Merle Orchards claims Braun was sensitive regarding the possibility he might be illegitimate—a sensitivity that led to mental illness. Orchard contends Braun is innocent by reason of insanity.

Mrs. Rosario said her parents separated when she and her brother were "very young" and they lived with their mother in Kettle Falls, Wash., until her death. The witness said "she was good to us and loved the kids but left us alone a lot."

Escaped Felon Shot To Death By FBI Agent

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — A gun-toting escaper from Nevada State Prison was shot to death by an FBI agent early today in a seacliff area home where he was holding two hostages.

Authorities said the suspect, James R. Gourley, 23, was dropped by one bullet in the throat as he passed a window after a four-hour seige. The hostages, two of six Gourley held during a 24-hour period, were unharmed.

TOOK CAR

Gourley kidnaped John Reese, 21, at a San Jose service station last night and fled in the youth's car. Law enforcement units followed his progress, but remained at a distance to protect the hostages.

They said Gourley purchased $1 worth of gasoline in Gilroy, and continued on to Aptos where he stopped at the home of Reese's uncle, Col. Ralph W. Hansen. He also took Colonal Hansen as hostage, but Mrs. Hansen managed to leave the house undetected and call police.

Police, Sheriff's deputies, California Highway Patrolmen and FBI agents quietly encircled the house. At about 2 a.m., one tear gas cannister was lobbed in the house, possibly taking Gourley by surprise. He was shot as he moved past the window.

SERVING 10 YEARS

Gourley had vowed not to be taken alive.

Gourley, whose father and stepmother live in San Jose, was serving 10 years to life at Nevada State Prison for his part in a kidnaping hoax in 1965. He escaped from the new minimum security prison at Carson City Thursday.

The fugitive showed up late Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wright in Gardnerville, Nev., about 10 miles south of Carson City.

Wright told authorities he was about to slam the door when Gourley shoved a .22 caliber pistol in his face and entered the home.

TWO NEIGHBORS

Authorities said Gourley picked up a .38 caliber revolver and some ammunition at the Wright home before herding the Wrights and two neighbors — Alex Scossa, 57, and his niece, Georgia, 14 — into Wright's 1967 sedan.

Sitting in the back seat with the two women, Gourley ordered Wright at gunpoint to drive him over the Sierras into Northern California. The hostages were released unharmed on a San Jose street corner, and the car was abandoned some distance away.

Clark Lauds New Crime Fighter Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, charged by Republicans with being lax on law and order, says the beginning operation of a federal agency marks a "new era in criminal justice."

Clark, commenting yesterday at the swearing in of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's top three officials, predicted swift growth for the agency for a $63-million start to a billion-dollar operation.

"This ceremony marks the beginning of a ne wera in criminal justice," Clark said. "It is the major opportunity of this century to fully professionalize law enforcement, modernize the judiciary and provide improvements in the corrections field."

The agency, set up under the omnibus crime control bill passed by Congress in June, also will channel funds to local and state law enforcers to train and equip personnel and upgrade salaries.

Although Clark didn't bring politics into his remarks, it was obvious he was eager to defend the Justice Department against Republican criticism that the department has done little to battle crime.

He said he hoped it would make "an immense difference to the public safety and individual liberty of our citizens."

Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court officiated at the ceremony outside Clark's office at which agency's administration Patrick V. Murphy and associate administrators Wesley A. Pomeroy and Dr. Ralph G. H. Siu, took the oaths of office.

New York's Municipal Labor Crisis Growing

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city today faced the greatest municipal labor crisis in its history with its 1.1 million pupil public school system paralyzed by a teachers' strike, its police patrolmen engaged in a work slowdown and its firemen set for their own slowdown.

Besieged by the ranks of organized labor, Mayor John V. Lindasy again called yesterday on the teachers' union to end its walkout "for the sake of the city," and told the uniformed services he would not bow to their wage demands.

But if the firemen go through with their slowdown, nearly 90,000 city employees will be engaged in either strikes or job action against the administration by tomorrow.

Lindsay declared he would "stand firm" on earlier agreements with the police and firemen saying that to reopen negotiations would set off a chain reaction among city employees and produce "complete anarchy in labor relations."

During the day police said 2,049 of the 23,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association called in sick while those who reported for work continued to bypass traffic offenders and perform "by the book."

The 10,500-member Uniformed Firefighters Association also voted to reject the city's contract offer and said that tomorrow firemen would stop performing nonemergency duties.

Rejecting the mayor's plea for a school truce, Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, said the strike would continue until the local board, administrator and principals in a Brooklyn experimental school district were removed.

The walkout, which has already cost 17 of 28 school days from the fall term, stems from the ouster of 80 white teachers in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

Democratic and Republican legislative leaders called on Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, and the state board of regents to use their powers to open the schools.

The action came after Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said he would not call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the crisis. He said Lindsay has "the power mayor of the city to handle the situation."

Proposition 1-A Favored Over 9

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A growing number of California voters appear to be favoring the Prop. 1-a tax revision proposal over Prop. 9, the Watson initiative, the State Poll reported today.

Both measures are on the Nov. 5 ballot and the one which gets the largest majority vote wins.

Pollster Don M. Muchmore said the latest reading indicates 42 per cent of those sampled oppose Prop. 9 and 30 per cent favor. He said 39 per cent favor passage of Prop. 1-a and 26 per cent are against.

There are large groups of "don't know" responses in each case.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Release Denied In Murder Case

OAKLAND (AP) — A former San Francisco Painters Union accountant held on a Nevada murder warrant has been arraigned on a charge of interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

At the arraignment yesterday, bond for Carl Black was set at $50,000 on the unlawful flight charge. But U.S. Commissioner Cameron Wolfe said Black could not be released on bail because the Nevada warrant has precedence.

The warrant charges Black with the murder of Ralph Alsup, 53, business agent of a Nevada AFL-CIO Plumbers Union local.

Black

Before Alsup's murder Jan. 16, 1966, Black was cleared of conspiracy charges in 1965 killings of Painters Union officials Dow Wilson in San Francisco and Lloyd Green in the East Bay.

Also charged in the Alsup slaying are Norman Call, 47, of Sacramento, and Thomas Hanley, 50, head of the American Federation of Casino and Gaming Employees in Las Vegas.

Call was extradited to Las Vegas for questioning in September from San Quentin prison where he is serving a life sentence for his part in the Green and Wilson murders.

Arms For Greece

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says the United States is resuming major military aid to Greece after a year and a half embargo.

The department said yesterday a number of U.S. planes and two minesweepers are being sent to Greece, ending an embargo imposed after a military junta seized control.

The department described the aid resumption as partial. The United States has supplied spare parts and small areas to Greece since the coup April 21, 1967.

Humane Trial Asked

BERKELEY (AP) — Two operators of a laboratory animal supply firm have asked for a jury trial on charges they were cruel to their animals.

Daniel Owyang and Peter Zamboanga pleaded innocent Monday in Municipal Court and were released on bail of $550 each.

They were charged with allowing some 47 dogs and 20 cats to go without food or water in filthy conditions at their Azo Laboratory Research Associates office.

Robert L. Flanders is president of Sleepy Hollow Homes Association.

Novelist Arrested

MADRID (AP) — Police today arrested underground novelist Gonzalo Arias, son of a Spanish supreme court justice and a UNESCO translator, for wearing a sandwich board demanding free elections in Spain.

They also arrested a University of Madrid student, Felix Villamediel, for wearing a similar sign.

Czech Puliout Starts

PRAGUE (UPI) — Polish troops today joined Hungarian forces in withdrawing from sections of Czechoslovakia they helped occupy in the Aug. 20-21 Warsaw Pact bloc invasion, the Russian press said.

In Moscow, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said both Hungarian and Polish forces had started to leave Czechoslovakia. It gave no indication Soviet troops had started to depart.

Onassis Yacht Tied Down By Bad Weather

The Kennedy children took a nonstop TWA flight to New York. They were accompanied by their grandmother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, and her husband.

All had attended the wedding Sunday of Mrs. John F. Kennedy to Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis on Scorpios, the small island in the Ionian Sea which he owns.

Mrs. Auchincloss' other daughter, Princess Lee Radziwill, and her husband, Prince Stanislaus Radziwill, were taking another plane to London, their home.

Where the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis were headed was their secret.

It was assumed they would set out on his palatial yacht soon for pleasanter points. But the storm that raged through their wedding Sunday on Scorpios Island kept up through Monday and into Tuesday.

The wedding guests flew to Athens yesterday and found the icy rain had preceded them, bringing a wave of wintry weather. The travelers spent the night in a downtown Athens hotel.

The Radziwills also were accompanied by their young son and daughter.

The homeward-bound group also included the only adult members of the Kennedy family who attended the wedding, two of the late President's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Also among those departing was the U.S. Secret Service man who had accompanied Mrs. Kennedy to Greece but to whose protection she is no longer entitled since her second marriage.

Policeman Indicted For Manslaughter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The grand jury returned a manslaughter indictment yesterday night against Michael O'Brien, a white policeman accused of the fatal shooting of a Negro mechanic.

O'Brien, 27, had been charged with murder after George Baskett, 28, was shot to death Sept. 29 in an alley near the Hall of Justice during a dispute touched off by a traffic mishap.

That charge was made moot when the district attorney's office decided to take the case before the grand jury.

Yosemite Fall Victim Named

YOSEMITE (UPI)—A woman who apparently fell from the top of Nevada Falls here has been identified as Evelyn Consoela Rosemann, 24, San Francisco.

Park officials said her body was found by a hiker Saturday. Authorities estimated the young woman had been dead for about a week.

A park spokesman said Miss Roseman apparently hiked to the top of the falls and fell to the bottom.

Third Big American Base Shelled By Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gunners today shelled the third U.S. military headquarters in the past three days, indicating that a new wave of attacks against major American bases may have begun.

About 30 rounds of 102-pound Russian-made artillery shells slammed into the headquarters of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division at Dong Ha and a nearby South Vietnamese village just below the eastern flack of the demilitarized zone. Three American Marines and three South Vietnamese civilians were killed. The wounded included 15 U.S. Marine, Navy and Army personnel.

The headquarters of the U.S. Army in Vietnam at Long Binh, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, was shelled Sunday. The next day enemy gunners zeroed in on the headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division at Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

The new shelling came as a 36-hour cease-fire along the coast of North Vietnam to permit the release of 14 North Vietnamese prisoners of war held by the United States ended at noon.

The bombardment opened up an hour and a half after the cease-fire ended farther north.

The shelling of Dong Ha was the first time the Marine headquarters had been attacked in two months.

The shells, fired from a 130-mm artillery piece, scored a direct hit on a Marine hospital where both military personnel and South Vietnamese civilians are treated.

A blind girl was killed at the hospital and four Navy corpsmen, two Vietnamese nurses and three Vietnamese civilian aides were wounded.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said damage to the base was light.

A spokesman said the enemy gunners apparently were firing from either inside the Demilitarized Zone or just inside North Vietnam. The long-range artillery guns can hit targets 17 miles away, which would reach Dong Ha from inside North Vietnam. Dong Ha is about eight miles below the zone.

The village at Dong Ha is located just north of the airstrip at the Marine base. Two South Vietnamese civilians were killed when some of the shells landed in the village, military spokesmen said.

Meanwhile, a U.S. military spokesman said he assumed fighter-bombers were resuming raids on North Vietnamese supply columns and barges in the 288-square mile coastal area that was declared off limits at midnight Sunday.

The cease-fire negotiated in the Laotian capital of Vientiane, silenced enemy shore batteries and antiaircraft guns along a 25-mile strip of coastline to permit a U.S. Navy ship to land the 14 POWs south of the North Vietnamese city of Vinh.

U.S. officers said there were no reports the truce had been violated.

Hanoi Radio Demands U.S. Unconditional Bomb Halt

COMBINED AP & UPI

Hanoi Radio today ignored reports of an American offer to de-escalate the Vietnam War and broadcast a demand for the unconditional halt of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Diplomatic observers in Saigon and elsewhere said it was the first time North Vietnam's broadcasts had made such a demand since Hanoi acknowledged it was studying a U.S. offer said to include a bombing halt.

Today's broadcast from Hanoi quoted a dispatch from the official news agency of South Vietnam's National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

It was not pinned to an official Hanoi government statement. The broadcast gave no clue whether Hanoi would accept or reject a U.S. de-escalation offer.

The broadcast quoted the NLF agency, Giai Phong, as saying the South Vietnamese people "support the justice-radiating stand of the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, and strongly demand that the U.S. stop completely, definitively and unconditionally the bombing and all other acts of war against (the DRUN) North Vietnam."

The unofficial Hanoi statement came as South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu declared that he does not oppose a total halt to the bombing of the North if there is "good reason to believe" that Hanoi will reciprocate.

He said in a statement the North Vietnamese must de-escalate the fighting and hold talks with the Saigon government.

The statement was issued through a Saigon spokesman shortly after Thieu met — for the fifth time in six days — with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker.

The spokesman said, however, the statement was prepared before hand and was not related to the meeting at which the two may have again discussed a reported U.S. proposal to suspend all bombing of the North. A spokesman for the U.S. mission said Bunker and Thieu normally meet a "few times a week" and the latest conference did not necessarily mean they were talking about negotiations. The two last met Sunday morning.

Thieu's statement also came simultaneously with reports from Paris that South Vietnam was preparing to formally announce terms of its own for a peace conference.

The emphasis of Thieu's remarks appeared to be on his government's insistence that North Vietnam recognize it, and be willing to negotiate directly with it, on any settlement of the war.

"With regard to the cessation of bombing of North Vietnam, the president ... has pointed out that the basic issue which confronts us is not the cessation of the bombing but the cessation of the war, and that he is willing and ready to take any action which can hasten the establishment of a just and honorable peace," the statement said.

Inmate Given Time For Having Knife

Wilfred Earl Palmer, 26-year-old San Quentin inmate, was sentenced to one to five years in prison yesterday for possessing a knife at the prison Nov. 26.

The sentence passed by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court, was made concurrent with the three years to life term Palmer is now serving for possession of a knife by a convict.

Demo Burns Won't Vote For Cranston

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Democratic president pro tem of the Senate, Hugh M. Burns, said today he will not support Alan Cranston, his party's nominee for the U.S. Senate.

Burns said he may vote for Max Rafferty, the Republican Senate nominee but he will not endorse him "or anyone else." He charged Cranston is "supported by the far left."

The veteran senator, who has already endorsed Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, also said that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic presidential choice, and Sen. Edmund Muskie, the vice presidential nominee, are "servants of the left element" of the Democratic party.

He made his statement at a news conference at the Capitol. Attending the conference were three of Republican Gov. Ronalyd Reagan's staff members — Executive Secretary William Clark, legislative aide Vernon Sturgeon and assistant press secretary Ed Gray.

Burns said he was withdrawing "whatever support that I, as a fellow Democrat, could have given" Cranston's campaign because of the candidate's support of the union backed boycott of California table grapes.

He said the International Seafarers Union, a supporter of the boycott, donated $7,500 to Cranston's campaign.

Burns objected to Cranston declaring the boycott was legal when the National Labor Relations Board had "found evidence which indicated that the International Seafarer's union, among other unions, had engaged in an illegal secondary boycott against California table grapes."

Span Aides Pleased By No-Toll Test

Marin-bound commuter traffic last evening flowed smoothly through the northbound toll-free gates on the Golden Gate Bridge marking the completion of the first full day of one-way tolls.

"It went exactly as planned," said the general manager of the bridge and highway district, Dale W. Luehring, "with traffic merging very smoothly, speed improved on the bridge and less delay in getting through the toll plaza."

As drivers become used to the new system, under which they pay double fares southbound but no fares northbound, it will work even better, Luehring predicted

San Francisco-bound commuters were slowed this morning by a two-car accident in the northbound lanes at about 7:45 a.m., but the delay was brief.

The one-way toll system is to be tried for 90 days to see if it can speed traffic and save in operating costs and expensive new construction.

Mill Valley Council Alarmed Over Harbor

conflicted with other reports last night.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon told the council he has been assured repeatedly by John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator, that the Nowell plan would handle enough of the spoils to make the dredging project financially feasible.

"That's what I've always believed," said Councilman Robert H. Andresen, "and now I'm stunned to learn that the corps apparently doesn't agree."

Francis L. Newton, Saucelito Canal Assessment District representative, tried to reassure the council that the county and corps viewpoints could be reconciled.

Newton said the Nowell plan does provide less fill area than that originally specified in the assessment district several years ago. "At that time, everyone who owned shoreline property wanted fill, now everyone wants open water," Newton said.

The Nowell plan will take a substantial amount of the spoils, Newton said, and he noted he is now negotiating to find other areas within the bay to deposit the remainder of the spoils.

If no other fill areas can be found, the spoils will havs to be hauled out to sea, he said, and this will increase the dredging costs beyond the original $500,000 bonding capacity of the assessment district.

Corps engineers have estimated approximately 700,000 cubic yards of spoils will have to be disposed of in the bay. Present plans call for 100,000 cubic yards to be dumped on Bothin property in Richardson Bay and another 100,000 cubic yards to be placed at Alcatraz.

The city had originally planned to dump the remaining 500,000 cubic yards on tidelands property along the Richardson Bay shoreline until the 1965 San Francisco Bay fill moratorium was enacted.

The corps' letter noted that unless a nearby substitute area is found the federal project authorization will have to be reviewed because of the great increase in cosm.

However, in the one bit of cheery news in the letter, Boerger said the cost benefit ratio of the project would still remain favorable even with the Nowell plan.

Obviously also stunned by the corps letter, Nowell and Nelson, partners in Sausalito Associates, said the canal would not have to be relocated if their plan is realized.

Nowell then blamed the corps' unfavorable reaction on Zucker, saying, "Zucker's always been opposed to the plan and probably sent in his plan for the Marina Green to the corps instead of ours."

Despite Zucker's objections the county planning commission approved the plan Aug. 26 by 4-1 vote, Margaret Azevedo dissenting, leaving the final decision to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which has yet to act.

The council delayed action on endorsing the plan after Councilman Andresen said he wanted to have a representative of the corps, the county planning department, the BCDC and "anyone else who might shed some light on this whole problem" present at the Nov. 18 council meeting.

Last night's hearing on the Nowell plan was precipitated by a Mill Valley Planning Commission request that the council oppose the plan because it would further fill Richardson Bay.

Noting that he was taking a "provincial" attitude, Councilman Rodric L. Robinson said the main point in considering the Nowell plan is "what effect is it going to have on the Saucelito Canal."

He said that, so long as the city has a place to put the spoils, "you can put anything out there you like —a bird island, a convention center, anything."

He noted that the proposed yacht harbor is the key to the development of East Mill Valley and the future "breadbasket-tax base" for the city. "We've been frustrated so many years by so many governmental agencies ... now we just will have to look out for our own interests."

Nelson told the council the plan calls for developmnet of 19 of the 28 acres of shoreline and tidelands property owned by Sausalito Associates. Eight acres of the development would be left as open water, perhaps to be developed as a deep water lagoon with tidal gates, Nelson said.

A nine-acre island would be created to house a convention center and 850 unit motel-boatel. To the north, eight more acres would be filled to accommodate a 300-unit tower boatel, boat-oriented commercial development and 450 additional apartment units.

Nelson noted that he and his partners are now starting development of a 130 unit motel on the two acres of dry shoreline property.

New fill would extend up to 350 feet outboard of the existing shoreline, Nelson said. The project is estimated to cost $25 million and will being the county $500,000 in real estate taxes alone, he claimed.

Girl May Face Slaying Charge

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — A jurisdictional hearing will be held Nov. 13 here to determine whether a teen-aged Texas girl will be charged as an accessory in the Sept. 25 slaying of a Salt Lake City hitchhiker.

Juvenile Court Referee Grant Scofield yesterday set the hearing date following a detention hearing for Anita Welch, 17, San Antonio, Tex.

Stockstad Will Guide Fair-Marin

Harold Stockstad, structural engineer from Marin City, will head Fair-Marin Inc. as president of the board of directors.

He was elected unanimously last night by the seven directors at a meeting at the Civic Center.

Other officers elected with Stockstad are Harry Moore, vice president; Mrs. Thomas J. (Lottie) McWatters Jr., secretary; and Mrs. John Miskimen, treasurer. None of the posts was contested.

Mrs. McWatters, secretary of the board for the past year, opened the meeting and presided during the election of officers, then turned the meeting over to Stockstad.

The directors decided that their terms in office would be based on the number of votes received when the Fair-Marin delegates nominatef the 14 candidates Oct. 9.

On that basis, Mrs. McWatters and Stockstad will serve three years; Mrs. Miskimen and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, two years; and Stephen Zellerbach, Richard Miehling and Moore, one year.

The directors decided to meet again next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center to discuss a contract with the county for operation of the veterans memorial auditorium and the fairgrounds.

Pioneer Park Work At Halt; Trenching Next

Work on Pioneer Memorial Park has come to a temporary standstill awaiting trenching for water pipes, Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, last night reported to the Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission at a short regular meeting.

Fernando Clementino has volunteered to do the trenching for the water pipes, but his equipment has been in use, Adams reported. When this trenching is done, the city crews will install the pipe and then Marin Landscaping will do the backfilling, Adams said.

Under the city council's new two-year limit on terms for commissioners, commissioners determined that the terms of Wilkes Lou Johnson, John Kassenbrock and Jack Holsclaw will end on Dec. 31 of this year. The terms of James McConnell, Farris Morse, Harry Moore and Martin White will expire a year later.

What do you do about pushy sales calls?

Most people who sell by telephone are considerate. But, as in anything else, there are exceptions. Like the person who just can't believe you really don't want to buy. So, the next time a caller rudely persists, in spite of your polite refusals, hang up. That will end his message and he should get yours. If he doesn't, let us know. We want your telephone to be a convenience, not a nuisance.

PRESIDENTIAL LIMOUSINE

A long, black, glass-roofed 1969 Lincoln Continental with the latest in bomb and bullet proofing, rolled into the White House grounds yesterday as the new presidential limousine for parades and ceremonies. The sleek $500,000 car's interior features silver mouton carpet. Another feature is a roof which can be opened so the President can stand as he rides. It replaces a 1961 version. (UPI Telephoto) provided the swing vote in favor of Sheeks.

"I feel Joe Sheeks will offer a direct line to the most effective assemblyman in the state," said Storer, noting that Sheeks and Bagley are in the same law firm. "One of the objections was that he is a partner of Assemblyman Bagley, but I take that as an asset," said Storer. He added that Bagley, and Assemblyman John F. Foran D-San Francisco, have stood up to Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, who is known as the father of California freeways.

In the first vote, Gnoss voted against Sheeks, but then moved for unanimous backing for Sheeks.

Marin's other representative on the bridge board is George H. Ludy, whose term will expire on Dec. 28. The appointment of Sheeks today forecloses Ludy's reappointment.

A new state law passed this year increases Marin's representation from two to three, but two of the three must be elected representatives — one a county supervisor and the other a city councilman. The third is a non-elected member at large. Sheeks fills the third post.

Supervisors decided that the next two appointments will be held open until next January when a new board of supervisors will be seated.

Storer announced this morning that attorney Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands had been mentioned as a candidate for the bridge board but Kent did not seek or want the appointment.

Sheeks is a native of Indiana, attended Purdue University and graduated from the University of Chicago. He spent five years in the U.S. Navy from 1941 through 1946 and came out as lieutenant commander.

He then won his law degree from the University of Chicago.

He came to San Francisco in 1949 and to Marin in 1953. He commuted to San Francisco for 12 years.

Sheeks served on the Mill Valley Planning Commission from 1956 to 1958 and on the Mill Valley City Council from 1958 through 1966, and was mayor for two years. He joined the law firm of Bagley, Bernt and Bianchi in San Rafael in 1965.

Almost one-third of drivers involved in fatal accidents in the United States in 1967 were under 25 years of age.

PG&E Reported Ready To Talk On Power Lines

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Interior Secretary Stewart Udall says the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has agreed to open negotiations with public electric utilities for use of the company's transmission lines.

Udall said PG&E pledged its cooperation yesterday during a power summit meeting also attended by company president Robert Gerdes and representatives of municipal utilities.

The public utilities want assurances that they can use PG&E lines to carry electricity which they can purchase from the federal government at bargain rates under public preference contracts.

He said negotiations would begin immediately between staff members of the Bureau of Reclamation, the PG&E and the municipal utilities which comprise the Northern California Power Agency.

Dog Sought For Rabies Shot Data

A search is being made for a dog, described as a black Labrador, which bit a 7-year-old Terra Linda girl yesterday.

Carrie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delos Jones of 125 Nova Albion Way, was bitten about 5:30 p.m. on the driveway in front of her apartment. The child said the dog was wearing a choke collar and a flea collar.

The girl will have to undergo the painful antirabies innoculations unless the dog is found. Anyone knowing of the dog may call the Marin County Public Health Department or the Marin County Humane Society.

Chamber Holds More Back Grape Policy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Chamber of Commerce said yesterday nearly 100 organizations across the nation have joined in a counter attack against the California table grape boycott.

The chamber issued a statement stating that 59 chambers of commerce have officially adopted resolutions opposing the boycott.

APOLLO

was a real pleasure and an honor."

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) were elated over the flight results.

"Apollo 7 goes into my book as a perfect mission," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager. "We accomplished 101 per cent of our objectives. We did everything we set out to do and added a few things as we went along."

Phillips said Apollo 7 has opened the way to a possible around the moon flight by the three-man Apollo 8 crew in December. He added that decision will not be made until mid-November after all results of this flight have been evaluated.

The wives of the three spacemen were overjoyed at the near- perfect flight and homecoming and all commented on the long beards as the astronauts appeared on television.

They all watched the landing on TV at their homes in Houston.

"Everything went beautifully," commented Jo Schirra. "The only disappointment was in not being able to see the parachutes open."

"Those beards don't look bad at all," said Lo Ella Cunningham.

All three wives were a bit anxious while the search for the downed spacecraft was in progress.

"It was fear," said Harriet Eisele, describing her feeling during the period.

The trio started their return to earth at 3:42 a.m. (PDT) by firing a blast from their spacecraft motor 265 miles above the Pacific Ocean. It slowed their 17,500 miles per hour speed by 300 miles and enabled earth's gravity to take hold and tug them out of orbit.

"We're burning right on the mark," Schirra reported as the engine flashed to life, starting Apollo 7 on a 30-minute glide that dug deeper into the atmosphere as the ship headed for its landing target.

Searing heat of up to 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit blistered the craft on its downward plunge, but the temperature in the heat shield-protected cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

When the cabin section separated as planned from its equipment section about two minutes after the engine burn, Schirra commented on the jolt: "It's a slap in the face."

It was the third time that Schirra had come back from space. He is the only one to make three orbital trips and says it is his last. At 45, he says, he's too old to wait two or three years for another flight.

Schirra's last hurrah was as good as his first two, all of which were perfect missions. His Sigma 7 Mercury flight in 1962 was classed as the first "textbook" flight in the U.S. program. In 1965 he piloted Gemini 6 to an historic rendezvous with Gemini 7.

The fantastic voyage, during which the astronauts described Apollo 7 as a "magnificent flying machine," covered 163 circuits of the globe and 4.5 million miles.

It was history's second longest man-in-space flight, following Gemini 7's 14 days. It ranks first in total man hours inspace — 780 for the three men, more than the 534 logged by all nine Russian cosmonaut flights. It raised total U.S. man hours in space to 2,774.

Two Appointed To Tiburon Board

Roberta Brunstetter and Richard F. Typer have been appointed to fill vacancies on the Tiburon Peninsula Club board, according to vice president Alan W. Conudall.

Glue Party, Theft Solved At Air Base

One burglary, one case of illegal entry and a glue sniffing party at the Catholic chapel, all on Hamilton Air Force Base, were solved during the weekend with the apprehension of one 12-year-old and two 14-year-old boys, Novato police reported yesterday.

Maj. Granville Anderson of 497 Bolling Drive, reported that someone had entered his house and taken $60 from his billfold and $20 from his wife's billfold last Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, according to Novato police. This is in the portion of the base where there is joint jurisdiction of Novato police and Air Force security.

S/Sgt. Frank L. Norens of 82 Langley Lane on the base, reported that his house had been entered, but he could find nothing missing, according to police.

The Catholic chapel on the base also had been broken into and numerous empty tubes of glue were found inside of it, all the same night, police reported.

The three boys, picked up and questioned on a neighbor's suspicion, were reprimanded and released into the custody of their parents, according to police.

Traffic Bamed In Galvin Death

John F. Galvin, retired publisher of the Richmond Independent, died in a local hospital Oct. 6 as a result of a heart attack which was brought on by an automobile accident in which he was injured on Oct. 2, Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said today.

The case is considered a traffic death, Fontaine said.

Galvin, 86, suffered multiple facial injuries while a passenger in a car driven by Josephine K. Orosco, 55, of El Cerrito, which crashed into a guard rail at the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard exit from Highway 101.

Galvin was the 27th traffic victim in Marin this year as compared with 28 at this time last year.

Medal Of Honor To Fallen Marine

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With two men he saved standing by, a young West Virginia Marine was awarded the Medal of Honor today for heroism in a Vietnam battle in which he lost his life.

The parents of Pfc. Gary W. Martini, 18, Charleston, W.Va., accepted the nation's highest military award in a ceremony at the Marine Barracks.

School Violence Feared In City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Told that violence threatens a shutdown of several city schools, the board of education has voted $3,500 in emergency funds for extra patrols at one.

Ralph Kauer, assistant superintendent of schools, said parents may be used for patrol duty at Denman Junior High and that police will be on call.

Dr. Edward Goldman, acting superintendent, planned to confer on the matter today with Police Chief Thomas Cahill.

COMMUTE

"Every city and county in the state provides free services to nonresidents to some extent," he declared, adding the severe social problems that San Francisco professes to endure are also found in Oakland and Richmond.

Moore of Alameda charged the tax is an income tax rather than the license tax alleged by San Francisco.

"The tax proposed is not based on any licenses or employment, but on income and compensation. The exemption of incomes under $4,000 is clearly characteristic of an income tax," he said.

Presenting San Francisco's viewpoint, attorney Richard Saveri said, "The tax is not intended to discriminate, but makes these people pay their fair share."

He said San Francisco's resident 800,000 population swells to 990,000 during the day with comuters, representing 20 per cent of city services such as fire and police protection. Saveri said this accounted for the $13 or $14 million the city seeks to recoup.

Saveri denied the measure infringes upon state and federal constitutional rights, saying the ordinance is not arbitrary, but a reasonable one.

San Francisco City Atty. Thomas O'Connor said: "This is purely a municipal affair and state laws regarding the imposition of income taxes does not apply. Without the power to tax for purposes of revenue, a city is lifeless."

Judge Mahan questioned whether the city would be taxing employment or taxing income. "You can't be taxing employment — but income — by virtue of having two stenographers working side-by-side doing the same job, but one is a non-resident and must pay the tax."

O'Connor questioned the substantiating court cases included in the brief presented by Maloney and Moore. "I call to the judge's attention the fact that most of these cases are 50 years old or more," he said.

"I must call to Mr. O'Connor's attention the fact that the constitution of the United States is 200 years old, the constitution of the state is 100 years old, and the protection against the tyranny of taxation without representation is 205 years old," Maloney shot back in the only heated exchange of the afternoon. "These could never be more important than they are now."

Grape Sanitary Lapses Alleged

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Safeway Stores, Inc., was charged in a legal petition yesterday with selling table grapes that may have been picked under unsanitary conditions.

Three Stanford Unicersity law students—Alan Rader, Ronald Romines and Martin Eichner—sought an injunction from U.S. way from selling grapes picked in the Delano area.

Their petition claims there are no toilet facilities in the vineyards and the grape pickers spend the entire day in the fields. According to the students, state law requires that toilet facilities be made available for field workers.

Only two Presidents of the United States — Woodrow Wilson and Lyndon B. Johnson — were college debaters. But both of this year's candidates, Richard Nixon and Vice President Humphrey, were on their college teams.

OBITUARIES

George W. Duncan Rites Set

Funeral for George W. Duncan, retired naval architect and marine engineer, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Inurnment will be private.

Duncan, 73, of 412 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, died unexpectedly Sunday at a local hospital. Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan said Duncan had a history of heart trouble and death was apparently due to natural causes.

He was a native of San Francisco and had lived in Marin 26 years. He was a Navy veteran of World War I.

Duncan had been a naval architect and marine engineer for 25 years with the Military Sea Transportation Service, San Francisco, before retiring.

He was a member of the King Solomon Seaport Lodge 260, Free and Accepted Masons, the American Legion C. C. Thomas Naval Post No. 224, the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers and the Mariners Club, all of San Francisco, and Sons In Retirement in Marin County.

Survivors are his wife, Janet E. Duncan of the home, a sister, Mrs. Anne Burns of San Francisco, and a brother, Tom Warren of San Mateo.

MRS. CAROLYN McCARTHY

Funeral for Mrs. Carolyn McCarthy, 67, of 245 Corte Colina, Loma Verde, will be at 3 p.m. Thursday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will follow.

Mrs. McCarthy died Sunday at a local convalescent home following a long illness.

A native of Hartford, Conn., Mrs. McCarthy had lived in Chicago for many years, working as a bank clerk. She moved to Palo Alto about five years ago and to Marin about a month ago.

RUTH SCHNEPH

Private funeral for Ruth Denny Decker Schneph, former Mill Valley resident, was held yesterday at the Cannarr-Fairlee Funeral Home in Fort Bragg. Cremation was at the Chapel of the Chimes in Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Schneph, 27, died Sunday in a drowning accident after she was swept from a rock by a large wave on a Mendocino coast beach.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Schneph lived in Sausalito and Mill Valley from infancy until she moved to Mendocino last year.

She was a graduate of the Dominican Upper School and had attended the University of Oregon.

She had worked in advertising in the Bay Area for the past several years and was advertising and public relations specialist for the Mendocino Little Theater for the past year.

Arias Takes Over Embassy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Arnulfo Arias, overthrown as Panama's president 10 days ago, staged his own takeover today at the Panamanian Embassy shortly after his arrival from the Canal Zone.

"This is my territory," Arias told United Press International after claiming control of Panama's Washington embassy. "I will remain in this embassy because I am the president."

An aide said the 67-year-old Harvard-schooled Arias decided to move into the embassy while being driven into Washington from Dulles International Airport where he arrived from the Canal Zone.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Enthusiasm Lacking —But One Must Choose

The lack of enthusiasm over this year's presidential candidates has been rather widely remarked. The Independent-Journal is not about to pretend that its editors are ecstatic over any of them.

We are in somewhat the position described by Art Buchwald in his column last Friday: We are much surer whom we're against than whom we're for.

The candidate we're against is George C. Wallace. We consider him a sort of minor national disaster — and minor only because he has no chance to win election.

THAT LEAVES Richard Nixon or Hubert Humphrey to be for. (There is little point or sense in being for any of the assorted forlorn hopes who have qualified as write-in candidates in California.)

The two national conventions can be blamed in large part for the lack of enthusiasm, we believe. Nixon, for lack of pre-convention primary opposition, was handed the Republican nomination on a silver platter. And the Democrats disregarded the primary results to give Humphrey the nomination because party machine leaders — and particularly the man in the White House—wanted it that way.

It is unfortunate that Nixon was nominated without having to prove his popular appeal beforehand (to say he proved it in 1960 is to beg the question, because much has changed in eight years). It is unfortunate that Humphrey's nomination took the form of a "public be damned" convention attitude.

But there are the candidates: Nixon and Humphrey. And in spite of the manners of their nominations, the American people could have been given a much worse pair from whom to choose — and usually have been, as a matter of fact.

BOTH NIXON and Humphrey are eminently qualified by experience. Both have served in the Senate and as vice president. Both have public records to which they can point with pride.

How, then, to choose between them?

If we attempt to choose on the basis of what they have said during their campaigns, we find that Nixon has said too little and Humphrey has said too much. Both have promised to solve the perplexing problems of Vietnam war, civil unrest, poverty, etc. But Nixon has been extremely chary of details as to how he would solve them. And Humphrey has gone into great detail only to wind up usually appearing to be offering more of the same that has been tried and failed — both in the "no concession" philosophy in Vietnam and in the "spend our way out" philosophy that has been applied to domestic problems.

HUMPHREY, whatever his personal good will, is handicapped by inheriting the Johnson policies because he is part of the Johnson Administration.

Nixon labors under no such handicap. He is free to cut the cord. We wish he were more specific as to how he intends to attack the nation's problems. But at least his approaches will not be the same, already-discredited ones.

And so we wind up with Richard Nixon, as the candidate likelier to be able to unscramble the mess.

The Worst Predator

Many people condemn predatory animals such as the mountain lion, the coyote and the bobcat, for their bloodthirsty appetites. But consider this:

Man is the most blood-thirsty predator of all. The mountain lion, the bobcat and the coyote kill their prey for the same reason you buy your prey at a butcher's shop. That is, to satisfy hunger.

But these animals have a better excuse than we human predators. We can become vegetarians and live very healthily; however, with other predators, meat is a matter of life or death by starvation.

Our TV screens are regularly filled with pictures of lionesses making a kill. But where are the pictures of man making a kill in a slaughterhouse. Most people couldn't stomach it — not in living color. Some things do not bear too much thinking about.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

As Election Draws Closer, Politicians Get Nervouser

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Politicians just naturally get nervous as the campaign season grinds to its climax, but it still amazes this writer how jumpy they can get.

In recent days, for example, leaders of both major parties in Marin have made it clear they prefer to operate without any interference from the press.

Both, of course, are doing everything they can to shore up their parties' sagging images.

THE REPUBLICAN was the first to twitch when asked why the county GOP central committee held a special meeting without any attempt to notify the public or press. Members of the committee reportedly were given only one hour's notice of the night meeting.

The meeting reportedly opened with someone remarking, "Now we can get down to brass tacks without the press being here and getting a bum story on page one."

He apparently referred to an Independent-Journal story of the committee's September meeting, which reported committee members were divided sharply over how to share their treasury with the GOP candidates.

THEN A SPOKESMAN for the Democratic Central Committee warned that unless a report of its meeting were written his way — to shed only glory on the committee — no further telephone reports would be made of committee meetings.

He conceded, when pressed, that even more damaging news gets printed about the committee when the press attends its meetings.

Neither person suggested news reports of their meetings were inaccurate — but accuracy is not what they are aiming for.

STRANGE behavior is not confined to Marin politics, as can be seen in a telegram to the governor last week from Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

Unruh termed "outrageous" a charge by the governor that there is a "price tag" on bills approved by the Assembly. The fact is that the governor not only was right, but that he and his staff often pay the "price tag."

The price paid, of course, is limited to executive branch support of key legislators' bills — but that can be worth millions of dollars of support back home. Unruh presumably is familiar with the practice.

THE CLAUSEN for Congress Committee reports it is mailing 110,000 brochures to Democratic and Republican homes in the district, which stretches from Novato to Oregon.

That takes money, something which the Marin County Republican Central Committee has, but isn't giving to Clausen now that his district has been shifted to exclude most of Marin.

THIS WILL COME as a surprise to Marin commuters, but mail from the Greyhound Corp. headquarters in Chicago is stamped "the action company with a future."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Four Letter Word For Cleaver Defense

Re John M. Pickering's letter in the I-J of Oct. 15 saying he was more sorrowed than angered by your editorial opposing the guest lectureship for Eldridge Cleaver at the University of California. Four letter word, Mr. Pickering, I am more angered than sorrowed. The citizenry's right to knowledge on this subject can be adequately handled by an experienced speaker-member of the NAACP, someone who is not on parole, does not have a felonious assault charge hanging over him, and who is unaccustomed, by judicious choice, to the indiscriminate use of four-letter words.

How dared the University of California choose Cleaver, rather than the NAACP to present a very current problem? Anarchists like Cleaver have no thought of building for the future of their race, or any other; all they want to do is tear down the gains of the past twenty years and put nothing in their place.

I say, and strongly, people are people are people, regardless of race. Where I work we have employees of many shades. All have struggled to get an education, are employed at good salaries, and accepted as co-workers and friends. Industry is crying for qualified personnel, regardless of color. This acceptance of people as PEOPLE, is what we are all working for. Not the vilify, tear down, muck up, and devil take the hindermost psychology of Cleaver.

As for Proposition 3 requesting a $200 million state bond issue for the University of California and state colleges: . . . Where I work the personnel are largely college graduates, heavily taxed, with the prospect of more, what with Alioto and his little games, and heartily fed up with the appeasement actions of our state colleges. Do you think they are about to vote $200 million to the state colleges? What I hear can be translated into "four letter word on such appeasers in general, and Cleaver in particular."

Black Is Beautiful; Paint Schools Black

I noticed with "unbelievable wonderment" what is coming next! On Page 20, I-J, Oct. 16, there was an AP article entitled, "A Soul Food Menu Approved" — Berkeley School District. It seems the Black Student Union demanded and received "soul food" be served in school cafeterias. Soul food is black-eyed peas, hominy grits, etc. Also hired is an "expert in African soul food" who will work with home economists.

May I suggest something that would only add just a few more dollars to the school budget. Why can't all the schools over there, and throughout the state, paint the schools black? This would be in keeping with the "times" and eliminate any frustrations. Think this is a good idea? Regular food is "plain" and any color but black is really unpatriotic. What do you say folks? Let's hear from you!

Registering Guns Invites Communists

I unalterably oppose any form of gun registration of gun owners, in answer to the haste of Leo Wagner's letter. Their are some political opportunists pre-empting the news media to create public hysteria and capitalize upon the tragic events to railroad through this gun legislation.

Certainly the sportsman, target shooter and the honest citizen who owns a gun for self-protection should not be harassed or inconvenienced.

The rioter, criminal, rightists and left extremists would never register their guns and it would be naive to believe they would, as all responsible police will admit. The gun has become the target of the current sense of wrath.

If this gun law were to be put through covering all guns, the honest citizen would then be at the mercy of the criminals and violent enemies of our society and be left completely defenseless!

Compulsory registration of all guns would probably lead to an extensive black market in guns similar to the prohibition era and certainly more lethal.

The Second Amendment in part proclaimed, "The security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

There can be no doubt in common sense or in law that any proposals for registration of firearms or their owners are direct infringements of free citizens to keep and bear arms.

If we ever compromise or give in, the Communists will get their foot in the door and it can be done. . . .

Stories On Africa Put You On Safari

I wish to commend you for the series of articles by Barbara Hosmer about East Africa now appearing in the I-J. Not only are the articles well written but they are alive, seeming to put you right with the expedition. I do not know the writer nor have I been to East Africa, but would like to say: "Well done", and to hope for more writing from the same pen (or typewriter!).

(Editor's note: As Barbara Hosmer is women's editor of the Independent-Journal, readers may be quite sure of seeing more of her writing.)

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 22, 1958

Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. officials said they had set no date for abandonment of direct passenger train service between San Rafael and Willits, but had state Public Utilities Commission authorization to end it Nov. 10.

The J. C. Penney Co. store in San Rafael advertised coats for women at $16, white dress shirts for men at $2, and shoes for children at $3.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 22, 1948

Dist Atty. A. E. Bagshaw declared he would launch a campaign to stamp out bingo games for private profit which he said were flourishing in Marin County.

Gov. Earl Warren decided to continue daylight saving time in California "for the present."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

DAMON RUNYON'S sage advice to campaign orators and budding authors who tend to over-write: "Be brief! The story of Creation is told in Genesis in 400 words; the 10 Commandments contain only 297 words; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address is but 266 words in length, and the Declaration of Independence required only 1,321 words to set up a whole new concept of freedom!"

A PARTICULARLY odoriferous panhandler stationed himself outside a private banking house in Wall Street and haughtily accepted daily donations from the partners. One afternoon, however, the chairman of the board decided the time had come to call a halt. "You seem in perfect physical shape to me," he told the panhandler severely. "Why don't you stop begging and go out and get yourself a job? Hard work never killed anybody." "That's where you're wrong, sir," objected the panhandler respectfully. "I've lost two wives that way."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Runaway Winner Nov. 5? No, It's Closer Than You Think

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey hasn't lost yet. There is significant evidence that Richard Nixon is not as far ahead as the national polls say he is.

It is probable that the two are very close in popular support.

The tide of opinion is beginning to run to Humphrey. The evidence:

1. State polls covering a wide cross-section of the most populous state — where the election will be won or lost — contradict the national polls. They show Humphrey and Nixon about even.

2. The latest Harris Survey on the congressional races reports the Democrats are in front 49 to 41 per cent. This indicates that in the congressional elections the Democratic Party would get about 54 per cent of the total two-party vote. Even if Humphrey did not do as well as his party — as Harry Truman didn't in 1948 — the Harris congressional poll points to the same conclusion as the statewide polls, that Humphrey and Nixon stand about even today.

3. THERE IS SUCH substantial disparity in the findings of the two leading national polls, Gallup and Harris, as to raise the prospects that the polls are going wrong this year as they did in the Truman-Dewey campaign 20 years ago.

Since the Republican convention the Harris Surveys have been showing Humphrey five to eight points behind Nixon, while the Gallup Polls have him 12 to 16 points behind. This variance is well beyond the usual margin for error in national polls and it would seem significant that the pollsters themselves have no explanation.

4. National pollsters, the New York Times reports, are beginning to hedge. Gallup thinks he will be "lucky" to hold the error to under 4 per cent and Harris is equally uncertain. Albert Sindlinger of Sindlinger & Co. put it more bluntly: "I think the polls could be wrong this year."

Gallup and Harris reflect the national average. But the latest polls in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Texas and California show the two candidates running even, with Nixon leading in some by 1 per cent and Humphrey leading in a majority of them by 1 per cent. What does this mean? Does it cast serious doubt on the Gallup and Harris ratings which report Nixon far enough ahead as to be almost out of sight?

HERE IS THE judgment of Louis H. Bean, a careful interpreter of political polls and author of a new and valuable handbook, "How America Votes" (Scarecrow Press):

"The historical fact is that most of these states are excellent barometers of the national election results. In combination they have departed by no more than a point from the national two-party results. The only exception is in 1964 when Johnson got such exceptional support in the northeastern states."

Bean's voting charts show that in 1936 these states averaged 63 per cent of the two-party vote for F.D.R. compared with the 62.5 per cent he received nationally. In 1956 these states averaged 42 per cent for Adlai Stevenson compared with the 42.2 per cent he received nationally. Mr. Bean concludes:

"This historical record thus says that if these states as of late September and early October divide 51-49 for Humphrey, then the national division of popular support for these two candidates as of this same period would almost certainly be the same."

Neither Bean nor I assumes to suggest what the end result will be on Nov. 5. But we are assuming to report that the campaign is far closer now than most people seem to think.

Mrs. Gandhi Stirs Critics On 'Goodwill' Tour

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Mrs. Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India, has just flown home after a three-week tour of Latin America in which she had nothing to sell and no money with which to buy.

A wind-up appearance at the United Nations seemed likely to do little to still her critics in the Indian Parliament.

IN LATIN AMERICA, in the main, her message was one of a hope for good will and increased trade among underdeveloped nations of the "third world."

In Catholic Argentina she defended birth control as "in the interest of women and for the health of women."

In Trinidad and Guyana, both with large East Indian populations, she suggested India might be the next to drop from the British Commonwealth because of Britain's limitation on the immigration of colored races, especially from Asia.

Since Mexico was not on her list of stops, it was unnecessary for her to explain that a nearly 50 per cent increase in this year's wheat yield in India was due almost entirely to a new Mexican hybrid which Indians don't particularly like.

The 1968 bumper crop did, however, lead her to predict that within the next two or three years India would become self-sufficient in grains.

IN THE UNITED Nations, she brushed off the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia with the observation that events there "have cast yet another dark shadow on the fragile structure" of world order.

She concentrated on foreign aid to underdeveloped nations which she described as a "form of enlightened self-interest" on the part of the aid-giving countries.

Depending upon her audience, it is probable that Mrs. Gandhi could find wide agreement with her various hopes, assumptions and predictions...

Notably, the United States, which until the closing of the Suez Canal last year was sending emergency relief shipments of wheat to India at the rate of nearly one million tons per month, could hope she would prove correct in the matter of self-sufficiency.

Clubs Keep Beautification Projects Going In Novato

Novato's two-week end cleanup campaign netted a lot of rubbish to be hauled to the dump. Any time that much rubbish is disposed of, it is bound to make some difference in the appearance of the city.

It was sponsored by the city beautification committee, which now plans another cleanup campaign in the spring.

However, there are a couple of clubs that have a continual cleanup or beautification program going.

The Novato Garden Club, which planted the liquidamber trees along Grant Avenue and takes care of the annual planting of flowers in the parkette at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue, held a cleanup of the weeds in areas around the trees.

Then it went a step farther, it held a plant-in. It planted violas in the new planter boxes along the south side and in front of the Novato Community House. These will add a touch of color to the building.

ANOTHER CLUB which has faithfully kept one spot beautiful without getting much credit for it is the Novato Junior Women's Club. For six or seven years, it has maintained the island at the east end of Grant Avenue beside the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad station.

There was a pine tree there, and the young women planted junipers to cover the bare island. They have put colored rocks around the junipers, giving the entire island a pleasing appearance.

Passing motorists probably think that this is a part of the city's park system, but it was planted and is maintained entirely by the junior women's club.

THE OTHER DAY I had an occasion to go down Vineyard Road at 3 p.m. when Sinaloa Junior High School students were leaving the school. Never again will I do it at that precise hour.

Vineyard Road, at best, is bad. It is so narrow that when two cars meet, each must crowd the shoulder.

Onto that narrow road pour hundreds of young teen-agers on foot and on bicycles. They walk or ride three to eight abreast down the narrow street. They will not move for cars. It was a continual process of stopping for them, and then creeping ahead at not more than three or four miles an hour down the road for more than a mile past the school.

This is the first year that the school has been open, and residents in the area say that use of Vineyard Road at the close of school is impossible.

Although the school is inside the city limits, the main portion of Vineyard Road lies in county jurisdiction.

MARIN COUNTY probably holds some kind of a record for studies. Whether they do any good is questionable.

The Novato Chamber of Commerce has proposed having a study made of the slump in building in the city. This was proposed as a supplemental study to a proposed federally assisted study of the downtown area. It would be financed by private contractors.

Probably, by the time anything jells on the federal study program, the contractors will be too busy to even think of such a study.

Building permits in Novato fell to $3.75 million last year. This year, however, the picture is entirely different. The city building department so far has issued about $8 million in building permits.

Merl D. Mauroni, chief city building inspector, estimates that the permits will run approximately $10 million by year's end.

Maybe just the threat of a study brought the building slump to an end.

Airline Mechanics Gear For Huge Wage Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline mechanics, whose big contract raises helped squash President Johnson's economic guidelines two years ago, are going for even bigger increases—a whopping 40 per cent—in new negotiations.

Talks between the machinists union and seven major airlines, five of which were struck for six weeks in 1966, start next month.

The union asked for 30 per cent raise over three years last time out and wound up with a wage and benefit package the government estimated at 15 per cent and the union set at about 18 per cent.

Either way, the contract shattered the administration's 3.2 per cent a year guideline, and by the end of the year Johnson had abandoned the guideline for a more flexible approach.

Settlements of 5 per cent or better in the electrical industry, rails, trucking and autos followed the airline pact.

President Johnson temporarily blocked a strike in 1966 by invoking the Railway Labor Act's 60-day cooling-off period in April and creating an emergency board headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The union rejected the 3.5 per cent raise recommended by the Morse panel and walked out in July.

Despite this year's separate bargaining, all seven contracts expire on the same date, Dec. 31, less than a month before the inauguration.

The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, which bargains for about 50,000 airline mechanics, is seeking a package which would raise top pay to $6 an hour in 1971. Men at the top of the wage scale are now earning $4.14 per hour, plus a 5-cent hourly bonus to flight-line mechanics and up to 10 cents an hour extra in longevity pay.

Man Creates The Machine To Become A Part Of It

In the early morning just before the sun is up, when the light has washed away the night in the east and the earth is half-light, half-dark and forms begin to take shape — grotesque, bulky shapes, not clean, clear, but enough to make them recognizable — you wander outside the hangar into the crisp air that chills as you stop to look at the airplanes lined up on the concrete ramp like crows on a long branch and silhouetted against the cold sauterne splash of dawn sky.

In the silence, shoulders hunched against the chill, you hold a paper cup of coffee slugged from a machine and the coffee heat feels good in your hand as you stand there, enjoying. You sip and the coffee-warmth embraces your face.

NOW COMES the high pitched complaining whine of an engine starting sharply followed by a coughing howl as it takes hold, shattering the morning calm. You walk slowly across the still dark concrete to your ship. There's no hurry. Take-off is not for another 45 minutes. You feel all over again the feeling that comes always to you at this time of day. You sense a mystical quality, an unreality and at the same time the reality. It is as if you are standing outside yourself, watching your bent figure crossing the naked apron to your aircraft cleanly profiled against the rapidly pinking sky.

How many times have you heard whining, coughing, cold engines being turned up in the early new day hours? How many times have you watched crews sleep-heavily trudging to their planes, watched as they mechanically, zombie-like took their places and become transformed into a part of their machine?

YOU CLIMB into your cockpit. Wordlessly and full of thought you nod to your copilot. Routinely he picks up the checklist. Automatically you respond. With machine-motions rather than man-motions you check tanks, switches, trim controls and at the same time your ear catches all the sounds, engines, hydraulic pumps cycling, radio voices.

Your eyes follow the yellow line as you taxi out, seeing the wing-tips clear, looking back and forth, into the cockpit and out; and with your body, your whole body, sitting in the seat, feeling through the cushion, through the braces, through the floor, through the whole intricate, complex structure of the ship, the whole shop.

YOU ARE NO longer you. You lost that the moment you fastened the seat belt. No, now you are part machine — a part of this machine. You complement each other, you and the machine. Each gives to the other and the machine becomes a little bit human and you — you become a little bit machine.

You can't help thinking about this and about when you first saw man-machines. It was the time years ago when you brought your old man his dinner pail down to the mill and saw through the blue tinted glass of the factory the men at their machines and you remember now how you thought about it then, you thought how much the men were indistinguishable from the machines and the thought stayed and stayed and wouldn't go away and never did go away.

AND NOW here you are. You too. The people along the laced iron fence staring at you as you taxi by, seeing you through the glass around your cockpit.

You laugh quietly. Yes you laugh. You laugh at yourself behind your glass windows and with your machine as you think of your old man behind his glass windows and his machine and you laugh and laugh and laugh. . .

I firmly believe that freedom of information is one of the most important weapons we have in the great struggle for freedom now going on around the world. — Robert F. Kennedy.

All Propositions To Be Discussed

The pros and cons of all state propositions to appear on the Nov. 5 ballot will be presented to the Civics and Conservation Committee of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the clubhouse.

Speakers will be Mrs. Karl Treffinger and Mrs. D. L. Rose of the Southern Marin League of Women Voters who will cover all nine propositions.

In addition, Proposition 9, the Watson amendment which would eliminate property tax support of schools and welfare, will be discussed by Louis Starr of Mill Valley, a certified public accountant and tax specialist for the Western Pacific Railroad urging a "yes" vote and Dr. Elmer Weden, member of the San Anselmo School District board, urging a "no" vote Mrs. John R. Barnard will be in charge.

Scott Valley Homeowners Association in Mill Valley has Taber L. Kopan as president.

TV Stolen

A television set was stolen last weekend by a tenant at the Bermuda Palms Motel, 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police reported yesterday. The tenant checked out Saturday after a two-day stay, police said, and the set was later found missing.

More Study On Muni Golf Course Asked

The San Rafael City Council last night agreed to further study the lie of the financial green before they tee off on a plan to construct a $1.3 million municipal golf course.

The proposed 18-hole course on Smith Brothers Ranch north of Gallinas Creek would be financed through a nonprofit corporation and leased back to the city.

After hearing reports for more than an hour councilmen agreed to postpone any action for two weeks so they could study the matter and check other cities that have had courses constructed under the lease-back plan.

BOND IDEA

As proposed, the non-profit corporation, San Rafael Municipal Facilities Corp., would issue $1.6 million in 40-year bonds to construct the course and cover other cost. It would then lease the course to the city at an annual rental and at the end of 40 years, the city would own the land and the facility.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen contended that if the course didn't produce sufficient revenue to meet the payments the deficit would have to paid by the general taxpayer.

"Isn't the purpose of a nonprofit corporation merely to avoid bringing it to a vote of the people on the bonds?" Jensen asked.

Joseph A. Arch, manager of Schwabacher-Rafferty and Co. of San Francisco, municipal financing consultants, said that a course can be constructed "more quickly" through the lease-back method thereby beating rising costs, and the bonds are tax-exempt.

VOTE REQUIREMENT

General obligation bonds require a two-thirds vote, and even if a majority of residents wanted a course, it still could be defeated, Arch noted.

William Sherman, golf course specialist of San Rafael, estimated that the income from green fees, electric carts, golf shop and snack bar, would total $182,450 in the proposed first year of operation, 1971, and reach $309,950 by 1979.

Operating costs would total $145,000 a year, Sherman estimated.

Norman P. Higby of 58 San Marino Drive, a former golf course operator, warned that over a long period there are "bad times as well as good times" and golf courses have been hurt when business is bad. If residents are to be obligated, the council should "take care," in proceeding, he said.

Arch noted that the city would not have to make full rent payments of $99,000 a year until the fifth year of operation. There would be interest-only payments for the first four years, and the first three years would be covered by funds from the bond issue, he noted.

SEEKS RESOLUTION

Jack K. Dooling of Dooley, Kelly and Moiseff of San Francisco, attorneys for San Rafael Municipal Facilities Corp., asked for a council resolution to set up an escrow on land purchase and leaseback agreement.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini commented, "This obviously is quite a step and we don't want to do anything this evening. We need additional information."

Other councilmen agreed they would need two weeks to digest the information that had been presented to them, and continued consideration until Nov. 4.

Boat, Trailer Reported Stolen

A thief drove off with a 22-foot power boat and trailer owned by John S. Parks of San Francisco, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The boat, trailered at Outdoor Recreation, 521 Francisco Boulevard, was stolen sometime during the last month, police said. The boat and trailer were valued at $7,365.

1,000 Arrested In Unions' Antiwar Rioting In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Nearly 1,000 students were arrested and at least 150 injured in a wild nationwide series of antiwar riots and demonstrations yesterday.

A four-hour rampage at Tokyo's Shinjuku railway station was one of the city's worst riots in years and authorities invoked an antiriot law for the first time in 16 years. The law provides for imprisonment from six months to 10 years.

The major labor unions claimed 800,000 persons took part in some 600 demonstrations across Japan. It was the unions' third Antiwar Day observance.

Police said at least 757 students had been arrested in Tokyo, while lesser disturbances resulted in the arrest of 93 in Osaka, 31 in Fukuoka, 18 in Aichi and 12 in Hokkaido.

Much of Tokyo's Shinuku station was a shambles after 6,000 students attacked it. The station is a key link between suburban and central lines, and thousands of commuters were delayed as workers tried to clear away debris and get trains moving again. The first morning train was delayed four hours.

The students used heavy logs to batter down 10-foot-high steel walls that police had put up around the station Sunday to protect it.

A bus was burned in front of the station, and the huge plaza was filled with helmeted students carrying red, yellow and purple flags and by spectators booing or encouraging the students.

Teen Is Pinned Against Car

A San Fracael man was pinned against a parked car Sunday by his own car after he started it with under-the-hood wiring while it was in gear, police reported.

Lockabey was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises on both legs and a cut right leg.

Player Taken

A television set and a stereo record player were stolen Friday from the residence of Geraldine D. Miner, 95 Medway Road, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Apartment Building Design On Agenda

Design approval of a proposed 11-unit apartment building at 164-68 Tunstead Avenue is scheduled for consideration by the San Anselmo Design Review Committee at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at city hall.

Also scheduled for action is the design approval request of Union Oil Co. of California for a proposed service station at 930 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

East Javan Capital Scene Of Chinese Sector Riots

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) Two thousand Indonesian marines and students rampaged through the Chinese quarter of Surabaja, burning and smashing shops and houses for five hours yesterday before army troops evicted them, western diplomats reported today.

Military authorities imposed a dusk to dawn curfew on the tense capital of East Java. There was no official casualty report, but one newspaper said many Chinese were injured.

The Surabaja outbreak followed two days of violent demonstrations in Jakarta, protesting the hanging of two Indonesian marines in Singapore. Because Singapore's population is largely Chinese, the mobs vented their anger on Indonesian Chinese.

In Jakarta, troops moved back into the Chinese quarters of Glodok and Pasar Baru to prevent similar demonstrations there.

The hanged marines, now national heroes, were convicted of planting a bomb in downtown Singapore three years ago during Indonesia's war against Singapore and Malaysia.

14-Year-Old Booked On Suspected Drugs

A 14-year-old boy was booked into Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs at 8:45 p.m. Friday after he could not produce a ticket for a football game at College of Marin field, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the boy wandered out from behind the stands and acted strangely. He did not have a ticket for the game, and four white pills, suspected to be dangerous drugs, were found when he emptied his pockets, deputies said.

Stereo Taken

A thief Saturday stole a stereo player, three tapes, and a toolbox full of hand tools, all valued at a total of $326, from the car of Douglas L. Conley of 65 Fairfax Street, Apt. 10, San Rafael police reported. The car was parked outside Conley's residence.

Stamp Show Set Nov. 2, 3

Tamalpais Stamp Club of Marin County will join other stamp clubs in Napa, Sonoma and Solano counties to present the annual North Bay Philatelic Exhibition Nov. 2 and 3 at El Rancho Motel in Santa Rosa.

The free-admission show is held in connection with the quarterly meeting of the Northern California Council of Philatelic Societies.

Marin exhibitors include Donald M. Mcrtherson of Corte Madera and Kenneth C. Cable of Novato.

Battery Taken

A battery was stolen Friday from a car parked in the city lot at Third and Cijos streets, San Rafael police reported yesterday. The car is owned by Jack A. Cull of Fairfield.

Baar Named To Park-Rec Commission

The San Rafael City Council last night appointed Councilman Louis H. Baar to the city parks and recreation commission, placing a councilman on that commission for the first time.

Under charter revision approved by the voters in April 1967, council members are permitted to serve on the parks and recreation commission, fire commission or library board.

The council had been prepared to reappoint Dino Ghilotti, whose term expired, but were notified that Ghilotti couldn't continue because of business pressure.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen suggested that a councilman be appointed and after a brief discussion, Baar was asked if he would accept the post.

Baar, who is running for supervisor, quipped that he would accept "for a short time," and was appointed to a four-year term.

Another councilman, Harry A. Barbier, serves on the fire commission.

The council also appointed Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor of the Independent-Journal, to the city board to succeed Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, who resigned Sept. 16.

San Rafael To Sell Lot On Fourth

The San Rafael City Council last night agreed to sell a city-owned lot at the northwest corner of Fourth and Union streets, once considered as a potential site for low-cost housing for the elderly.

Councilmen stipulated that proceeds from the sale should be earmarked for a proposed community recreation center that would serve senior citizens.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen reported that the parcel is surplus and has been appraised at $85,500.

There was a proposal before the council in the fall of 1964 to have the city develop a "pilot project" of low-cost housing for elderly on the site, but it never materialized.

The parcel consists of 13,000 square feet at the corner and an access strip to Mission Avenue.

Councilmen also granted a request from David J. Linde, president of the Oak View School Association, backed by a petition with 400 signatures, for four-way stop signs at Las Gallinas Avenue where it is joined by Montevideo Way on the east and Park Ridge Avenue on the west.

The San Rafael City Council also:

NEW JOB — Appointed Police Sgt. Carl Selby to the newly created post of city license and warrant collector, effective Nov. 1 for a six-month trial period, at a salary of $815 a month, and granted him leave from the police department for the trial period, Andersen reported that 32 persons applied for the job and six were interviewed with Selby achieving the top score.

STREET NAMES — Set Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on a proposed amendment to the San Rafael General Plan setting a policy on naming of streets, aimed mainly at avoiding similar sounding names and at designating as lanes, roads, boulevards, etc., according to appropriate size.

NEW CARS — Authorized the ordering of a sedan for the fire chief and five sedans for other city departments through the state purchasing system.

HIRING — Authorized the hiring of Irwin M. Sousa as maintenance man 1 at $551 a month.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — Received notice from the State Division of Highways that it intends to relinquish to the city its right-of-way along the Grant Avenue Bridge extension.

APPEAL — Set Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. to hear an appeal by Northgate Industrial Park's architectural review committee of planning commission architectural approval of an office building planned by Ronald F. Antonioli at 25-35 Mitchell Boulevard.

Race Cycle Taken

Alvin J. Anderson of 30 De Ford Drive, San Rafael, emerged from the Northgate Theater Saturday afternoon to find someone had stolen his racing bicycle from the rack outside, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

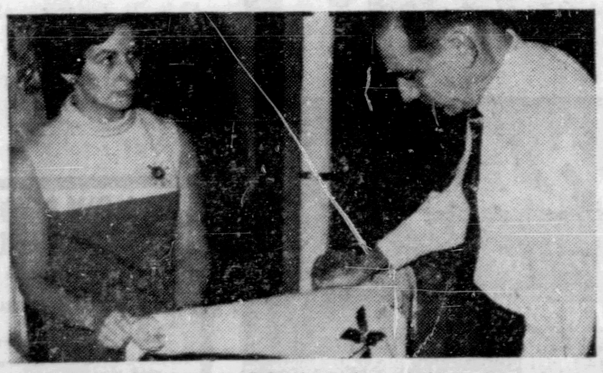
Here's A Pictorial Story of Meaders Quality

PRE-SPOTTING is a vital phase of the Meaders operation. Each garment is spotted before it goes into the cleaning machine, and again after, if necessary. A "steam gun" is used in combination with one of the dozens of spot removing compounds on hand.

MEADERS' COMPUTERIZED CLEANING MACHINE is programmed to the exact specifications of each individual load. The IBM punch card tells the machines type of solvent, cleaning time and solvent and drying temperatures for anything from wedding gowns to dungarees.

DRESSES ARE PRESSED ON MEADERS "JENNY", an adjustable dress form which puffs up to the size of the dress and forces hot air and steam through the fabric from the inside. Besides pressing and blocking, it texturizes and conditions the fabric too. Hand pressing completes the job.

EXCLUSIVELY AT MEADERS, for you won't find many machines like this anywhere, your coat is reshaped when pressed. This retains the curve of the coat so it hangs properly, the way your tailor intended. Once a coat is pressed and blocked, the lining is ironed by hand and the collar rolled and formed.



AT MEADERS SWEATER STATION this machine, which is used exclusively for pressing sweater sleeves, adjusts to press and block sleeves from the inside out so there's never an unsightly crease. All sweaters are carded to restore original softness and blocked to size.

MISSING BUTTONS, HOOKS OR SNAPS, open seams and drooping hems are repaired by Meaders skilled seamstress. Meaders does not charge for making minor repairs—in fact, they pay the customer a dollar if they fail to replace a missing button! At Meaders Cleaners, small things matter.

Nominee's Wife Visits Marin

MRS. JAMES TEACHNOR, left, welcomes Mrs. Maxwell L. Rafferty as she departs from the chartered bus in which she is touring California on behalf of her husband, the Republcan nominee for the United States Senate. Traveling with Mrs. Rafferty are Mrs. Elsa Sandstrom, right, and, behind Mrs. Rafferty, Mesdames Harry Wiens, Lawrence A. Solberg and Edwin Griffith. The women attended a coffee in Mrs. Rafferty's honor at the Teachnor home in San Rafael yesterday.

By JOAN LISETOR

Mrs. Maxwell Lewis Rafferty, wife of the Republican Party nominee for the United States Senate, arrived in San Rafael yesterday morning aboard a chartered bus that is taking her throughout Northern California to 32 cities in five days.

The occasion for her Marin visit was a coffee held at the Loch Lomond home of Mrs James Teachnor, sponsored by the Marin County Rafferty for United States Senator Committee.

Frances Rafferty is being described as Dr. Rafferty's ambassador of good will on this trip. The purpose of the trip, according to Mrs. Elsa Sandstrom of Los Altos "is first of all to generate enthusiasm for Dr. Rafferty and secondly to allow Mrs. Rafferty personally to thank each of the hard working volunteers all across Northern California." Mrs. Sandstrom, the Northern California coordinator of women's activities for the Rafferty campaign, is traveling with Mrs. Rafferty.

Yesterday's schedule for the women began at a breakfast at 9 a.m. at the Rafferty headquarters on Pine Street in San Francisco. San Rafael was her second stop, with six more cities before reaching a dinner at 6:30 p.m. in Fort Bragg. Mrs. Harry Wiens, who is also traveling with Mrs. Rafferty, held a timer and warned that when the alarm sounded it would be time for the group to depart.

With so little time, Mrs. Rafferty graciously agreed to a brief interview in a sitting room of the Teachnor's home.

Francis Rafferty is a soft spoken woman. She says she enjoys campaigning because of the opportunity to meet so many people, but she gives the impression of being shy and slightly modest when discussing her own accomplishments.

We discussed her childhood in Dixon, Ill. She was graduated from Dixon High School in 1936 and then attended Mac Murray College in nearby Jacksonville, Ill. After college, where she majored in business administration, she held various clerical and secretarial positions in Illinois.

In 1941 the then Frances Longman made a trip to California to visit a cousin in Los Angeles. She liked it so well she decided to stay and take a job in the personnel department of the Southern California Gas Company.

Her cousin then moved to a very small town, Trona.

"I was really left alone, on my own," she said. "So I was delighted when my cousin wrote and told me there was a position open in Trona. The Trona superintendent of schools came to Los Angeles and interviewed me, and I was hired as his secretary."

It was in Trona that she met Max Rafferty, a school teacher there. They were married in Los Angeles in June of 1944 but continued to live and work in Trona until April of the following year.

The Raffertys now live in Carmichael, a suburb of Sacramento. They have three children, but 16 year old Eileen is the only one still living at home. Daughter Kathleen is married to Dr. Mel Faber, an assistant professor at Victoria University in British Columbia. The Fabers have two children.

"I am a grandmother," said Mrs. Rafferty with great delight. "Rebecca is four, and Paul is almost three."

The Raffertys' son Dennis is also married. His wife is living with the Raffertys as he is with the Air Force stationed at Fort Luke, near Phoenix, Ariz.

Before moving to Carmichael, when Dr. Rafferty was elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the family lived in Saticoy and Needles, where Frances was active in Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cub Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds. She has also worked with Parent-Teacher Associations in the children's various schools.

When they moved to the Sacramento area she read in the paper that there was a need for volunteer teachers' aides. She applied for a position and for three years taught remedial reading.

"It was funny when the teachers found out who I was," she explained. "At first they thought maybe I was there to check up on the principal, but I convinced them that was not my purpose, and everything was fine."

Her other activities have included the Sacramento Symphony League, and she served as a member of the board of directors for the Northeast Branch of the YMCA in Carmichael for one year. The nominee's wife also belongs to the Pals Club.

"Pals is for wives of constitutional officers and legislators in Sacramento," she said. "Is purely a social group, designed to acquaint newcomers to the area. Once you are a member you are always a member so we have many former government officials' wives. It is a very interesting group, and we have a lot of activities."

Mrs. Rafferty said she decided to actively campaign on her husband's behalf this year because the children are old enough to take care of themselves.

Tiny San Marino Holds Interest To Travelers

By MOLLY MARIN

A visit to San Marino, the smallest republic in the world and also one of the oldest, was one of the highlights of a month's auto tour for Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Brahms of Corte Madera.

The 23 square mile country, which is bordered on all sides by Italy, derives its income largely from the sale of colorful postage stamps. It still maintains a Crossbowmen Corps, and the couple witnessed a ceremony involving the use of that medieval weapon.

The tour continued through Italy, where the Brahmses stayed at the Hotel Porta Rossa in Florence. The Porta Rossa is the oldest hotel in Europe and has been in continuous use since 1383.

In addition to the usual attraction such as Rome, Naples, Venice, Capri and the Leaning Tower of Pisa much of their driving was to less frequented sights in Italy such as the Byzantine mosaics in Ravenna; the walled city of Gubbio, known as the silent city; the palace of the Bourbon kings in Caserta; the Gothic art city of Siena; and the medieval Tuscan town of San Gimignano.

Part of the area visited was in the nature of a sentimental journey for Mr. Brahms, who was in Italy during World War II and participated in the attack on Cassino. Their visit to that city included a drive up the winding mountain road to the completely-rebuilt Abbey of Monte Cassino and stops at the British, Polish and German military cemeteries in the vicinity.

The final week of the tour was in Germany, where they visited Frankfurt, Darmstadt and Heidelberg.

ZANY FOR THE YOUNG

Mary Quant: Shapes To Come

By BARBARA HOSMER

"The crazier the fashion the more it should be cheap," says Mary Quant, the swingy young designer whose Mod, mini-skirted styles put London on the fashion map and set dowdy England on its heels.

Revolutionary Mary, who started the whole thing in "fun" clothes a few years back, came to town yesterday to show her latest collections and chat informally with the press at the Jack Tar in San Francisco.

"High fashion is for the young," she said. "And the crazier the clothes the faster they go in and out." Mass production keeps the price tag down and fun styles available to all, she believes.

"When I was a two-pound-and-10 a week struggling art student working for others we did seem always to be designing for the old and rich."

Couture clothes should be there for the rich, says Quant, but the zany trends are for the young.

BUT WHAT about older women wearing the Mod styles?

"Nobody seems to get older nowadays, though, do they?" she responded, saying that she had recently met Chanel, now in her 80s, at a Paris hotel:

"There she was wearing one of her beautiful suits, looking marvelous, and it would have been good on a 15-year-old as well." The clothes, she believes, should go with the times. "We dress with the time we like," she added.

SHE PREDICTED that in the next 10 years women will be wearing smashing new garments in new shapes that have a new freedom.

"We don't have to have seams with the new synthetic fabrics. We'll be making shapes that we've never had before," she says enthusiastically.

"Now there is a certain pattern of what we can do technically to make a garment fit. But there is going to be an enormous kind of change and the clothes won't be at all functional," said Quant, gesturing with a double rose-ringed hand. "There will be more ruffles and bows and decoration, although the styles will be designed nearer to the body."

Everything in the new fabrics is washable, she pointed out, and clothes can take more decoration and remain practical.

Still talking about today's and tomorrow's woman, Quant said that women's shapes are probably more exposed today than ever before in history with mini skirts, close fitted stockings — "In a way we are revealing more of the body, but probably we are wearing more clothes than any time in history. We are wearing layers but they are closer to the body and lighter.

MARY QUANT

"Women are more the way they want to look — what they can make of themselves. They don't need all that wadding and padding; they have flexibility."

She said that fashion reflects world events immediately. "Architecture, for instance, may take generations to do it. Fashion is instant."

The Mod designer believes that the Pill was the true emancipator of women. "Everything else was an illusion. The mini skirt (a Quant invention) is evidence of women enjoying their sexuality. Not promiscuity, but sexuality. You can tell by the way women move."

Previously women entered into marriage as a bargain, a contract, but now they have their own careers and are independent, she pointed out. They can pay their own bills and the man can pay his. Both independent, they can afford to become more decorative in dress, not having to dress the part of a bank clerk or such, Miss Quant said.

"Paper dresses," she said, "are not yet sympathetic to the body." They will be, but aren't yet fitted quite right, remarked the tiny, 34-year-old Welsh designer.

As a millinery assistant in London Mary decided it was high time that fashion fun should be available to the masses. A working girl herself, she could not afford fabulous couture prices.

Now, she says, "the most dangerous thing in fashion is to play it safe," a situation she herself has been largely responsible for.

She and her husband, Alexander Plunket Greene, opened a fashion store in Chelsea and launched the whole new worldwide boutique trend. The Chelsea Look rocketed Mary and Plunket, as she calls him, to the top of the youth fashion earthquake and earned her the Order of the British Empire as well as the accolades of young people wearing the mini throughout the world's capitals.

She believes that youth is where the action is — "The young are going to have all the power, aren't they?" she comments.

AS TO THE MAXI length — "The wonderful thing about the maxi is that nobody knows where the hemline today should be. Everyone has her own length. One has to look at oneself full length and decide on her best length. Then usually an inch higher I like."

Dressed in her own pale blue bell bottomed pants suit with four tiny buttons under each cuff and a tie at the V neckline, Mary Quant extolled the fluidity of today's clothes, wiggling her bare toes from their white sandals and flashing a pale-lipped smile. Herself tiny, she pointed to the four tall London models brought along to wear her styles designed for an American chain store. Skirts were mid-thigh and often textured stockings gave the famous total look to the Quant costumes. Shoes, jewelry, hats, stockings, lingerie were all Quant designs.

Now running a fabulous fashion empire from their Chelsea flat, Mary and Alexander are building what she describes as a "flying saucer" home in France near Nice, with the bedroom "under a cockpit" to see the stars and sun and "an eyelid" that closes it off at the press of a button.

But meantime they're on a whirlwind 10 days through America — New York, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Phoenix, Little Rock and Chattanooga. "Places with lovely names I've only known in songs," said Mary.

THE COSSACK influence is seen in this black velvet dress by Mary Quant. It's designed with exaggerated high-shirred neck band and long shirt sleeves. The young designer also does the jewelry and often the shoes for her ensemble look.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Vietnam Letters Are Gratifying To America's Fighting Men

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for sending me all those letters people wrote to me after you published my note from Vietnam in your column. I asked you then not to print my full name and address because my friends might see and think I was griping because they didn't write. But a lot of people took a chance and asked you to forward mail over here.

I have written to all I have time for (between battles and duties) and am turning the rest over to buddies.

I certainly appreciate your sending the letters. They have helped make my tour here a little bit better. In fact, a lot!

SP/4 George A.A., Jr.

DEAR GEORGE:

So happy my readers helped! I don't print full names of fighting men for two reasons: 1. You might receive crank notes which could hurt morale. (Sad, but a few people are senselessly cruel). 2. You'd be so deluged with mail you couldn't handle it.

So I direct hopeful writers to Vietnam Mail Call instead. Here's a letter which shows you what your note inspired, George:

"Dear Helen: We have been flooded with mail in response to your column about the lonely G.I., George. In the first few days, 5,000 letters poured in and they're still coming."

"Vietnam Mail Call, now in its fourth year, will gather Christmas cards from all over the United States (and abroad), and forward them to 27 hospitals and dispensaries, 15 USO's and most major units in Vietnam. Christmas greetings will also go to Thailand and to ships at sea off North Vietnam.

"Our goal is a million cards to our men. Here are instructions for sending your cards:

"1. Place full name and address on each envelope holding a card. Address envelope, "To a Fellow American." Sign full name and address on each card. Add a note if you wish — you'll be more apt to get an answer.

"2. Put your card inside another envelope, or with others in a box, and address to Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Ga., 31903. Include five cents for each card for overseas mailing expense. If your club or other group collects many cards, package them and send parcel post, putting the check or money order for postage in a separate envelope marked Postage. Don't place stamps on envelopes inside the package, because cards are airmailed to Vietnam in large boxes.

"3. Tell your church, club, school, college, friends and others about this Christmas Card program. Organizations may mail unlimited numbers of cards without fear of overdoing it.

"4. Now is the time to start collecting cards. They will be kept in Vietnam and distributed during the holidays. But it takes time to process and dispatch.

"Thank you again for your help!

E. PAUL STEWART

Note to readers: Vietnam Mail Call is a non-profit organization dedicated to cheering Servicemen. It has been praised by governors, congressmen, generals as an outstanding morale builder. H.

out for Eileen and my mother is now living in Sacramento, so it makes it much easier than when Max was campaigning in 1962," she said.

When asked how she felt about being gone as long as she would on her current trip she replied, "I'm afraid that during this campaign the family does not get to see much of each other anyway, so being gone on a trip for my husband is not a special problem."

She said she did not have much time for golf, but was keeping up on her knitting, which is another hobby "even knitting a few rows on the bus on the trip from San Francisco to San Rafael."

Before boarding the bus on the way to a brunch in Sonoma, Mrs. Rafferty spoke to the women who were gathered in the living room of the Teachnor home.

She discussed the importance of her husband's election and thanked them for their support and help. She was just reciting an Irish blessing, which she said hangs on the wall in the hall of their home, when the alarm on the timer sounded, and she was rushed off to board the bus.

Frozen Fruit

Fruits to be frozen? Wash in cold water to help keep them firm. Then drain, peel, trim and cut up to pack in the freezer containers. Plastic bags, wax coated boxes, or plastic containers work very well for fruits.

A RECEPTION at the bride's parents home followed the ceremony uniting in marriage Diana J. Greve and Robert Allen DeGraff. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Greve of Hillsborough are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. DeGraff of San Rafael.

Couple Wed In Church Ceremony

John Nicholas Hartman of Stockton, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Hartman of Mill Valley, claimed Sandra Lee Cheek of Stockton as his bride Saturday at the First United Methodist Church in Santa Rosa.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams of Santa Rosa, had as her maid of honor Nancy Tennant of Stockton. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas Kostic of Moraga, sister of the bridegroom, and Nancy Wong of San Francisco.

Thomas Kostic, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was his best man. Ushers were Richard Cheek of Sacramento, the bride's brother; Kevin Thomas of Los Angeles, cousin of the bridegroom; Michael Brown of Modesto; and Paul Furnas of Stanford.

A reception was held at the Los Robles Lodge. On their return from a wedding trip to Northern California and Lake Tahoe the couple will live in Stockton.

A graduate of Oakdale Union High School, the bride holds a bachelor's degree from the University of the Pacific and a master's degree in social work from Sacramento State College. She is a psychiatric worker for the State of California Bureau of Social Work in Stockton.

The bridegroom was graduated from Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco, he has a degree from Occidental College and took graduate work toward a master's degree in rehabilitation counseling. He is a counselor with the California Department of Rehabilitation in Stockton.

Now Diet Policemen

Geneva, Switzerland (WMNS)— Seriously overweight women in Communist countries don't get off lightly with a doctor's understanding smile, a diet guide, and appetite-suppressing pills. They are hospitalized and then watched closely for a year to make certain that they stick to their diets.

Eastern European doctors emphasized at a recent Dietetics Congress here that hospitalization combined with surveillance are among the most effective ways to achieve lasting results.

Dr. R. A. Visinesco of the Bucharest University Clinic told Women's Medical News Service that teamwork is essential in working with the obese. In the hospital, a physician, a nurse, and a dietitian combine forces to study the patient's habits and needs. Efforts are made to win the patient's confidence.

Once on her way to shedding pounds, the patient leaves the hospital and then what the physican called "social prophylaxis" begins.

The team maintains "permanent contact with all discharged patients, seeing them once a month," the doctor explained. In addition, representatives from the National Council of Roumanian Women call on their stout sisters to give their morale a boost.

Shopping in the Village
with Pat Reynolds

Town & Country Village

Wednesday Fashion Luncheons return from vacation on October 30th. Inn Marin is the setting, showtime is 12:30 and reservations are suggested.

Rumor has it that The Village will start the Christmas shopping season with a sensational center-wide sale. More about this next month.

For your shopping convenience, Village shops are open Wednesday evenings and, don't forget, window shoppers are always welcome at Strawberry.

Couldn't ask for a warmer Autumn glow than what you'll find at FIESTA CANDLE SHOP. There are some perfectly stunning "pressed" glass containers for votive candles. These are in jewel colors, square, with round center candle well and most attractive . . . either alone or in groupings.

Here we go again, Mother, galloping through another school year. If it's not the Cub Scouts, it's the Brownies, or the P.T.A. or heaven only knows what else we all seem to get involved in. I don't know about you but, at the end of those frantic days, I like to head for L'ENTREE and gratefully carry home a casserole supper that receives rave notices from family and guests alike and requires only a half hour of oven time. Simple, and simply delicious!

With fall and winter entertaining plans in full swing, be sure to check with VILLAGE LIQUORS and restock your wine supply. Should you be less than knowledgeable about selecting wines (hello, friend) just ask Dan for advice. Tell this helpful fellow your menu, preferences, number of guests (don't hesitate to mention your budget) and Dan will choose the perfect vintage for you from his extensive selection of imported and domestic wines.

Thank heavens, Harriet! VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE (formerly, Edy's) carries really good Halloween candies (not those orange and black jobs that taste like perfume). In seasonal colors, I found chews, jellies, candy corn, lollipops and a jolly plastic Jack-O-Lantern topped with a "chapeau" of traditional hard candies. Don't overlook the light lunch and ice cream department at VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE . . . a very nice place (with old-fashioned ice cream parlor atmosphere) to pop in for lunch or a snack while shopping.

Attractive decor, excellent Oriental and Continental cuisine and a quiet atmosphere make KUBLAI KHAN the perfect spot for luncheon with friends or business associates. This fine restaurant also welcomes small parties with gracious hospitality and unobtrusive good service.

At long last . . . back by popular demand! MUTTS OF MARIN again has a good supply of washable, corduroy lounge beds in many colors and sizes. They make a cozy retreat for Doggy on dreary winter days.

Walked smack into Christmas the other day at ALBERTA OF MARIN's. This fascinating shop is brimming-over with makings for beautiful holiday decorations and arrangements. Stop by any Tuesday for a free demonstration and, I promise, you'll return for the Thursday "how to" classes.

If you are planning a family shopping trip to The Village some Wednesday evening when all the shops are open, plan a relaxed family dinner at The HICK'RY PIT first. Be sure to top off your meal with a piece of homemade pumpkin pie (or hot mince meat pie after Nov. 1st). Now, when The HICK'RY PIT says homemade they mean just that. Their pumpkin pie, for instance is subtly spiced and concocted of the best ingredients (such as lots of fresh ranch eggs). The children are always welcome at The HICK'RY PIT and they'll love the thick, frothy milkshakes at this popular priced family restaurant. (Parents will appreciate HICK'RY PIT fast service so hungry youngsters are fed quickly before they have a chance to get crabby.)

ON THE AGENDA

San Geronimo Lights Campfire For Heap Big Weekend Pow-Wow

The golf course at San Geronimo will be transformed into an Indian reservation in keeping with its theme for the first invitational sponsored by the San Geronimo Women's Golf Club.

Tee off time will be at 8:30 a.m. Monday and next Tuesday when 108 golfers from 20 courses in Northern and Central California will participate in San Geronimo's first big Pow Wow.

A welcome will be given members and their guests by the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. W. H. Hudson, who will be attired in Indian costumes. Signs bearing Indian names will be placed on all tees depicting the type of hole to be played.

Following the first day of play a luncheon and fashion show with Mrs. W. J. Gates as chairman will be presented in the clubhouse, decorated like a wigwam.

Awards to the winners will be presented by co-chairmen Mrs. Henry J. Cornelius and Mrs. B. L. Marsh at the luncheon following the second and final round of golf.

MRS. SESTO LUCCHI was reelected president by the Northgate Unit of Junior Theatre at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Chambers of Terra Linda. She has been active in Junior Theatre for two years working to promote opportunities for the children of Marin County to see and participate in good theater productions.

Assisting Mrs. Lucchi will be Mesdames J. B. Wamsley, vice president; W. D. Griffin, secretary; and Frank Armstrong, treasurer.

Mrs. Lucchi invites anyone interested in having their children participate in a summer workshop production or in generally promoting good entertainment for the children of Marin County, to call her for membership information.

THE MARIN COUNTY Chapter of the American Red Cross is conducting a new class next week to train registered nurse instructors for their regular monthly Mother-Baby Care classes.

The Instructors Training Class will be held each day Monday through Friday by Helen Bosserman, the National Red Cross nursing representative. It will encompass all the techniques necessary to teach the Mother-Baby Care classes.

After the instructor's training, the registered nurse becomes part of a group called upon once or twice a year to give the Mother-Baby Care class. The classes are given in a series of six sessions, twice weekly (Mondays and Wednesdays) from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Through a series of lectures, demonstrations and group discussions expectant parents learn about pregnancy, labor and delivery, hospital care, bathing, dressing, feeding and general care of the new born baby.

Registered nurses interested in helping the Red Cross with these classes, may contact the Marin County Chapter ARC,712 Fifth Street, San Rafael.

THE NATIONAL Association of Legal Secretaries, of which Marin County Legal Secretaries Association is a member, has recently established national headquarters in Chicago. This is a new step for the association, which previously conducted business from the individual locations of its officers.

With a membership now totaling 14,000 its board of directors felt that the work of the association has become too unwieldly to handle in this manner and made the decision to establish permanent quarters. Mr. Charles A. Klyber, of Springfield, Ill., was chosen executive administrator for the association.

The purpose of National Association of Legal Secretaries, and of Marin County Legal Secretaries Association, which are nonpartisan, nonunion, nonpolitical and non-sectarian groups, is to unite all persons engaged in work of a legal nature and encourage their continued education. Its chief objective is to provide service to attorneys, the courts, the general public and to the legal secretaries.

"CAREERS IN INSURANCE" films are to be shown to the Work Experience Counselors of the six high schools in Marin County on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the San Rafael district office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

One of the projects of the Insurance Women of Marin this year is to promote interest among high school students and junior college students to enter the insurance business. They hope to obtain small scholarships that can be presented to the most outstanding students taking insurance courses in the high schools and at College of Marin.

Marsha Mathews Of Marin Is Wed To Ricardo Krebs In Colma Rite

Ricardo Nestor Krebs and Marsha Mathews were married Oct. 13 at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church in Colma.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormand D. Mathews of Terra Linda. Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Krebs of Colma are the bridegroom's parents.

Nancy Gale Mathews of San Francisco was her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Marlene Mathews; Nancy Kimberling; and Kristy Koziol were bridesmaids.

Best man was Ed Grandona of Daly City, and the bridegroom's brother, Juan Krebs; Steve Gustafson; and Skip McAllister ushered.

Marsha is a graduate of Terra Linda High School. She attended College of Marin and is employed by the Bank of America in San Francisco. Ronald Mathews, who is in Vietnam, is her brother.

Ricardo is a graduate of George Washington High School in San Francisco. He is also employed by the Bank of America in San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. RICARDO KREBS

Credit Can Benefit When Wisely Used By Families

In today's "charge it" world of credit cards, charge accounts, shoppers' cards and plans, a good credit rating is second only to having cash in the bank.

Wisely used, credit can help us buy more things sooner — but when those handy cards are used to charge more than the budget can handle, a family might find itself strapped by monthly payments that can't be met.

The unhappy fact is that more and more so-called average families, with incomes of $9,000 or more, are facing just that predicament. For some people, much of the difficulty is caused by indiscriminate use of credit. They charge just about everywhere from the corner drugstore to the gas station and all the way to the air terminal without really knowing how much money is being spent.

Should you, for one reason or another, find your credit rating sliding downhill, there are steps you can take to re-establish a good rating.

1. Set up a system to pay bills that have accumulated. If, for example, you have payments due on a bank loan and find them impossible to meet, have a talk with your banker about the possibility of rewriting the loan. Your bank may give you a grace period of several months to straighten out your budget before you begin making payments again. Or the bank might make the loan for a longer period of time, thus reducing each month's payment. Many retail stores will make similar arrangements for large installments on charge account bills.

2. If you owe lots of small bills that may take several months to pay off a little at a time, again you might turn to your bank for help. If in the past you've had a stable record of paying bills, you may qualify for a full service bank consolidation loan. This will enable you to pay off the small bills all at once and you'll repay the bank on a monthly basis. In the long run, you'll probably save money too.

Bellamy-Odom Vows Said At Garden Wedding Service

The garden of the Lafayette home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Scott Wright Jr., was the setting Sunday afternoon for the wedding of Sallie Faye Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Odom of Redwood City, and John Benton Bellamy III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Benton Bellamy Jr., formerly of Marin and now residents of Mountain Lakes N.J.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Robert Lavel of Redwood City. Maid of honor was the bridegroom's cousin, Marilyn Wright.

The bridegroom's father was best man.

Sallie is a graduate of the University of California. John, who is a graduate of Terra Linda High School, is the brother of Robert Kendrick and Scott Bellamy. Mrs. J. Benton Bellamy of Berkeley is his grandmother.

A buffet reception on the terrace of the Wrights' home followed the ceremony. Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will live in Berkeley, while the bridegroom completes his education.

Youth Panel Will Discuss Education

"Is Education Impersonal and Irrelevant?" will be the topic of Dr. Dale Tillery and a panel in the third of the series "Youth and Society in Ferment" sponsored by the Interfaith Fellowship at the College of Marin.

The program will be given at 8:15 p.m. Friday at the Student Center, College of Marin.

Dr. Tillery holds the Ph.D. degree in education from the University of California and is currently associate professor at Berkeley. He is founder and director of the SCOPE project, Center for Research and Development in Higher Education.

Panelists will be Miss Maryjane Dunstan, chairman of the communications department at College of Marin; James L. Pierce, director of instruction, Tamalpais School District; Dr. William Scalapino, chairman of the behavorial sciences department, College of Marin; Sherry Silva, senior at Dominican College, and Melody Lane, San Rafael High School senior.

Corte Madera Orders Street Improvements

After receiving protests from less than 10 per cent of residents of the area, a Sausalito Street improvement district was formed last night by the Corte Madera Town Council and a bid let for improving the street.

The protestors mainly were opposed to paying for improvements they said would be primarily beneficial to developers building a new subdivision beyond existing houses.

The council decided to go ahead with the project, however, and awarded a contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti for $27,854. The project includes widening the street in some parts, installing drainage facilities, curbs and gutters and repaving.

The town council also accepted a petition from 15 persons for annexation of 29 acres in the Meadowsweet Drive area, including homes, apartment houses, a motel and Marin Joe's restaurant. The council will later bring the matter before the Local Agency Formation Commission.

In another annexation matter, Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said that he and other council members will attend a hearing scheduled by the Corte Madera Sanitary District for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29. At that time the controversial annextion both to the sanitary district and to the town of the Lucky Drive area will be discussed. Residents almost unaimously oppose the dual annexation.

Corte Madera Town Council Also:

SYLVAN WAY — Abandoned a small triangular sewer easement on Sylvan Way in exchange for a similar easement on the property of Walter Bacciocco.

BICYCLES — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Nov. 18 on an application to add bicycle service and sales to the list of uses in C-1 zones.

SANITARY — Agreed to accept the sanitary district's offer of a small lot on Golden Hind Passage as an easement to San Clemente Creek.

NEW STREET — Named the new Paradise Drive — Tamalpais Avenue connecting street "San Clemente Drive."

FIRE — Discussed ways to improve Corte Madera's fire rating, which is presently Class 7, and agreed to put the matter on the agenda of the Nov. 4 meeting.

FEES — Agreed to wave $330 fees charged the sanitary district for inspection by the town.

FINAL MAP — Postponed until July 1, 1969, acceptance of a final map for a subdivision at 5100 Paradise Drive at the request of the owner, Terrence O'Flaherty.

HOME — Granted a home occupation business license to Will D. Sinclair of 21 Key Largo Course for an office for motor home rental business.

ANNEXATION — Voiced opposition to proposed annexation by the city of San Rafael of a portion of the San Quentin peninsula.

ABSENT — Councilman Holmes S. Norville was absent.

Reagan To Tour For GOP Votes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan leaves tomorrow night for a three-day, nine-state speaking tour for Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon and local GOP candidates.

After a breakfast Thursday in Helena, Mont., Reagan will fly to South Bend, Ind., and later to Grand Rapids, Mich. On Friday he has appearances scheduled in Reading, Pa., and Boston.

Saturday he flies to Bridgeport, Conn.; Westbury, N.Y. (on Long Island); Jacksonville, Fla., and New Orleans before returning to Sacramento at midnight Saturday.

Ross Burglars Take $3,000 Belongings

Burglars who entered a Ross home through a unlocked door yesterday made off with more than $3,000 worth of clothing, draperies, paintings, electronic amplifiers and a color television, police said.

David Peterson of 88 Baywood Drive told police that the theft had occurred between 8:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Synanon Ban Brought To Mind Again

Although Synanon announced months ago it had abandoned plans to buy an apartment building in East Corte Madera, the Corte Madera Town Council has apparently never really believed this.

Last night the council adopted in final permanent form an ordinance to make certain Synanon has to request a use permit if the foundation ever moves into Corte Madera.

The original reading of the ordinance had taken place so long ago (an emergency measure was adopted March 4) that Mayor Edward W. Colthurst couldn't remember what the ordinance dealt with.

After some confusion about selling bicycles in commercial zones, which is what the mayor thought the ordinance dealt with, Councilman Byron D. White leaned toward the mayor and said in stage whisper, "Synanon."

With that the mayor and other councilmen quickly passed the ordinance which requires use permits for anyone planning to treat not only drug addicts but also alcoholics, sex perverts and epileptics, in residential area.

Synanon, which this month announced plans to purchase a block-square building in downtown Oakland, at one time had been interested in the Uplands Apartments.

Credit Car Plea

Alvin L. Whittenbrock, 20, of Santa Rosa, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a felony charge of fraudulently using a credit card in Novato Oct. 3. He was ordered to appear in Superior Court Monday for sentencing.

Rohnert Park Holds Up Permits For Use Of Hall

Use permits for the former Mendocino Hall of Sonoma State College were withheld last night by Rohnert Park City Council.

The Spivock Co. had requested use permits to house college students and to rent classroom space to the Cotati Elementary School District in the building on College View Drive.

Students had been evicted when the buildings were found to be substandard of city housing codes. It was reported that the necessary improvements have been made, but council deferred the use permits pending an appearance of representatives of the Spivock Co.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

ANNEXATION — Delayed annexation of 450 acres of land south of East Cotati Avenue pending further study.

GOLF COURSE — Authorized application to connect a water line at the municipal golf course to the Coyote Water District line. Deferred matter of lower golfing rates for Sonoma State College students for further study.

POLICE CAR — Awarded the contract for purchase of a new police car to Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth of Petaluma with a low bid of $1,762 with trade-in allowance.

PROPOSITION 9 — Opposed passage of Proposition 9, the Watson amendment, on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Seniors Board Passes Budget

The Marin Senior Coordinating Council board has approved a budget for 1968-69 of $39,482, Edward T. Ryken, director, reported.

Half of the money will come from the state, the rest in donations of time, money and facilities from Marin residents, Ryken said.

The board, at a meeting Friday, also agreed to develop an application for a grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to continue a senior citizens employment program in Marin, Ryken said. The council will ask $10,500 for the 1968-69 program, the same amount received for this year's employment project, he said.

Youths Injured As Cycle Skids

Two youths were injured yesterday when their motorcycle skidded and crashed on Camino Alto at Vasco Drive in Mill Valley.

Driver Guy Bagwell, 18, of San Francisco, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with an abdominal puncture wound. His passenger, Jeffrey Sturgeon, 20, of 178 San Felipo Way, Novato, was treated for facial scrapes.

Police said the accident happened at 1 p.m.

Deputies List Thefts From Auto, School

The theft of $521 of clothing from a car parked at Stinson Beach was among the burglaries reported today by the Marin County sheriff's office.

Andrew Gaspar of Orange County said the clothing was stolen from his auto when he left it at the beach for an hour Friday.

A burglar smashed the window to the principal's office at Santa Venetia middle school Sunday night and stole a radio from the office, deputies said.

Gladys V. Bennett reported that someone crawled through a window at her house at 132 McAlister Avenue, Kentfield, sometime Saturday and stole two cartons of cigarettes.

Thieves stole kitchenware from the summer house of Gertrude Haywoods of San Francisco on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas sometime between Oct. 13 and Friday, deputies said.

DRAMA REVIEW

ACT's 'Hamlet' Is Fine Bill For Teens

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Conservatory Theater will not open its official season until December, but yesterday afternoon marked the opening of its "pre-season" designed especially for high schoolers.

The opening matinee was "Hamlet," and since I was unable to catch the spring production, I was delighted to attend and to watch the reaction of teen-agers to what can be a big bore — but certainly is not in William Ball's staging of Shakespeare's tragedy.

On a spare series of platforms, designer Stuart Wurtzel uses flying drops to suggest scenes, and around them Ball weaves tapestries with Robert Fletcher's colorful costumes. Continuous movement of his characters attempts to set the pace, but does not always succeed.

Ball has cut judiciously without losing the personal thread of the plot. However, purists will object to the fact that his cuts almost denude the play of its political signifigance, so that infrequent references to Fortinbras, who never appears, are somewhat incoherent, as are other mentions of the political scene. However, in Ball's words "an uncut 'Hamlet' would prove a five-hour bore." And in this day of speed, it might.

"Hamlet" must stand or fall on the title role, and here I was pleasantly surprised. Paul Shenar, whose work (except for "Tiny Alice") I have not enjoyed, is a very creditable Hamlet. He is clear, his motivations are understandable, he handles himself well most of the time, and only in speeches which demand sustained power does he seem to falter slightly. And he does all this while battling an abominable blonde wig.

He is very good in his scenes with Ophelia, leaving us with the feeling that he definitely has loved her, and only spurns her because the discovery of his father's murder drives him to extremes.

Izetta Smith's Ophelia is a highlight of the production. Starting as a simple, but in no way stupid girl, her gradual lapse into madness is clearly delineated, and her mad scenes are magnificent combinations of drama and grand opera, which may sound horrid, but is actually quite impressive. As she disappeared up the long ramp, keening a wordless song, I was moved to tears.

The other top performances come from Jay Doyle in the roles of the senior Hamlet's ghost and the Player King. The ghost is underplayed with fierce intensity and his "remember me!" trails off into a whisper of wind. Doyle also underplays the old actor with telling effect, heightened by the fact that he deliberately resembles the elder Hamlet, which the younger Hamlet recognizes.

Both Ray Reinhardt as Claudius and Angela Paton as Gertrude left me feeling that they were being very sincere, but not getting under the skins of the characters. Among the minor players, James Milton is a standout as Guildenstern.

Stirring original music composed by Lee Hoiby adds much to the production.

In summation — this is a clear, a commendable "Hamlet." Visually it is striking. Some of its scenes — the play within the play, the funeral of Ophelia, the finale — are overpowering.

But I only found myself moved by small portions, usually bits by Dukes, Doyle or Miss Smith. The driving emotional power of the drama as a whole eluded me — or Ball.

The reaction of the young people was great, however. Many had never seen a play, certainly few had seen Shakespeare. But they wre caught up and held by the drama. And so accustomed are they to the current scene that long hair, beards and unusual costumes provoked no laughter, which I have heard from juvenile audiences in the past.

"Hamlet" will play into the first week of December at the Geary at 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 8:30 Friday and Saturday nights, alternating with "The Crucible," which begins on Friday. The two are being presented in the matinee series to special groups of high school students, who also receive study brochures in conjunction with the plays.

Loretta Young Splits Property

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Loretta Young and her estranged husband, producer Thomas H. A. Lewis, will divide more than $1 million in assets.

They agreed to the compromise settlement yesterday, apparently ending a 10-year court fight involving the J. C. P. Corp., which produced 103 films for "The Loretta Young Show" on television.

Lewis and Miss Young, married in 1940, have lived apart approximately 12 years.

Under terms of the court-approved agreement, each will take title to one of two apartment houses jointly held and each will contribute equally toward payment of $125,000 in corporate taxes owed by J.C.P.

Accident Victim In Good Condition

A 19-year-old San Rafael man was reported in good condition today at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital with broken ribs suffered last night when a car in which he was a passenger skidded off North San Pedro Road.

Clifford A. Andersen of Bermuda Palms Motel was thrown out of the car in the accident, which happened at 10:10 p.m. on a curve three miles east of Highway 101, the California Highway Patrol reported. The driver was not identified.

KAREN RUSSELL
Has Monroe role

Schedule Listed For Arts Quartet

The Marin Arts Quartet has announced dates and programs for the 1968-69 season at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The first concert featuring guest pianist Robaline Meacham will take place on Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. The remaining two on Feb. 16 and April 6 will be held at 3 p.m. with guest bassist Carl Modell and guest soprano Gwen Curatilo featured.

Additional information is available from Mrs. Philip C. Smith, 5 Morgan Lane, San Rafael.

Terra Linda To Open With 'Bus Stop'

Terra Linda Little Theater will open its 1968-69 season Friday with a production of William Inge's comedy-romance, "Bus Stop."

Performances will be on Fridays and Saturdays from Oct. 25 through Nov. 16 at the Terra Linda Recreation Center. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Karen Russell of Sausalito will play the role of Cherie, which Marilyn Monroe depicted in the film version. Miss Russell, a drama student at College of Marin, also works as model and in promotion and public relations.

Lou Mason of Terra Linda takes the lead male role as the boastful cowboy, who wants to take Cherie back to his ranch in Montana. Mason is an accountant working in Berkeley.

Others in the cast are Pat Osborn of Novato, as Grace, who owns the diner where a busload of passengers is stranded during a blizzard; Danny Rylko of San Rafael as Elma, a teen-age waitress at the diner; Don Maritzen of Terra Linda as the swaggering bus driver; Harold King of Mill Valley, who plays the role of Dr. Lyman, the amorous professor; James Ray of Terra Linda, the cowboy's guitar-playing friend; and George Pritzker of Mill Valley, the sheriff.

Director is Irene Pritzker of Mill Valley.

Cycle Is Stolen

Randell W. Kutz of 757 Kerner Boulevard, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday that his 1966 Harley Davidson motorcycle had been stolen from in front of his home between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Wenches' Portrayals Surely Not Sluggish

Typographical errors refined the character and maligned the characterization of two wenches in the review of the opera "Wozzeck" in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

"Sluttish," used to describe Wozzeck's mistress and another girl, Margret, accidentally appeared as "sluggish." Obviously, there was nothing sluggish about a performance that was sluttish.

Ecuador is named for the Equator, which is straddles.

Sommerhalder Denies Santa Rosa Murder

Special to the I-J

SANTA ROSA — Convicted killer Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 25, flanked by a squad of guards, pleaded innocent in in Sonoma Superior Court yesterday to charges of murder, kidnap and rape.

Sommerhalder, convicted and sentencef to death for the slayings of Curtis and Shirley Ackley Jan. 12 in Santa Venetia, was ordered to stand trial Dec. 3 in Santa Rosa for the murder of Charles Kaufmann, a Santa Rosa Junior College student, Oct. 7, 1967.

The kidnap-rape charges stem from the abduction and gang rape of Kaufmann's date that early morning, after the student had been shot.

Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, under death sentence for his part in the Ackley slayings, pleaded guilty to the kidnap charge in Santa Rosa and was sentenced to 1 to 25 years in prison for the offense.

Jack Brockman, convicted of the Kaufmann murder and the kidnap of the girl, was sentenced to life in prison and 1 to 25 years for the offenses by Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr.

Sommerhalder, Brockman and Preston were all members of the Grim Reapers motorcycle gang, the Sonoma County organization presided over by Sommerhalder.

Sommerhalder is to appear in Marin Superior Court Oct. 31 on his motion for a new trial on the Santa Venetia trailer murders. If the motion fails, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner is to pronounce sentence on the killer.

Carport Approved

An encroachment application by H. C. McVean Jr. of 4 Fern Avenue to allow construction of a portion of a carport on city property on Bella Vista Avenue was approved last night by the Belvedere Planning Commission, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli reported. The commission will next meet at 8 p.m. Nov. 18 in city hall.

Arraignment On Assault Charge

Harold J. Von Feldt, 34, of 30 Novato Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael was arraigned on charges of felonious assault yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after allegedly beating Raymond E. Banfield of 1445 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael early yesterday morning.

Police said that the fight occurred about 2:30 a.m. at the Novato Street apartment, where Banfield was also staying. Banfield was recovering from chest surgery, according to police.

The case was continued until today.

Health Fair Attracts 200 From Marin

About 200 high school students from Marin, interested in health careers, are scheduled to attend a Health Fair at Brooks Hall in San Francisco's Civc Center, which opened a six-day run today.

The fair, sponsored by the San Francisco Medical Society, Dental Society and Hospital Confernce is designed to show ways to better health and offer health career information for students.

Students, who will be bused to the fair for one day, also can attend discussions on career topics.

The fair will have 60 medical exhibits with demonstrations by medical specialists and other health professionals showing new diagnostic procedures and methods of preventive medicine.

There is no admission charge and the fair will be open from noon to 9:30 p.m., except on Sunday when it closes at 6 p.m.

Jury Trial Ordered On Marijuana Count

Eric Stephen Tainter, 20, of Larkspur, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges of possessing and selling marijuana Aug. 23 in Mill Valley.

He was ordered to appear Feb. 20 for a jury trial.

Coast Guard Studies New Mooring Policy

The Coast Guard is considering changing the anchorage designation for Richardson Bay, north of Strawberry Point, to allow boats to moor in the bay without lights or bells.

The change from general to special anchorage status would not inhibit use of the area by boats nor would it result in a decreased patrol of the areas, according to Cmdr. H. W. Doan of the aids to navigation branch of the 12th Coast Guard District.

The new designation would not apply to the Sausalito waterfront area.

Doan emphasized the suggestion is still under study by the Coast Guard.

At the present time, boats mooring in Richardson Bay are required to provide lights and sound signals.

The change is being considered, Doan said, because the shallowness of the bay inhibits navigation, especially at night. "There is really no need to have the boats lighted," he said.

Other areas along the California coast, Monterey Bay for example, also operate under the special anchorage designation, he said.

The status, if approved, could be reversed at some future date if dredging of the Saucelito Canal and development of the Bothin and Mill Valley small craft harbors bring about increased use of the area by larger boats, Doan noted.

The study of the anchorage designation was initiated, Doan said, after Coast Guard personnel noted that houseboats tied up at Waldo Point do not use lights or sound signals.

State Study Asked In Bad Check Case

Lee Allen Miller, 32, of San Rafael, convicted for forgery and possession of a fraudulent check in San Rafael in April, was ordered to the state Medical Facility at Vacaville for 90 days yesterday for a Department of Corrections recommendation.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court made the order to get a Department of Corrections recommendation on whether Miller should be sentenced to prison or to jail for the offenses.

Harbor Board Candidate Talks

Mrs. Walter P. Stewart, the only woman candidate for the Bolinas Harbor District board, spoke to supporters Saturday at a coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Bolinas.

"We have no say at all on what the harbor district taxes are," she told the group. She claimed that when the harbor district was set up, "they expected a minimum rate. Since then the tax rate has risen and there is every indication the tax rate will be higher," she said.

She also criticized the district for having its books audited by an outside auditor instead of by the county as usual. "It will be an extra burden on the taxpayers," she said.

Tire Taken

Collision On 101 Injures Doctor

Dr. Albertine R. Nash, 76, of 295 Diviso Road, Tiburon, suffered minor injuries yesterday when his car collided with another auto on Highway 101, struck the center guard rail and bounced back across the freeway into some bushes, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Nash said he would see a doctor for treatment of his injuries, the highway patrol said.

The accident happened at 2:20 p.m. in the southbound lanes just north of the Alto Wye. Nash was cited for making an unsafe lane change, the highway patrol said.

The driver of the other car, Stephanie Alioto Suacci, 41, of San Francisco, was uninjured.

Now you can do what you never did before in a Volkswagen:
Nothing.
Yup. We've gone and put a fully-automatic transmission in a Volkswagen.
In fact, we put it in two Volkswagens (as an option). The Fastback. And Squareback.
So now you can drive anywhere in a Volkswagen without having to shift for yourself.
Just put the lever in 3. (What everyone else calls DRIVE.) And drive. Like you would any regular car.
Except with our automatic, you'll have to do one thing you don't do with someone else's automatic:
Stay away from gas stations more often.
Because you'll need gas less often. One gallon takes you not 10 miles.
Or 15.
But 25 miles.
So now you can do what you always did before in a Volkswagen:

Arnheiter Loses In Navy Suit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter of San Rafael lost his bid yesterday to force the Navy to open a formal board of inquiry into circumstances surrounding his removal from command of a destroyer escort.

U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert ruled in favor of the Navy, which argued civil courts had no jurisdiction in the case.

Arnheiter was removed from command of the USS Vance in 1966 on a finding of a "gross lack of judgment and inability to command and lead people." The Navy said the opinion was reached after an investigation by a single officer under the Navy Bureau personnel manual.

Arnheiter's attorney, Marvin Lewis, argued that the Military Justice Act under which Arnheiter was relieved was unconstitutional because it denied him a court-martial.

Arnheiter, 42, now stationed at Treasure Island, contended he was undermined by mutinous junior officers, who resented his efforts to shape up a "loosely run, cockroach infested" ship.

He filed suit to force Navy Secretary Paul R. Ignatius to convene a formal board of inquiry into his removal.

The case had repercussions in Congress. In May, Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., conducted a hearing into Arnheiter's dismissal and called for the resignation of Ignatius.

Lewis was unaware of Sweigert's ruling when reached today and said he would confer with Arnheiter on whether to appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court.

EUGENIA CONNELL
Long service honored

Supervisors Laud Veteran Employee

Eugenia Connell, who will have served 30 years with the county welfare department on Sunday, received a surprise commendation from the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning.

Supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen presented Miss Connell with a certificate of appreciation for her long and faithful service.

"If we were a private corporation, you'd be getting a platinum watch," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

Miss Connell, a clerk in the Department of Public Social Services, joined the department, then called the welfare department, on Oct. 20, 1938.

Her father, Eugene Connell, was former county auditor.

Miss Connell's colleagues prepared a surprise party for her this afternoon in Room 400 of the Civic Center. Mrs. Lucille Dare, senior medical clerk in the department, and her assistant, Sharon Burge, were in charge of the party.

NO BULLDOZERS, YET

Wary Houseboat Owners On Alert

Houseboat tenants braced themselves again this morning at the entrance to Arques Boat Harbor near Waldo Point for a bulldozer attack by the county.

But like yesterday, the bulldozers weren't scheduled to drop in.

Seven beaded and bearded tenants and four dogs milled near the boatyard entrance in what was viewed as a continuing splinter contest.

Dean M. Jennings, wine company publicist and public relations representative for the Marin Houseboat Association, called the protesters "a splinter group, a small percentage of the houseboat community."

"The members of the association, which represents 80 per cent of the houseboat owners in Richardson Bay, have applied for occupancy permits required by the county and are proceeding to comply with them, he said.

Jennings, who owns a houseboat berthed at Arques Boat Harbor, said his group would meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City to bring members up to date on county requirements.

Outside the harbor today, gardener Piro Caro, who organized the protest, said, "We are letting the county inspectors in, but not the bulldozers."

"The county wants to make it unprofitable and impossible for Arques to operate this area unless he builds it to conform to the modern suburban pattern.

"I've lived here 18 years. Another man has been here 40 years. This is our home and we want to stay."

On a tree at the entrance was a small orange bulletin board with a posted notice signed by Caro. It announced that $500 had been collected from tenants and given to attorney Carl B. Shapiro of San Anselmo to defend anyone prosecuted for refusing to apply for an occupancy permit.

The county has slapped about 50 houseboats at Arques' with orders to remove or demolish within a period ending for most about Friday.

A county suit charges that Arques has structures occupying underwater public streets and asks that Arques be ordered to remove them.

And last Tuesday the board of supervisors approved spending upto $15,000 to clean up debris on public rights of way. All this has greatly alarmed the houseboat tenants.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost has said his department wants to give the people time to comply with the orders before the county obtains court orders and moves in. He said no action would be taken for a week or so.

Brittsan Is Promoted To Farm Post

Donald L. Brittsan, 35, 4-H farm adviser in Marin since 1959, will become the county farm adviser on Nov. 4, succeeding Winston L. Engvall, who will move to a new job in Kern County.

The transfer of Engvall and the appointment of Brittsan were announced today by Dr. George B. Alcorn, statewide director of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Brittsan, who has guided a two-county 4-H club program in Sonoma as well as in Marin, will continue his 4-H work in Marin as county director. His new assignment will also include public affairs, dairy, beef, and range farm adviser work in Marin.

Brittsan was born in Stockton and grew up on a farm there. He received his bachelor of science degree in agricultural education at the University of California at Davis. Later, in 1967, on sabbatical leave from the university, he won his master of science degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Brittsan spent two years in the U.S. Army as a lieutenant in the artillery before joining the farm adviser's office in San Rafael.

Engvall has been livestock farm advisor in Marin since 1954. A native of Kingsburg, Fresno County, he attended University of California both at Davis and Berkeley, winning his bachelor of science degree in 1944 at Berkeley.

He said he did not pick Kern County in particular, but did ask the university for a full time livestock job instead of administrative work.

Kentfield-Ross School Merger Talk Slated

The possibility of merging the Kentfield and Ross school districts will be explored informally at a meeting of the two district boards at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 in the library of the Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield.

Members of the Ross board agreed to the session at their meeting last night, Supt. Robert D. Gowan reported.

The merger plan was to have been discussed last summer but was postponed due to the death of Kentfield trustee Donald C. Elsener.

Advantages which have been mentioned include a wider tax base and a larger number of junior high age students, making a broader curriculum possible.

No action is expected at the meeting.

The Ross School District Board Also:

PROPOSITION 9 — Agreed to oppose the Watson Amendment, Proposition 9 on the Nov. 5 ballot. The amendment was discussed at an earlier meeting, but no action was taken.

DELEGATE — Voted to support Mrs. Dorothy Brown, president of the Dixie School District, as a representative to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

TEACHERS — Recognized the Ross School District Teachers Association as the representative group of the faculty, Gowan said.

CANDIDATE — Supported the Reed School District board's nomination of David D. Ring of Tiburon to replace Dr. John C. Siemans on the Tamalpais Union High School District board. Dr. Siemans resigned recently after a heart attack.

PERSONNEL — Agreed to hire four Dominican College seniors as noontime supervisors at $2 per hour and one College of Marin student as an afternoon recreation supervisor, also at $2 per hour.

AIDES — Approved seven College of Marin student aides in physical education and recreation. The work is in conjunction with college classes and the students will not be paid.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Mrs. Ramona Zulch reported about 500 students from 287 families participated in the Parent-Teachers Association summer school and that the association would sponsor a similar program next year.

Tiburon Allows Smaller Lots In Acre Zone

A variance allowing two undersized lots at 312 Hacienda Drive was approved last night by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments, Development Administrator Phil V. Scott reported.

The board also directed the applicant, David N. Sederquist to apply for a lot split in addition to the variance, Scott said.

The variance will allow two parcels of 21,678 and 22,656 square feet to be created in a zone which requires a 40,000 square-foot minimum lot size.

The board also approved a use permit for a temporary subdivision sales office, requested by Triangle Builders, to be located at 184 Stuart Drive if adjacent property owners are agreeable.

'SNIFFING'

A Whipped Cream Can Episode

A whipped cream "sniffing" episode at a San Rafel market at 3 a.m. today led to the arrest on suspicion of malicious mischief of an 18-year-old Corte Madera youth.

Michael B. Hall of 1 Golden Hind Passage, accompanied by three other youths, was observed squirting spray cans of whipped cream into his mouth by an employee of the Mayfair Market, according to police. Police said that a gaseous mixture exudes from the can before the whipped cream comes out.

Hall was placed under citizen's arrest by a store employee, Raymond W. Watson of 1611 Mission Street, who told police that the store's entire display of whipped cream was a mess and he would have to throw away all of the cans.

Although Hall's companions, ages 18, 19 and 20, later stopped by police, also had whipped cream on their shirts, they were not arrested.

Hall met bail of $31 at Marin County Jail and is to appear in Marin Municipal Court on Thursday.

22 Applications For Librarian

The Sausalito Library board last night heard that 22 applications for librarian had been received, reported board member Anita Koenig.

The board will review the applications with City Mgr. George M. Patterson next week.

It was announced that librarian Kay Berteau, who had resigned because her husband had accepted a position in Switzerland, will be leaving Nov. 8.

Mrs. Jan Gartner, administrative assistant at the library, was named to replace her until a new librarian is chosen.

The next meeting is set for Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Cleanup Results Please Novato

More than 1,000 cubic yards of trash were collected in the past two weekends during Novato's cleanup campaign, according to the reports last night at the city beautification committee's meeting, said William Bode, assistant city engineer.

The committee was so pleased with the results of the campaign, that it plans on having another cleanup next April, Bode reported.

LSD Charges Dismissed

Charges against three San Rafael youths for selling and possessing LSD were dismissed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney reported that the alleged purchaser cannot be located.

Freed of the charges were Michael John Hollomon, 19; Randolph William McCarley, 18, and Robert Michael Belton, 18.

The sale was said to have occurred July 30 at McCarley's home at 119 Nova Albion Way.

Trails Plan Due

The first public presentation of the trails plan for the Tiburon Peninsula will be made to the parks and recreation commission at 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall by Marin County senior planner Walter S. Horchler, project consultant.

Tomales Board To Help Draw Up New Guide

The Tomales Elementary School District board has been selected as one of 100 school boards in the state to be asked by the California School Boards Association for guidance on new legislation.

District Supt. Ralph E. Nixon said the board would meet in special session at 8 p.m. Monday to answer a 10-page questionnaire from the association.

The Tomales Elementary School District board also:

LEASE — Signed a lease with the Shoreline Unified School District for use of one classroom for the new Shoreline District's office from Jan. 1 to June 30 for $100 per month. The Shoreline district will redecorate the room and supply its own furniture, Nixon said.

WALL — Tabled a bid from Richard Lieb of Petaluma for $4,061 for knocking out a wall between two classrooms in one of the permanent buildings to create a multiuse room which could also be used for team teaching. This was the only bid and the board had estimated the cost at about $2,000, according to Nixon.

One-Car Accident Injures Motorist

Robert Henry Czyz, 34, of 130 El Capitan Drive, San Rafael, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a back injury and scalp cut suffered in accident on Highway 101 near Terra Linda Sunday night.

The California Highway Patrol said Czyz's car skidded across three northbound lanes of traffic at 11:30 p.m. and went down a shallow bank half a mile south of the Terra Linda interchange.

Term In Jail For Burglary

Roman Dwight Brown, 19, of Sausalito, was sentenced to five months in jail and placed on a year of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for burgling a Mill Valley home July 8.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the second degree burglary offense to be a misdemeanor and gave the youth credit for two months he has already served in jail.

Brown, who had narcotics equipment in his possession when arrested, was ordered to seek vocational counseling from the county. Judge Haley suggested he cut his shoulder length hair before applying for a job.

Guilty Plea In Marijuana Sale

William R. Schraps, 24, of Mill Valley, whom narcotics agents claim was a large dealer in marijuana, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to three counts of selling the weed.

An additional charge of selling LSD was dismissed at the request of the district attorney.

Schraps, who sold his marijuana in the San Geronimo Valley, was arrested during last February's narcotics roundup which netted more than 60 suspects.

His case was continued to Nov. 18 for sentencing.

Amended Project 17 Pact Finally Signed

After weeks of haggling, the Mill Valley City Council last night signed the amended agreement for the development of Project 17 as a joint middle school-city park site. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 1.)

In approving the amendment, which clearly outlines development responsibilities of both the city and the school district, the council also authorized the transfer of 18.5 acres of city-owned Project 17 land to the school district in exchange for 11 acres of school land adjacent to Enchanted Knolls.

The agreement was signed after some scrutiny by Councilman Rodric L. Robinson, acting mayor during the absence of both Mayor Dean N. Meyer and Vice Mayor George Wickham. Robinson, the strongest critic of the school district during the past few weeks, quipped that it was not mere coincidence that left him the one to finally sign the agreement.

"It seems pretty strange to me that those two are suddenly out of town leaving us with the decision of to sign or not to sign," Robinson said.

The amendment and transfer agreements have already been signed by the school board.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

BIDS — Approved a low bid by Maggiora and Ghilotti of San Rafael of $5,470 for construction of a bulkhead at 128 Ralston Avenue and a low bid by Carcano and Velcich Associates of San Rafael of $4,315 for construction of a bulkhead at 146 Ethel Avenue.

REZONING — Rezoned the old library site on Lovell Avenue from open area to multiple residential with a density of 1,500 square feet per dwelling unit.

NUISANCE — Ordered a house at 329 Vista Linda Avenue either torn down or repaired and authorized Maggiora and Ghilotto of San Rafael to undertake the job, estimated to cost $2,385, after Oct. 29 if the property owner had not acted.

DEEDS — Accepted deeds from McTaggart and Reed for property used by the city in the East Blithedale widening project.

SEWERS — Accepted the completed work on the Camino Alto trunk sewer and the Enchanted Knolls force main.

AUDIT — Postponed consideration of the annual audit to Nov. 4 to allow time for review.

REPAIR — Authorized advertisement of bids for the repair of drainage on East Miller Avenue adjacent to the Tamalpais High School football field.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Nov. 4 in city hall.

Two Life-Term Prisoners Escape, Using Soap 'Gun'

VISALIA (AP)—Two life-term prisoners, using an imitation gun fashioned out of a bar of soap, made a daring and successful bid for freedom from the Tulare County Jail in Visalia last night.

A search was pressed for Lewis Donald Fritz, 36, and George Harp, 34, who were being held in the Visalia jail after their arrest by a federal marshal for a previous escape. Trial on the escape charge was scheduled to get under way today in U.S. District Court in Fresno.

Sheriff's deputies said the two men were being taken from their maximum security cells to a security room to confer with their attorney, Phillip Bianco.

The two men pulled their soap gun after conferring with Bianco for about a half hour. They forced him to call jailers on the intercom system and advise them the conference was over. When the two jailers arrived they were forced against a wall and ordered to call the duty sergeant.

The duty sergeant, Monte Carpenter, arrived and was overpowered and disarmed. He was then forced to call the main desk and order the electric door to the outside opened.

Fritz and Harp, wearing blue jail denims and barefoot, then fled.

The first escape charge against the two was filed after they overpowered a marshal near Merced while being transported from Folsom to Los Angeles. They drove the marshal's car to Los Angeles where they were arrested several days later.

THE POLITICAL SCENE

Nixon Attacks Foe On Law And Order

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The final two weeks of the presidential campaign opened today with the candidates bearing down on the law and order issue.

In Cincinnati, GOP hopeful Richard M. Nixon stepped up the pace yesterday with a direct attack on Democratic opponent Hubert H. Humphrey.

The Vice President, Nixon said, gave "aid and comfort to rioters and looters" two years ago in saying he could himself "'lead a mighty good revolt'" if he lived in slum conditions.

"A vote for Hubert Humphrey is a vote to continue a lackadaisical, do-nothing attitude toward the crime crisis in America," Nixon said.

"It is a vote for policies that have left us with a crime rate that will redouble crime in America by the end of 1972."

Today Nixon was on a nine-stop train tour of Ohio, declaring his well-wishers had given him a sendoff that would take him straight to the White House.

Humphrey, campaigning in a neighborhood of Hassidic Jews in Brooklyn, told a street crowd yesterday that "If I am president, I will do everything within the power of that office to obtain the law and order that this community deserves."

Crime had so alarmed the community where Humphrey spoke that its leaders formed their own police patrols.

Humphrey flew to Texas today to woo voters. At Fort Worth he welcomed Gov. John Connally to his campaign and predicted he would win the state in November. Tomorrow Humphrey begins a three-day tour of California.

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace threw away a prepared speech on farm problems when scuffling broke out at a Moline, Ill., rally last night, and instead gave an emphatic reading of his customary speech on law and order.

He drew a cheer from some 7,000 screaming partisans in the Wharton Field House when he repeated a favorite line that asserts any anarchists who lays down in front of his car when he is president will not want to do it again.

"I'm going to come back to Moline when I'm president and you can just try me," he told hecklers in the crowd.

One demonstrator was slugged by a Wallace partisan inside the field house and a woman in the audience was hurt when demonstrators outside threw rocks through the windows. A state trooper suffered a broken rib when hit by a brick hurled by a demonstrator.

Today Wallace campaigned in Oshkosh and Racine, Wis.

Other developments:

Spiro T. Agnew—Nixon's running-mate hammered at Humphrey and law and order in Texas appearances yesterday. Addressing a rally at Corpus Christi, he said Humphrey "is too dangerous for us at the present time, because he stands ready to tolerate disruption of our laws."

Edmund S. Muskie—Campaigning in Boston, the Democratic vice presidential candidate said the country must be prepared to invest resources released when the Vietnam War ends in such fields as education, housing and public safety.

"We had an opportunity to do all these things in the 1950s after the Korean conflict," Muskie said, "but Mr. Nixon's administration missed the boat and we are suffering for it today."

Curtis E. LeMay—Wallace's ticket-mate told a Washington news conference he found Communist forces are taking advantage of American bombing limitations to pour war supplies into South Vietnam at an unprecedented rate.

He said he learned on his just completed four-day tour of South Vietnam that "the vital facilities destroyed by our previous (air) attacks have been repaired, replaced and in many instances, enlarged."

Polls—Polltaker Louis Harris reported Muskie is the voter's choice for vice president over Agnew by a margin of 41 to 24 per cent, with LeMay getting 14 per cent and 21 per cent undecided. The sampling was made Oct. 8-10.

The Harris result showed Humphrey trailing Nixon 40 to 35 per cent with Wallace getting 18 per cent and 7 per cent undecided.

This contrasted with a copyrighted Gallup Poll published in the Washington Post today. This 6 per cent undecided.

The Gallup interviews, conducted Oct. 3-12, showed Nixon down 1 percentage point since Sept. 27-30, and Humphrey up 2 percentage points. Wallace was unchanged.

Eugene McCarthy — The Minnesota senator, speaking in his home state city of Bloomington, last night urged "thoughtful consideration of the presidential election Nov. 5," but gave no indication of whom he preferred.

"You don't need my advice," the senator said in a brief reference to the presidential election. He urged, however, support for liberal candidates for Congress.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Gastrointestinal Bleeding Easy To Discover, Hard To Locate

VAN DELLEN

Bleeding from the gastrointestinal tract is easily recognized, but it is difficult to pinpoint the source. After all, the alimentary canal is 29 feet long and blood is oozing from a small vessel somewhere along the tract.

Opening the abdomen is of little value, because the hemorrhage takes place within the lumen of the stomach or intestine.

EVEN WHEN the bleeding stops spontaneously, X-rays are taken to determine the cause. But now and then it continues and, unless stopped, life is threatened. Transfusions keep the victim alive, but it is imperative to find the source.

Two new diagnostic methods have proved successful. One involves the injection of radiopaque dye into the main artery of the digestive tube. X-rays are taken simultaneously to visualize the arterial tree.

The bleeding site is detected when some of the dye escapes into the lumen of the stomach or intestine. The surgeon opens the alimentary tract at this point and ties off the bleeding vessel.

THE SECOND test utilizes red cells containing radioactive chromium. Tagged cells are injected into the bloodstream and the gastric contents are analyzed one hour later. The amount of radioactivity in the solution determines whether hemorrhaging is from the stomach or small intestine. The method is less accurate when bleeding is lower in the intestines.

Peptic ulcer is the most common cause of hemorrhage, and physicians usually make this diagnosis unless there is a history of other bleeding disorders. The initial manifestations are vomiting blood and the passage of tarry stools.

IN MILD or moderate bleeding, episodes of weakness and sweating occur. Severe blood loss leads to faintness, dizziness, thirst, shortness of breath, and collapse. These individuals should be hospitalized where repeated blood counts can be made and transfusions are available.

MANY CYSTS

G. E. writes: What are polycystic ovaries?

REPLY

Poly means many, and cystic refers to cysts. This condition may or may not cause symptoms.

PEMPHIGUS IS SERIOUS

A. I. writes: What type of disease is pemphigus? Is it "curtains" for the person who contracts it?

REPLY

Pemphigus is a serious disorder and should not be neglected. This chronic skin disease is characterized by oval or round water blisters. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this malady.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

A reader writes: Is high blood pressure the result of having too much blood?

REPLY

No. The common cause of hypertension is generalized spasm of the arteries leading to resistence to the free flow of blood. Tension increases because more pressure is required to force blood through these narrowed passageways.

MEAT TWICE DAILY

A reader writes: "I have a wonderful appetite and have meat for breakfast and dinner. My children think that at 65, I should eat meat only once a day." Please advise.

REPLY

All adults, regardless of age, need proteins. If your budget can take it, eat meat twice a day.

SUCKLING AND CANCER

Mrs. E. writes: Are women who nurse their children more susceptible to breast cancer than non-nursers and maiden ladies?

REPLY

No. Statistics show that mothers who have nursed their children are less susceptible.

EXERCISE AND PRESSURE

W. P. writes: Would taking a job as a manual worker raise low blood pressure?

REPLY

Yes, especially if you have a run-in with the union or the plant supervisor. What makes you think you will feel better if your blood pressure rises?

DISTANCE GLASSES

C. L. writes: I need distance glasses because I am nearsighted. I would like to wear sunglasses and want to know if I could have the correction incorporated into them.

REPLY

Yes, if you can afford two pairs of glasses.

Court-Martial Looms For Wearing Uniform

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 25-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base reservist faces a military court-martial because he wore his uniform to an Oct. 12 peace march here, his attorney announced yesterday.

Airman 1/C Michael Locks of San Anselmo, who was one of the leaders of the GIs and Veterans Peace March, has been charged with disobeying an order adopted by the Air Force a few days before the march forbidding Air Force personnel to wear uniforms to such events.

Richard J. Wertheimer of San Francisco, Locks' attorney, said that the reservist could be sentenced to a maximum of two years in prison.

At a press conference here in Wertheimer's office yesterday, Locks said that he knew of the regulation before the march but that he wore his uniform "to represent the people fighting for peace."

Locks, who is originally from San Jose and was called to active duty after the Pueblo crisis, has been outspoken for several months about his anti-war feelings.

Earlier he was turned down on his request to be sent to Vietnam as a medical corpsman and then he asked for dismissal from the service because he is a conscientious objector. Ruling on this request has not been made yet by the Air Force.

"We feel that charging Locks under this new regulation brings up a serious constitutional question and that his freedom of speech has been abridged," Wertheimer said. He added he intends to use the constitutional question in his defense of the airman.

Locks, who is confined to the base but not incarcerated, he said, is also being represented by two Air Force attorneys, Capt. Hunt Brasfield of Hamilton and Maj. William Wiran of Oxnard Air Force Base.

Locks was asked yesterday why neither of the other two Hamilton men who planned the peace march, Lt. Hugh Smith and Airman 1/c John R. Bright, wore their uniforms to the march.

He explained that the group planning the march "didn't want all the leadership to go to jail or face courts martial".

Apparently the only other person facing a similar charge is Lt. (jg) Susan Schnall, a 25-year-old Navy nurse from Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

Appearing with Locks yesterday at the press conference, the dark-eyed, pony-tailed Stanford nurse said that when she joined the Navy (which paid for part of her nurses' training), she didn't realize she would be so much a part of the military.

Although Locks said he thought "there were times" when war might be necessary, Lieutenant Schnall said she is "completely opposed to violence and war."

The Navy nurse has not only been charged with disobeying the order concerning wearing uniforms to peace demonstrations but also with "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman (lady)" for her part in flights over Bay Area Naval bases, dropping leaflets advertising the march.

Both Locks and Lieutenant Schnall are expected to have pretrial hearings which will determine whether they are to be court-martialed soon, according to Wertheimer, who will defend both of them.

Equipment Stolen At Construction Site

Theft of equipment valued at $1,439 from houses under construction by the Perma Bilt Construction Co. at Peacock Gap Crest was reported to police yesterday.

Taken from the site during the weekend were a range top, two garbage disposals, four electrical boxes, electrical wire and outlets.

SUMMONS
(General)
No. 30445
MUNICIPAL COURT FOR THE CENTRAL JUDICIAL DISTRICT COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

STATE FARM MUTUAL AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE COMPANY a corporation, Plaintiff
vs.
CHARLES TEAGUE CLAY, Defendant

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named Defendant:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

TELEVISION REVIEW

An Exciting Hour: Hemingway's Spain

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the most beautiful television programs of this or any other year, "Hemingway's Spain: A Love Affair," was presented on ABC-TV last night.

The one-hour documentary form was given an added dimension as the broadcast, combining the words of Ernest Hemingway with scenes of the Spain he wrote about, gave new life to sequences from his books.

The books drawn upon were "The Sun Also Rises," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "Death in the Afternoon" and "The Dangerous Summer."

To ensure proper handling of the Hemingway words and mood, producer-writer Lester Cooper employed Rod Steiger, Jason Robarts and Estelle Parsons as readers. His choice was ideal.

Miss Parsons had the briefest part. Robards was the rather straightforward storyteller. It fell, therefore, to Steiger, as the Hemingway reader, to breathe the fullest life into the written passages, and this he did with a brilliant off-camera performance. His range, passion and insight were experiences in themselves.

For Cooper and his director, Walker Stuart, the hour was most obviously a work of love. And their achievement should give them a sense of fulfillment and contentment for a long time to come.

In addition to the Hemingway words, they were aided generously by some of the loveliest and most dramatic film footage ever to grace a television screen.

The scenes of the Spanish countryside, and of the cities, were utterly breathtaking, as presented in unison with the Hemingway prose.

And there were the bullfight scenes, like no bullfight scenes in the networks' past. There was a prominent sequence featuring the matador Antonio Ordonez, one of Hemingway's favorites.

There also was the fiesta at Pamplona, and the running of the bulls there, and both of these happenings were captured in all their drama and madness.

Two Drunken Drivers Sentenced, Fined

Vivien Neill Dean, 63, of 133 Willow Avenue, San Rafael, was sentenced to five days in jail, fined $289 and placed on two years of probation in Marin Municipal Court Friday for drunken driving April 18 on Willow Avenue in Fairfax.

James Oglesby Van Dyne, 50, of 50 Wood Street, San Rafael, was fined $75 and placed on six months of probation for the same offense March 23 on private property in San Rafael.

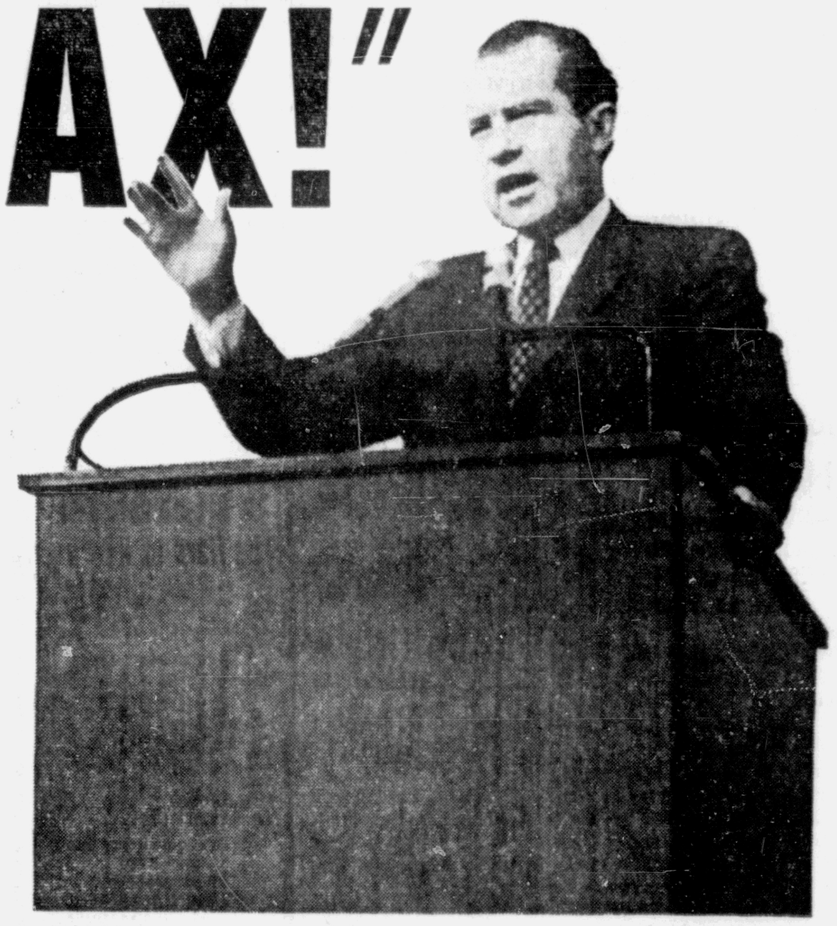
"I NEED MAX!"



Dick Nixon says...

"As I have travelled throughout the country, I have found that everywhere I go—whether it be in the North, in the East, the South or in the West, the American people are going to vote for new leadership overwhelmingly on November 5.

"The American people want a program that will bring peace abroad and peace to our cities at home, and put this nation on a new road to progress. They want progress without inflation that will bring us prosperity without war.

"I am pledged to provide that leadership, but I will be unable to do the job that needs to be done unless I have the support in the congress of men who will support my programs and not vote against them.

"Dr. Max Rafferty is one of the men I'm counting on in the United States Senate. He will stand for the programs that will bring peace abroad ...re-establish peace at home and put this nation on a new road to progress.

"I urge you to vote for Max Rafferty for U. S. Senator on November 5."

Petaluma Votes Pact On Boat Launch Ramp

The Petaluma City Council last night approved an agreement with the California Department of Harbors and Watercraft for a launching ramp on the Petaluma River in the Lakeville Highway area.

A grant of $136,000 from the state for construction and operation of the small boat launching area has been approved.

Looking to the day when the area will be an additional recreational facility for the city, the council also gave consideration to a new access road. The plan winning favor is a two-lane road from Lakeville Highway to Petroleum Road to the launch area. Estimated to cost $27,300 not including rights-of-way that will be necessary, City Engineer David A. Young said this plan would be the least costly.

He also noted that the road would be closer to the city and access to Highway 101 and would avoid close contact with the tallow works. The only alternate road considered was from Casa Grande Avenue through city-owned land that was once a dump to the river.

Lodging a protest before the council and charging unfair treatment was George Shelling of Novato, real estate representative for the Gulf Oil Co.

He said the city has been forcing the firm to delay repairs of its Keller Street and Western Avenue station pending completion of the core area plan to revitalize the business district.

Saying he had been negotiating with the city since 1966, Shelling said in the meantime the station had deteriorated and business was falling off so badly that the present dealer is losing at least 10,000 gallons of gasoline sales amonth.

"We'd like to remodel and add a third bay, but the planning commission has refused a permit pending a decision on the core area plan," he said.

Councilmen serving on the core plan committee admitted it may be several months before an actual plan is even presented to council for approval. Vice Mayor Kenneth Colin said the committee is in the midst of tabulating questionnaires sent to property owners to gather opinions.

Shelling insisted, "we're entitled to an answer -- we've been waiting since 1966. I've never had anything but trouble from this city."

On a motion by Colin, the council returned the matter to the planning commission with the recommendation that plans for a renovated station be approved at tonight's meeting if possible.

Shelling also requested faster action on the realignment of East Washington Street where the company would like to build a station at Wilson Street. He noted he had been granted a use permit for the land which will expire in one year.

Assuring him there could be no quick answers to where the new street line will go, the council said a study would take five months followed by public hearings.

When Shelling complained this delay would harm his company's transaction on the land, Mayor Helen Putnam said, "We must consider the whole thoroughfare and many more property owners than just Gulf Oil Co."

Councilman Phillip Joerger initiated a resolution which stated if new plan lines were not drawn within a year, Gulf Oil could build on existing plan lines. This motion failed by a 4-2 vote with only Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. agreeing with Joerger.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

POLICE CARS — Awarded a contract for purchase of four police cars to Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth, who entered a low bid of $7,761.

Session Reset For Next Week

The police-community relations committee of the Human Rights Commission will not meet tomorrow night as originally scheduled.

Chairman Bella Aaron said the meeting was postponed a week, to 8 p.m. Oct. 30 in Room 426 of the Civic Center because of a possible conflict in dates.

Mrs. Aaron is also chairman of the Marin County Personnel Commission, which will hear an appeal by fired Deputy Sheriff Weldon C. Travis tonight. If the deputy's hearing is not completed tonight, it may have to be continued tomorrow night, Mrs. Aaron explained.

Hub Planners Approve Gas Station Plan

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night unanimously granted a use permit to the Union Oil Co. of California to construct and operate a service station at 930 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The action, with Commissioners Dennis T. Moore and Joseph Gue absent, followed a public hearing. Dr. Ralph Fortune, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo, protested in a letter that the station would create a traffic hazard for the church and for Isabel Cook School.

The commission said that the oil company must erect a safety barrier on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of a protruding Isabel Cook School sidewalk, and that if a driveway along the west side of the station proves to be a hazard on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, it will be eliminated.

The commission also approved an 8.5-foot variance request by Charles F. Herndon to construct a carport at 299 Brookside Drive, and a request by Robert and Michiko Nutt for a lot split at 39 Yolanda Drive.

Truck Rifled

A San Anselmo man, who spent last night in Marin County Jail under the work furlough plan, discovered when he left to go to work today that his pickup truck had been rifled of radio and stereophonic equipment valued at about $475. Also taken, according to Billy Jay Baldwin of 101 Berkeley Avenue, was his jacket.

Dom Pedro, emperor of Brazil in the 1880s, was the last emperor on American soil.

Library Merger Eyed By Petaluma Chamber

Problems of the Petaluma library and a possible merger with the Sonoma County library system were considered yesterday by Petaluma Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting at the Lamplighter Smorgette.

Kenneth M. Wightman, chairman of the library board, said a new building is necessary and that it might be easier to build with county affiliation. He noted bond issues to build a new library have failed the past several years in Petaluma.

Wightman said if the library is merged, he would like to see a 10-member county board of trustees established to represent the entire county. He noted that Santa Rosa now dominates the county library system and that increased local representation on the board would be necessary.

The Petaluma Chamber of Commerce Directors also:

INDUSTRIAL TOUR — Heard chamber manager Ned Davis report that the industrial tour last Friday was a success, with 14 firms represented, including banking, utilities and industries.

SHOPLIFTING — Heard Davis report the antishoplifting campaign is off to a good start, with many other cities interested in adopting a similar plan, according to visiting representatives of chambers in Sausalito, San Rafael, Corte Madera and the Northgate shopping center.

SIGN PLAN — A Chamber committee is continuing study of a plan to add a second sign to the "Welcome to Petaluma" signs on the north and south ends of Highway 101, which would be changed weekly to indicate activities and special events going on in Petaluma.

Cleaver Words Anger Regent

RANCHO SANTA FE, (San Diego County) (AP)—Chairman DeWitt Higgs of the University of California Board of Regents says he'll seek criminal prosecution of Eldridge Cleaver if the Black Panther leader gives another "four-letter-word" speech on a U.C. campus.

In such a speech Oct. 4 on the San Diego campus, Higgs said, Cleaver violated the state penal code by distributing the peace and uttering obscenities.

Cleaver was to speak at the U.C. Santa Barbara campus last night several hours after Higgs spoke to the Rancho Sante Fe Rotary Club. But he canceled the speech.

"The Panthers decided his life was in danger," a student spokesman said of Cleaver, minister of information for the militant Negro group.

X-rays were discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist.

Rare Radioactive Cancer Weapon Placed On Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Limited amounts of precious radioactive Californium-252—a potential new weapon against cancer and a possible aid to industry as well—are being placed on sale for the first time, the chairman of the atomic energy commission announced today.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg said the selling price would be $100 for one ten millionth of a gram.

In remarks prepared for a sectional meeting of the American Nuclear Society, he also said 23 thousandths of a gram of the material are being made available on free-of-charge loan to hospitals and other research institutions.

First shipment under the latter program, he said, would be to the M.D. Anderson Hospital for cancer research in Houston, Texas.

He indicated that the nation's present supply of the material is less than a pound--but that only millionths-of-a-gram quantities are required for cancer and other research purposes.

George Washington was the only president to be inaugurated in two cities, New York in 1789 and Philadelphia in 1793.

420 Arrested On Drug Charges

A total of 211 adults and 209 juveniles were arrested in Marin on various drug charges during the first six months of the year, according to state Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

Marijuana accounted for the arrests of 155 adults and 171 juveniles, Lunch's report said.

Ten adults were arrested for heroin: 21 for dangerous drugs and 25 for other offenses such as prescription violation and possession of narcotic paraphernalia.

No juveniles were arrested on heroin charges, 21 for dangerous drugs and 17 for other offenses, Lynch said.

Smith, Carlos Make Their Return

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Tommie Smith and John Carlos, two of the world's great sprinters, finished in a dead heat today with newsmen and nobody claimed any medals.

The pair arrived back in the United States yesterday after being shipped home from Mexico City by the United States Olympic Committee for giving the "Black Power" salute while on the victory stand last Wednesday.

The first stop of their controversial exit from Mexico City was Los Angeles on Monday when they arrived via Western Air Lines and raced past newsmen, finally gaining a station wagon after Smith had gone in a wrong direction.

A similar attempt to evade reporters failed after they reached the San Jose airport via United Airlines. They reached a waiting car but had to return to the baggage room and identify their luggage. There they had a brief colloquy with reporters and broadcasters.

"Have you got a flag in your pocket?" Carlos answered one reporter who asked if he would stand for the National Anthem. "I'm not concerned about the National Anthem. It was written for white people."

Smith said he felt that the majority of Mexicans sympathized with their "Black Power" demonstration.

"We have a lot of supporters down there," Smith said.

Smith added he was uncertain about his plans but that he had been drafted by the Los Angeles Rams.

The famed sprinter said he was scheduled to receive his teaching credentials at San Jose State if he remains there. Carlos said he also had returned to San Jose to resume college.

Smith wore a brown sport coat over a blue turtleneck shirt and beads. Carlos was attired in a blue baseball-type of cap, blue shirt and brown slacks.

Bob Seagren, the gold medal winner in the pole vault, arrived about an hour and a half ahead of the sprinters in Los Angeles. Asked about their salute, Seagren said:

"It was kind of cheap of them. If it wasn't for the United States, they wouldn't have been there. I don't think it was very proper. If they don't like the United States, they can always leave."

SOVIET POET PRAISES PROTESTING ATHLETES

Poet Yeveny Yevteushenko published a short poem about the incident, describing Smith and Carlos as "two brave men." "Against the monstrous might of their government, clubs, bombs, destroyers and spit, these two stood and gave thanks in the form of raised fists," Yevtushenko wrote.

U.S. Olympic Cagers In Toughest Test Tonight

Welcome Back, Lefty, Now The Number's Four

YANKEE, COME HOME — Old Yankees never die, they just settle down in Marvelous Marin County.

Recently I mentioned that three Marin residents — Art Schallock, Joe DeMaestri and Charley Wensloff — were World Series alumni, all with the New York Yankees.

Well, one slight omission on my part. I overlooked a guy named Vernon Gomez, better known as Lefty. If you remember Yankee names like Ruth, DiMaggio, Crosetti, Gehrig, Dickey, Lazzeri, Ruffing et al then you are familiar with Lefty Gomez. He was one of the great 'uns and today still holds the record as the winningest unbeaten pitcher in World Series history, a 6-0 mark carved during the 1932, '36, '37 and '38 World Series.

Please forgive my oversight for I was unaware that the great southpaw moved to Fairfax a few months ago.

Does A Lot Of Traveling

"We rented a duplex here to look around before we decide where to build a home," said Mrs. Gomez, the former Broadway actress June O'Dea. "We love it here. But, Lefty hasn't had much time to spend at home in the last few months. He's been to New York five times, plus the World Series and other speaking engagements."

Lefty is a public relations representative for Wilson Sporting Goods and ever in demand as an after-dinner speaker. He travels about 100,000 miles a year to provide 100,000 smiles a year with his witty delivery.

During a chat the other day Lefty mentioned that one of his little known World Series records was tied this year when Dick McAuliffe of Detroit drew two walks in one inning. "I had that record for several years; imagine, a lousy batter like me getting walked twice in one inning," he laughed.

"I think," he said, "that Mickey Lolich (Detroit lefty) deserves a lot of credit. You know, a lot was said about Bob Gibson coming back after only two days' rest, but Lolich did it and won. He showed a lot of guts."

He's Quite A Kidder

Gomez likes to kid himself during speeches. He says: "I made a star out of DiMaggio. He didn't know how to go back on a fly ball until he played in back of me. It's a good thing he was my roommate or I wouldn't have known what he looked like. Out on the field all I saw was his back."

Or the time a lady in the audience asked Gomez if it was true that some of the old Yankee stars drank a quart of liquor a day. "Shucks, ma'am," he dead-panned, "they used to SPILL that much."

Gomez' son, Gary, lives with his wife and child in San Anselmo and ol' Lefty has lived here for three months, but his local ties go way back to the 1920s when he pitched in semi-pro baseball leagues around the Bay Area. In fact, his first taste of national fame came in 1927 when he pitched a no-hit, 22 strikeout game for the old Pt. Reyes town team and lost 1-0. That made Robert Ripley's "Believe-It-Or-Not" column. It's pretty difficult to lose a no-hitter.

Welcome back to Marin, Lefty and June.

Aussie Swimmer Surprised

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. basketball team, a pick-up squad spurned by many of the nation's top collegiate stars, faces perhaps its toughest Olympic test tonight against Brazil.

The Americans haven't lost a game since the sport was introduced into the Games in 1932, but Coach Henry Iba is worried —severely so—about his semifinal match.

RESPECT

"If we handle the ball the way we did against Puerto Rico, we will lose," Iba said.

"Brazil is a strong, fast team."

The Yankee team, lacking such stars as Lew Alcindor and Elvin Hayes, just got by Tiny Puerto Rico 61-56 in its last outing and now faces one of the stronger teams in the tournament.

And while Iba was worrying, tall Lynn McClements of Australia found out that America's swimmers are human after all.

"When I came to Mexico, I was very frightened of the American swimmers," said the 17-year-old secretary from Perth. "But when I saw them, I found they were human beings just like myself."

So she promptly broke the American stranglehold on swimming gold medals yesterday, winning the women's 100-meter butterfly in 1:05.5. She was followed, naturally enough, by two Americans who, while human, continue to dominate these 19th Games.

11 MEDALS

The United States picked up 11 more medals, including four golds, and now leads the massive Russian forces by its widest margin so far.

The Americans have a total of 64 medals, 28 of them gold. The Russians have only 39, 13 of them gold. They picked up only two golds yesterday, in team saber and Finn dinghy sailing.

Russia's track and field coach, Gabriel Korobkov, had some words to say about it:

"It is unfair to hold the Games at this altitude," he said

Cokes Successfully Defends Title Against Argentine

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes isn't completely happy with his successful title defense against Argentina's Ramon La Cruz—and that just about makes it unanimous.

Neither is the challenger, of course, who blames a pulled arm muscle for losing the match, nor are the fans who catcalled and booed the lack of action last night.

"I just wasn't sharp," Cokes explained in his dressing room afterward. "I don't know if I was overtrained or undertrained, but I wasn't sharp."

Whatever it was, the mostly hitless sparring had the crowd stomping on the floor impatiently and the referee, during early rounds, urging the two fighters to mix it up.

The difficulty was the 5-foot-9 Cokes' two-inch advantage in heights and three inches more reach over the stocky South American challenger.

A precision puncher who packs a solid right, Cokes gave a boxing lesson to La Cruz, stinging him repeatedly with long jabs and sudden crosses when the Argentine boxer lunged in to attack.

Speaking through an interpreter, the challenger from Buenos Aires said if he hadn't hurt his arm in the secod round, "he would be the champion."

La Cruz, who entered the ring with 58 knockouts in his last 105 fights. said he necer hurt in the bout despite suffering a slight cut over an eyebrow and a split lip.

"El Matador," as the challenger was called by the legion of Spanish shouting compatriots who swarmed ringside waving tiny Argentine flags, said his lip was butted by Cokes.

The champion disagreed.

"I hit him on the lip in the seventh to cause that bleeding. It was then I thought La Cruz started losing maybe some of his steam out of his punches. But it didn't seem to me that La Cruz was a very hard puncher.'

The victory for the 31-year-old champ from Dallas was judged unanimous. Referee Lucien Joubert and judge Maxie Ducosen scored the fight 11-3-1. Judge Pete Giarrusso had it 11-1-3.

The Associated Press card had the fight 9-3-3 in favor of Cokes.

Cokes now has a 55-9-3 record.

Under WBA rules Cokes must defend the title again within six months.

Paid attendance according to promoter Lou Messina, was 5,127 with the gate netting $29,470.

For the champion, the match was worth $20,000, plus television rights. La Cruz got $5,000.

John Unitas Fighting For Quarterback Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Unitas, last season's Most Valuable Player in the National Football League, must prove himself this week to regain a starting role with the Baltimore Colts.

The NFL's all-time passing leader, with 253 touchdown tosses and 2,263 completions, will be scrutinized like a rookie in practice sessions prior to the game with the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams.

"I'll work as hard as I can in practice this week," said Unitas, who is recuperating from a torn muscle in his right elbow, "and then it's up to Shula."

Coach Don Shula faces the agonizing decision of whether to start Unitas or stick with Earl Morrall, the veteran supersub who directed five consecutive victories before Sunday's 30-20 loss to Cleveland.

A decision early in the week would be preferable for better practice planning, but the questionable status of Unitas will force a dlaey.

"With John improving every week," Shula said, "I've got to wait as long as I can before making up my mind."

Unitas, injured in a preseason game, flunked the first extended test of his ailing elbow Sunday and Shula, second-guessing himself, conceded he waited too long to pull Unitas and reinstate Morrall.

Morrall returned in the fourth quarter, after Unitas directed seven series of p plays and pitched his 13th touchdown pass of the season but couldn't prevent Baltimore's first loss.

The setback dropped the Colts one game behind the Rams in the Coastal Division.

SATURDAY BATTLE

Cal To Face New Kind Of Syracuse

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—They talked about dolls yesterday at the Northern California Football Writers and Broadcasters Luncheon.

"If you were to make a Syracuse doll," said Larry Kimball, sports information director at Syracuse, "it would be big, strong and slow, and when you wound it up it would run and run and run."

But Syracuse has a new breed of football team, as California's Bears will find out this Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

It passes, catches and kicks field goals.

MORE PASSES

"In four games," said Kimball, "Syracuse has thrown more passes than we did during the past seven seasons."

Paul Paolisso, junior quarterback from West Virgina, spearheads the Orange air attack and has thrown 12 times to sophomore end Tony Gabriel of Canada, who has been double-teamed after catching 10 of those in Syracuse's first two games.

Sophomore George Jakowenko, who is 5-foot-9 and weighs 153, has kicked five field goals in eight tries, the longest from 40 yards-and 11 extra points in 13 tries.

Syracuse, whose 3-1 record includes a 20-7 victory over UCLA, downed California 20-14 last year in the first meeting between the two schools.

'AWESOME TASK'

The Bears, 4-1 after dumping UCLA 39-15, face an "Awesome task" in stopping Syracuse, said California coach Ray Willsey.

Willsey praised his defense, wingback Paul Williams and safety Ken Weidemann for making the big plays with a fantastic catch and a pass interception.

"A tie is just like a loss," said Les Davis of Hayward State, whose team tied Nevada, 7-7. "I'd just as soon we had played on until someone won, or decided the game on first downs or total yards," he said. His team plays Chico State this weekend.

MISSED TRY

"A tie is like kissing your sister," said Ray Clemons of Sacramento State, whose team lost 14-13 to San Francisco State after missing a two-point conversion try.

"A tie would have been the same as a loss in the conference race," said Clemons. "Besides, we still had five minutes left when we went for the two points."

AP RANKINGS

Explosive Ohio State shaved Southern California's lead to 16 points today in The Associated Press' major college football poll.

Financial Facts About Giants And Candlestick

Baseball attendance dropped more than 400,000 at Candlestick Park this year. Paid attendance totaled 1,242,480 in 1967. It was 837,220 this year, first time under the million mark since the Giants moved to the Golden Gate in 1958.

What has this meant in revenue loss to the Giants?

Some $600,000. The precise difference between 1967 and 1968 gate income of the Giants won't be known until Horace Stoneham makes his annual report next month to stockholders of National Exhibition Company which owns the Giants. Stoneham is president and chief stockholder of NEC.

AS A RESULT of the drop in attendance, the city of San Francisco had to be content with a minimum Candlestick rental fee this year. Under terms of a 35-year lease, the Giants pay a base rent of $125,000 for Candlestick or 5 per cent of the gate whichever is greater.

This is the first year that the 5 per cent option was not exercised. The city controller settled for the $125,000 minimum.

In 1960, first year of the Giants in Candlestick, the city collected $248, 882.81 in rent—the $125,000 minimum plus $93,882.81 to equal 5 per cent of 1,795,356 paid admissions.

HERE ARE the rent figures for following years: 1961, $168,965.87; 1962, $181,965.83; 1963, $189,681.41; 1964, $183,395.92; 1965, $185,000; 1966, $213,880.34; 1967, $176,440.15 and this year, $125,000.

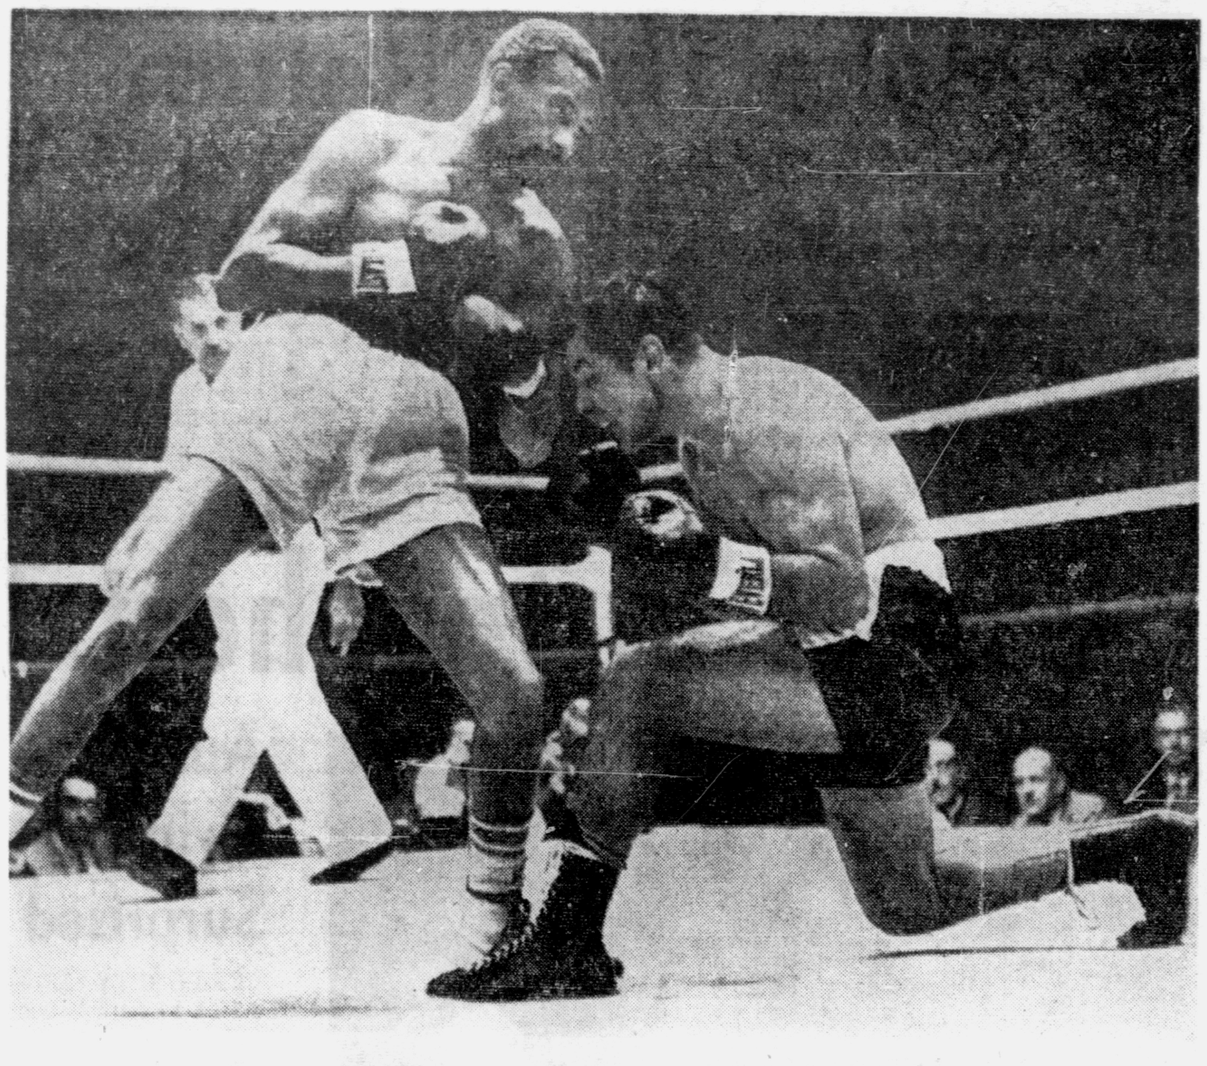
Holders of Candlestick Park's revenue bonds need not be concerned. It takes a minimum debt service of $325,000 to meet interest and amortization clauses of the $5.5 million bonds each year. The rent, plus parking and miscellaneous fees, will be slightly more than $325,000 this year. In past years the rent, parking and miscellaneous fees have been over $500,000 leaving a tidy surplus in Stadium, Inc., the corporation through which the city legally conducts its Candlestick operations.

THERE IS one bit of business the city conducts directly for itself with the Giants. That is tax business. The Giants thought when they signed the 35-year Candlestick lease that the $125,000 minimum rental or 5 per cent of the gate constituted their complete obligation.

However, in their third year in San Francisco they discovered their Candlestick lease vested them with an intangible property right which San Francisco's tax assessor described as "a possessory interest."

SO VALUABLE was this 'possessory interest" the assessor placed a $117,487.03 tax assessment on it in 1960. Its value has depreciated slightly since 1960 but not appreciably. The Giants' 'possessory interest" tax averages $100,000 a year. It was $100,039.36 this year.

But Stoneham still is going to be able to make a favorable report to stockholders next month nothwithstanding the sharp drop in 1968 baseball attendance at Candlestick. National Exhibition Company's cut from the $10 million entrance fees of Montreal and San Diego to the National League will be $2 million. Stockholders like to hear that kind of news.



PRESENTS A VERY LOW TARGET

of this 1½ mile high city. "Most of the world lives downstairs. They hold the Olympics upstairs. The Games are thrown out of balance."

FOUR GOLDS

Among the United States' 11 medals collected yesterday were four gold, two in yachting and two in swimming, including a 1-2-3 sweep in the the men's 100-meter butterfly.

Doug Russell, from Midland, Tex., led that parade, scoring his first victory over Mark Spitz, the world record holder from Santa Clara, Ross Wales, Youngstown, Ohio, was third. The time was 55.9.

"I thought I could beat Mark, and I was determined to do it tonight," Russell said. "I thought Spitz swam my race and I swam his.

"I made it a point to be with him for the first 75 meters. Mark was a little ahead of me at the turn, but I had too much left and he was too tired."

The defeat knocked Spitz out of a chance to tie or better teammate Don Schollander's record of four gold medals, set in Tokyo in 1964. "The 400-meter medley butterfly leg goes to the winner of the fly," Spitz said.

FOUR ALREADY

Spitz already has two golds for relays, a silver in the butterfly and a bronze for the 100 freestyle. He goes in the 200-meter butterfly, for which he holds the world record, Thursday.

Just 42 minutes after losing to Russell, he swam the third leg on the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team, giving Schollander a lead of about 2½ meters.

Schollander held most of it against an Australian challenge. Russia was a distant third. The winning time was 7:52.3.

Ellie Daniels, Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Shields, Louisville, Ky., were second and third behind Miss McClements' winning 1:05.5 in the women's butterfly.

Of the three finals on today's schedule, strangely is the underdog to take the gold—in the men's 100-meter backstroke and the men's 200-meter breast stroke, but figure to pick up some seconds and thirds.

DEBBIE

In the other, Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, goes for her second gold in the 200-meter freestyle, in which she holds the world record. With Jane Barkman, Wayne, Pa. and Jan Henne, Oakland, also entered, it could be another American sweep.

Buddy Friedrichs of New Orleans, La., in the Dragon class in Willawaw, and Lowell North of San Diego, with crewman Peter Barrett of Seal Beach, in the Star class with North Star, confirmed their yachting victories that they had clinched the day before.

The United States also picked up a silver in shooting from Lt. John Writer, stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., in the small bore rifle, with 1,156 of a possible 1,200.

The event was won by Bernd Klinger of West Germany with 1,157, and Russian Vitaly Parkihiovich third.

EQUESTRIANS

Another silver came in team equestrian, won by Great Britain with Australia third.

There were a couple of controversies. The Russian equestrian team was found to be using walkie talkies and disqualified. But they were reinstated when they pointed out an interpreter was not present at the briefings.

But in team pursuit cycling, West Germany, first across the finish line, was disqualified when the jury ruled that Jurgen Kissner pushed teammate Karl-Heinz Henrichs, an illegal action.

Denmark, which finished second, was awarded the gold medal and Italy the bronze. A decision on the silver medal will be made later.

Elston Howard Retires; Dodgers Sell Bob Bailey

COMBINED AP & UPI

Elston Howard, who played on 10 championship clubs in 14 seasons in the American League, was set to rejoin the New York Yankees as a coach today after formally announcing his retirement as a player in one of several major league developments.

"As of today, I've retired," the veteran catcher told a hurriedly called news conference in the offices of the Boston Red Sox yesterday. "There's no chance I'll change my mind."

A few hours later the Yankees called a news conference for today. No reason was given, but it appeared an open secret that Howard would be named coach, replacing the recently retired Frank Crosetti on Manager Ralph Houk's staff.

Howard, the league's most valuable player with the Yankees in 1963, was the first Negro to wear a Yankee uniform. He was dealt to Boston in August of 1967, just in time to help the Red Sox in a dramatic surge to their first pennant in 21 years.

In other major league deals yesterday:

The Los Angeles Dodgers sold infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey to the new Montreal Expos and obtained relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for left-hander Jimmy Ellis. Bailey former $135,000 bonus star with Pittsburgh, was obtained by the Dodgers in the trade that sent Maury Wills to the Pirates.

Leroy "Satchel" Paige, a baseball pitching legend whose age is believed to be beyond 60, was removed from the Atlanta Braves' active roster and made a coach. The Braves signed Paige last summer to help him complete the 158 days on a major league roster necessary for him to qualify for baseball's minimum pension.

The Cleveland Indians sold first baseman Bill Davis of their Portland roster to the San Diego Padres.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today that it has learned the Padres, who picked shortstop Zoilo Versalles from Los Angeles in the expansion draft, will sell the shortstop to the Indians after the interleague trading period formally begins Nov. 20.

32 For Rick As Oaks Win No. 3

OAKLAND (AP) — Last year the Oakland Oaks couldn't win enough games to get out of the American Basketball Association's Western Division cellar. This season the Oaks are the only team to win a game thus far.

Oakland, sparked by Rick Barry's fourth-period surge, won its third straight game without a loss last night as they downed the New Orleans Buccaneers 137-129 to close their three-game road trip.

New Orleans, Indiana and Kentucky are the only teams which have played regular season games this year, all against the Oaks. Each now has an 0-1 record.

The Bucs smothered the 6-foot-7 Barry for most of the game but with eight minutes remaining and New Orleans leading 117-116 he got the Oaks running. Barry finished as high scorer with 32 points. Steve Jones led the Bucs with 28.

JIM MURRAY FROM MEXICO CITY

Olympic Games No Place For A Sportswriter

MEXICO CITY — All right, boss, take back this stopwatch, metric conversion table, binoculars, and send me the collected works of James Baldwin, Richard Wright, and the public utterances of Paul Robeson, Cassius Clay. Get Harry Edwards on the phone.

YOU DON'T need a sportswriter down here, you need a sociologist. I haven't got the foggiest idea how we did in the heats in the 1500. The women's pentathlon is a bigger mystery than usual.

Not much happened in the Olympic Village Friday. We just lost a couple of alternates in the men's 400-meter relay.

You remember when Tommie Smith and John Carlos were going to boycott the Olympics? Well, Friday, the Olympics boycotted them.

THE AMERICAN blacks ere have mistaken the International Olympic movement for the hierarchy of the state of Mississippi.

You wouldn't think you could get in so much trouble with a pair of black gloves unless you slapped a Frenchman across the face with them.

The International Olympic Committee has taken the position Smith and Carlos challenged them to a duel. Their choice of weapons was economic. They gave the athletes 48 hours to get out of the country or pay their own way to stay here.

THE AMERICAN people ponied up over three-quarters of a million dollars to send these youngsters here. They could have gotten someone to insult the flag cheaper than that.

All they required of Tommie Smith was 19 seconds of his time. Carlos, they needed a little longer. There was an Australian between him and Smith.

THE U. S. Olympic Committee doesn't have any problems Abraham Lincoln couldn't solve. No one on the International Committee resembles him very much. Most of these guys have names it takes you five minutes to say and are so full of "vons" and "del la's" that they are hard to pronounce unless you're wearing a monocle or a sword.

Douglas Roby, the American committee president, says they called him on the carpet to explain why he couldn't "control" his athletes. The presumption is no gentleman wears gloves before sundown.

WELL, WE still got 391 athletes in the game, but the last champion to get sacked was in 1936 for drinking champagne (Eleanor Holm). No one ever got it for wearing gloves before.

The uproar was doubtless exacerbated by John Carlos, postrace boasting that what was happening in Mexico City was just a heat compared to what would happen in Munich in '72 when he suggested darkly they would "tear the place down." Generals Bradley, Eisenhower and Montgomery may want to get in touch with him to find out how it is done. They found it took somewhat longer than two weeks and a pair of track shoes when they tried it.

CARLOS' OUTLOOK on white people (whom he accused of treating his people like "ants and roaches") was doubtless colored by the fact he got beat by one of them. Peter Norman treated him like a third-place runner, which was even harder to take.

Carlos' displeasure slopped over to the team bus where he got into a loud, profane, near fist fight with a Californian and ordered a Canadian reporter, Dick Beddoes, to "get to the back of the bus, whitey" when Beddoes tried to make peace.

I arrived at the Village Friday with the innocent intention of interviewing a miler. I found it as a-twitter as an aviary at the approach of a cat, or a raided crap game. "Down with Brundage" banners swung from windows. (Avery Brundage has been as invisible at this Olympics as the amoeba but cursed just as lustily.)

JOHN CARLOS came striding out of Building 11, the American compound, trailing a cloud of cameramen, reporters, television technicians and the whole yelping pack of journalism 1968.

At the stadium later, Carlos and Smith were as available for interviews as a guy running for sheriff, Radio Europe, the BBC, local television and anyone within earshot got the benefit of their combined 49 years of accumulated wisdom.

THE AMERICAN Olympic Committee leaned heavily on the theory that the incident was an insult and "discourtesy" to the "people of Mexico." This will come as a distinct surprise to those of us who could have sworn that was the U. S. flag they were clenching their fists at.

In the Olympic Village courtyard, I got a curious reaction from a Harvard crewman, Jacques Fiechter. The Harvard crew is much better at politics than it is at rowing — which is not saying as much as you might conclude.

"By winning their competition, they won the right to do anything they felt proper," Fiechter concluded, fingering his beard. "It seems to me, in sponsoring an athlete, you don't only sponsor his performance, you sponsor the whole person, the whole consciousness of the athlete. To me, they were justified (in doing this) by their success (on the field). This (the victory platform) was a place they had a right to be, and therefore they could do anything they wanted when they got there."

A NOVEL point of view. Now to the confessional, the altar, the embassy, and the 12-mile limit, you add the Olympic victory stand as a sanctuary, a place where a man is hs own judge, jury and law.

If you've got something to get off your chest, start practicing the 200. We may get our next Hitler out of Lane 4.

AS FOR ME, I feel like a guy who trained for the 100 and got thrown into the steeplechase. Tommie Smith and John Carlos got 48 hours to get out of Mexico. Any direction will do. Under the circumstances, I think I'd better join them. Get Walter Lippmann down here. Or Arnold Toynbee. This thing is just about as athletic as the Vietnam peace talks.

Aerial Trout Plants Enjoy Huge Success

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A 21-gun salute is in order for the California Department of Fish and Game, and to retired senior warden-pilot A. L. Reese, on the completion of 20 years of successful aerial trout plants of back country lakes.

Prior to 1948, the planting of the rainbows and brook trout to high country lakes required a strong back on a horse or mule, big cans of darting trout, careful attention to the temperature of the water throughout the trip and knowledgeable wardens prepared for a lengthy hiking trip.

HIGH COSTS

Even the cost for each 1,000 fish planted soared into high gear as statistics indicated a cost of $18.75 to complete the job of planting the thousand finny battlers in remote mountain lakes.

Then Reese, and the Department of Fish and Game, began the operation which has resulted in the planting of 3,000 mountain lakes regularly by airplane. More than 900 lakes are planted annually with a total of approximately six million fingerling trout.

The DFG uses a twin-engine Beechcraft for the job which requires high altitude flying to the lakes and then swift passages low over the water as the trout releases are made.

AERIAL IDEA

A sharp reduction in the cost of the planting operations occurred when the aerial plant idea was started. Compared to the previous cost of $18.75 per thousand by packmule, the aerial plants reduced that figure to $2.98 per 1,000 fingerlings. Even that cost has now been reduced as increased efficiency and the use of tranquilizing drugs, to permit the carrying of more fish per trip, brought the cost figure down to $1.43 per 1,000 fish planted.

Reese, who retired in 1966, pioneered the aerial planting of trout beginning with experiments in 1946 which determined aerial planting was feasible with a maximum loss of about two per cent to all causes including netting, handling, transporting and dropping. The loss rate, it was found, was no greater than under the old pack-in method.

It was Reese, also, who perfected the system of using tranquilizers in the water to calm the Kokanee and trout during the planting operation and increased the survival rate.

The drops range from a heighth of 200 feet up to 800 feet but normally are about 250 feet above the lake waters.

California pioneered the use of aircraft for fish planting purposes, and, in fact, established the first "Air Wing" for conservation and fish planting purposes.

Technique developments in aeriel planting has resulted in the use of the aircraft to drop wild turkeys into remote areas, and to parachute beaver to their new homes. It seems that the small animals drop gracefully toward their destination, and when they land, the parachute releases the animal.

NO ACCIDENTS

Since Reese has retired, his former assistant, Carrol Faist, 45, now pilots the plane on the planting expeditions. The department proudly reports that during the 20-year span, there have been no accidents or injuries to the pilot or his crew. Reese spent more than 20 years with the department.

The foresight of Reese and the DFG in developing these techniques should be recalled by those readers who pack in to a remote lake to find the fishing is great.

Gals Triumph In Prep Swims

Redwood and San Rafael girl swimmers took impressive victories in the Marin County Athletic League last week.

Redwood downed Terra Linda, 64-47, with Linda Locati getting a pair of victories. San Rafael stopped Drake, 67-44, with Denise Ham's double win leading the way. Deidre Bullis won the three events for Drake.

In girls volleyball, Drake downed Novato and Redwood defeated Marin Catholic.

In tennis, Redwood defeated Novato, 4-1. Drake nicked Tamalpais, 3-2 and Terra Linda took a default win over Marin Catholic.

Learn To Dig For Evidence When You Need It For Victory

Counting will help you discover how many cards each opponent holds in each suit, information you sometimes need to make your contract. If the information doesn't lie on the surface of the hand you must dig for it, as South did in today's hand.

DIAMOND SHIFT

West took the top hearts and shifted to the jack of diamonds. South won with the ace of diamonds and saw that his only problem was to locate the queen of spades.

The average player would have two conflicting thoughts. Since West has bid he is more likely than East to have the missing queen. But East, with fewer hearts in his hand, has more room for spades and is therefore more likely to have the queen of spades. With the evidence thus pointing both ways the average player might toss a coin to guess which opponent has the queen of spades.

SURER METHOD

The actual declarer led a club to dummy's nine, ruffed a diamond with the queen of clubs, led a club to dummy's ten and ruffed another diamond. South then drew the last missing trump with the ace of clubs.

South ruffed his last heart in dummy and cashed the king of diamonds. It was now clear that West had started with exactly three clubs and four diamonds.

It was a near certainty that West had started with five hearts for his bid. This was even more likely since if East had held four hearts with his singleton in clubs he would have raised to two hearts.

WEST'S HAND

South summed up what he knew of West's hand: five hearts, four diamonds and three clubs. This accounted for 12 cards, which meant that West could hold only one spade. Declarer therefore cashed dummy's king of spades to dispose of West's singleton and then led a spade to take a marked finesse through East.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K 3 2
♥ Q 3
♦ K 6 5 2
♣ J 10 9 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no trump.

Since you have nine points, you know that the combined count is 25 to 27 points. Even if partner has only a bare 16 points, you have a ten and a nine to bring him closer to the 26 points usually needed for game. If your partner is an inexperienced player you may raise to only two no trump, giving him the chance to stop below game if he has only 16 points.

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 22, the 296th day of 1968 with 70 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Gen. Sam Houston was sworn in as first President of the Republic of Texas.

In 1883, the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City staged its grand opening with a performance of "Faust."

In 1953, representatives of France and the Indo-Chinese state of Laos signed a treaty giving Laos its independence.

In 1962, President Kennedy announced anarms blockade of Cuba after Soviet missiles were discovered on the island.

A thought for the day: British playwright George Bernard Shaw, said: "There is only one religion, though there are a hundred versions of it."

San Francisco Ruling May Cloud Marin Gun Control

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO —A legal cloud over Marin County's proposed gun registration ordinance was cast yesterday by the California Court of Appeal in a ruling striking down a similar San Francisco ordinance.

The court ruled that the city ordinance was invalid because the state had preempted the field of gun control laws and also because the ordinance conflicted with state gun laws.

San Francisco's law would have required gunowners to register their weapons with the police, but unlike Marin's ordinance, also would have empowered the chief of police to suspend, cancel or revoke a registration certificate "for cause."

Marin's ordinance would empower the sheriff to cancel a registration only if a misstatement were found on the application by a gun owner to register his weapon, noted Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

Terming this difference "substantial," Maloney added that "no one can predict what the Supreme Court will do." San Francisco City Atty. Thomas M. O'Connor yesterday said the city will appeal to the state Supreme Court to overturn the ruling.

Marin's gun registration ordinance was adopted in June by the board of supervisors, but suspended when its opponents successfully petitioned to put it on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. All voters in the county will be eligible to vote on it (Proposition A), but the ordinance would apply only to gun owners in unincorporated areas.

Registration with the sheriff's office would cost $1 per firearm, or up to $10 for collections of 10 or more firearms.

The Sausalito City Council has agreed to enact a gun registration ordinance after the election, regardless of whether the county's ordinance passes.

The Sausalito ordinance is even more narrowly drawn than Marin's according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, who cautioned the council in June that it has no more than "a reasonable chance of being upheld." The city's proposed ordinance, he said, requires registration of all firearms, but gives no power to police to revoke a registration permit.

Jordan noted that a key objection to the San Francisco ordinance by the court yesterday was that it was a "licensing" law because it gave police power to revoke a registration permit.

Jordan said he had not yet read the court's decision, but that if it shows the court is not going to allow any local gun laws, then the city's ordinance will be invalid.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said he was "confident the case will be upheld on appeal, even to the United States Supreme Court."

The unanimous opinion of the three-judge court, written by Judge Wakefield Taylor, ordered suspension of enforcement of San Francisco's law. "We conclude that once state legislation has partially regulated this field, further statewide uniform treatment appears to be the more reasonable approach," he wrote.

LBJ Signs Gun Curbs, Asks More

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson signed today a gun control law restricting inter-state sales of rifles, shotguns, and ammunition. He said it was the most comprehensive gun control law ever signed, but that "not nearly enough" had been done.

The President had called for licensing of gun owners and registration of all firearms, but he said "the voices of a powerful lobby—a gun lobby" have prevailed "for the moment in an election year."

"Big as this bill is, it still falls short," the President said because of the lack of licensing and registration provisions.

Climaxing years of controversy, the legislation won final approval from the Senate and the House shortly before Congress adjourned last week.

The legislation supplants the firearms section of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act passed within days of Kennedy's assassination.

Here are principal provisions from the new state bill:

Interstate sales of all firearms and ammunition by mail are prohibited, except among federally licensed manufacturers, importers, dealers and collectors.

Over - the - counter sales of firearms to nonresidents of a state are banned, except that a person can purchase a rifle or shotgun, but not a handgun, in an adjoining state if it is legal under the laws of both states.

In such out - of - state purchases, the buyer has to file an affidavit of eligibility and to allow time for a police check; the

TORPEDOED BY ARMY?

Mill Valley Boat Harbor In Doubt

By ANNE BARDWELL

A stunned Mill Valley City Council learned last night that objections by the Army Corps of Engineers to a Richardson Bay development plan may bring to naught the city's seven-year dream of a small boat harbor.

At the heart of the matter was the question of whether or not the Nowell plan for 17 acres of fill and development would be able to handle spoils from the Saucelito Canal dredging, essential if the proposed municipal harbor is to have access to the bay. Any alternative might price spoils disposal — and the harbor — out of sight.

When the engineers' objections came to light — with the reading of a letter sent last week to County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost by Frank C. Boerger, corps' district engineer — developers Tom E. Nowell and William M. Nelson laid the blame on County Planner Paul C. Zucker, who has objected to their plans, which would include creation of two islands and high rise buildings.

Boerger wrote that the Nowell plan is "incompatible" with corps' dredging plans because it would eliminate 20 acres of spoils disposal area from the Richardson Bay Shoreline. It would also, Boerger said, require relocating the Saucelito Canal 70 feet northeast of its present alignment.

Boerger's report on the Nowell development's spoils capacity

Apollo Astronauts Ride Craft To Near-Pinpoint Splashdown

ABOARD USS ESSEX (AP) — Apollo 7's astronauts rode their "magnificent flying machine" to a near-pinpoint landing in the Atlantic Ocean today and were reported in high spirits and apparently good physical shape after being ferried to this aircraft carrier by helicopter.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham gave searchers 20 anxious minutes before they were found floating in serene seas just five miles from the Essex.

Officials reported Apollo 7 landed just one-third of a mile off the actual aiming point in an example of almost perfect markmanship. Exact location was 1,100 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham were the first U.S. astronauts to re-enter without wearing their helmets. They elected to leave them off because they wanted to be free to blow their noses to prevent possible pressure damage to their ears and sinuses as a result of head cold congestion.

EARDRUMS ALL RIGHT

One doctor, who made a quick examination of the astronauts, said "there definitely were no ruptured eardrums."

The successful landing climaxed a sensational 11-day space voyage which put the United States on the doorstep to the moon.

After a blazing trip back through the atmosphere, Apollo 7 drifted to earth, dangling under its three large orange and white parachutes. It struck the water at an angle and the astronauts immediately cut the shroud lines.

WAVE ACTION

Wave action tipped the 6 and one-half-ton craft over so that it was bottoms-up, which was anticipated. This submerged their radio antennae and helicopters were unable to zero in on the beacon. They were further hampered by clouds and a light rain that reduced visibility.

But within seven minutes Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham had inflated flotation bags that righted their spaceship. Helicopters then located the beacon and were overhead quickly.

Fifty-five minutes after the 4:13 a.m. PDT splashdown, the astronauts were deposited by helicopter on the rain-swept deck of the Essex.

BEARDED TRIO

The bearded trio appeared shaky and tired as they stepped onto a red carpet rolled up to the helicopter. But they waved happily as hundreds of sailors in dress whites cheered and a band played "Anchors Aweigh."

Physicians reported after a quick examination that the three felt fine and were in good spirits.

They were all smiles later when they received a telephone call from President Johnson at the White House.

"I salute the three of you as well as the thousands of men on the space team," the President said. "We here in the Capitol and all over this country and the world are very proud of you this morning."

Eisele replied: "Thank you very much, Mr. President. It

J. E. Sheeks Named To Span Board

Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, a law partner of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was named to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board of Directors today in a 3-to-2 decision of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Sheeks will fill the term of Thomas D. Hardcastle, who resigned last month because of pressure of business. Hardcastle's term runs to Nov. 20, 1970.

Supervisor John F. McInnis nominated Sheeks, and won the backing of Ernest N. Kettenhofen, board chairman.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss nominated attorney W. Jack Adams of Novato, and Supervisor Peter H. Behr supported Gnoss.

Three members of a Nevada family were killed yesterday in a headon collision near the Petaluma Adobe State Historical Monument about a mile outside the Petaluma city limits.

Traveling a in a compact car were Jack Leete, 20, of South Shore, Lake Tahoe, whose parents live in Petaluma; his wife, Mary Ann, 18, formerly of Petaluma, and their daughter, Valerie, 3. They were pronounced dead at Hillcrest Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said their car, southbound on Old Adobe Road, collided with a northbound station wagon driven by Kenneth Anderson, 16, of Petaluma, about 1:45 p.m. The impact drove the front end of the Leete auto into the front seat.

Anderson, a student at Petaluma Senior High School, escaped with face cuts and was reported in good condition today in Hillcrest Hospital.

Cause of the crash has not been determined.

The Leete family had lived in Nevada for six months.

A native of Santa Rosa and educated there, Leete was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leete of Petaluma.

He is also survived by three brothers, Richard Leete, serving in Vietnam, Steve Leete of North Carolina and Thomas Leete of Petalua; four sisters, Patricia, Kim and Lyn Leete, all of Petaluma, and Mrs. Jackian Thomas of Healdsburg.

Mrs. Leete was born and educated in Petaluma. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mezzanatto of Santa Rosa, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Eva Bordessa of Cotati.

Their daughter, Valerie, was born in Santa Rosa.

Funeral is pending at the Parent funeral chapel, Petaluma.

Commuter Tax Hit As Colonialism

By BONNIE BARD

SANTA ROSA — San Francisco's tax plans for residents of surrounding counties were likened yesterday to England's colonial era in America as Douglas J. Maloney, Marin County counsel, argued in Sonoma Superior Court that the proposed 1 per cent commuter tax is taxation without representation.

Appearing before Judge Lincoln F. Mahan with Maloney, Richard Moore, Alameda County counsel, charged the proposed San Francisco tax is illegal under both state and federa, constitutions. They spoke on behalf of their counties as well as Contra Costa, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

"San Francisco and the commuting counties may not be the colonies, nor is Joseph Alioto King George III, nor is a tea bag a brown bag, but the same principle applies," Maloney said.

After hearing oral arguments for more than two hours, Judge Mahan took the matter under submission, but did not indicate when a decision would be made.

Referring to the measure as "gross discrimination," Maloney said San Francisco is flouting the state Legislature which denies cities and coun-

AN UNINVITED GUEST VIEWS SPLASHDOWN

ABOARD THE U.S. ESSEX (AP) — The Apollo 7 recovery operations had an interested uninvited witness today.

The Ekholog, a Russian trawler identified by the U.S. Navy as an intelligence ship, shadowed the Essex throughout the early daylight hours as the aircraft carrier sped toward the Apollo splashdown point.

The ship was faintly visible from the flight deck of the Essex.

Ninety minutes after the astronauts came aboard the Essex, the trawler was reported less than two miles away.

Sirhan's Home Search Defended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two policemen said today that two brothers of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan gave permission to search the Sirhan home a few hours after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy fas mortally wounded on June 5.

The prosecution in the case of the 24 - year - old Jordanian charged with murder in Kennedy's death conceded that the officers, William E. Brandt and Dante A. Lodolo, had no search warrants.

And one officer said that one Sirhan brother, Adel, 29, indicated a belief that Sirhan was involved in the fatal shooting.

These were the highlights of a Superior Court hearing on a defense motion to suppress evidence found in the home.

Market On Lower Side At Day's End

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed a bit lower today amid a rash of statements about the Vietnam situation.

The market had a slight gain at the start but soon lapsed into irregularity.

Erosion was slow, and most losses were small.

In late trading, however, there were some sharp moves. Bristol Myers dropped several points, and Sinclair advanced around half a dozen. United Fruit dropped sharply.

Prices near the close included:

Brunswick, up ½ at 20; Gulf & Western, up 2¼ at 51¾; Ogden, off 1⅛ at 38; United Fruit, off 3 at 72; General Motors, off 1⅜ at 72; Allied Chemical, up 1 at 36¼; IBA Corp., off 1⅜ at 49⅜; Sinclair, up 5⅜ at 85¼; and Bristol-Myers, off 5¾ at 70.

Among two industrial giants which reported high earnings, Du Pont held a fractional gain while Standard Oil (New Jersey) lost slightly.

A generally lower trend was shown by steels, motors, electronics, rails, utilities, chemicals, oils, drugs and airlines.

Among wider losers, Control Data lost 4, IBM 3, Merck 2, Penn Central and Schering a point each.

American Stock Exchange prices finally followed the example of the Big Board and worked lower in late afternoon after wiping out an initial advance.

Upsurge Forecast For Mutual Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A revolution is enveloping the $50-million mutual fund industry and the opportunities it presents are widespread, says the chairman of the Investment Company Institute.

John R. Haire keynoted the 20th annual International Mutual Fund Dealers Conference yesterday being attended by about 3,000 excutives.

He spoke of the 50,000 life insurance salesmen who will be registered within a year with the National Association of Securities Dealers to sell mutual funds and insurance.

This "revolution", he explained will bring with it questions of commission rates and sales charges, legislation, insider rules, and primarily new competition.

Equal competition, Haire declared, calls for stock exchanges to change rules to permit registered representatives to also sell life insurance.

He pointed out pending legislation would reverse policy of more than 30 years and permit banks to re-enter the equity securities business by selling fund shares.

But, Haire said, just 9 per cent of American households — four million — hold mutual funds, so there is an untapped market of 50 million families.

He told the dealers that the immediate threat to the eight to nine per cent commission charged mutual fund buyers has cooled down.

The rate has been under attack by the Securities and Exchange Commission which feels 5 per cent should be enough.

Haire said even though Congress has rejected SEC proposals for new legislation, the possibility of change still poses a serious challenge to the industry.

UKIAH MURDER

Sister Testifies As Defense Rests

SAN JOSE (UPI) — The defense completed its case in the lengthy murder trial of two Washington State farm youths yesterday with testimony by the sister of one of the defendants.

The trial of Thomas E. Braun and Leonard E. Maine, accused of murder, kidnap, rape and assault, was then recessed until tomorrow when final arguments will begin. The case was expected to go to the jury by the end of the week.

Maine and Braun, both 20 and of Ritzville, Wash., are accused of the fatal shooting of Timothy Luce, 17, son of the Lake County district attorney, in a Hopland vineyard Aug. 21, 1967.

Luce's girlfriend, Susan Bartolomei, 18, Ukiah, was kidnaped, raped at a Turlock motel, shot five times and left for dead in a gully in the Sierra foothills.

The suspects were arrested a few hours after Miss Bartolomei, now partially paralized, was found beside a road.

The Washington youths also were accused of killing a Seattle housewife and a Portland salesman during a weekend spree in three states.

Braun's sister, Mrs. Barbara Rosario, 21, Odessa, Wash., testified yesterday they were products of a broken home and "Tommy didn't get along too well" with his father.

Mrs. Rosario said she and her brother went to live with their father, Reinholt, on his wheat farm in Ritzville, Wash., after their mother died at the age of 28 due to a criminal abortion.

"Father and Tommy didn't get along too well," she said. "Dad didn't feel that Tommy was really his son, and Tom was aware of this."

Defense attorney Merle Orchards claims Braun was sensitive regarding the possibility he might be illegitimate—a sensitivity that led to mental illness. Orchard contends Braun is innocent by reason of insanity.

Mrs. Rosario said her parents separated when she and her brother were "very young" and they lived with their mother in Kettle Falls, Wash., until her death. The witness said "she was good to us and loved the kids but left us alone a lot."

Escaped Felon Shot To Death By FBI Agent

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — A gun-toting escaper from Nevada State Prison was shot to death by an FBI agent early today in a seacliff area home where he was holding two hostages.

Authorities said the suspect, James R. Gourley, 23, was dropped by one bullet in the throat as he passed a window after a four-hour seige. The hostages, two of six Gourley held during a 24-hour period, were unharmed.

TOOK CAR

Gourley kidnaped John Reese, 21, at a San Jose service station last night and fled in the youth's car. Law enforcement units followed his progress, but remained at a distance to protect the hostages.

They said Gourley purchased $1 worth of gasoline in Gilroy, and continued on to Aptos where he stopped at the home of Reese's uncle, Col. Ralph W. Hansen. He also took Colonal Hansen as hostage, but Mrs. Hansen managed to leave the house undetected and call police.

Police, Sheriff's deputies, California Highway Patrolmen and FBI agents quietly encircled the house. At about 2 a.m., one tear gas cannister was lobbed in the house, possibly taking Gourley by surprise. He was shot as he moved past the window.

SERVING 10 YEARS

Gourley had vowed not to be taken alive.

Gourley, whose father and stepmother live in San Jose, was serving 10 years to life at Nevada State Prison for his part in a kidnaping hoax in 1965. He escaped from the new minimum security prison at Carson City Thursday.

The fugitive showed up late Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wright in Gardnerville, Nev., about 10 miles south of Carson City.

Wright told authorities he was about to slam the door when Gourley shoved a .22 caliber pistol in his face and entered the home.

TWO NEIGHBORS

Authorities said Gourley picked up a .38 caliber revolver and some ammunition at the Wright home before herding the Wrights and two neighbors — Alex Scossa, 57, and his niece, Georgia, 14 — into Wright's 1967 sedan.

Sitting in the back seat with the two women, Gourley ordered Wright at gunpoint to drive him over the Sierras into Northern California. The hostages were released unharmed on a San Jose street corner, and the car was abandoned some distance away.

LAWMAKERS FACE MACE

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Release Denied In Murder Case

OAKLAND (AP) — A former San Francisco Painters Union accountant held on a Nevada murder warrant has been arraigned on a charge of interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

At the arraignment yesterday, bond for Carl Black was set at $50,000 on the unlawful flight charge. But U.S. Commissioner Cameron Wolfe said Black could not be released on bail because the Nevada warrant has precedence.

Black

The warrant charges Black with the murder of Ralph Alsup, 53, business agent of a Nevada AFL-CIO Plumbers Union local.

Before Alsup's murder Jan. 16, 1966, Black was cleared of conspiracy charges in 1965 killings of Painters Union officials Dow Wilson in San Francisco and Lloyd Green in the East Bay.

Also charged in the Alsup slaying are Norman Call, 47, of Sacramento, and Thomas Hanley, 50, head of the American Federation of Casino and Gaming Employees in Las Vegas.

Call was extradited to Las Vegas for questioning in September from San Quentin prison where he is serving a life sentence for his part in the Green and Wilson murders.

Arms For Greece

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says the United States is resuming major military aid to Greece after a year and a half embargo.

The department said yesterday a number of U.S. planes and two minesweepers are being sent to Greece, ending an embargo imposed after a military junta seized control.

The department described the aid resumption as partial. The United States has supplied spare parts and small areas to Greece since the coup April 21, 1967.

Humane Trial Asked

BERKELEY (AP) — Two operators of a laboratory animal supply firm have asked for a jury trial on charges they were cruel to their animals.

Daniel Owyang and Peter Zamboanga pleaded innocent Monday in Municipal Court and were released on bail of $550 each.

They were charged with allowing some 47 dogs and 20 cats to go without food or water in filthy conditions at their Azo Laboratory Research Associates office.

Robert L. Flanders is president of Sleepy Hollow Homes Association.

Novelist Arrested

MADRID (AP) — Police today arrested underground novelist Gonzalo Arias, son of a Spanish supreme court justice and a UNESCO translator, for wearing a sandwich board demanding free elections in Spain.

They also arrested a University of Madrid student, Felix Villamediel, for wearing a similar sign.

Czech Pullout Starts

PRAGUE (UPI) — Polish troops today joined Hungarian forces in withdrawing from sections of Czechoslovakia they helped occupy in the Aug. 20-21 Warsaw Pact bloc invasion, the Russian press said.

In Moscow, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said both Hungarian and Polish forces had started to leave Czechoslovakia. It gave no indication Soviet troops had started to depart.

Strange Setup

GLENDALE, Colo. (AP) — This community of about 1,800 is a rarity among small towns. It is entirely surrounded by Denver, which is a city, a county and a state capital all in one. Yet Glendale is in Arapahoe County.

Onassis Yacht Tied Down By Bad Weather

The Kennedy children took a nonstop TWA flight to New York. They were accompanied by their grandmother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, and her husband.

All had attended the wedding Sunday of Mrs. John F. Kennedy to Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis on Scorpios, the small island in the Ionian Sea which he owns.

Mrs. Auchincloss' other daughter, Princess Lee Radziwill, and her husband, Prince Stanislaus Radziwill, were taking another plane to London, their home.

Where the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis were headed was their secret.

It was assumed they would set out on his palatial yacht soon for pleasanter points. But the storm that raged through their wedding Sunday on Scorpios Island kept up through Monday and into Tuesday.

The wedding guests flew to Athens yesterday and found the icy rain had preceded them, bringing a wave of wintry weather. The travelers spent the night in a downtown Athens hotel.

American tourists in the lobby craned to get a peek at the Kennedy children, but Prince Radziwill hurried 10-year-old Caroline and 7-year-old John into an elevator.

The Radziwills also were accompanied by their young son and daughter.

The homeward-bound group also included the only adult members of the Kennedy family who attended the wedding, two of the late President's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Also among those departing was the U.S. Secret Service man who had accompanied Mrs. Kennedy to Greece but to whose protection she is no longer entitled since her second marriage.

Policeman Indicted For Manslaughter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The grand jury returned a manslaughter indictment yesterday night against Michael O'Brien, a white policeman accused of the fatal shooting of a Negro mechanic.

O'Brien, 27, had been charged with murder after George Baskett, 28, was shot to death Sept. 29 in an alley near the Hall of Justice during a dispute touched off by a traffic mishap.

That charge was made moot when the district attorney's office decided to take the case before the grand jury.

Yosemite Fall Victim Named

YOSEMITE (UPI)—A woman who apparently fell from the top of Nevada Falls here has been identified as Evelyn Consoela Rosemann, 24, San Francisco.

Park officials said her body was found by a hiker Saturday. Authorities estimated the young woman had been dead for about a week.

A park spokesman said Miss Roseman apparently hiked to the top of the falls and fell to the bottom.

It Takes Time

LOUISVILLE (AP) — No native Kentuckians voted in the first state elections held in 1792. The constitution that was adopted set the minimum voting age at 21 and settlement of the state began in 1776.

Clark Lauds New Crime Fighter Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, charged by Republicans with being lax on law and order, says the beginning operation of a federal agency marks a "new era in criminal justice."

Clark, commenting yesterday at the swearing in of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's top three officials, predicted swift growth for the agency for a $63-million start to a billion-dollar operation.

"This ceremony marks the beginning of a ne wera in criminal justice," Clark said. "It is the major opportunity of this century to fully professionalize law enforcement, modernize the judiciary and provide improvements in the corrections field."

The agency, set up under the omnibus crime control bill passed by Congress in June, also will channel funds to local and state law enforcers to train and equip personnel and upgrade salaries.

Although Clark didn't bring politics into his remarks, it was obvious he was eager to defend the Justice Department against Republican criticism that the department has done little to battle crime.

He said he hoped it would make "an immense difference to the public safety and individual liberty of our citizens."

Chief of Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department is Ira Switzer.

New York's Municipal Labor Crisis Growing

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city today faced the greatest municipal labor crisis in its history with its 1.1 million pupil public school system paralyzed by a teachers' strike, its police patrolmen engaged in a work slowdown and its firemen set for their own slowdown.

Besieged by the ranks of organized labor, Mayor John V. Lindasy again called yesterday on the teachers' union to end its walkout "for the sake of the city," and told the uniformed services he would not bow to their wage demands.

But if the firemen go through with their slowdown, nearly 90,000 city employees will be engaged in either strikes or job action against the administration by tomorrow.

Lindsay declared he would "stand firm" on earlier agreements with the police and firemen saying that to reopen negotiations would set off a chain reaction among city employees and produce "complete anarchy in labor relations."

During the day police said 2,049 of the 23,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association called in sick while those who reported for work continued to bypass traffic offenders and perform "by the book."

The 10,500-member Uniformed Firefighters Association also voted to reject the city's contract offer and said that tomorrow firemen would stop performing nonemergency duties.

Rejecting the mayor's plea for a school truce, Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, said the strike would continue until the local board, administrator and principals in a Brooklyn experimental school district were removed.

The walkout, which has already cost 17 of 28 school days from the fall term, stems from the ouster of 80 white teachers in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

Democratic and Republican legislative leaders called on Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, and the state board of regents to use their powers to open the schools.

The action came after Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said he would not call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the crisis. He said Lindsay has "the power mayor of the city to handle the situation."

The first American cook book was written by Amelia Simmons and published in 1796 in Hartford, Conn.,

Proposition 1-A Favored Over 9

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A growing number of California voters appear to be favoring the Prop. 1-a tax revision proposal over Prop. 9, the Watson initiative, the State Poll reported today.

Both measures are on the Nov. 5 ballot and the one which gets the largest majority vote wins.

Pollster Don M. Muchmore said the latest reading indicates 42 per cent of those sampled oppose Prop. 9 and 30 per cent favor. He said 39 per cent favor passage of Prop. 1-a and 26 per cent are against.

There are large groups of "don't know" responses in each case.

1969 Ford. Wider. Longer. Quieter. Roomier.
(Easier to handle.)

These are the things to look for in a great road car. And every day more and more people are finding them in the 1969 Ford.

Wider. The '69 Ford hugs the road with as wide a track as Cadillac.

Longer. The '69 Ford smooths your ride with a longer wheelbase than Chevrolet. Yet it turns in a smaller circle than last year's Ford.

Roomier. We've grouped all the controls in front of the driver, made our front passenger compartment so spacious people are calling it the Front Room.

Quieter. Our '69 LTD is designed to ride even quieter than the LTD that rode quieter than Rolls-Royce.

Record first-month sales of the '69 Ford tell us we've got a good thing going. A test drive will tell you.

Citizens To Advise Novato School Board

A citizens advisory committee to study finances and programs in the Novato Unified School District was created last night by the board of trustees, meeting in the Marion School multi-use room.

The committee will have 30 people selected by the board in about a month from a list of names submitted by various civic organizations and the board members.

The committee will study the district's finances and such programs as speech theraphy, elementary schools librarians, reading specialists and other programs in the district. It will report periodically to the board.

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

CONTRACTS — Awarded an $8,854 contract to Rice, De Martini, Smith Inc. of Novato, lowest of three bidders, to construct two tennis courts at Sinaloa Junior High School, the money to come from community service funds, and a $8,850 contract to Page Construction Co. of Novato, the only bidder, to construct a footbridge at Sinaloa, the cost already budgeted.

PROPERTY SALE — Received an offer, with no amount named, from Little League Inc. to purchase the 2.17-acre ball park beside Rancho School. The board voted to inform the City of Novato of the proposal because it is adjacent to Arroyo Avichi Park and the city council had requested that the district inform it of any proposed sale of school property which might be used for parks. The board also voted to tell the city that it had a $209,632 offer from Eugene McGillicuddy Construction Co. for three acres of the Marion School property along Grant Avenue.

COUNCIL — Received a report that there were 456 members of the Novato Teachers Association, and 25 members of the Novato chapter of the Marin County Federation of Teachers, affiliated with the American Federation of Teachers. The board then allocated eight members on the nine member negotiating council to the Novato Teachers Association and one to the Novato chapter of the Marin County Federation of Teachers.

SIDEWALKS — Postponed any action on the offer of Marin County to pay half the cost of a walkway along the west side of Sutro Avenue from the Pleasant Valley School to Novato Boulevard. The county would pay $4,075, the school district $2,150 and the property owners $2,150 of the $8,300 project.

REPRESENTATIVES — Voted for Mrs. Dorothy Brown of the Dixie School District, and incumbents Laurens Wise of Redwood City school district, Dr. Glen Hayden of Menlo Park City School District and James Cooper of Jefferson Union High School District as representatives on the California School Boards Association from Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo County area.

WARRANTS — Authorized payment of $60,511 in qarrants and $200,641 state school building fund register warrant.

Judge's Son Gets Jail Over Flag

OAKLAND (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Jacqueline Taber sentenced a Superior Court judge's son to 30 days in jail yesterday for desecrating the American flag.

Sentenced was Robert Avakian, 25, a Berkeley writer who is the son of Alameda County Superior Court Judge Spurgeon Avakian.

Young Avakian was arrested July 15 after a flag was cut from a pole outside the county courthouse and an attempt was made to burn it during a demonstration for the release of Black Panther leader Huey Newton.

Next Hospital Session

The next Marin Hospital District board meeting will be at 7 p.m. next Tuesday at Marin General Hospital, not Nov. 29, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Baar To Discuss Senior Housing

L. H. (Bud) Baar, San Rafael councilman and a candidate for the board of supervisors, will speak on housing and a center for senior citizens at a meeting of the Goldenaires at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the city recreation center, Second and Brooks streets.

The Goldenaires are sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department and the meeting is open to all persons over 50.

Additional information is available from the center, through city hall.

Family Life Study Brings Pros, Cons

The Novato School District's family life study program for kindergarten through sixth grade was praised and criticized before more than 300 persons who attended the Novato Unified School District board meeting last night at the Marion School multiuse room.

The board ultimately agreed to hold one or more mass meetings to show parents what material was being presented in the family life program.

Judging from the applause, about one third of the audience seemed against the program and two thirds in favor of it.

The item was placed on last night's agenda at the Oct. 7 meeting when a petition of 26 signatures against the course was given to the board.

Mrs. Carlo D. Canziani of 2378 Dominic Drive, one of the petition signers, that the home and not the public classroom was the proper place to learn the facts of life.

She said that the information being used in the program came from the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States and that Isadore Rubon, editor of "Sexology" magazine was on the council and was a proven communist. She made derogatory remarks about others connected with the council.

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent of instruction, said that none of the material in the course came from the council, but was obtained from books available through the state. He said that the district had used the KQED films "Time of Your Life" last year, but were not using them this year, "because they did not add anything to our own material and were too notorious."

(The materials in the program actually were selected by a committee of 30 citizens after several months of study and adopted by the school board last year.)

Carolyn McBeath, 16, a junior at Novato High School who lives at 1792 Indian Valley Road, said that "children are concerned with sex at an early age."

"That's when I learned the most about it, and I have friends who didn't and they need it," she said.

Her views were supported by Nelson Brinckerhoff, 17, of 26 Harding Drive, a senior at Novato High School.

John C. Anderson of 270 Fairway Drive said that only one in any 25 teachers is capable of teaching the subject.

"Parents need to get communications with their children. We need a night school which parents could go to learn to be parents," said Lawrence S. Witter of 75 Fairway Drive. He urged that school libraries be kept open in the evenings so that these programs could be shown both to parents and children.

Frank Curtin of 1230 Yukon Way said that the course should include the whole being and not just sex.

Rose Rae Kaplan, a school nurse, said that the program was more than just sex. It was an attempt to help children develop their whole being, she said.

"Sex is taught as part of the body the same as the circulatory system or the digestive system," she added.

A. L. Gieleghem of 6 Renata Court thought that the course should be elective with the children.

"If they aren't getting enough sex education at home, then they should be given the choice of taking the course with other children or not taking it," he said.

Board president Dan H. Barber said that it was apparent that there was a great deal of misunderstanding about the program and that it was not just a sex education program. It is a course on the growth and development of all living things, he said.

New Lebanon Cabinet Formed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Premier Abdullah Yafi formed a four-man cabinet Sunday and President Charles Helou withdrew his resignation, ending a 10-day political crisis in this Middle East republic.

The crisis began when Yafi's government resigned and he appeared unable to form a cabinet that satisfied the two opposing blocks in Parliament.

Helou was reported to have submitted his resignation at midnight Saturday. But the speaker of parliament, Kamel el Assaad, refused to accept it, and deputies convinced the president to stay on.

Novato Sets Teacher Talk On Salaries

Novato teachers and the Novato Unified School District board had a standoff last night in an attempt to negotiate salaries for the current fiscal year.

After nearly two hours of debate, the board agreed to have a short school day Monday so that all teachers could meet to discuss salary propositions.

In the meantime, a nine-man teachers' negotiating council will work with supt. James G. Bunker and some board members if possible, at 4 p.m. Thursday, to try to work out some method of financing salaries.

The board then set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 29 to meet with the negotiating council in an open meeting to discuss salaries.

The board last June told both teachers and classified employees that it would consider salary increases when it found out how much federal and state aid it would receive.

The classified employees asked for a 5 per cent cost-of-living increase and teachers asked an 8 per cent increase.

Beverly Alberigi, representing the classified employees reiterated the request for a 5 per cent increase.

Donald White, president of the negotiating council and vice president of the Novato Teachers Association, asked the board to "use all means possible to authorize the 8 per cent increase."

The present pay range for teachers $6,000 to $12,750. With the 8 per cent raise, the scale would be $6,480 to $13,770.

The NTA proposal would cost the district $456,665 this fiscal year. The group suggested taking $165,000 out of undistributed reserves, $130,000 from public law 874 funds (federal aid for districts serving military bases and $161,655 through reducing other items in the budget.

Jerrold Moore, president of the NTA, and White agreed to work with the district staff and to see how much Public Law 874 money the district will receive. This should be known within a few days, Bunker said.

Several teachers at the rear of the auditorium told the board that they could make more money in other districts.

Robert Aune, a teacher at Novato High School, said he would resign if he got less than a raise of 8 per cent.

John Gardenhire, teacher at Novato High, said, "For six years we've been told you can't do it — well do it! Get the money for it, or resign from the board."

Members of the Novato Chapter of the Marin County Federation of Teachers, passed out mimeographed sheets at the door prior to the meeting suggesting ways in which the district could find the money to increase the salaries. These included abolishing the school bus system and not opening San Marin High, which would leave the high school in split sessions all school year. Novato High uses the campus in the morning and San Marin High in the afternoon.

Helen Keller Play Staged In Summer

TUSCUMBIA, Ala. (UPI)— The birthplace of Helen Keller, "Ivy Green," was built here in 1820 by her grandfather.

William Gibson's play, "The Miracle Worker," is staged at the house Friday nights in the summer months. The play tells the story of Miss Keller's battle to overcome her handicaps of sight and sound.

Third Big American Base Shelled By Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gunners today shelled the third U.S. military headquarters in the past three days, indicating that a new wave of attacks against major American bases may have begun.

About 30 rounds of 102-pound Russian-made artillery shells slammed into the headquarters of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division at Dong Ha and a nearby South Vietnamese village just below the eastern flack of the demilitarized zone. Three American Marines and three South Vietnamese civilians were killed. The wounded included 15 U.S. Marine, Navy and Army personnel.

The headquarters of the U.S. Army in Vietnam at Long Binh, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, was shelled Sunday. The next day enemy gunners zeroed in on the headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division at Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

The new shelling came as a 36-hour cease-fire along the coast of North Vietnam to permit the release of 14 North Vietnamese prisoners of war held by the United States ended at noon.

The bombardment opened up an hour and a half after the cease-fire ended farther north.

The shelling of Dong Ha was the first time the Marine headquarters had been attacked in two months.

The shells, fired from a 130-mm artillery piece, scored a direct hit on a Marine hospital where both military personnel and South Vietnamese civilians are treated.

A blind girl was killed at the hospital and four Navy corpsmen, two Vietnamese nurses and three Vietnamese civilian aides were wounded.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said damage to the base was light.

A spokesman said the enemy gunners apparently were firing from either inside the Demilitarized Zone or just inside North Vietnam. The long-range artillery guns can hit targets 17 miles away, which would reach Dong Ha from inside North Vietnam. Dong Ha is about eight miles below the zone.

The village at Dong Ha is located just north of the airstrip at the Marine base. Two South Vietnamese civilians were killed when some of the shells landed in the village, military spokesmen said.

Meanwhile, a U.S. military spokesman said he assumed fighter-bombers were resuming raids on North Vietnamese supply columns and barges in the 288-square mile coastal area that was declared off limits at midnight Sunday.

The cease-fire negotiated in the Laotian capital of Vientiane, silenced enemy shore batteries and antiaircraft guns along a 25-mile strip of coastline to permit a U.S. Navy ship to land the 14 POWs south of the North Vietnamese city of Vinh.

U.S. officers said there were no reports the truce had been violated.

Hanoi Radio Demands U.S. Unconditional Bomb Halt

COMBINED AP & UPI

Hanoi Radio today ignored reports of an American offer to de-escalate the Vietnam War and broadcast a demand for the unconditional halt of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Diplomatic observers in Saigon and elsewhere said it was the first time North Vietnam's broadcasts had made such a demand since Hanoi acknowledged it was studying a U.S. offer said to include a bombing halt.

Today's broadcast from Hanoi quoted a dispatch from the official news agency of South Vietnam's National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

It was not pinned to an official Hanoi government statement. The broadcast gave no clue whether Hanoi would accept or reject a U.S. de-escalation offer.

The broadcast quoted the NLF agency, Giai Phong, as saying the South Vietnamese people "support the justice-radiating stand of the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, and strongly demand that the U.S. stop completely, definitively and unconditionally the bombing and all other acts of war against (the DRUN) North Vietnam."

The unofficial Hanoi statement came as South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu declared that he does not oppose a total halt to the bombing of the North if there is "good reason to believe" that Hanoi will reciprocate.

He said in a statement the North Vietnamese must de-escalate the fighting and hold talks with the Saigon government.

The statement was issued through a Saigon spokesman shortly after Thieu met — for the fifth time in six days — with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker.

The spokesman said, however, the statement was prepared before hand and was not related to the meeting at which the two may have again discussed a reported U.S. proposal to suspend all bombing of the North. A spokesman for the U.S. mission said Bunker and Thieu normally meet a "few times a week" and the latest conference did not necessarily mean they were talking about negotiations. The two last met Sunday morning.

Thieu's statement also came simultaneously with reports from Paris that South Vietnam was preparing to formally announce terms of its own for a peace conference.

The emphasis of Thieu's remarks appeared to be on his government's insistence that North Vietnam recognize it, and be willing to negotiate directly with it, on any settlement of the war.

"With regard to the cessation of bombing of North Vietnam, the president ... has pointed out that the basic issue which confronts us is not the cessation of the bombing but the cessation of the war, and that he is willing and ready to take any action which can hasten the establishment of a just and honorable peace," the statement said.

Inmate Given Time For Having Knife

Wilfred Earl Palmer, 26-year-old San Quentin inmate, was sentenced to one to five years in prison yesterday for possessing a knife at the prison Nov. 26.

The sentence passed by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court, was made concurrent with the three years to life term Palmer is now serving for possession of a knife by a convict.

Span Aides Pleased By No-Toll Test

Marin-bound commuter traffic last evening flowed smoothly through the northbound toll-free gates on the Golden Gate Bridge marking the completion of the first full day of one-way tolls.

"It went exactly as planned," said the general manager of the bridge and highway district, Dale W. Luehring, "with traffic merging very smoothly, speed improved on the bridge and less delay in getting through the toll plaza."

As drivers become used to the new system, under which they pay double fares southbound but no fares northbound, it will work even better, Luehring predicted

San Francisco-bound commuters were slowed this morning by a two-car accident in the northbound lanes at about 7:45 a.m., but the delay was brief.

One passenger in one of the two cars, Jerry Garcia, 27, of 5307 Faught Road, Santa Rosa, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a fractured right shin.

The one-way toll system is to be tried for 90 days to see if it can speed traffic and save in operating costs and expensive new construction.

Demo Burns Won't Vote For Cranston

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Democratic president pro tem of the Senate, Hugh M. Burns, said today he will not support Alan Cranston, his party's nominee for the U.S. Senate.

Burns said he may vote for Max Rafferty, the Republican Senate nominee but he will not endorse him "or anyone else." He charged Cranston is "supported by the far left."

The veteran senator, who has already endorsed Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, also said that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic presidential choice, and Sen. Edmund Muskie, the vice presidential nominee, are "servants of the left element" of the Democratic party.

He made his statement at a news conference at the Capitol. Attending the conference were three of Republican Gov. Ronalyd Reagan's staff members — Executive Secretary William Clark, legislative aide Vernon Sturgeon and assistant press secretary Ed Gray.

Burns said he was withdrawing "whatever support that I, as a fellow Democrat, could have given" Cranston's campaign because of the candidate's support of the union backed boycott of California table grapes.

He said the International Seafarers Union, a supporter of the boycott, donated $7,500 to Cranston's campaign.

Burns objected to Cranston declaring the boycott was legal when the National Labor Relations Board had "found evidence which indicated that the International Seafarer's union, among other unions, had engaged in an illegal secondary boycott against California table grapes."

Mill Valley Council Alarmed Over Harbor

conflicted with other reports last night.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon told the council he has been assured repeatedly by John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator, that the Nowell plan would handle enough of the spoils to make the dredging project financially feasible.

"That's what I've always believed," said Councilman Robert H. Andresen, "and now I'm stunned to learn that the corps apparently doesn't agree."

Francis L. Newton, Saucelito Canal Assessment District representative, tried to reassure the council that the county and corps viewpoints could be reconciled.

Newton said the Nowell plan does provide less fill area than that originally specified in the assessment district several years ago. "At that time, everyone who owned shoreline property wanted fill, now everyone wants open water," Newton said.

The Nowell plan will take a substantial amount of the spoils, Newton said, and he noted he is now negotiating to find other areas within the bay to deposit the remainder of the spoils.

If no other fill areas can be found, the spoils will havs to be hauled out to sea, he said, and this will increase the dredging costs beyond the original $500,000 bonding capacity of the assessment district.

Corps engineers have estimated approximately 700,000 cubic yards of spoils will have to be disposed of in the bay. Present plans call for 100,000 cubic yards to be dumped on Bothin property in Richardson Bay and another 100,000 cubic yards to be placed at Alcatraz.

The city had originally planned to dump the remaining 500,000 cubic yards on tidelands property along the Richardson Bay shoreline until the 1965 San Francisco Bay fill moratorium was enacted.

The corps' letter noted that unless a nearby substitute area is found the federal project authorization will have to be reviewed because of the great increase in cosm.

However, in the one bit of cheery news in the letter, Boerger said the cost benefit ratio of the project would still remain favorable even with the Nowell plan.

Obviously also stunned by the corps letter, Nowell and Nelson, partners in Sausalito Associates, said the canal would not have to be relocated if their plan is realized.

Nowell then blamed the corps' unfavorable reaction on Zucker, saying, "Zucker's always been opposed to the plan and probably sent in his plan for the Marina Green to the corps instead of ours."

Despite Zucker's objections the county planning commission approved the plan Aug. 26 by 4-1 vote, Margaret Azevedo dissenting, leaving the final decision to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which has yet to act.

The council delayed action on endorsing the plan after Councilman Andresen said he wanted to have a representative of the corps, the county planning department, the BCDC and "anyone else who might shed some light on this whole problem" present at the Nov. 18 council meeting.

Last night's hearing on the Nowell plan was precipitated by a Mill Valley Planning Commission request that the council oppose the plan because it would further fill Richardson Bay.

Noting that he was taking a "provincial" attitude, Councilman Rodric L. Robinson said the main point in considering the Nowell plan is "what effect is it going to have on the Saucelito Canal."

He said that, so long as the city has a place to put the spoils, "you can put anything out there you like —a bird island, a convention center, anything."

He noted that the proposed yacht harbor is the key to the development of East Mill Valley and the future "breadbasket-tax base" for the city. "We've been frustrated so many years by so many governmental agencies . . . now we just will have to look out for our own interests."

Nelson told the council the plan calls for developmnet of 19 of the 28 acres of shoreline and tidelands property owned by Sausalito Associates. Eight acres of the development would be left as open water, perhaps to be developed as a deep water lagoon with tidal gates, Nelson said.

A nine-acre island would be created to house a convention center and 850 unit motel-boatel. To the north, eight more acres would be filled to accommodate a 300-unit tower boatel, boat-oriented commercial development and 450 additional apartment units.

Nelson noted that he and his partners are now starting development of a 130 unit motel on the two acres of dry shoreline property.

New fill would extend up to 350 feet outboard of the existing shoreline, Nelson said. The project is estimated to cost $25 million and will being the county $500,000 in real estate taxes alone, he claimed.

Girl May Face Slaying Charge

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — A jurisdictional hearing will be held Nov. 13 here to determine whether a teen-aged Texas girl will be charged as an accessory in the Sept. 25 slaying of a Salt Lake City hitchhiker.

Juvenile Court Referee Grant Scofield yesterday set the hearing date following a detention hearing for Anita Welch, 17, San Antonio, Tex.

Stockstad Will Guide Fair-Marin

Harold Stockstad, structural engineer from Marin City, will head Fair-Marin Inc. as president of the board of directors.

He was elected unanimously last night by the seven directors at a meeting at the Civic Center.

Other officers elected with Stockstad are Harry Moore, vice president; Mrs. Thomas J. (Lotte) McWatters Jr., secretary; and Mrs. John Miskimen, treasurer. None of the posts was contested.

Mrs. McWatters, secretary of the board for the past year, opened the meeting and presided during the election of officers, then turned the meeting over to Stockstad.

The directors decided that their terms in office would be based on the number of votes received when the Fair-Marin delegates nominatef the 14 candidates Oct. 9.

On that basis, Mrs. McWatters and Stockstad will serve three years; Mrs. Miskimen and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, two years; and Stephen Zellerbach, Richard Miehling and Moore, one year.

The directors decided to meet again next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center to discuss a contract with the county for operation of the veterans memorial auditorium and the fairgrounds.

Pioneer Park Work At Halt; Trenching Next

Work on Pioneer Memorial Park has come to a temporary standstill awaiting trenching for water pipes, Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, last night reported to the Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission at a short regular meeting.

Fernando Clementino has volunteered to do the trenching for the water pipes, but his equipment has been in use, Adams reported. When this trenching is done, the city crews will install the pipe and then Marin Landscaping will do the backfilling, Adams said.

Under the city council's new two-year limit on terms for commissioners, commissioners determined that the terms of Wilkes Lou Johnson, John Kassenbrock and Jack Holsclaw will end on Dec. 31 of this year. The terms of James McConnell, Farris Morse, Harry Moore and Martin White will expire a year later.

provided the swing vote in favor of Sheeks.

"I feel Joe Sheeks will offer a direct line to the most effective assemblyman in the state," said Storer, noting that Sheeks and Bagley are in the same law firm. "One of the objections was that he is a partner of Assemblyman Bagley, but I take that as an asset," said Storer. He added that Bagley, and Assemblyman John F. Foran D-San Francisco, have stood up to Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, who is known as the father of California freeways.

In the first vote, Gnoss voted against Sheeks, but then moved for unanimous backing for Sheeks.

Marin's other representative on the bridge board is George H. Ludy, whose term will expire on Dec. 28. The appointment of Sheeks today forecloses Ludy's reappointment.

A new state law passed this year increases Marin's representation from two to three, but two of the three must be elected representatives — one a county supervisor and the other a city councilman. The third is a non-elected member at large. Sheeks fills the third post.

Supervisors decided that the next two appointments will be held open until next January when a new board of supervisors will be seated.

Storer announced this morning that attorney Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands had been mentioned as a candidate for the bridge board but Kent did not seek or want the appointment.

Sheeks is a native of Indiana, attended Purdue University and graduated from the University of Chicago. He spent five years in the U.S. Navy from 1941 through 1946 and came out as lieutenant commander.

He then won his law degree from the University of Chicago.

He came to San Francisco in 1949 and to Marin in 1953. He commuted to San Francisco for 12 years.

Sheeks served on the Mill Valley Planning Commission from 1956 to 1958 and on the Mill Valley City Council from 1958 through 1966, and was mayor for two years. He joined the law firm of Bagley, Bernt and Bianchi in San Rafael in 1965.

Almost one-third of drivers involved in fatal accidents in the United States in 1967 were under 25 years of age.

PG&E Reported Ready To Talk On Power Lines

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Interior Secretary Stewart Udall says the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has agreed to open negotiations with public electric utilities for use of the company's transmission lines.

Udall said PG&E pledged its cooperation yesterday during a power summit meeting also attended by company president Robert Gerdes and representatives of municipal utilities.

The public utilities want assurances that they can use PG&E lines to carry electricity which they can purchase from the federal government at bargain rates under public preference contracts.

He said negotiations would begin immediately between staff members of the Bureau of Reclamation, the PG&E and the municipal utilities which comprise the Northern California Power Agency.

Dog Sought For Rabies Shot Data

A search is being made for a dog, described as a black Labrador, which bit a 7-year-old Terra Linda girl yesterday.

Carrie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delos Jones of 125 Nova Albion Way, was bitten about 5:30 p.m. on the driveway in front of her apartment. The child said the dog was wearing a choke collar and a flea collar.

The girl will have to undergo the painful antirabies innoculations unless the dog is found. Anyone knowing of the dog may call the Marin County Public Health Department or the Marin County Humane Society.

Chamber Holds More Back Grape Policy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Chamber of Commerce said yesterday nearly 100 organizations across the nation have joined in a counter attack against the California table grape boycott.

The chamber issued a statement stating that 59 chambers of commerce have officially adopted resolutions opposing the boycott.

seller cannot make delivery for seven days.

On mail order sales within a state, this affidavit and waiting-period procedure also apply.

Sales of handguns and handgun ammunition are banned to people under 21, and sales of rifles and shotguns and ammunition for them are prohibited to people under 18.

Dealers and others are required to keep records of the name, age and residence of those to whom they sell firearms.

Transportation in interstate or foreign commerce of stolen firearms or ammunition, or firearms from which the serial number has been removed, is illegal.

Imports of all surplus military firearms are unlawful, effective immediately. The rest of the legislation takes effect Dec. 16.

Sales of firearms to mental incompetents, drug addicts, felons, fugitives and people under indictment are prohibited.

For carrying a firearm while committing a federal felony, a person is subject to an additional penalty of one to 10 years for a first offense and 5 to 25 years for a second offense. These penalties, however, can run concurrently with the sentence for the crime itself.

Destructive devices such as bombs, grenades, antitank guns and bazookas are brought under the 1934 National Firearms Act, which was aimed at gangster-type weapons and requires federal registration of sawed-off shotguns and machineguns.

Sausalito Agenda

The Sausalito City Council will hold public hearings on Harbor Carriers request for a landing site north of the Trade Fair and a request by Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) for a variance for the Valhalla restaurant today at 8 p.m. in city hall.

APOLLO

was a real pleasure and an honor."

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) were elated over the flight results.

"Apollo 7 goes into my book as a perfect mission," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager. "We accomplished 101 per cent of our objectives. We did everything we set out to do and added a few things as we went along."

Phillips said Apollo 7 has opened the way to a possible around the moon flight by the three-man Apollo 8 crew in December. He added that decision will not be made until mid-November after all results of this flight have been evaluated.

The wives of the three spacemen were overjoyed at the near- perfect flight and homecoming and all commented on the long beards as the astronauts appeared on television.

They all watched the landing on TV at their homes in Houston.

"Everything went beautifully," commented Jo Schirra. "The only disappointment was in not being able to see the parachutes open."

"Those beards don't look bad at all," said Lo Ella Cunningham.

All three wives were a bit anxious while the search for the downed spacecraft was in progress.

"It was fear," said Harriet Eisele, describing her feeling during the period.

The trio started their return to earth at 3:42 a.m. (PDT) by firing a blast from their spacecraft motor 265 miles above the Pacific Ocean. It slowed their 17,500 miles per hour speed by 300 miles and enabled earth's gravity to take hold and tug them out of orbit.

"We're burning right on the mark," Schirra reported as the engine flashed to life, starting Apollo 7 on a 30-minute glide that dug deeper into the atmosphere as the ship headed for its landing target.

Searing heat of up to 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit blistered the craft on its downward plunge, but the temperature in the heat shield-protected cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

When the cabin section separated as planned from its equipment section about two minutes after the engine burn, Schirra commented on the jolt: "It's a slap in the face."

It was the third time that Schirra had come back from space. He is the only one to make three orbital trips and says it is his last. At 45, he says, he's too old to wait two or three years for another flight.

Schirra's last hurrah was as good as his first two, all of which were perfect missions. His Sigma 7 Mercury flight in 1962 was classed as the first "textbook" flight in the U.S. program. In 1965 he piloted Gemini 6 to an historic rendezvous with Gemini 7.

The fantastic voyage, during which the astronauts described Apollo 7 as a "magnificent flying machine," covered 163 circuits of the globe and 4.5 million miles.

It was history's second longest man-in-space flight, following Gemini 7's 14 days. It ranks first in total man hours inspace — 780 for the three men, more than the 534 logged by all nine Russian cosmonaut flights. It raised total U.S. man hours in space to 2,774.

Two Appointed To Tiburon Board

Roberta Brunstetter and Richard F. Typer have been appointed to fill vacancies on the Tiburon Peninsula Club board, according to vice president Alan W. Conudall.

Marilyn Cleland and Joseph W. Royer resigned earlier this year.

Elections for new board members will be held in January.

Glue Party, Theft Solved At Air Base

One burglary, one case of illegal entry and a glue sniffing party at the Catholic chapel, all on Hamilton Air Force Base, were solved during the weekend with the apprehension of one 12-year-old and two 14-year-old boys, Novato police reported yesterday.

Maj. Granville Anderson of 497 Bolling Drive, reported that someone had entered his house and taken $60 from his billfold and $20 from his wife's billfold last Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, according to Novato police. This is in the portion of the base where there is joint jurisdiction of Novato police and Air Force security.

S/Sgt. Frank L. Norens of 82 Langley Lane on the base, reported that his house had been entered, but he could find nothing missing, according to police.

The Catholic chapel on the base also had been broken into and numerous empty tubes of glue were found inside of it, all the same night, police reported.

The three boys, picked up and questioned on a neighbor's suspicion, were reprimanded and released into the custody of their parents, according to police.

Traffic Bamed In Galvin Death

John F. Galvin, retired publisher of the Richmond Independent, died in a local hospital Oct. 6 as a result of a heart attack which was brought on by an automobile accident in which he was injured on Oct. 2, Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said today.

The case is considered a traffic death, Fontaine said.

Galvin, 86, suffered multiple facial injuries while a passenger in a car driven by Josephine K. Orosco, 55, of El Cerrito, which crashed into a guard rail at the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard exit from Highway 101.

Galvin was the 27th traffic victim in Marin this year as compared with 28 at this time last year.

Medal Of Honor To Fallen Marine

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With two men he saved standing by, a young West Virginia Marine was awarded the Medal of Honor today for heroism in a Vietnam battle in which he lost his life.

The parents of Pfc. Gary W. Martini, 18, Charleston, W.Va., accepted the nation's highest military award in a ceremony at the Marine Barracks.

Martini was fatally wounded while dragging two wounded non-coms from a bloody battlefield in South Vietnam last year.

School Violence Feared In City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Told that violence threatens a shutdown of several city schools, the board of education has voted $3,500 in emergency funds for extra patrols at one.

Ralph Kauer, assistant superintendent of schools, said parents may be used for patrol duty at Denman Junior High and that police will be on call.

Dr. Edward Goldman, acting superintendent, planned to confer on the matter today with Police Chief Thomas Cahill.

COMMUTE

"Every city and county in the state provides free services to nonresidents to some extent," he declared, adding the severe social problems that San Francisco professes to endure are also found in Oakland and Richmond.

Moore of Alameda charged the tax is an income tax rather than the license tax alleged by San Francisco.

"The tax proposed is not based on any licenses or employment, but on income and compensation. The exemption of incomes under $4,000 is clearly characteristic of an income tax," he said.

Presenting San Francisco's viewpoint, attorney Richard Saveri said, "The tax is not intended to discriminate, but makes these people pay their fair share."

He said San Francisco's resident 800,000 population swells to 990,000 during the day with comuters, representing 20 per cent of city services such as fire and police protection. Saveri said this accounted for the $13 or $14 million the city seeks to recoup.

Saveri denied the measure infringes upon state and federal constitutional rights, saying the ordinance is not arbitrary, but a reasonable one.

San Francisco City Atty. Thomas O'Connor said: "This is purely a municipal affair and state laws regarding the imposition of income taxes does not apply. Without the power to tax for purposes of revenue, a city is lifeless."

Judge Mahan questioned whether the city would be taxing employment or taxing income. "You can't be taxing employment — but income — by virtue of having two stenographers working side-by-side doing the same job, but one is a non-resident and must pay the tax."

O'Connor questioned the substantiating court cases included in the brief presented by Maloney and Moore. "I call to the judge's attention the fact that most of these cases are 50 years old or more," he said.

"I must call to Mr. O'Connor's attention the fact that the constitution of the United States is 200 years old, the constitution of the state is 100 years old, and the protection against the tyranny of taxation without representation is 205 years old," Maloney shot back in the only heated exchange of the afternoon. "These could never be more important than they are now."

Grape Sanitary Lapses Alleged

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Safeway Stores, Inc., was charged in a legal petition yesterday with selling table grapes that may have been picked under unsanitary conditions.

Three Stanford Unicersity law students—Alan Rader, Ronald Romines and Martin Eichner—sought an injunction from U.S. way from selling grapes picked in the Delano area.

Their petition claims there are no toilet facilities in the vineyards and the grape pickers spend the entire day in the fields. According to the students, state law requires that toilet facilities be made available for field workers.

Only two Presidents of the United States — Woodrow Wilson and Lyndon B. Johnson — were college debaters. But both of this year's candidates, Richard Nixon and Vice President Humphrey, were on their college teams.

OBITUARIES

George W. Duncan Rites Set

Funeral for George W. Duncan, retired naval architect and marine engineer, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Inurnment will be private.

Duncan, 73, of 412 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, died unexpectedly Sunday at a local hospital. Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan said Duncan had a history of heart trouble and death was apparently due to natural causes.

He was a native of San Francisco and had lived in Marin 26 years. He was a Navy veteran of World War I.

Duncan had been a naval architect and marine engineer for 25 years with the Military Sea Transportation Service, San Francisco, before retiring.

He was a member of the King Solomon Seaport Lodge 260, Free and Accepted Masons, the American Legion C. C. Thomas Naval Post No. 224, the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers and the Mariners Club, all of San Francisco, and Sons In Retirement in Marin County.

Survivors are his wife, Janet E. Duncan of the home, a sister, Mrs. Anne Burns of San Francisco, and a brother, Tom Warren of San Mateo.

MRS. CAROLYN McCARTHY

Funeral for Mrs. Carolyn McCarthy, 67, of 245 Corte Colina, Loma Verde, will be at 3 p.m. Thursday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will follow.

Mrs. McCarthy died Sunday at a local convalescent home following a long illness.

A native of Hartford, Conn., Mrs. McCarthy had lived in Chicago for many years, working as a bank clerk. She moved to Palo Alto about five years ago and to Marin about a month ago.

Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Carol Mayberry of Loma Verde, and a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Lippincott of Gilford, Conn.

RUTH SCHNEPH

Private funeral for Ruth Denny Decker Schneph, former Mill Valley resident, was held yesterday at the Cannarr-Fairlee Funeral Home in Fort Bragg. Cremation was at the Chapel of the Chimes in Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Schneph, 27, died Sunday in a drowning accident after she was swept from a rock by a large wave on a Mendocino coast beach.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Schneph lived in Sausalito and Mill Valley from infancy until she moved to Mendocino last year.

She was a graduate of the Dominican Upper School and had attended the University of Oregon.

She had worked in advertising in the Bay Area for the past several years and was advertising and public relations specialist for the Mendocino Little Theater for the past year.

Her husband, Robert Schneph of Forest Knolls, is a freelance artist.

Arias Takes Over Embassy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Arnulfo Arias, overthrown as Panama's president 10 days ago, staged his own takeover today at the Panamanian Embassy shortly after his arrival from the Canal Zone.

"This is my territory," Arias told United Press International after claiming control of Panama's Washington embassy. "I will remain in this embassy because I am the president."

An aide said the 67-year-old Harvard-schooled Arias decided to move into the embassy while being driven into Washington from Dulles International Airport where he arrived from the Canal Zone.

America's brass industry was started by Abel Porter and his associates at Waterbury, Conn., the "Brass City."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Enthusiasm Lacking —But One Must Choose

The lack of enthusiasm over this year's presidential candidates has been rather widely remarked. The Independent-Journal is not about to pretend that its editors are ecstatic over any of them.

We are in somewhat the position described by Art Buchwald in his column last Friday: We are much surer whom we're against than whom we're for.

The candidate we're against is George C. Wallace. We consider him a sort of minor national disaster — and minor only because he has no chance to win election.

THAT LEAVES Richard Nixon or Hubert Humphrey to be for. (There is little point or sense in being for any of the assorted forlorn hopes who have qualified as write-in candidates in California.)

The two national conventions can be blamed in large part for the lack of enthusiasm, we believe. Nixon, for lack of pre-convention primary opposition, was handed the Republican nomination on a silver platter. And the Democrats disregarded the primary results to give Humphrey the nomination because party machine leaders — and particularly the man in the White House—wanted it that way.

It is unfortunate that Nixon was nominated without having to prove his popular appeal beforehand (to say he proved it in 1960 is to beg the question, because much has changed in eight years). It is unfortunate that Humphrey's nomination took the form of a "public be damned" convention attitude.

But there are the candidates: Nixon and Humphrey. And in spite of the manners of their nominations, the American people could have been given a much worse pair from whom to choose — and usually have been, as a matter of fact.

BOTH NIXON and Humphrey are eminently qualified by experience. Both have served in the Senate and as vice president. Both have public records to which they can point with pride.

How, then, to choose between them? If we attempt to choose on the basis of what they have said during their campaigns, we find that Nixon has said too little and Humphrey has said too much. Both have promised to solve the perplexing problems of Vietnam war, civil unrest, poverty, etc. But Nixon has been extremely chary of details as to how he would solve them. And Humphrey has gone into great detail only to wind up usually appearing to be offering more of the same that has been tried and failed — both in the "no concession" philosophy in Vietnam and in the "spend our way out" philosophy that has been applied to domestic problems.

HUMPHREY, whatever his personal good will, is handicapped by inheriting the Johnson policies because he is part of the Johnson Administration.

Nixon labors under no such handicap. He is free to cut the cord. We wish he were more specific as to how he intends to attack the nation's problems. But at least his approaches will not be the same, already-discredited ones.

And so we wind up with Richard Nixon, as the candidate likelier to be able to unscramble the mess.

The Worst Predator

Many people condemn predatory animals such as the mountain lion, the coyote and the bobcat, for their bloodthirsty appetites. But consider this:

Man is the most blood-thirsty predator of all. The mountain lion, the bobcat and the coyote kill their prey for the same reason you buy your prey at a butcher's shop. That is, to satisfy hunger.

But these animals have a better excuse than we human predators. We can become vegetarians and live very healthily; however, with other predators, meat is a matter of life or death by starvation.

Our TV screens are regularly filled with pictures of lionesses making a kill. But where are the pictures of man making a kill in a slaughterhouse. Most people couldn't stomach it — not in living color. Some things do not bear too much thinking about.

As Election Draws Closer, Politicians Get Nervouser

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Politicians just naturally get nervous as the campaign season grinds to its climax, but it still amazes this writer how jumpy they can get.

In recent days, for example, leaders of both major parties in Marin have made it clear they prefer to operate without any interference from the press.

Both, of course, are doing everything they can to shore up their parties' sagging images.

THE REPUBLICAN was the first to twitch when asked why the county GOP central committee held a special meeting without any attempt to notify the public or press. Members of the committee reportedly were given only one hour's notice of the night meeting.

The meeting reportedly opened with someone remarking, "Now we can get down to brass tacks without the press being here and getting a bum story on page one."

He apparently referred to an Independent-Journal story of the committee's September meeting, which reported committee members were divided sharply over how to share their treasury with the GOP candidates.

THEN A SPOKESMAN for the Democratic Central Committee warned that unless a report of its meeting were written his way — to shed only glory on the committee — no further telephone reports would be made of committee meetings.

He conceded, when pressed, that even more damaging news gets printed about the committee when the press attends its meetings.

Neither person suggested news reports of their meetings were inaccurate — but accuracy is not what they are aiming for.

STRANGE behavior is not confined to Marin politics, as can be seen in a telegram to the governor last week from Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

Unruh termed "outrageous" a charge by the governor that there is a "price tag" on bills approved by the Assembly. The fact is that the governor not only was right, but that he and his staff often pay the "price tag."

The price paid, of course, is limited to executive branch support of key legislators' bills — but that can be worth millions of dollars of support back home. Unruh presumably is familiar with the practice.

THE CLAUSEN for Congress Committee reports it is mailing 110,000 brochures to Democratic and Republican homes in the district, which stretches from Novato to Oregon.

That takes money, something which the Marin County Republican Central Committee has, but isn't giving to Clausen now that his district has been shifted to exclude most of Marin.

THIS WILL COME as a surprise to Marin commuters, but mail from the Greyhound Corp. headquarters in Chicago is stamped "the action company with a future."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Four Letter Word For Cleaver Defense

Re John M. Pickering's letter in the I-J of Oct. 15 saying he was more sorrowed than angered by your editorial opposing the guest lectureship for Eldridge Cleaver at the University of California. Four letter word, Mr. Pickering, I am more angered than sorrowed. The citizenry's right to knowledge on this subject can be adequately handled by an experienced speaker-member of the NAACP, someone who is not on parole, does not have a felonious assault charge hanging over him, and who is unaccustomed, by judicious choice, to the indiscriminate use of four-letter words.

How dared the University of California choose Cleaver, rather than the NAACP to present a very current problem? Anarchists like Cleaver have no thought of building for the future of their race, or any other; all they want to do is tear down the gains of the past twenty years and put nothing in their place.

I say, and strongly, people are people are people, regardless of race. Where I work we have employees of many shades. All have struggled to get an education, are employed at good salaries, and accepted as co-workers and friends. Industry is crying for qualified personnel, regardless of color. This acceptance of people as PEOPLE, is what we are all working for. Not the vilify, tear down, muck up, and devil take the hindermost psychology of Cleaver.

As for Proposition 3 requesting a $200 million state bond issue for the University of California and state colleges: . . . Where I work the personnel are largely college graduates, heavily taxed, with the prospect of more, what with Alioto and his little games, and heartily fed up with the appeasement actions of our state colleges. Do you think they are about to vote $200 million to the state colleges? What I hear can be translated into "four letter word on such appeasers in general, and Cleaver in particular."

Black Is Beautiful; Paint Schools Black

I noticed with "unbelievable wonderment" what is coming next! On Page 20, I-J, Oct. 16, there was an AP article entitled, "A Soul Food Menu Approved" — Berkeley School District. It seems the Black Student Union demanded and received "soul food" be served in school cafeterias. Soul food is black-eyed peas, hominy grits, etc. Also hired is an "expert in African soul food" who will work with home economists.

May I suggest something that would only add just a few more dollars to the school budget. Why can't all the schools over there, and throughout the state, paint the schools black? This would be in keeping with the "times" and eliminate any frustrations. Think this is a good idea? Regular food is "plain" and any color but black is really unpatriotic. What do you say folks? Let's hear from you!

Registering Guns Invites Communists

I unalterably oppose any form of gun registration of gun owners, in answer to the haste of Leo Wagner's letter. Their are some political opportunists pre-empting the news media to create public hysteria and capitalize upon the tragic events to railroad through this gun legislation.

Certainly the sportsman, target shooter and the honest citizen who owns a gun for self-protection should not be harassed or inconvenienced.

The rioter, criminal, rightists and left extremists would never register their guns and it would be naive to believe they would, as all responsible police will admit. The gun has become the target of the current sense of wrath.

If this gun law were to be put through covering all guns, the honest citizen would then be at the mercy of the criminals and violent enemies of our society and be left completely defenseless!

Compulsory registration of all guns would probably lead to an extensive black market in guns similar to the prohibition era and certainly more lethal.

The Second Amendment in part proclaimed, "The security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

There can be no doubt in common sense or in law that any proposals for registration of firearms or their owners are direct infringements of free citizens to keep and bear arms.

If we ever compromise or give in, the Communists will get their foot in the door and it can be done. . . .

Stories On Africa Put You On Safari

I wish to commend you for the series of articles by Barbara Hosmer about East Africa now appearing in the I-J. Not only are the articles well written but they are alive, seeming to put you right with the expedition. I do not know the writer nor have I been to East Africa, but would like to say: "Well done", and to hope for more writing from the same pen (or typewriter!).

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 22, 1958

Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. officials said they had set no date for abandonment of direct passenger train service between San Rafael and Willits, but had state Public Utilities Commission authorization to end it Nov. 10.

The J. C. Penney Co. store in San Rafael advertised coats for women at $16, white dress shirts for men at $2, and shoes for children at $3.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 22, 1948

Dist Atty. A. E. Bagshaw declared he would launch a campaign to stamp out bingo games for private profit which he said were flourishing in Marin County.

Gov. Earl Warren decided to continue daylight saving time in California "for the present."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

DAMON RUNYON'S sage advice to campaign orators and budding authors who tend to over-write: "Be brief! The story of Creation is told in Genesis in 400 words; the 10 Commandments contain only 297 words; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address is but 266 words in length, and the Declaration of Independence required only 1,321 words to set up a whole new concept of freedom!"

A PARTICULARLY odoriferous panhandler stationed himself outside a private banking house in Wall Street and haughtily accepted daily donations from the partners. One afternoon, however, the chairman of the board decided the time had come to call a halt. "You seem in perfect physical shape to me," he told the panhandler severely. "Why don't you stop begging and go out and get yourself a job? Hard work never killed anybody." "That's where you're wrong, sir," objected the panhandler respectfully. "I've lost two wives that way."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Runaway Winner Nov. 5? No, It's Closer Than You Think

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey hasn't lost yet. There is significant evidence that Richard Nixon is not as far ahead as the national polls say he is.

It is probable that the two are very close in popular support.

The tide of opinion is beginning to run to Humphrey. The evidence:

1. State polls covering a wide cross-section of the most populous state — where the election will be won or lost — contradict the national polls. They show Humphrey and Nixon about even.

2. The latest Harris Survey on the congressional races reports the Democrats are in front 49 to 41 per cent. This indicates that in the congressional elections the Democratic Party would get about 54 per cent of the total two-party vote. Even if Humphrey did not do as well as his party — as Harry Truman didn't in 1948 — the Harris congressional poll points to the same conclusion as the statewide polls, that Humphrey and Nixon stand about even today.

3. THERE IS SUCH substantial disparity in the findings of the two leading national polls, Gallup and Harris, as to raise the prospects that the polls are going wrong this year as they did in the Truman-Dewey campaign 20 years ago.

Since the Republican convention the Harris Surveys have been showing Humphrey five to eight points behind Nixon, while the Gallup Polls have him 12 to 16 points behind. This variance is well beyond the usual margin for error in national polls and it would seem significant that the pollsters themselves have no explanation.

4. National pollsters, the New York Times reports, are beginning to hedge. Gallup thinks he will be "lucky" to hold the error to under 4 per cent and Harris is equally uncertain. Albert Sindlinger of Sindlinger & Co. put it more bluntly: "I think the polls could be wrong this year."

Gallup and Harris reflect the national average. But the latest polls in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Texas and California show the two candidates running even, with Nixon leading in some by 1 per cent and Humphrey leading in a majority of them by 1 per cent. What does this mean? Does it cast serious doubt on the Gallup and Harris ratings which report Nixon far enough ahead as to be almost out of sight?

HERE IS THE judgment of Louis H. Bean, a careful interpreter of political polls and author of a new and valuable handbook, "How America Votes" (Scarecrow Press):

"The historical fact is that most of these states are excellent barometers of the national election results. In combination they have departed by no more than a point from the national two-party results. The only exception is in 1964 when Johnson got such exceptional support in the northeastern states."

Bean's voting charts show that in 1936 these states averaged 63 per cent of the two-party vote for F.D.R. compared with the 62.5 per cent he received nationally. In 1956 these states averaged 42 per cent for Adlai Stevenson compared with the 42.2 per cent he received nationally. Mr. Bean concludes:

"This historical record thus says that if these states as of late September and early October divide 51-49 for Humphrey, then the national division of popular support for these two candidates as of this same period would almost certainly be the same."

Neither Bean nor I assumes to suggest what the end result will be on Nov. 5. But we are assuming to report that the campaign is far closer now than most people seem to think.

Mrs. Gandhi Stirs Critics On 'Goodwill' Tour

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Mrs. Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India, has just flown home after a three-week tour of Latin America in which she had nothing to sell and no money with which to buy.

A wind-up appearance at the United Nations seemed likely to do little to still her critics in the Indian Parliament.

IN LATIN AMERICA, in the main, her message was one of a hope for good will and increased trade among underdeveloped nations of the "third world."

In Catholic Argentina she defended birth control as "in the interest of women and for the health of women."

In Trinidad and Guyana, both with large East Indian populations, she suggested India might be the next to drop from the British Commonwealth because of Britain's limitation on the immigration of colored races, especially from Asia.

Since Mexico was not on her list of stops, it was unnecessary for her to explain that a nearly 50 per cent increase in this year's wheat yield in India was due almost entirely to a new Mexican hybrid which Indians don't particularly like.

The 1968 bumper crop did, however, lead her to predict that within the next two or three years India would become self-sufficient in grains.

IN THE UNITED Nations, she brushed off the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia with the observation that events there "have cast yet another dark shadow on the fragile structure" of world order.

She concentrated on foreign aid to underdeveloped nations which she described as a "form of enlightened self-interest" on the part of the aid-giving countries.

Depending upon her audience, it is probable that Mrs. Gandhi could find wide agreement with her various hopes, assumptions and predictions.

Notably, the United States, which until the closing of the Suez Canal last year was sending emergency relief shipments of wheat to India at the rate of nearly one million tons per month, could hope she would prove correct in the matter of self-sufficiency.

Clubs Keep Beautification Projects Going In Novato

Novato's two-week end cleanup campaign netted a lot of rubbish to be hauled to the dump. Any time that much rubbish is disposed of, it is bound to make some difference in the appearance of the city.

It was sponsored by the city beautification committee, which now plans another cleanup campaign in the spring.

However, there are a couple of clubs that have a continual cleanup or beautification program going.

The Novato Garden Club, which planted the liquidamber trees along Grant Avenue and takes care of the annual planting of flowers in the parkette at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue, held a cleanup of the weeds in areas around the trees.

Then it went a step farther, it held a plant-in. It planted violas in the new planter boxes along the south side and in front of the Novato Community House. These will add a touch of color to the building.

ANOTHER CLUB which has faithfully kept one spot beautiful without getting much credit for it is the Novato Junior Women's Club. For six or seven years, it has maintained the island at the east end of Grant Avenue beside the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad station.

There was a pine tree there, and the young women planted junipers to cover the bare island. They have put colored rocks around the junipers, giving the entire island a pleasing appearance.

Passing motorists probably think that this is a part of the city's park system, but it was planted and is maintained entirely by the junior women's club.

THE OTHER DAY I had an occasion to go down Vineyard Road at 3 p.m. when Sinaloa Junior High School students were leaving the school. Never again will I do it at that precise hour.

Vineyard Road, at best, is bad. It is so narrow that when two cars meet, each must crowd the shoulder.

Onto that narrow road pour hundreds of young teen-agers on foot and on bicycles. They walk or ride three to eight abreast down the narrow street. They will not move for cars. It was a continual process of stopping for them, and then creeping ahead at not more than three or four miles an hour down the road for more than a mile past the school.

This is the first year that the school has been open, and residents in the area say that use of Vineyard Road at the close of school is impossible.

Although the school is inside the city limits, the main portion of Vineyard Road lies in county jurisdiction.

MARIN COUNTY probably holds some kind of a record for studies. Whether they do any good is questionable.

The Novato Chamber of Commerce has proposed having a study made of the slump in building in the city. This was proposed as a supplemental study to a proposed federally assisted study of the downtown area. It would be financed by private contractors.

Probably, by the time anything jells on the federal study program, the contractors will be too busy to even think of such a study.

Building permits in Novato fell to $3.75 million last year. This year, however, the picture is entirely different. The city building department so far has issued about $8 million in building permits.

Merl D. Mauroni, chief city building inspector, estimates that the permits will run approximately $10 million by year's end.

Maybe just the threat of a study brought the building slump to an end.

Airline Mechanics Gear For Huge Wage Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline mechanics, whose big contract raises helped squash President Johnson's economic guidelines two years ago, are going for even bigger increases—a whopping 40 per cent—in new negotiations.

Talks between the machinists union and seven major airlines, five of which were struck for six weeks in 1966, start next month.

The union asked for 30 per cent raise over three years last time out and wound up with a wage and benefit package the government estimated at 15 per cent and the union set at about 18 per cent.

Either way, the contract shattered the administration's 3.2 per cent a year guideline, and by the end of the year Johnson had abandoned the guideline for a more flexible approach.

Settlements of 5 per cent or better in the electrical industry, rails, trucking and autos followed the airline pact.

President Johnson temporarily blocked a strike in 1966 by invoking the Railway Labor Act's 60-day cooling-off period in April and creating an emergency board headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The union rejected the 3.5 per cent raise recommended by the Morse panel and walked out in July.

Despite this year's separate bargaining, all seven contracts expire on the same date, Dec. 31, less than a month before the inauguration.

The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, which bargains for about 50,000 airline mechanics, is seeking a package which would raise top pay to $6 an hour in 1971. Men at the top of the wage scale are now earning $4.14 per hour, plus a 5-cent hourly bonus to flight-line mechanics and up to 10 cents an hour extra in longevity pay.

Man Creates The Machine To Become A Part Of It

In the early morning just before the sun is up, when the light has washed away the night in the east and the earth is half-light, half-dark and forms begin to take shape — grotesque, bulky shapes, not clean, clear, but enough to make them recognizable — you wander outside the hangar into the crisp air that chills as you stop to look at the airplanes lined up on the concrete ramp like crows on a long branch and silhouetted against the cold sauterne splash of dawn sky.

In the silence, shoulders hunched against the chill, you hold a paper cup of coffee slugged from a machine and the coffee heat feels good in your hand as you stand there, enjoying. You sip and the coffee-warmth embraces your face.

NOW COMES the high pitched complaining whine of an engine starting sharply followed by a coughing howl as it takes hold, shattering the morning calm. You walk slowly across the still dark concrete to your ship. There's no hurry. Take-off is not for another 45 minutes. You feel all over again the feeling that comes always to you at this time of day. You sense a mystical quality, an unreality and at the same time the reality. It is as if you are standing outside yourself, watching your bent figure crossing the naked apron to your aircraft cleanly profiled against the rapidly pinking sky.

How many times have you heard whining, coughing, cold engines being turned up in the early new day hours? How many times have you watched crews sleep-heavily trudging to their planes, watched as they mechanically, zombie-like took their places and become transformed into a part of their machine?

YOU CLIMB into your cockpit. Wordlessly and full of thought you nod to your copilot. Routinely he picks up the checklist. Automatically you respond. With machine-motions rather than man-motions you check tanks, switches, trim controls and at the same time your ear catches all the sounds, engines, hydraulic pumps cycling, radio voices.

Your eyes follow the yellow line as you taxi out, seeing the wing-tips clear, looking back and forth, into the cockpit and out; and with your body, your whole body, sitting in the seat, feeling through the cushion, through the braces, through the floor, through the whole intricate, complex structure of the ship, the whole shop.

YOU ARE NO longer you. You lost that the moment you fastened the seat belt. No, now you are part machine — a part of this machine. You complement each other, you and the machine. Each gives to the other and the machine becomes a little bit human and you — you become a little bit machine.

You can't help thinking about this and about when you first saw man-machines. It was the time years ago when you brought your old man his dinner pail down to the mill and saw through the blue tinted glass of the factory the men at their machines and you remember now how you thought about it then, you thought how much the men were indistinguishable from the machines and the thought stayed and stayed and wouldn't go away and never did go away.

AND NOW here you are. You too. The people along the laced iron fence staring at you as you taxi by, seeing you through the glass around your cockpit.

You laugh quietly. Yes you laugh. You laugh at yourself behind your glass windows and with your machine as you think of your old man behind his glass windows and his machine and you laugh and laugh and laugh. . .

I firmly believe that freedom of information is one of the most important weapons we have in the great struggle for freedom now going on around the world. — Robert F. Kennedy.

All Propositions To Be Discussed

The pros and cons of all state propositions to appear on the Nov. 5 ballot will be presented to the Civics and Conservation Committee of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the clubhouse.

Speakers will be Mrs. Karl Treffinger and Mrs. D. L. Rose of the Southern Marin League of Women Voters who will cover all nine propositions.

In addition, Proposition 9, the Watson amendment which would eliminate property tax support of schools and welfare, will be discussed by Louis Starr of Mill Valley, a certified public accountant and tax specialist for the Western Pacific Railroad urging a "yes" vote and Dr. Elmer Weden, member of the San Anselmo School District board, urging a "no" vote Mrs. John R. Barnard will be in charge.

Scott Valley Homeowners Association in Mill Valley has Taber L. Kopan as president.

More Study On Muni Golf Course Asked

The San Rafael City Council last night agreed to further study the lie of the financial green before they tee off on a plan to construct a $1.3 million municipal golf course.

The proposed 18-hole course on Smith Brothers Ranch north of Gallinas Creek would be financed through a nonprofit corporation and leased back to the city.

After hearing reports for more than an hour councilmen agreed to postpone any action for two weeks so they could study the matter and check other cities that have had courses constructed under the lease-back plan.

BOND IDEA

As proposed, the non-profit corporation, San Rafael Municipal Facilities Corp., would issue $1.6 million in 40-year bonds to construct the course and cover other cost. It would then lease the course to the city at an annual rental and at the end of 40 years, the city would own the land and the facility.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen contended that if the course didn't produce sufficient revenue to meet the payments the deficit would have to paid by the general taxpayer.

"Isn't the purpose of a non-profit corporation merely to avoid bringing it to a vote of the people on the bonds?" Jensen asked.

Joseph A. Arch, manager of Schwabacher-Rafferty and Co. of San Francisco, municipal financing consultants, said that a course can be constructed "more quickly" through the lease-back method thereby beating rising costs, and the bonds are tax-exempt.

VOTE REQUIREMENT

General obligation bonds require a two-thirds vote, and even if a majority of residents wanted a course, it still could be defeated, Arch noted.

William Sherman, golf course specialist of San Rafael, estimated that the income from green fees, electric carts, golf shop and snack bar, would total $182,450 in the proposed first year of operation, 1971, and reach $309,950 by 1979.

Operating costs would total $145,000 a year, Sherman estimated.

Norman P. Higby of 58 San Marino Drive, a former golf course operator, warned that over a long period there are "bad times as well as good times" and golf courses have been hurt when business is bad. If residents are to be obligated, the council should "take care," in proceeding, he said.

Arch noted that the city would not have to make full rent payments of $99,000 a year until the fifth year of operation. There would be interest-only payments for the first four years, and the first three years would be covered by funds from the bond issue, he noted.

SEEKS RESOLUTION

Jack K. Dooling of Dooley, Kelly and Moisetf of San Francisco, attorneys for San Rafael Municipal Facilities Corp., asked for a council resolution to set up an escrow on land purchase and leaseback agreement.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini commented, "This obviously is quite a step and we don't want to do anything this evening. We need additional information."

Other councilmen agreed they would need two weeks to digest the information that had been presented to them, and continued consideration until Nov. 4.

Boat, Trailer Reported Stolen

A thief drove off with a 22-foot power boat and trailer owned by John S. Parks of San Francisco, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The boat, trailered at Outdoor Recreation, 521 Francisco Boulevard, was stolen sometime during the last month, police said. The boat and trailer were valued at $7,365.

The boat was described as a white fiberglass T-Bird B66 with inboard-outboard engine.

1,000 Arrested In Unions' Antiwar Rioting In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Nearly 1,000 students were arrested and at least 150 injured in a wild nationwide series of antiwar riots and demonstrations yesterday.

A four-hour rampage at Tokyo's Shinjuku railway station was one of the city's worst riots in years and authorities invoked an antiriot law for the first time in 16 years. The law provides imprisonment from six months to 10 years.

The major labor unions claimed 800,000 persons took part in some 600 demonstrations across Japan. It was the unions' third Antiwar Day observance.

Police said at least 757 students had been arrested in Tokyo, while lesser disturbances resulted in the arrest of 93 in Osaka, 31 in Fukuoka, 18 in Aichi and 12 in Hokkaido.

Much of Tokyo's Shinuku station was a shambles after 6,000 students attacked it. The station is a key link between suburban and central lines, and thousands of commuters were delayed as workers tried to clear away debris and get trains moving again. The first morning train was delayed four hours.

The students used heavy logs to batter down 10-foot-high steel walls that police had put up around the station Sunday to protect it.

A bus was burned in front of the station, and the huge plaza was filled with helmeted students carrying red, yellow and purple rags and by spectators booing or encouraging the students.

Teen Is Pinned Against Car

A San Fracael man was pinned against a parked car Sunday by his own car after he started it with under-the-hood wiring while it was in gear, police reported.

Police said Doyle L. Lockabey, 19, of 1028 F Los Gamos Road, was pinned against a car owned by Jack Leak of 1032 Los Gamos Road.

Leak's car then hit a parked van owned by John F. Taylor of 1036 C Los Gamos Road.

Lockabey was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises on both legs and a cut right leg.

Player Taken

A television set and a stereo record player were stolen Friday from the residence of Geraldine D. Miner, 95 Medway Road, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Apartment Building Design On Agenda

Design approval of a proposed 11-unit apartment building at 164-68 Tunstead Avenue is scheduled for consideration by the San Anselmo Design Review Committee at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at city hall.

Also scheduled for action is the design approval request of Union Oil Co. of California for a proposed service station at 930 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

East Javan Capital Scene Of Chinese Sector Riots

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Two thousand Indonesian marines and students rampaged through the Chinese quarter of Surabaja, burning and smashing shops and houses for five hours yesterday before army troops evicted them, western diplomats reported today.

Military authorities imposed a dusk to dawn curfew on the tense capital of East Java. There was no official casualty report, but one newspaper said many Chinese were injured.

The Surabaja outbreak followed two days of violent demonstrations in Jakarta, protesting the hanging of two Indonesian marines in Singapore. Because Singapore's population is largely Chinese, the mobs vented their anger on Indonesian Chinese.

In Jakarta, troops moved back into the Chinese quarters of Glodok and Pasar Baru to prevent similar demonstrations there.

The hanged marines, now national heroes, were convicted of planting a bomb in downtown Singapore three years ago during Indonesia's war against Singapore and Malaysia.

14-Year-Old Booked On Suspected Drugs

A 14-year-old boy was booked into Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs at 8:45 p.m. Friday after he could not produce a ticket for a football game at College of Marin field, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the boy wandered out from behind the stands and acted strangely. He did not have a ticket for the game, and four white pills, suspected to be dangerous drugs, were found when he emptied his pockets, deputies said.

Stereo Taken

A thief Saturday stole a stereo player, three tapes, and a toolbox full of hand tools, all valued at a total of $326, from the car of Douglas L. Conley of 65 Fairfax Street, Apt. 10, San Rafael police reported. The car was parked outside Conley's residence.

Baar Named To Park-Rec Commission

The San Rafael City Council last night appointed Councilman Louis H. Baar to the city parks and recreation commission, placing a councilman on that commission for the first time.

Under charter revision approved by the voters in April 1967, council members are permitted to serve on the parks and recreation commission, fire commission or library board.

The council had been prepared to reappoint Dino Ghilotti, whose term expired, but were notified that Ghilotti couldn't continue because of business pressure.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen suggested that a councilman be appointed and after a brief discussion, Baar was asked if he would accept the post.

Baar, who is running for supervisor, quipped that he would accept "for a short time," and was appointed to a four-year term.

Another councilman, Harry A. Barbier, serves on the fire commission.

The council also appointed Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor of the Independent-Journal, to the city board to succeed Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, who resigned Sept. 16.

San Rafael To Sell Lot On Fourth

The San Rafael City Council last night agreed to sell a city-owned lot at the northwest corner of Fourth and Union streets, once considered as a potential site for low-cost housing for the elderly.

Councilmen stipulated that proceeds from the sale should be earmarked for a proposed community recreation center that would serve senior citizens.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen reported that the parcel is surplus and has been appraised at $85,500.

There was a proposal before the council in the fall of 1964 to have the city develop a "pilot project" of low-cost housing for elderly on the site, but it never materialized.

The parcel consists of 13,000 square feet at the corner and an access strip to Mission Avenue.

Councilmen also granted a request from David J. Linde, president of the Oak View School Association, backed by a petition with 400 signatures, for four-way stop signs at Las Gallinas Avenue where it is joined by Montevideo Way on the east and Park Ridge Avenue on the west.

The San Rafael City Council also:

NEW JOB — Appointed Police Sgt. Carl Selby to the newly created post of city license and warrant collector, effective Nov. 1 for a six-month trial period, at a salary of $815 a month, and granted him leave from the police department for the trial period. Andersen reported that 32 persons applied for the job and six were interviewed with Selby achieving the top score.

STREET NAMES — Set Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on a proposed amendment to the San Rafael General Plan setting a policy on naming of streets, aimed mainly to avoid the use of similar sounding names and at designating new roads, boulevards, etc., according to appropriate size.

NEW CARS — Authorized the ordering of a sedan for the fire chief and five sedans for other city departments through the state purchasing system.

HIRING — Authorized the hiring of Irwin M. Sousa as maintenance man 1 at $501 a month.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — Received notice from the State Division of Highways that it intends to relinquish to the city its right-of-way along the Grand Avenue Bridge extension.

APPEAL — Set Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. to hear an appeal by Northgate Industrial Park's architectural review committee of planning commission architectural approval of an office building planned by Ronald J. Antonioli at 25-35 Mitchell Boulevard.

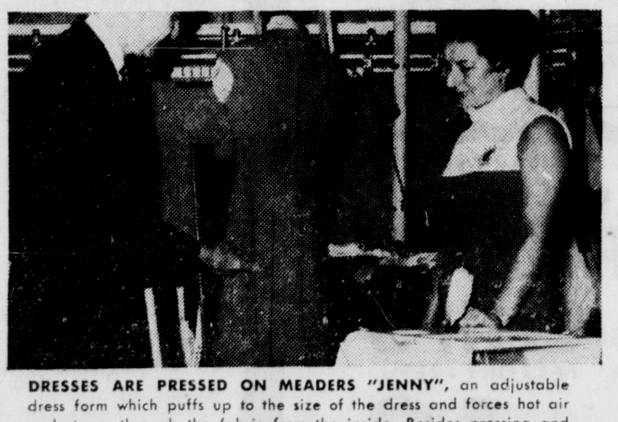
Who cares as much about your clothes as you do? . . . Meaders Cleaners!

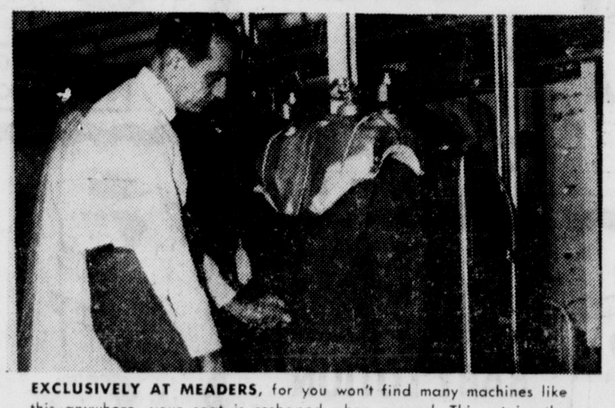
Here's A Pictorial Story of Meaders Quality

PRE-SPOTTING is a vital phase of the Meaders operation. Each garment is spotted before it goes into the cleaning machine, and again after, if necessary. A "steam gun" is used in combination with one of the dozens of spot removing compounds on hand.

MEADERS' COMPUTERIZED CLEANING MACHINE is programmed to the exact specifications of each individual load. The IBM punch card tells the machines type of solvent, cleaning time and solvent and drying temperatures for anything from wedding gowns to dungarees.



DRESSES ARE PRESSED ON MEADERS "JENNY", an adjustable dress form which puffs up to the size of the dress and forces hot air and steam through the fabric from the inside. Besides pressing and blocking, it texturizes and conditions the fabric too. Hand pressing completes the job.



EXCLUSIVELY AT MEADERS, for you won't find many machines like this anywhere, your coat is reshaped when pressed. This retains the curve of the coat so it hangs properly, the way your tailor intended. Once a coat is pressed and blocked, the lining is ironed by hand and the collar rolled and formed.

AT MEADERS SWEATER STATION this machine, which is used exclusively for pressing sweater sleeves, adjusts to press and block sleeves from the inside out so there's never an unsightly crease. All sweaters are carded to restore original softness and blocked to size.

MISSING BUTTONS, HOOKS OR SNAPS, open seams and drooping hems are repaired by Meaders skilled seamstress. Meaders does not charge for making minor repairs—in fact, they pay the customer a dollar if they fail to replace a missing button! At Meaders Cleaners, small things matter.

Nominee's Wife Visits Marin

MRS. JAMES TEACHNOR, left, welcomes Mrs. Maxwell L. Rafferty as she departs from the chartered bus in which she is touring California on behalf of her husband, the Republcan nominee for the United States Senate. Traveling with Mrs. Rafferty are Mrs. Elsa Sandstrom, right, and, behind Mrs. Rafferty, Mesdames Harry Wiens, Lawrence A. Solberg and Edwin Griffith. The women attended a coffee in Mrs. Rafferty's honor at the Teachnor home in San Rafael yesterday.

By JOAN LISETOR

Mrs. Maxwell Lewis Rafferty, wife of the Republican Party nominee for the United States Senate, arrived in San Rafael yesterday morning aboard a chartered bus that is taking her throughout Northern California to 32 cities in five days.

The occasion for her Marin visit was a coffee held at the Loch Lomond home of Mrs James Teachnor, sponsored by the Marin County Rafferty for United States Senator Committee.

Frances Rafferty is being described as Dr. Rafferty's ambassador of good will on this trip. The purpose of the trip, according to Mrs. Elsa Sandstrom of Los Altos "is first of all to generate enthusiasm for Dr. Rafferty and secondly to allow Mrs. Rafferty personally to thank each of the hard working volunteers all across Northern California." Mrs. Sandstrom, the Northern California coordinator of women's activities for the Rafferty campaign, is traveling with Mrs. Rafferty.

Yesterday's schedule for the women began at a breakfast at 9 a.m. at the Rafferty headquarters on Pine Street in San Francisco. San Rafael was her second stop, with six more cities before reaching a dinner at 6:30 p.m. in Fort Bragg. Mrs. Harry Wiens, who is also traveling with Mrs. Rafferty, held a timer and warned that when the alarm sounded it would be time for the group to depart.

With so little time, Mrs. Rafferty graciously agreed to a brief interview in a sitting room of the Teachnor's home.

the opportunity to meet so many people, but she gives the impression of being shy and slightly modest when discussing her own accomplishments.

We discussed her childhood in Dixon, Ill. She was graduated from Dixon High School in 1936 and then attended Mac Murray College in nearby Jacksonville, Ill. After college, where she majored in business administration, she held various clerical and secretarial positions in Illinois.

In 1941 the then Frances Longman made a trip to California to visit a cousin in Los Angeles. She liked it so well she decided to stay and take a job in the personnel department of the Southern California Gas Company.

Her cousin then moved to a very small town, Trona.

"I was really left alone, on my own," she said. "So I was delighted when my cousin wrote and told me there was a position open in Trona. The Trona superintendent of schools came to Los Angeles and interviewed me, and I was hired as his secretary."

It was in Trona that she met Max Rafferty, a school teacher there. They were married in Los Angeles in June of 1944 but continued to live and work in Trona until April of the following year.

The Rafferys now live in Carmichael, a suburb of Sacramento. They have three children, but 16 year old Eileen is the only one still living at home. Daughter Kathleen is married to Dr. Mel Faber, an assistant professor at Victoria University in British Columbia. The Fabers have two children.

"I am a grandmother," said Mrs. Rafferty with great delight. "Rebecca is four, and Paul is almost three."

The Raffertys' son Dennis is also married. His wife is living with the Raffertys as he is with the Air Force stationed at Fort Luke, near Phoenix, Ariz.

Before moving to Carmichael, when Dr. Rafferty was elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the family lived in Saticoy and Needles, where Frances was active in Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cub Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds. She has also worked with Parent-Teacher Associations in the children's various schools.

When they moved to the Sacramento area she read in the paper that there was a need for volunteer teachers' aides. She applied for a position and for three years taught remedial reading.

"It was funny when the teachers found out who I was," she explained. "At first they thought maybe I was there to check up on the principal, but I convinced them that was not my purpose, and everything was fine."

Her other activities have included the Sacramento Symphony League, and she served as a member of the board of directors for the Northeast Branch of the YMCA in Carmichael for one year. The nominee's wife also belongs to the Pals Club.

"Pals is for wives of constitutional officers and legislators in Sacramento," she said. "Is purely a social group, designed to acquaint newcomers to the area. Once you are a member you are always a member so we have many former government officials' wives. It is a very interesting group, and we have a lot of activities."

Mrs. Rafferty said she decided to actively campaign on her husband's behalf this year because the children are old enough to take care of themselves.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Tiny San Marino Holds Interest To Travelers

By MOLLY MARIN

A visit to San Marino, the smallest republic in the world and also one of the oldest, was one of the highlights of a month's auto tour for Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Brahms of Corte Madera.

The 23 square mile country, which is bordered on all sides by Italy, derives its income largely from the sale of colorful postage stamps. It still maintains a Crossbowmen Corps, and the couple witnessed a ceremony involving the use of that medieval weapon.

The tour continued through Italy, where the Brahmses stayed at the Hotel Porta Rossa in Florence. The Porta Rossa is the oldest hotel in Europe and has been in continuous use since 1383.

In addition to the usual attraction such as Rome, Naples, Venice, Capri and the Leaning Tower of Pisa much of their driving was to less frequented sights in Italy such as the Byzantine mosaics in Ravenna; the walled city of Gubbio, known as the silent city; the palace of the Bourbon kings in Caserta; the Gothic art city of Siena; and the medieval Tuscan town of San Gimignano.

Part of the area visited was in the nature of a sentimental journey for Mr. Brahms, who was in Italy during World War II and participated in the attack on Cassino. Their visit to that city included a drive up the winding mountain road to the completely-rebuilt Abbey of Monte Cassino and stops at the British, Polish and German military cemeteries in the vicinity.

The final week of the tour was in Germany, where they visited Frankfurt, Darmstadt and Heidelberg.

ZANY FOR THE YOUNG

Mary Quant: Shapes To Come

By BARBARA HOSMER

"The crazier the fashion the more it should be cheap," says Mary Quant, the swingy young designer whose Mod, miniskirted styles put London on the fashion map and set dowdy England on its heels.

Revolutionary Mary, who started the whole thing in "fun" clothes a few years back, came to town yesterday to show her latest collections and chat informally with the press at the Jack Tar in San Francisco.

"High fashion is for the young," she said. "And the crazier the clothes the faster they go in and out." Mass production keeps the price tag down and fun styles available to all, she believes.

"When I was a two-pound-and-10 a week struggling art student working for others we did seem always to be designing for the old and rich."

Couture clothes should be there for the rich, says Quant, but the zany trends are for the young.

BUT WHAT about older women wearing the Mod styles?

"Nobody seems to get older nowadays, though, do they?" she responded, saying that she had recently met Chanel, now in her 80s, at a Paris hotel:

"There she was wearing one of her beautiful suits, looking marvelous, and it would have been good on a 15-year-old as well." The clothes, she believes, should go with the times. "We dress with the time we like," she added.

SHE PREDICTED that in the next 10 years women will be wearing smashing new garments in new shapes that have a new freedom.

"We don't have to have seams with the new synthetic fabrics. We'll be making shapes that we've never had before," she says enthusiastically.

"Now there is a certain pattern of what we can do technically to make a garment fit. But there is going to be an enormous kind of change and the clothes won't be at all functional," said Quant, gesturing with a double rose-ringed hand. "There will be more ruffles and bows and decoration, although the styles will be designed nearer to the body."

Everything in the new fabrics is washable, she pointed out, and clothes can take more decoration and remain practical.

Still talking about today's and tomorrow's woman, Quant said that women's shapes are probably more exposed today than ever before in history with mini skirts, close fitted stockings — "In a way we are revealing more of the body, but probably we are wearing more clothes than any time in history. We are wearing layers but they are closer to the body and lighter.

MARY QUANT

"Women are more the way they want to look — what they can make of themselves. They don't need all that wadding and padding; they have flexibility."

She said that fashion reflects world events immediately. "Architecture, for instance, may take generations to do it. Fashion is instant."

The Mod designer believes that the Pill was the true emancipator of women. "Everything else was an illusion. The mini skirt (a Quant invention) is evidence of women enjoying their sexuality. Not promiscuity, but sexuality. You can tell by the way women move."

Previously women entered into marriage as a bargain, a contract, but now they have their own careers and are independent, she pointed out. They can pay their own bills and the man can pay his. Both independent, they can afford to become more decorative in dress, not having to dress the part of a bank clerk or such, Miss Quant said.

"Paper dresses," she said, "are not yet sympathetic to the body." They will be, but aren't yet fitted quite right, remarked the tiny, 34-year-old Welsh designer.

As a millinery assistant in London Mary decided it was high time that fashion fun should be available to the masses. A working girl herself, she could not afford fabulous couture prices.

Now, she says, "the most dangerous thing in fashion is to play it safe," a situation she herself has been largely responsible for.

She and her husband, Alexander Plunket Greene, opened a fashion store in Chelsea and launched the whole new worldwide boutique trend. The Chelsea Look rocketed Mary and Plunket, as she calls him, to the top of the youth fashion earthquake and earned her the Order of the British Empire as well as the accolades of young people wearing the mini throughout the world's capitals.

She believes that youth is where the action is — "The young are going to have all the power, aren't they?" she comments.

AS TO THE MAXI length — "The wonderful thing about the maxi is that nobody knows where the hemline today should be. Everyone has her own length. One has to look at oneself full length and decide on her best length. Then usually an inch higher I like."

Dressed in her own pale blue bell bottomed pants suit with four tiny buttons under each cuff and a tie at the V neckline, Mary Quant extolled the fluidity of today's clothes, wiggling her bare toes from their white sandals and flashing a pale-lipped smile. Herself tiny, she pointed to the four tall London models brought along to wear her styles designed for an American chain store. Skirts were mid-thigh and often textured stockings gave the famous total look to the Quant costumes. Shoes, jewelry, hats, stockings, lingerie were all Quant designs.

Now running a fabulous fashion empire from their Chelsea flat, Mary and Alexander are building what she describes as a "flying saucer" home in France near Nice, with the bedroom "under a cockpit" to see the stars and sun and "an eyelid" that closes it off at the press of a button.

But meantime they're on a whirlwind 10 days through America — New York, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Phoenix, Little Rock and Chattanooga. "Places with lovely names I've only known in songs," said Mary.

THE COSSACK influence is seen in this black velvet dress by Mary Quant. It's designed with exaggerated high-shirred neck band and long shirt sleeves. The young designer also does the jewelry and often the shoes for her ensemble look.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for sending me all those letters people wrote to me after you published my note from Vietnam in your column. I asked you then not to print my full name and address because my friends might see and think I was griping because they didn't write. But a lot of people took a chance and asked you to forward mail over here.

I have written to all I have time for (between battles and duties) and am turning the rest over to buddies.

I certainly appreciate your sending the letters. They have helped make my tour here a little bit better. In fact, a lot!

SP/4 George A.A., Jr.

DEAR GEORGE:

So happy my readers helped! I don't print full names of fighting men for two reasons: 1. You might receive crank notes which could hurt morale. (Sad, but a few people are senselessly cruel). 2. You'd be so deluged with mail you couldn't handle it.

So I direct hopeful writers to Vietnam Mail Call instead. Here's a letter which shows you what your note inspired, George:

"Dear Helen: We have been flooded with mail in response to your column about the lonely G.I., George. In the first few days, 5,000 letters poured in and they're still coming."

"Vietnam Mail Call, now in its fourth year, will gather Christmas cards from all over the United States (and abroad), and forward them to 27 hospitals and dispensaries, 15 USO's and most major units in Vietnam. Christmas greetings will also go to Thailand and to ships at sea off North Vietnam.

"Our goal is a million cards to our men. Here are instructions for sending your cards:

"1. Place full name and address on each envelope holding a card. Address envelope, "To a Fellow American." Sign full name and address on each card. Add a note if you wish — you'll be more apt to get an answer.

"2. Put your card inside another envelope, or with others in a box, and address to Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Ga., 31903. Include five cents for each card for overseas mailing expense. If your club or other group collects many cards, package them and send parcel post, putting the check or money order for postage in a separate envelope marked Postage. Don't place stamps on envelopes inside the package, because cards are airmailed to Vietnam in large boxes.

"3. Tell your church, club, school, college, friends and others about this Christmas Card program. Organizations may mail unlimited numbers of cards without fear of overdoing it.

"4. Now is the time to start collecting cards. They will be kept in Vietnam and distributed during the holidays. But it takes time to process and dispatch.

"Thank you again for your help!

E. PAUL STEWART

Note to readers: Vietnam Mail Call is a non-profit organization dedicated to cheering Servicemen. It has been praised by governors, congressmen, generals as an outstanding morale builder. H.

out for Eileen and my mother is now living in Sacramento, so it makes it much easier than when Max was campaigning in 1962," she said.

When asked how she felt about being gone as long as she would on her current trip she replied, "I'm afraid that during this campaign the family does not get to see much of each other anyway, so being gone on a trip for my husband is not a special problem."

She said she did not have much time for golf, but was keeping up on her knitting, which is another hobby "even knitting a few rows on the bus on the trip from San Francisco to San Rafael."

Before boarding the bus on the way to a brunch in Sonoma, Mrs. Rafferty spoke to the women who were gathered in the living room of the Teachnor home.

She discussed the importance of her husband's election and thanked them for their support and help. She was just reciting an Irish blessing, which she said hangs on the wall in the hall of their home, when the alarm on the timer sounded, and she was rushed off to board the bus.

Fruits to be frozen? Wash in cold water to help keep them firm. Then drain, peel, trim and cut up to pack in the freezer containers. Plastic bags, wax coated boxes, or plastic containers work very well for fruits.

A RECEPTION at the bride's parents home followed the ceremony uniting in marriage Diana J. Greve and Robert Allen DeGraff. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Greve of Hillsborough are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. DeGraff of San Rafael.

Lon Gallagher Claims Bride At Arizona Rite

MRS. LON GALLAGHER

The Scottsdale Methodist Church, Scottsdale, Ariz. was the setting of the Saturday wedding of Pamela Jo Gaston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gaston of Scottsdale, to Lon Harlow Gallagher, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Gallagher of San Anselmo.

Attending the bride were Elizabeth Jorgensen of Los Angeles, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Mary Gallagher of San Anselmo, Jeanine Linsenmeyer and Peggy Dean of Phoenix and Leslie Brown of Bridgeport, W. Va.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Donald M. Gallagher Jr. of San Anselmo. Ushers included Dennis M. Gallagher of San Anselmo, William H. Estep of Oakland, Phillip L. Ferris Jr. of San Anselmo, John C. Gaston of Scottsdale and Charles W. Long of Homewood, Ill.

The bride attended Arizona State University and was graduated from Southeastern Preparatory School. The bridegroom will graduate from Arizona State University in February. He is the brother of Mary, Donald Jr., Dennis, Anne, Joan, Robert and Nancy Gallagher of San Anselmo and is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School.

DeFremery Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. de Fremery announce the engagement of their daughter Anne de Fremery to Dan E. Muller, all of Mill Valley.

The future bridegroom is the son of the Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Muller of Melba, Idaho.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, Anne is employed as a waitress in Muir Woods. She is the sister of Peter de Fremery and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kydd and Mrs. Paul de Fremery, all of Mill Valley.

Coupie Wed In Church Ceremony

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams of Santa Rosa, had as her maid of honor Nancy Tennant of Stockton. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas Kostic of Moraga, sister of the bridegroom, and Nancy Wong of San Francisco.

Thomas Kostic, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was his best man. Ushers were Richard Cheek of Sacramento, the bride's brother; Kevin Thomas of Los Angeles, cousin of the bridegroom; Michael Brown of Modesto; and Paul Furnas of Stanford.

A reception was held at the Los Robles Lodge. On their return from a wedding trip to Northern California and Lake Tahoe the couple will live in Stockton.

A graduate of Oakdale Union High School, the bride holds a bachelor's degree from the University of the Pacific and a master's degree in social work from Sacramento State College. She is a psychiatric worker for the State of California Bureau of Social Work in Stockton.

The bridegroom was graduated from Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco, he has a degree from Occidental College and took graduate work toward a master's degree in rehabilitation counseling. He is a counselor with the California Department of Rehabilitation in Stockton.

Now Diet Policemen

Geneva, Switzerland (WMNS)— Seriously overweight women in Communist countries don't get off lightly with a doctor's understanding smile, a diet guide, and appetite-suppressing pills. They are hospitalized and then watched closely for a year to make certain that they stick to their diets.

Eastern European doctors emphasized at a recent Dietetics Congress here that hospitalization combined with surveillance are among the most effective ways to achieve lasting results.

Dr. R. A. Visinesco of the Bucharest University Clinic told Women's Medical News Service that teamwork is essential in working with the obese. In the hospital, a physician, a nurse, and a dietitian combine forces to study the patient's habits and needs. Efforts are made to win the patient's confidence.

Once on her way to shedding pounds, the patient leaves the hospital and then what the physican called "social prophylaxis" begins.

The team maintains "permanent contact with all discharged patients, seeing them once a month," the doctor explained. In addition, representatives from the National Council of Roumanian Women call on their stout sisters to give their morale a boost.

Shopping in the Village
with Pat Reynolds

Town & Country Village

Wednesday Fashion Luncheons return from vacation on October 30th. Inn Marin is the setting, showtime is 12:30 and reservations are suggested.
Rumor has it that The Village will start the Christmas shopping season with a sensational center-wide sale. More about this next month.
For your shopping convenience, Village shops are open Wednesday evenings and, don't forget, window shoppers are always welcome at Strawberry.

Couldn't ask for a warmer Autumn glow than what you'll find at FIESTA CANDLE SHOP. There are some perfectly stunning "pressed" glass containers for votive candles. These are in jewel colors, square, with round center candle well and most attractive . . . either alone or in groupings.

Here we go again, Mother, galloping through another school year. If it's not the Cub Scouts, it's the Brownies, or the P.T.A. or heaven only knows what else we all seem to get involved in. I don't know about you but, at the end of those frantic days, I like to head for L'ENTREE and gratefully carry home a casserole supper that receives rave notices from family and guests alike and requires only a half hour of oven time. Simple, and simply delicious!

With fall and winter entertaining plans in full swing, be sure to check with VILLAGE LIQUORS and restock your wine supply. Should you be less than knowledgeable about selecting wines (hello, friend) just ask Dan for advice. Tell this helpful fellow your menu, preferences, number of guests (don't hesitate to mention your budget) and Dan will choose the perfect vintage for you from his extensive selection of imported and domestic wines.

Thank heavens, Harriet! VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE (formerly, Edy's) carries really good Halloween candies (not those orange and black jobs that taste like perfume). In seasonal colors, I found chews, jellies, candy corn, lollipops and a jolly plastic Jack-O-Lantern topped with a "chapeau" of traditional hard candies. Don't overlook the light lunch and ice cream department at VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE . . . a very nice place (with old-fashioned ice cream parlor atmosphere) to pop in for lunch or a snack while shopping.

Attractive decor, excellent Oriental and Continental cuisine and a quiet atmosphere make KUBLAI KHAN the perfect spot for luncheon with friends or business associates. This fine restaurant also welcomes small parties with gracious hospitality and unobtrusive good service.

At long last . . . back by popular demand! MUTTS OF MARIN again has a good supply of washable, corduroy lounge beds in many colors and sizes. They make a cozy retreat for Doggy on dreary winter days.

Walked smack into Christmas the other day at ALBERTA OF MARIN's. This fascinating shop is brimming-over with makings for beautiful holiday decorations and arrangements. Stop by any Tuesday for a free demonstration and, I promise, you'll return for the Thursday "how to" classes.

If you are planning a family shopping trip to The Village some Wednesday evening when all the shops are open, plan a relaxed family dinner at The HICK'RY PIT first. Be sure to top off your meal with a piece of homemade pumpkin pie (or hot mince meat pie after Nov. 1st). Now, when The HICK'RY PIT says homemade they mean just that. Their pumpkin pie, for instance is subtly spiced and concocted of the best ingredients (such as lots of fresh ranch eggs). The children are always welcome at The HICK'RY PIT and they'll love the thick, frothy milkshakes at this popular priced family restaurant. (Parents will appreciate HICK'RY PIT fast service so hungry youngsters are fed quickly before they have a chance to get crabby.)

San Geronimo Lights Campfire For Heap Big Weekend Pow-Wow

The golf course at San Geronimo will be transformed into an Indian reservation in keeping with its theme for the first invitational sponsored by the San Geronimo Women's Golf Club.

Tee off time will be at 8:30 a.m. Monday and next Tuesday when 108 golfers from 20 courses in Northern and Central California will participate in San Geronimo's first big Pow Wow.

A welcome will be given members and their guests by the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. W. H. Hudson, who will be attired in Indian costumes. Signs bearing Indian names will be placed on all tees depicting the type of hole to be played.

Following the first day of play, a luncheon and fashion show with Mrs. W. J. Gates as chairman will be presented in the clubhouse, decorated like a wigwam.

Awards to the winners will be presented by co-chairmen Mrs. Henry J. Cornelius and Mrs. B. L. Marsh at the luncheon following the second and final round of golf.

MRS. SESTO LUCCHI was reelected president by the Northgate Unit of Junior Theatre at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Chambers of Terra Linda. She has been active in Junior Theatre for two years working to promote opportunities for the children of Marin County to see and participate in good theater productions.

Assisting Mrs. Lucchi will be Mesdames J. B. Wamsley, vice president; W. D. Griffin, secretary; and Frank Armstrong, treasurer.

Mrs. Lucchi invites anyone interested in having their children participate in a summer workshop production or in generally promoting good entertainment for the children of Marin County, to call her for membership information.

THE MARIN COUNTY Chapter of the American Red Cross is conducting a new class next week to train registered nurse instructors for their regular monthly Mother-Baby Care classes.

The Instructors Training Class will be held each day Monday through Friday by Helen Bosserman, the National Red Cross nursing representative. It will encompass all the techniques necessary to teach the Mother-Baby Care classes.

After the instructor's training, the registered nurse becomes part of a group called upon once or twice a year to give the Mother-Baby Care class. The classes are given in a series of six sessions, twice weekly (Mondays and Wednesdays) from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Through a series of lectures, demonstrations and group discussions expectant parents learn about pregnancy, labor and delivery, hospital care, bathing, dressing, feeding and general care of the new born baby.

Registered nurses interested in helping the Red Cross with these classes, may contact the Marin County Chapter ARC,712 Fifth Street, San Rafael.

THE NATIONAL Association of Legal Secretaries, of which Marin County Legal Secretaries Association is a member, has recently established national headquarters in Chicago. This is a new step for the association, which previously conducted business from the individual locations of its officers.

With a membership now totaling 14,000 its board of directors felt that the work of the association has become too unwieldly to handle in this manner and made the decision to establish permanent quarters. Mr. Charles A. Klyber, of Springfield, Ill., was chosen executive administrator for the association.

The purpose of National Association of Legal Secretaries, and of Marin County Legal Secretaries Association, which are nonpartisan, nonunion, nonpolitical and non-sectarian groups, is to unite all persons engaged in work of a legal nature and encourage their continued education. Its chief objective is to provide service to attorneys, the courts, the general public and to the legal secretaries.

"CAREERS IN INSURANCE" films are to be shown to the Work Experience Counselors of the six high schools in Marin County on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the San Rafael district office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

One of the projects of the Insurance Women of Marin this year is to promote interest among high school students and junior college students to enter the insurance business. They hope to obtain small scholarships that can be presented to the most outstanding students taking insurance courses in the high schools and at College of Marin.

Marsha Mathews Of Marin Is Wed To Ricardo Krebs In Colma Rite

Ricardo Nestor Krebs and Marsha Mathews were married Oct. 13 at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church in Colma.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormand D. Mathews of Terra Linda. Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Krebs of Colma are the bridegroom's parents.

Nancy Gale Mathews of San Francisco was her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Marlene Mathews; Nancy Kimberling; and Kristy Koziol were bridesmaids.

Best man was Ed Grandona of Daly City, and the bridegroom's brother, Juan Krebs; Steve Gustafson; and Skip McAllister ushered.

Marsha is a graduate of Terra Linda High School. She attended College of Marin and is employed by the Bank of America in San Francisco. Ronald Mathews, who is in Vietnam, is her brother.

Ricardo is a graduate of George Washington High School in San Francisco. He is also employed by the Bank of America in San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. RICARDO KREBS

Credit Can Benefit When Wisely Used By Families

In today's "charge it" world of credit cards, charge accounts, shoppers' cards and plans, a good credit rating is second only to having cash in the bank.

Wisely used, credit can help us buy more things sooner — but when those handy cards are used to charge more than the budget can handle, a family might find itself strapped by monthly payments that can't be met.

The unhappy fact is that more and more so-called average families, with incomes of $9,000 or more, are facing just that predicament. For some people, much of the difficulty is caused by indiscriminate use of credit. They charge just about everywhere from the corner drugstore to the gas station and all the way to the air terminal without really knowing how much money is being spent.

Should you, for one reason or another, find your credit rating sliding downhill, there are steps you can take to re-establish a good rating.

1. Set up a system to pay bills that have accumulated. If, for example, you have payments due on a bank loan and find them impossible to meet, have a talk with your banker about the possibility of rewriting the loan. Your bank may give you a grace period of several months to straighten out your budget before you begin making payments again. Or the bank might make the loan for a longer period of time, thus reducing each month's payment. Many retail stores will make similar arrangements for large installments on charge account bills.

2. If you owe lots of small bills that may take several months to pay off a little at a time, again you might turn to your bank for help. If in the past you've had a stable record of paying bills, you may qualify for a full service bank consolidation loan. This will enable you to pay off the small bills all at once and you'll repay the bank on a monthly basis. In the long run, you'll probably save money too.

Bellamy-Odom Vows Said At Garden Wedding Service

The garden of the Lafayette home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Scott Wright Jr., was the setting Sunday afternoon for the wedding of Sallie Faye Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Odom of Redwood City, and John Benton Bellamy III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Benton Bellamy Jr., formerly of Marin and now residents of Mountain Lakes N.J.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Robert Lavel of Redwood City. Maid of honor was the bridegroom's cousin, Marilyn Wright.

The bridegroom's father was best man.

Sallie is a graduate of the University of California. John, who is a graduate of Terra Linda High School, is the brother of Robert Kendrick and Scott Bellamy. Mrs. J. Benton Bellamy of Berkeley is his grandmother.

A buffet reception on the terrace of the Wrights' home followed the ceremony. Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will live in Berkeley, while the bridegroom completes his education.

Youth Panel Will Discuss Education

"Is Education Impersonal and Irrelevant?" will be the topic of Dr. Dale Tillery and a panel in the third of the series "Youth and Society in Ferment" sponsored by the Interfaith Fellowship at the College of Marin.

The program will be given at 8:15 p.m. Friday at the Student Center, College of Marin.

Dr. Tillery holds the Ph.D. degree in education from the University of California and is currently associate professor at Berkeley. He is founder and director of the SCOPE project, Center for Research and Development in Higher Education.

Panelists will be Miss Maryjane Dunstan, chairman of the communications department at College of Marin; James L. Pierce, director of instruction, Tamalpais School District; Dr. William Scalapino, chairman of the behavorial sciences department, College of Marin; Sherry Silva, senior at Dominican College, and Melody Lane, San Rafael High School senior.

Corte Madera Orders Street Improvements

After receiving protests from less than 10 per cent of residents of the area, a Sausalito Street improvement district was formed last night by the Corte Madera Town Council and a bid let for improving the street.

The protestors mainly were opposed to paying for improvements they said would be primarily beneficial to developers building a new subdivision beyond existing houses.

The council decided to go ahead with the project, however, and awarded a contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti for $27,854. The project includes widening the street in some parts, installing drainage facilities, curbs and gutters and repaving.

The town council also accepted a petition from 15 persons for annexation of 29 acres in the Meadowsweet Drive area, including homes, apartment houses, a motel and Marin Joe's restaurant. The council will later bring the matter before the Local Agency Formation Commission.

In another annexation matter, Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said that he and other council members will attend a hearing scheduled by the Corte Madera Sanitary District for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29. At that time the controversial annextion both to the sanitary district and to the town of the Lucky Drive area will be discussed. Residents almost unaimously oppose the dual annexation.

Corte Madera Town Council Also:

SYLVAN WAY — Abandoned a small triangular sewer easement on Sylvan Way in exchange for a similar easement on the property of Walter Bacciocco.

BICYCLES — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Nov. 18 on an application to add bicycle service and sales to the list of uses in C-1 zones.

SANITARY — Agreed to accept the sanitary district's offer of a small lot on Golden Hind Passage as an easement to San Clemente Creek.

NEW STREET — Named the new Paradise Drive — Tamalpais Avenue connecting street "San Clemente Drive."

FIRE — Discussed ways to improve Corte Madera's fire rating, which is presently Class 7, and agreed to put the matter on the agenda of the Nov. 4 meeting.

FEES — Agreed to wave $330 fees charged the sanitary district for inspection by the town.

FINAL MAP — Postponed until July 1, 1969, acceptance of a final map for a subdivision at 5100 Paradise Drive at the request of the owner, Terrence O'Flaherty.

HOME — Granted a home occupation business license to Will D. Sinclair of 21 Key Largo Course for an office for motor home rental business.

ANNEXATION — Voiced opposition to proposed annexation by the city of San Rafael of a portion of the San Quentin peninsula.

ABSENT — Councilman Holmes S. Norville was absent.

Reagan To Tour For GOP Votes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan leaves tomorrow night for a three-day, nine-state speaking tour for Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon and local GOP candidates.

After a breakfast Thursday in Helena, Mont., Reagan will fly to South Bend, Ind., and later to Grand Rapids, Mich. On Friday he has appearances scheduled in Reading, Pa., and Boston.

Saturday he flies to Bridgeport, Conn.; Westbury, N.Y. (on Long Island); Jacksonville, Fla., and New Orleans before returning to Sacramento at midnight Saturday.

Ross Burglars Take $3,000 Belongings

Burglars who entered a Ross home through a unlocked door yesterday made off with more than $3,000 worth of clothing, draperies, paintings, electronic amplifiers and a color television, police said.

David Peterson of 88 Baywood Drive told police that the theft had occurred between 8:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Synanon Ban Brought To Mind Again

Although Synanon announced months ago it had abandoned plans to buy an apartment building in East Corte Madera, the Corte Madera Town Council has apparently never really believed this.

Last night the council adopted in final permanent form an ordinance to make certain Synanon has to request a use permit if the foundation ever moves into Corte Madera.

The original reading of the ordinance had taken place so long ago (an emergency measure was adopted March 4) that Mayor Edward W. Colthurst couldn't remember what the ordinance dealt with.

After some confusion about selling bicycles in commercial zones, which is what the mayor thought the ordinance dealt with, Councilman Byron D. White leaned toward the mayor and said in stage whisper, "Synanon."

With that the mayor and other councilmen quickly passed the ordinance which requires use permits for anyone planning to treat not only drug addicts but also alcoholics, sex perverts and epileptics, in residential area.

Synanon, which this month announced plans to purchase a block-square building in downtown Oakland, at one time had been interested in the Uplands Apartments.

Credit Car Plea

Alvin L. Whittenbrock, 20, of Santa Rosa, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a felony charge of fraudulently using a credit card in Novato Oct. 3. He was ordered to appear in Superior Court Monday for sentencing.

Rohnert Park Holds Up Permits For Use Of Hall

Use permits for the former Mendocino Hall of Sonoma State College were withheld last night by Rohnert Park City Council.

The Spivock Co. had requested use permits to house college students and to rent classroom space to the Cotati Elementary School District in the building on College View Drive.

Students had been evicted when the buildings were found to be substandard of city housing codes. It was reported that the necessary improvements have been made, but council deferred the use permits pending an appearance of representatives of the Spivock Co.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

ANNEXATION — Delayed annexation of 450 acres of land south of East Cotati Avenue pending further study.

GOLF COURSE — Authorized application to connect a water line at the municipal golf course to the Coyote Water District line. Deferred matter of lower golfing rates for Sonoma State College students for further study.

POLICE CAR — Awarded the contract for purchase of a new police car to Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth of Petaluma with a low bid of $1,762 with trade-in allowance.

PROPOSITION 9 — Opposed passage of Proposition 9, the Watson amendment, on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Seniors Board Passes Budget

The Marin Senior Coordinating Council board has approved a budget for 1968-69 of $39,482, Edward T. Ryken, director, reported.

Half of the money will come from the state, the rest in donations of time, money and facilities from Marin residents, Ryken said.

The board, at a meeting Friday, also agreed to develop an application for a grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to continue a senior citizens employment program in Marin, Ryken said. The council will ask $10,500 for the 1968-69 program, the same amount received for this year's employment project, he said.

Youths Injured As Cycle Skids

Two youths were injured yesterday when their motorcycle skidded and crashed on Camino Alto at Vasco Drive in Mill Valley.

Driver Guy Bagwell, 18, of San Francisco, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with an abdominal puncture wound. His passenger, Jeffrey Sturgeon, 20, of 178 San Felipo Way, Novato, was treated for facial scrapes.

Police said the accident happened at 1 p.m.

Deputies List Thefts From Auto, School

The theft of $521 of clothing from a car parked at Stinson Beach was among the burglaries reported today by the Marin County sheriff's office.

Andrew Gaspar of Orange County said the clothing was stolen from his auto when he left it at the beach for an hour Friday.

A burglar smashed the window to the principal's office at Santa Venetia middle school Sunday night and stole a radio from the office, deputies said.

Gladys V. Bennett reported that someone crawled through a window at her house at 132 McAlister Avenue, Kentfield, sometime Saturday and stole two cartons of cigarettes.

Thieves stole kitchenware from the summer house of Gertrude Haywoods of San Francisco on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas sometime between Oct. 13 and Friday, deputies said.

DRAMA REVIEW

ACT's 'Hamlet' Is Fine Bill For Teens

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Conservatory Theater will not open its official season until December, but yesterday afternoon marked the opening of its "pre-season" designed especially for high schoolers.

The opening matinee was "Hamlet," and since I was unable to catch the spring production, I was delighted to attend and to watch the reaction of teen-agers to what can be a big bore — but certainly is not in William Ball's staging of Shakespeare's tragedy.

On a spare series of platforms, designer Stuart Wurtzel uses flying drops to suggest scenes, and around them Ball weaves tapestries with Robert Fletcher's colorful costumes. Continuous movement of his characters attempts to set the pace, but does not always succeed.

Ball has cut judiciously without losing the personal thread of the plot. However, purists will object to the fact that his cuts almost denude the play of its political signifigance, so that infrequent references to Fortinbras, who never appears, are somewhat incoherent, as are other mentions of the political scene. However, in Ball's words "an uncut 'Hamlet' would prove a five-hour bore." And in this day of speed, it might.

"Hamlet" must stand or fall on the title role, and here I was pleasantly surprised. Paul Shenar, whose work (except for "Tiny Alice") I have not enjoyed, is a very creditable Hamlet. He is clear, his motivations are understandable, he handles himself well most of the time, and only in speeches which demand sustained power does he seem to falter slightly. And he does all this while battling an abominable blonde wig.

He is very good in his scenes with Ophelia, leaving us with the feeling that he definitely has loved her, and only spurns her because the discovery of his father's murder drives him to extremes.

Izetta Smith's Ophelia is a highlight of the production. Starting as a simple, but in no way stupid girl, her gradual lapse into madness is clearly delineated, and her mad scenes are magnificent combinations of drama and grand opera, which may sound horrid, but is actually quite impressive. As she disappeared up the long ramp, keening a wordless song, I was moved to tears.

The other top performances come from Jay Doyle in the roles of the senior Hamlet's ghost and the Player King. The ghost is underplayed with fierce intensity and his "remember me!" trails off into a whisper of wind. Doyle also underplays the old actor with telling effect, heightened by the fact that he deliberately resembles the elder Hamlet, which the younger Hamlet recognizes.

David Dukes is warmly straightforward as Laertes; Harry Frazier's Polonius is a wholly believable old fustian, and G. Wood plays the Gravedigger with delightful candor and no attempt at low comedy.

Both Ray Reinhardt as Claudius and Angela Paton as Gertrude left me feeling that they were being very sincere, but not getting under the skins of the characters. Among the minor players, James Milton is a standout as Guildenstern.

Stirring original music composed by Lee Holby adds much to the production.

In summation — this is a clear, a commendable "Hamlet." Visually it is striking. Some of its scenes — the play within the play, the funeral of Ophelia, the finale — are overpowering.

But I only found myself moved by small portions, usually bits by Dukes, Doyle or Miss Smith. The driving emotional power of the drama as a whole eluded me — or Ball.

The reaction of the young people was great, however. Many had never seen a play, certainly few had seen Shakespeare. But they wre caught up and held by the drama. And so accustomed are they to the current scene that long hair, beards and unusual costumes provoked no laughter, which I have heard from juvenile audiences in the past.

"Hamlet" will play into the first week of December at the Geary at 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 8:30 Friday and Saturday nights, alternating with "The Crucible," which begins on Friday. The two are being presented in the matinee series to special groups of high school students, who also receive study brochures in conjunction with the plays.

Loretta Young Splits Property

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Loretta Young and her estranged husband, producer Thomas H. A. Lewis, will divide more than $1 million in assets.

They agreed to the compromise settlement yesterday, apparently ending a 10-year court fight involving the J. C. P. Corp., which produced 103 films for "The Loretta Young Show" on television.

Lewis and Miss Young, married in 1940, have lived apart approximately 12 years.

Under terms of the court-approved agreement, each will take title to one of two apartment houses jointly held and each will contribute equally toward payment of $125,000 in corporate taxes owed by J.C.P.

Accident Victim In Good Condition

A 19-year-old San Rafael man was reported in good condition today at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital with broken ribs suffered last night when a car in which he was a passenger skidded off North San Pedro Road.

Clifford A. Andersen of Bermuda Palms Motel was thrown out of the car in the accident, which happened at 10:10 p.m. on a curve three miles east of Highway 101, the California Highway Patrol reported. The driver was not identified.

KAREN RUSSELL
Has Monroe role

Terra Linda To Open With 'Bus Stop'

Terra Linda Little Theater will open its 1968-69 season Friday with a production of William Inge's comedy-romance, "Bus Stop."

Performances will be on Fridays and Saturdays from Oct. 25 through Nov. 16 at the Terra Linda Recreation Center. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Karen Russell of Sausalito will play the role of Cherie, which Marilyn Monroe depicted in the film version. Miss Russell, a drama student at College of Marin, also works as model and in promotion and public relations.

Lou Mason of Terra Linda takes the lead male role as the boastful cowboy, who wants to take Cherie back to his ranch in Montana. Mason is an accountant working in Berkeley.

Others in the cast are Pat Osborn of Novato, as Grace, who owns the diner where a busload of passengers is stranded during a blizzard; Danny Rylko of San Rafael as Elma, a teen-age waitress at the diner; Don Maritzen of Terra Linda as the swaggering bus driver; Harold King of Mill Valley, who plays the role of Dr. Lyman, the amorous professor; James Ray of Terra Linda, the cowboy's guitar-playing friend; and George Pritzker of Mill Valley, the sheriff.

Director is Irene Pritzker of Mill Valley.

Schedule Listed For Arts Quartet

The Marin Arts Quartet has announced dates and programs for the 1968-69 season at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The first concert featuring guest pianist Robaline Meacham will take place on Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. The remaining two on Feb. 16 and April 6 will be held at 3 p.m. with guest bassist Carl Modell and guest soprano Gwen Curatilo featured.

Additional information is available from Mrs. Philip C. Smith, 5 Morgan Lane, San Rafael.

Cycle Is Stolen

Randell W. Kutz of 757 Kerner Boulevard, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday that his 1966 Harley Davidson motorcycle had been stolen from in front of his home between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Wenches' Portrayals Surely Not Sluggish

Typographical errors refined the character and maligned the characterization of two wenches in the review of the opera "Wozzeck" in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

"Sluttish," used to describe Wozzeck's mistress and another girl, Margret, accidentally appeared as "sluggish." Obviously, there was nothing sluggish about a performance that was sluttish.

Ecuador is named for the Equator, which is straddles.

Sommerhalder Denies Santa Rosa Murder

Special to the I-J

SANTA ROSA — Convicted killer Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 25, flanked by a squad of guards, pleaded innocent in in Sonoma Superior Court yesterday to charges of murder, kidnap and rape.

Sommerhalder, convicted and sentencef to death for the slayings of Curtis and Shirley Ackley Jan. 12 in Santa Venetia, was ordered to stand trial Dec. 3 in Santa Rosa for the murder of Charles Kaufmann, a Santa Rosa Junior College student, Oct. 7, 1967.

The kidnap-rape charges stem from the abduction and gang rape of Kaufmann's date that early morning, after the student had been shot.

Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, under death sentence for his part in the Ackley slayings, pleaded guilty to the kidnap charge in Santa Rosa and was sentenced to 1 to 25 years in prison for the offense.

Jack Brockman, convicted of the Kaufmann murder and the kidnap of the girl, was sentenced to life in prison and 1 to 25 years for the offenses by Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr.

Sommerhalder, Brockman and Preston were all members of the Grim Reapers motorcycle gang, the Sonoma County organization presided over by Sommerhalder.

Sommerhalder is to appear in Marin Superior Court Oct. 31 on his motion for a new trial on the Santa Venetia trailer murders. If the motion fails, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner is to pronounce sentence on the killer.

Carport Approved

An encroachment application by H. C. McVean Jr. of 4 Fern Avenue to allow construction of a portion of a carport on city property on Bella Vista Avenue was approved last night by the Belvedere Planning Commission, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli reported. The commission will next meet at 8 p.m. Nov. 18 in city hall.

Arraignment On Assault Charge

Harold J. Von Feldt, 34, of 30 Novato Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael was arraigned on charges of felonious assault yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after allegedly beating Raymond E. Banfield of 1445 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael early yesterday morning.

Police said that the fight occurred about 2:30 a.m. at the Novato Street apartment, where Banfield was also staying. Banfield was recovering from chest surgery, according to police.

The case was continued until today.

Health Fair Attracts 200 From Marin

About 200 high school students from Marin, interested in health careers, are scheduled to attend a Health Fair at Brooks Hall in San Francisco's Civc Center, which opened a six-day run today.

The fair, sponsored by the San Francisco Medical Society, Dental Society and Hospital Confernce is designed to show ways to better health and offer health career information for students.

Students, who will be bused to the fair for one day, also can attend discussions on career topics.

The fair will have 60 medical exhibits with demonstrations by medical specialists and other health professionals showing new diagnostic procedures and methods of preventive medicine.

There is no admission charge and the fair will be open from noon to 9:30 p.m., except on Sunday when it closes at 6 p.m.

Jury Trial Ordered On Marijuana Count

Eric Stephen Tainter, 20, of Larkspur, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges of possessing and selling marijuana Aug. 23 in Mill Valley.

He was ordered to appear Feb. 20 for a jury trial.

Coast Guard Studies New Mooring Policy

The Coast Guard is considering changing the anchorage designation for Richardson Bay, north of Strawberry Point, to allow boats to moor in the bay without lights or bells.

The change from general to special anchorage status would not inhibit use of the area by boats nor would it result in a decreased patrol of the areas, according to Cmdr. H. W. Doan of the aids to navigation branch of the 12th Coast Guard District.

The new designation would not apply to the Sausalito waterfront area.

Doan emphasized the suggestion is still under study by the Coast Guard.

At the present time, boats mooring in Richardson Bay are required to provide lights and sound signals.

The change is being considered, Doan said, because the shallowness of the bay inhibits navigation, especially at night. "There is really no need to have the boats lighted," he said.

Other areas along the California coast, Monterey Bay for example, also operate under the special anchorage designation, he said.

The status, if approved, could be reversed at some future date if dredging of the Saucelito Canal and development of the Bothin and Mill Valley small craft harbors bring about increased use of the area by larger boats, Doan noted.

The study of the anchorage designation was initiated, Doan said, after Coast Guard personnel noted that houseboats tied up at Waldo Point do not use lights or sound signals.

State Study Asked In Bad Check Case

Lee Allen Miller, 32, of San Rafael, convicted for forgery and possession of a fraudulent check in San Rafael in April, was ordered to the state Medical Facility at Vacaville for 90 days yesterday for a Department of Corrections recommendation.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court made the order to get a Department of Corrections recommendation on whether Miller should be sentenced to prison or to jail for the offenses.

Harbor Board Candidate Talks

Mrs. Walter P. Stewart, the only woman candidate for the Bolinas Harbor District board, spoke to supporters Saturday at a coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Bolinas.

"We have no say at all on what the harbor district taxes are," she told the group. She claimed that when the harbor district was set up, "they expected a minimum rate. Since then the tax rate has risen and there is every indication the tax rate will be higher," she said.

She also criticized the district for having its books audited by an outside auditor instead of by the county as usual. "It will be an extra burden on the taxpayers," she said.

Tire Taken

Collision On 101 Injures Doctor

Dr. Albertine R. Nash, 76, of 295 Diviso Road, Tiburon, suffered minor injuries yesterday when his car collided with another auto on Highway 101, struck the center guard rail and bounced back across the freeway into some bushes, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Nash said he would see a doctor for treatment of his injuries, the highway patrol said.

The accident happened at 2:20 p.m. in the southbound lanes just north of the Alto Wye. Nash was cited for making an unsafe lane change, the highway patrol said.

The driver of the other car, Stephanie Alioto Suacci, 41, of San Francisco, was uninjured.

Finally.

Now you can do what you never did before in a Volkswagen:

Nothing.

Yup. We've gone and put a fully-automatic transmission in a Volkswagen.

In fact, we put it in two Volkswagens (as an option). The Fastback. And Squareback.

So now you can drive anywhere in a Volkswagen without having to shift for yourself.

Just put the lever in 3. (What everyone else calls DRIVE.) And drive. Like you would any regular car.

Except with our automatic, you'll have to do one thing you don't do with someone else's automatic:

Stay away from gas stations more often.

Or 15.

But 25 miles.

So now you can do what you always did before in a Volkswagen:

Save money. Automatically.

Arnheiter Loses In Navy Suit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter of San Rafael lost his bid yesterday to force the Navy to open a formal board of inquiry into circumstances surrounding his removal from command of a destroyer escort.

U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert ruled in favor of the Navy, which argued civil courts had no jurisdiction in the case.

Arnheiter was removed from command of the USS Vance in 1966 on a finding of a "gross lack of judgment and inability to command and lead people." The Navy said the opinion was reached after an investigation by a single officer under the Navy Bureau personnel manual.

Arnheiter's attorney, Marvin Lewis, argued that the Military Justice Act under which Arnheiter was relieved was unconstitutional because it denied him a court-martial.

Arnheiter, 42, now stationed at Treasure Island, contended he was undermined by mutinous junior officers, who resented his efforts to shape up a "loosely run, cockroach infested" ship.

He filed suit to force Navy Secretary Paul R. Ignatius to convene a formal board of inquiry into his removal.

The case had repercussions in Congress. In May, Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., conducted a hearing into Arnheiter's dismissal and called for the resignation of Ignatius.

Lewis was unaware of Sweigert's ruling when reached today and said he would confer with Arnheiter on whether to appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court.

EUGENIA CONNELL
Long service honored

Supervisors Laud Veteran Employee

Eugenia Connell, who will have served 30 years with the county welfare department on Sunday, received a surprise commendation from the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning.

Supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen presented Miss Connell with a certificate of appreciation for her long and faithful service.

"If we were a private corporation, you'd be getting a platinum watch," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

Miss Connell, a clerk in the Department of Public Social Services, joined the department, then called the welfare department, on Oct. 20, 1938.

Her father, Eugene Connell, was former county auditor.

Miss Connell's colleagues prepared a surprise party for her this afternoon in Room 400 of the Civic Center. Mrs. Lucille Dare, senior medical clerk in the department, and her assistant, Sharon Burge, were in charge of the party.

NO BULLDOZERS, YET

Wary Houseboat Owners On Alert

Houseboat tenants braced themselves again this morning at the entrance to Arques Boat Harbor near Waldo Point for a bulldozer attack by the county.

But like yesterday, the bulldozers weren't scheduled to drop in.

Seven beaded and bearded tenants and four dogs milled near the boatyard entrance in what was viewed as a continuing splinter contest.

Dean M. Jennings, wine company publicist and public relations representative for the Marin Houseboat Association, called the protesters "a splinter group, a small percentage of the houseboat community."

"The members of the association, which represents 80 per cent of the houseboat owners in Richardson Bay, have applied for occupancy permits required by the county and are proceeding to comply with them, he said.

Jennings, who owns a houseboat berthed at Arques Boat Harbor, said his group would meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City to bring members up to date on county requirements.

Outside the harbor today, gardener Piro Caro, who organized the protest, said, "We are letting the county inspectors in, but not the bulldozers."

"The county wants to make it unprofitable and impossible for Arques to operate this area unless he builds it to conform to the modern suburban pattern.

"I've lived here 18 years. Another man has been here 40 years. This is our home and we want to stay."

On a tree at the entrance was a small orange bulletin board with a posted notice signed by Caro. It announced that $500 had been collected from tenants and given to attorney Carl B. Shapiro of San Anselmo to defend anyone prosecuted for refusing to apply for an occupancy permit.

The county has slapped about 50 houseboats at Arques' with orders to remove or demolish within a period ending for most about Friday.

A county suit charges that Arques has structures occupying underwater public streets and asks that Arques be ordered to remove them.

And last Tuesday the board of supervisors approved spending upto $15,000 to clean up debris on public rights of way. All this has greatly alarmed the houseboat tenants.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost has said his department wants to give the people time to comply with the orders before the county obtains court orders and moves in. He said no action would be taken for a week or so.

New farm adviser

Brittsan Is Promoted To Farm Post

Donald L. Brittsan, 35, 4-H farm adviser in Marin since 1959, will become the county farm adviser on Nov. 4, succeeding Winston L. Engvall, who will move to a new job in Kern County.

The transfer of Engvall and the appointment of Brittsan were announced today by Dr. George B. Alcorn, statewide director of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Brittsan, who has guided a two-county 4-H club program in Sonoma as well as in Marin, will continue his 4-H work in Marin as county director. His new assignment will also include public affairs, dairy, beef, and range farm adviser work in Marin.

Brittsan was born in Stockton and grew up on a farm there. He received his bachelor of science degree in agricultural education at the University of California at Davis. Later, in 1967, on sabbatical leave from the university, he won his master of science degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Brittsan spent two years in the U.S. Army as a lieutenant in the artillery before joining the farm adviser's office in San Rafael.

Engvall has been livestock farm advisor in Marin since 1954. A native of Kingsburg, Fresno County, he attended University of California both at Davis and Berkeley, winning his bachelor of science degree in 1944 at Berkeley.

He said he did not pick Kern County in particular, but did ask the university for a full time livestock job instead of administrative work.

Kentfield-Ross School Merger Talk Slated

The possibility of merging the Kentfield and Ross school districts will be explored informally at a meeting of the two district boards at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 in the library of the Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield.

Members of the Ross board agreed to the session at their meeting last night, Supt. Robert D. Gowan reported.

The merger plan was to have been discussed last summer but was postponed due to the death of Kentfield trustee Donald C. Elsener.

Advantages which have been mentioned include a wider tax base and a larger number of junior high age students, making a broader curriculum possible.

No action is expected at the meeting.

The Ross School District Board Also:

PROPOSITION 9 — Agreed to oppose the Watson Amendment, Proposition 9 on the Nov. 5 ballot. The amendment was discussed at an earlier meeting, but no action was taken.

DELEGATE — Voted to support Mrs. Dorothy Brown, president of the Dixie School District, as a representative to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

TEACHERS — Recognized the Ross School District Teachers Association as the representative group of the faculty, Gowan said.

CANDIDATE — Supported the Reed School District board's nomination of David D. Ring of Tiburon to replace Dr. John C. Siemans on the Tamalpais Union High School District board. Dr. Siemans resigned recently after a heart attack.

PERSONNEL — Agreed to hire four Dominican College seniors as noontime supervisors at $2 per hour and one College of Marin student as an afternoon recreation supervisor, also at $2 per hour.

AIDES — Approved seven College of Marin student aides in physical education and recreation. The work is in conjunction with college classes and the students will not be paid.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Mrs. Ramona Zulch reported about 500 students from 287 families participated in the Parent-Teachers Association summer school and that the association would sponsor a similar program next year.

Tiburon Allows Smaller Lots In Acre Zone

A variance allowing two undersized lots at 312 Hacienda Drive was approved last night by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments, Development Administrator Phil V. Scott reported.

The board also directed the applicant, David N. Sederquist to apply for a lot split in addition to the variance, Scott said.

The variance will allow two parcels of 21,678 and 22,656 square feet to be created in a zone which requires a 40,000 square-foot minimum lot size.

The board also approved a use permit for a temporary subdivision sales office, requested by Triangle Builders, to be located at 184 Stuart Drive if adjacent property owners are agreeable.

'SNIFFING'

A Whipped Cream Can Episode

A whipped cream "sniffing" episode at a San Rafel market at 3 a.m. today led to the arrest on suspicion of malicious mischief of an 18-year-old Corte Madera youth.

Michael B. Hall of 1 Golden Hind Passage, accompanied by three other youths, was observed squirting spray cans of whipped cream into his mouth by an employee of the Mayfair Market, according to police. Police said that a gaseous mixture exudes from the can before the whipped cream comes out.

Hall was placed under citizen's arrest by a store employee, Raymond W. Watson of 1611 Mission Street, who told police that the store's entire display of whipped cream was a mess and he would have to throw away all of the cans.

Although Hall's companions, ages 18, 19 and 20, later stopped by police, also had whipped cream on their shirts, they were not arrested.

Hall met bail of $31 at Marin County Jail and is to appear in Marin Municipal Court on Thursday.

22 Applications For Librarian

The Sausalito Library board last night heard that 22 applications for librarian had been received, reported board member Anita Koenig.

The board will review the applications with City Mgr. George M. Patterson next week.

It was announced that librarian Kay Berteau, who had resigned because her husband had accepted a position in Switzerland, will be leaving Nov. 8.

Mrs. Jan Gartner, administrative assistant at the library, was named to replace her until a new librarian is chosen.

The next meeting is set for Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Cleanup Results Please Novato

More than 1,000 cubic yards of trash were collected in the past two weekends during Novato's cleanup campaign, according to the reports last night at the city beautification committee's meeting, said William Bode, assistant city engineer.

The committee was so pleased with the results of the campaign, that it plans on having another cleanup next April, Bode reported.

LSD Charges Dismissed

Charges against three San Rafael youths for selling and possessing LSD were dismissed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney reported that the alleged purchaser cannot be located.

Freed of the charges were Michael John Hollomon, 19; Randolph William McCarley, 18, and Robert Michael Belton, 18.

The sale was said to have occurred July 30 at McCarley's home at 119 Nova Albion Way.

Trails Plan Due

The first public presentation of the trails plan for the Tiburon Peninsula will be made to the parks and recreation commission at 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall by Marin County senior planner Walter S. Horchler, project consultant.

Tomales Board To Help Draw Up New Guide

The Tomales Elementary School District board has been selected as one of 100 school boards in the state to be asked by the California School Boards Association for guidance on new legislation.

District Supt. Ralph E. Nixon said the board would meet in special session at 8 p.m. Monday to answer a 10-page questionnaire from the association.

The Tomales Elementary School District board also:

LEASE — Signed a lease with the Shoreline Unified School District for use of one classroom for the new Shoreline District's office from Jan. 1 to June 30 for $100 per month. The Shoreline district will redecorate the room and supply its own furniture, Nixon said.

WALL — Tabled a bid from Richard Lieb of Petaluma for $4,061 for knocking out a wall between two classrooms in one of the permanent buildings to create a multiuse room which could also be used for team teaching. This was the only bid and the board had estimated the cost at about $2,000, according to Nixon.

One-Car Accident Injures Motorist

Robert Henry Czyz, 34, of 130 El Capitan Drive, San Rafael, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a back injury and scalp cut suffered in accident on Highway 101 near Terra Linda Sunday night.

The California Highway Patrol said Czyz's car skidded across three northbound lanes of traffic at 11:30 p.m. and went down a shallow bank half a mile south of the Terra Linda interchange.

Term In Jail For Burglary

Roman Dwight Brown, 19, of Sausalito, was sentenced to five months in jail and placed on a year of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for burgling a Mill Valley home July 8.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the second degree burglary offense to be a misdemeanor and gave the youth credit for two months he has already served in jail.

Brown, who had narcotics equipment in his possession when arrested, was ordered to seek vocational counseling from the county. Judge Haley suggested he cut his shoulder length hair before applying for a job.

Guilty Plea In Marijuana Sale

William R. Schraps, 24, of Mill Valley, whom narcotics agents claim was a large dealer in marijuana, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to three counts of selling the weed.

An additional charge of selling LSD was dismissed at the request of the district attorney.

Schraps, who sold his marijuana in the San Geronimo Valley, was arrested during last February's narcotics roundup which netted more than 60 suspects.

His case was continued to Nov. 18 for sentencing.

Amended Project 17 Pact Finally Signed

After weeks of haggling, the Mill Valley City Council last night signed the amended agreement for the development of Project 17 as a joint middle school-city park site. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 1.)

In approving the amendment, which clearly outlines development responsibilities of both the city and the school district, the council also authorized the transfer of 18.5 acres of city-owned Project 17 land to the school district in exchange for 11 acres of school land adjacent to Enchanted Knolls.

The agreement was signed after some scrutiny by Councilman Rodric L. Robinson, acting mayor during the absence of both Mayor Dean N. Meyer and Vice Mayor George Wickham. Robinson, the strongest critic of the school district during the past few weeks, quipped that it was not mere coincidence that left him the one to finally sign the agreement.

"It seems pretty strange to me that those two are suddenly out of town leaving us with the decision of to sign or not to sign," Robinson said.

The amendment and transfer agreements have already been signed by the school board.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

BIDS — Approved a low bid by Maggiora and Ghilotti of San Rafael of $5,470 for construction of a bulkhead at 128 Ralston Avenue and a low bid by Carcano and Velcich Associates of San Rafael of $4,315 for construction of a bulkhead at 146 Ethel Avenue.

REZONING — Rezoned the old library site on Lovell Avenue from open area to multiple residential with a density of 1,500 square feet per dwelling unit.

NUISANCE — Ordered a house at 329 Vista Linda Avenue either torn down or repaired and authorized Maggiora and Ghilotto of San Rafael to undertake the job, estimated to cost $2,385, after Oct. 29 if the property owner had not acted.

DEEDS — Accepted deeds from McTaggart and Reed for property used by the city in the East Blithedale widening project.

SEWERS — Accepted the completed work on the Camino Alto trunk sewer and the Enchanted Knolls force main.

AUDIT — Postponed consideration of the annual audit to Nov. 4 to allow time for review.

REPAIR — Authorized advertisement of bids for the repair of drainage on East Miller Avenue adjacent to the Tamalpais High School football field.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Nov. 4 in city hall.

THE POLITICAL SCENE

Nixon Attacks Foe On Law And Order

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The final two weeks of the presidential campaign opened today with the candidates bearing down on the law and order issue.

In Cincinnati, GOP hopeful Richard M. Nixon stepped up the pace yesterday with a direct attack on Democratic opponent Hubert H. Humphrey.

The Vice President, Nixon said, gave "aid and comfort to rioters and looters" two years ago in saying he could himself "'lead a mighty good revolt'" if he lived in slum conditions.

"A vote for Hubert Humphrey is a vote to continue a lackadaisical, do-nothing attitude toward the crime crisis in America," Nixon said.

"It is a vote for policies that have left us with a crime rate that will redouble crime in America by the end of 1972."

Today Nixon was on a nine-stop train tour of Ohio, declaring his well-wishers had given him a sendoff that would take him straight to the White House.

Humphrey, campaigning in a neighborhood of Hassidic Jews in Brooklyn, told a street crowd yesterday that "If I am president, I will do everything within the power of that office to obtain the law and order that this community deserves."

Crime had so alarmed the community where Humphrey spoke that its leaders formed their own police patrols.

Humphrey flew to Texas today to woo voters. At Fort Worth he welcomed Gov. John Connally to his campaign and predicted he would win the state in November. Tomorrow Humphrey begins a three-day tour of California.

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace threw away a prepared speech on farm problems when scuffling broke out at a Moline, Ill., rally last night, and instead gave an emphatic reading of his customary speech on law and order.

He drew a cheer from some 7,000 screaming partisans in the Wharton Field House when he repeated a favorite line that asserts any anarchists who lays down in front of his car when he is president will not want to do it again.

"I'm going to come back to Moline when I'm president and you can just try me," he told hecklers in the crowd.

One demonstrator was slugged by a Wallace partisan inside the field house and a woman in the audience was hurt when demonstrators outside threw rocks through the windows. A state trooper suffered a broken rib when hit by a brick hurled by a demonstrator.

Today Wallace campaigned in Oshkosh and Racine, Wis.

Other developments:

Spiro T. Agnew—Nixon's running-mate hammered at Humphrey and law and order in Texas appearances yesterday. Addressing a rally at Corpus Christi, he said Humphrey "is too dangerous for us at the present time, because he stands ready to tolerate disruption of our laws."

Edmund S. Muskie—Campaigning in Boston, the Democratic vice presidential candidate said the country must be prepared to invest resources released when the Vietnam War ends in such fields as education, housing and public safety.

"We had an opportunity to do all these things in the 1950s after the Korean conflict," Muskie said, "but Mr. Nixon's administration missed the boat and we are suffering for it today."

Curtis E. LeMay—Wallace's ticket-mate told a Washington news conference he found Communist forces are taking advantage of American bombing limitations to pour war supplies into South Vietnam at an unprecedented rate.

He said he learned on his just completed four-day tour of South Vietnam that "the vital facilities destroyed by our previous (air) attacks have been repaired, replaced and in many instances, enlarged."

Polls—Polltaker Louis Harris reported Muskie is the voter's choice for vice president over Agnew by a margin of 41 to 24 per cent, with LeMay getting 14 per cent and 21 per cent undecided. The sampling was made Oct. 8-10.

The Harris result showed Humphrey trailing Nixon 40 to 35 per cent with Wallace getting 18 per cent and 7 per cent undecided.

This contrasted with a copyrighted Gallup Poll published in the Washington Post today. This 6 per cent undecided.

The Gallup interviews, conducted Oct. 3-12, showed Nixon down 1 percentage point since Sept. 27-30, and Humphrey up 2 percentage points. Wallace was unchanged.

Eugene McCarthy — The Minnesota senator, speaking in his home state city of Bloomington, last night urged "thoughtful consideration of the presidential election Nov. 5," but gave no indication of whom he preferred.

"You don't need my advice," the senator said in a brief reference to the presidential election. He urged, however, support for liberal candidates for Congress.

Two Life-Term Prisoners Escape, Using Soap 'Gun'

VISALIA (AP)—Two life-term prisoners, using an imitation gun fashioned out of a bar of soap, made a daring and successful bid for freedom from the Tulare County Jail in Visalia last night.

A search was pressed for Lewis Donald Fritz, 36, and George Harp, 34, who were being held in the Visalia jail after their arrest by a federal marshal for a previous escape. Trial on the escape charge was scheduled to get under way today in U.S. District Court in Fresno.

Sheriff's deputies said the two men were being taken from their maximum security cells to a security room to confer with their attorney, Phillip Bianco.

The two men pulled their soap gun after conferring with Bianco for about a half hour. They forced him to call jailers on the intercom system and advise them the conference was over. When the two jailers arrived they were forced against a wall and ordered to call the duty sergeant.

The duty sergeant, Monte Carpenter, arrived and was overpowered and disarmed. He was then forced to call the main desk and order the electric door to the outside opened.

Fritz and Harp, wearing blue jail denims and barefoot, then fled.

The first escape charge against the two was filed after they overpowered a marshal near Merced while being transported from Folsom to Los Angeles. They drove the marshal's car to Los Angeles where they were arrested several days later.

Brothers Face Trial On Marijuana Counts

Michael Moore Shields, 20, of Greenbrae, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a charge that he possessed marijuana June 28 in Mill Valley.

His brother, Edward Moore Shields, 21, denied that he possessed a device for smoking marijuana at the same time and jury trial for the two was set for March 31 in Superior Court.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Gastrointestinal Bleeding Easy To Discover, Hard To Locate

VAN DELLEN

Bleeding from the gastrointestinal tract is easily recognized, but it is difficult to pinpoint the source. After all, the alimentary canal is 29 feet long and blood is oozing from a small vessel somewhere along the tract.

Opening the abdomen is of little value, because the hemorrhage takes place within the lumen of the stomach or intestine.

EVEN WHEN the bleeding stops spontaneously, X-rays are taken to determine the cause. But now and then it continues and, unless stopped, life is threatened. Transfusions keep the victim alive, but it is imperative to find the source.

Two new diagnostic methods have proved successful. One involves the injection of radiopaque dye into the main artery of the digestive tube. X-rays are taken simultaneously to visualize the arterial tree.

The bleeding site is detected when some of the dye escapes into the lumen of the stomach or intestine. The surgeon opens the alimentary tract at this point and ties off the bleeding vessel.

THE SECOND test utilizes red cells containing radioactive chromium. Tagged cells are injected into the bloodstream and the gastric contents are analyzed one hour later. The amount of radioactivity in the solution determines whether hemorrhaging is from the stomach or small intestine. The method is less accurate when bleeding is lower in the intestines.

Peptic ulcer is the most common cause of hemorrhage, and physicians usually make this diagnosis unless there is a history of other bleeding disorders. The initial manifestations are vomiting blood and the passage of tarry stools.

IN MILD or moderate bleeding, episodes of weakness and sweating occur. Severe blood loss leads to faintness, dizziness, thirst, shortness of breath, and collapse. These individuals should be hospitalized where repeated blood counts can be made and transfusions are available.

MANY CYSTS

G. E. writes: What are polycystic ovaries?

REPLY

Poly means many, and cystic refers to cysts. This condition may or may not cause symptoms.

PEMPHIGUS IS SERIOUS

A. I. writes: What type of disease is pemphigus? Is it "curtains" for the person who contracts it?

REPLY

Pemphigus is a serious disorder and should not be neglected. This chronic skin disease is characterized by oval or round water blisters. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this malady.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

A reader writes: Is high blood pressure the result of having too much blood?

REPLY

No. The common cause of hypertension is generalized spasm of the arteries leading to resistence to the free flow of blood. Tension increases because more pressure is required to force blood through these narrowed passageways.

MEAT TWICE DAILY

A reader writes: "I have a wonderful appetite and have meat for breakfast and dinner. My children think that at 65, I should eat meat only once a day. Please advise.

REPLY

All adults, regardless of age, need proteins. If your budget can take it, eat meat twice a day.

SUCKLING AND CANCER

Mrs. E. writes: Are women who nurse their children more susceptible to breast cancer than non-nursers and maiden ladies?

REPLY

No. Statistics show that mothers who have nursed their children are less susceptible.

Today's Health Hint—Bathing too often removes the protective oils.

EXERCISE AND PRESSURE

W. P. writes: Would taking a job as a manual worker raise low blood pressure?

REPLY

Yes, especially if you have a run-in with the union or the plant supervisor. What makes you think you will feel better if your blood pressure rises?

DISTANCE GLASSES

C. L. writes: I need distance glasses because I am nearsighted. I would like to wear sunglasses and want to know if I could have the correction incorporated into them.

REPLY

Yes, if you can afford two pairs of glasses.

Court-Martial Looms For Wearing Uniform

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 25-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base reservist faces a military court-martial because he wore his uniform to an Oct. 12 peace march here, his attorney announced yesterday.

Airman 1/C Michael Locks of San Anselmo, who was one of the leaders of the GIs and Veterans Peace March, has been charged with disobeying an order adopted by the Air Force a few days before the march forbidding Air Force personnel to wear uniforms to such events.

Richard J. Wertheimer of San Francisco, Locks' attorney, said that the reservist could be sentenced to a maximum of two years in prison.

At a press conference here in Wertheimer's office yesterday, Locks said that he knew of the regulation before the march but that he wore his uniform "to represent the people fighting for peace."

Locks, who is originally from San Jose and was called to active duty after the Pueblo crisis, has been outspoken for several months about his anti-war feelings.

Earlier he was turned down on his request to be sent to Vietnam as a medical corpsman and then he asked for dismissal from the service because he is a conscientious objector. Ruling on this request has not been made yet by the Air Force.

"We feel that charging Locks under this new regulation brings up a serious constitutional question and that his freedom of speech has been abridged," Wertheimer said. He added he intends to use the constitutional question in his defense of the airman.

Locks, who is confined to the base but not incarcerated, he said, is also being represented by two Air Force attorneys, Capt. Hunt Brasfield of Hamilton and Maj. William Wiran of Oxnard Air Force Base.

Locks was asked yesterday why neither of the other two Hamilton men who planned the peace march, Lt. Hugh Smith and Airman 1/c John R. Bright, wore their uniforms to the march.

He explained that the group planning the march "didn't want all the leadership to go to jail or face courts martial".

Apparently the only other person facing a similar charge is Lt. (jg) Susan Schnall, a 25-year-old Navy nurse from Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

Appearing with Locks yesterday at the press conference, the dark-eyed, pony-tailed Stanford nurse said that when she joined the Navy (which paid for part of her nurses' training), she didn't realize she would be so much a part of the military.

Although Locks said he thought "there were times" when war might be necessary, Lieutenant Schnall said she is "completely opposed to violence and war."

The Navy nurse has not only been charged with disobeying the order concerning wearing uniforms to peace demonstrations but also with "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman (lady)" for her part in flights over Bay Area Naval bases, dropping leaflets advertising the march.

Both Locks and Lieutenant Schnall are expected to have pretrial hearings which will determine whether they are to be court-martialed soon, according to Wertheimer, who will defend both of them.

Equipment Stolen At Construction Site

Theft of equipment valued at $1,439 from houses under construction by the Perma Bilt Construction Co. at Peacock Gap Crest was reported to police yesterday.

Taken from the site during the weekend were a range top, two garbage disposals, four electrical boxes, electrical wire and outlets.

More than 100 varieties of plants provide food or cove for animals in Wyoming's Red Desert.

(General)
No. 30445

vs.
CHARLES TEAGUE CLAY, Defendant

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named Defendant:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

TELEVISION REVIEW

An Exciting Hour: Hemingway's Spain

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the most beautiful television programs of this or any other year, "Hemingway's Spain: A Love Affair," was presented on ABC-TV last night.

The one-hour documentary form was given an added dimension as the broadcast, combining the words of Ernest Hemingway with scenes of the Spain he wrote about, gave new life to sequences from his books.

The books drawn upon were "The Sun Also Rises," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "Death in the Afternoon" and "The Dangerous Summer."

To ensure proper handling of the Hemingway words and mood, producer-writer Lester Cooper employed Rod Steiger, Jason Robarts and Estelle Parsons as readers. His choice was ideal.

Miss Parsons had the briefest part. Robards was the rather straightforward storyteller. It fell, therefore, to Steiger, as the Hemingway reader, to breathe the fullest life into the written passages, and this he did with a brilliant off-camera performance. His range, passion and insight were experiences in themselves.

For Cooper and his director, Walker Stuart, the hour was most obviously a work of love. And their achievement should give them a sense of fulfillment and contentment for a long time to come.

In addition to the Hemingway words, they were aided generously by some of the loveliest and most dramatic film footage ever to grace a television screen.

The scenes of the Spanish countryside, and of the cities, were utterly breathtaking, as presented in unison with the Hemingway prose.

And there were the bullfight scenes, like no bullfight scenes in the networks' past. There was a prominent sequence featuring the matador Antonio Ordonez, one of Hemingway's favorites.

There also was the fiesta at Pamplona, and the running of the bulls there, and both of these happenings were captured in all their drama and madness.

Two Drunken Drivers Sentenced, Fined

Vivien Neill Dean, 63, of 133 Willow Avenue, San Rafael, was sentenced to five days in jail, fined $289 and placed on two years of probation in Marin Municipal Court Friday for drunken driving April 18 on Willow Avenue in Fairfax.

James Oglesby Van Dyne, 50, of 50 Wood Street, San Rafael, was fined $75 and placed on six months of probation for the same offense March 23 on private property in San Rafael.

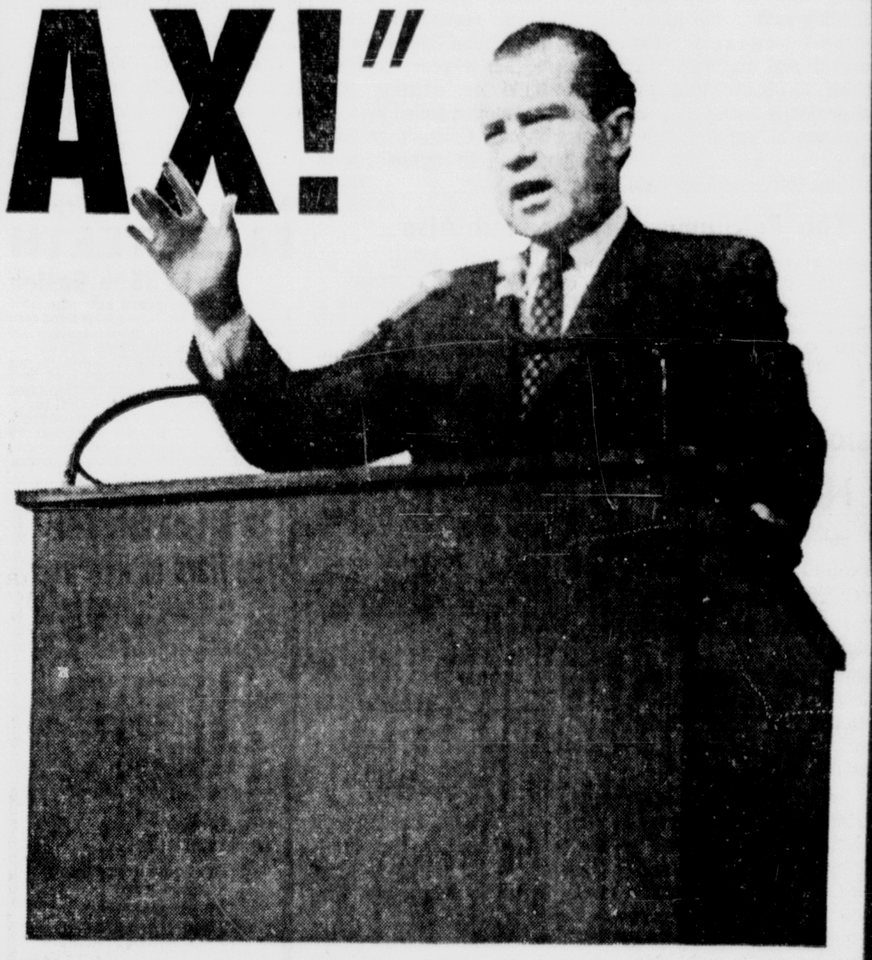
"I NEED MAX!"



Dick Nixon says...

"As I have travelled throughout the country, I have found that everywhere I go—whether it be in the North, in the East, the South or in the West, the American people are going to vote for new leadership overwhelmingly on November 5.

"The American people want a program that will bring peace abroad and peace to our cities at home, and put this nation on a new road to progress. They want progress without inflation that will bring us prosperity without war.

"I am pledged to provide that leadership, but I will be unable to do the job that needs to be done unless I have the support in the congress of men who will support my programs and not vote against them.

"Dr. Max Rafferty is one of the men I'm counting on in the United States Senate. He will stand for the programs that will bring peace abroad ...re-establish peace at home and put this nation on a new road to progress.

"I urge you to vote for Max Rafferty for U. S. Senator on November 5."

Petaluma Votes Pact On Boat Launch Ramp

The Petaluma City Council last night approved an agreement with the California Department of Harbors and Watercraft for a launching ramp on the Petaluma River in the Lakeville Highway area.

A grant of $136,000 from the state for construction and operation of the small boat launching area has been approved.

Looking to the day when the area will be an additional recreational facility for the city, the council also gave consideration to a new access road. The plan winning favor is a two-lane road from Lakeville Highway to Petroleum Road to the launch area. Estimated to cost $27,300 not including rights-of-way that will be necessary, City Engineer David A. Young said this plan would be the least costly.

He also noted that the road would be closer to the city and access to Highway 101 and would avoid close contact with the tallow works. The only alternate road considered was from Casa Grande Avenue through city-owned land that was once a dump to the river.

Lodging a protest before the council and charging unfair treatment was George Shelling of Novato, real estate representative for the Gulf Oil Co.

He said the city has been forcing the firm to delay repairs of its Keller Street and Western Avenue station pending completion of the core area plan to revitalize the business district.

Saying he had been negotiating with the city since 1966, Shelling said in the meantime the station had deteriorated and business was falling off so badly that the present dealer is losing at least 10,000 gallons of gasoline sales amonth.

"We'd like to remodel and add a third bay, but the planning commission has refused a permit pending a decision on the core area plan," he said.

Councilmen serving on the core plan committee admitted it may be several months before an actual plan is even presented to council for approval. Vice Mayor Kenneth Colin said the committee is in the midst of tabulating questionnaires sent to property owners to gather opinions.

Shelling insisted, "we're entitled to an answer — we've been waiting since 1966. I've never had anything but trouble from this city."

On a motion by Colin, the council returned the matter to the planning commission with the recommendation that plans for a renovated station be approved at tonight's meeting if possible.

Shelling also requested faster action on the realignment of East Washington Street where the company would like to build a station at Wilson Street. He noted he had been granted a use permit for the land which will expire in one year.

Assuring him there could be no quick answers to where the new street line will go, the council said a study would take five months followed by public hearings.

When Shelling complained this delay would harm his company's transaction on the land, Mayor Helen Putnam said, "We must consider the whole thoroughfare and many more property owners than just Gulf Oil Co."

Councilman Phillip Joerger initiated a resolution which stated if new plan lines were not drawn within a year, Gulf Oil could build on existing plan lines. This motion failed by a 4-2 vote with only Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. agreeing with Joerger.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

POLICE CARS — Awarded a contract for purchase of four police cars to Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth, who entered a low bid of $7,761.

LIQUID CHLORINE — Ordered liquid chlorine for use in the water treatment plant and swimming pool to Geogia Pacific at a low bid of $4,200.

Session Reset For Next Week

The police-community relations committee of the Human Rights Commission will not meet tomorrow night as originally scheduled.

Chairman Bella Aaron said the meeting was postponed a week, to 8 p.m. Oct. 30 in Room 426 of the Civic Center because of a possible conflict in dates.

Mrs. Aaron is also chairman of the Marin County Personnel Commission, which will hear an appeal by fired Deputy Sheriff Weldon C. Travis tonight. If the deputy's hearing is not completed tonight, it may have to be continued tomorrow night, Mrs. Aaron explained.

San Anselmo Home Stereo Set Stolen

Theft of a $550 stereophonic set at the home of Russell G. Cone Jr. of 349 Redwood Road was reported today by San Anselmo police.

Officers said a burglar entered the home yesterday through an open front door.

Hub Planners Approve Gas Station Plan

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night unanimously granted a use permit to the Union Oil Co. of California to construct and operate a service station at 930 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The action, with Commissioners Dennis T. Moore and Joseph Gue absent, followed a public hearing. Dr. Ralph Fortune, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo, protested in a letter that the station would create a traffic hazard for the church and for Isabel Cook School.

The commission said that the oil company must erect a safety barrier on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of a protruding Isabel Cook School sidewalk, and that if a driveway along the west side of the station proves to be a hazard on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, it will be eliminated.

The commission also approved an 8.5-foot variance request by Charles F. Herndon to construct a carport at 299 Brookside Drive, and a request by Robert and Michiko Nutt for a lot split at 39 Yolanda Drive.

Truck Rifled

A San Anselmo man, who spent last night in Marin County Jail under the work furlough plan, discovered when he left to go to work today that his pickup truck had been rifled of radio and stereophonic equipment valued at about $475. Also taken, according to Billy Jay Baldwin of 101 Berkeley Avenue, was his jacket.

Dom Pedro, emperor of Brazil in the 1880s, was the last emperor on American soil.

Library Merger Eyed By Petaluma Chamber

Problems of the Petaluma library and a possible merger with the Sonoma County library system were considered yesterday by Petaluma Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting at the Lamplighter Smorgette.

Kenneth M. Wightman, chairman of the library board, said a new building is necessary and that it might be easier to build with county affiliation. He noted bond issues to build a new library have failed the past several years in Petaluma.

Wightman said if the library is merged, he would like to see a 10-member county board of trustees established to represent the entire county. He noted that Santa Rosa now dominates the county library system and that increased local representation on the board would be necessary.

The Petaluma Chamber of Commerce Directors also:

INDUSTRIAL TOUR — Heard chamber manager Ned Davis report that the industrial tour last Friday was a success, with 14 firms represented, including banking, utilities and industries.

SHOPLIFTING — Heard Davis report the antishoplifting campaign is off to a good start, with many other cities interested in adopting a similar plan, according to visiting representatives of chambers in Sausalito, San Rafael, Corte Madera and the Northgate shopping center.

SIGN PLAN — A Chamber committee is continuing study of a plan to add a second sign to the "Welcome to Petaluma" signs on the north and south ends of Highway 101, which would be changed weekly to indicate activities and special events going on in Petaluma.

Cleaver Words Anger Regent

RANCHO SANTA FE, (San Diego County) (AP)—Chairman DeWitt Higgs of the University of California Board of Regents says he'll seek criminal prosecution of Eldridge Cleaver if the Black Panther leader gives another "four-letter-word" speech on a U.C. campus.

In such a speech Oct. 4 on the San Diego campus, Higgs said, Cleaver violated the state penal code by distributing the peace and uttering obscenities.

Cleaver was to speak at the U.C. Santa Barbara campus last night several hours after Higgs spoke to the Rancho Santa Fe Rotary Club. But he canceled the speech.

"The Panthers decided his life was in danger," a student spokesman said of Cleaver, minister of information for the militant Negro group.

Rare Radioactive Cancer Weapon Placed On Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Limited amounts of precious radioactive Californium-252—a potential new weapon against cancer and a possible aid to industry as well—are being placed on sale for the first time, the chairman of the atomic energy commission announced today.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg said the selling price would be $100 for one ten millionth of a gram.

In remarks prepared for a sectional meeting of the American Nuclear Society, he also said 23 thousandths of a gram of the material are being made available on free-of-charge loan to hospitals and other research institutions.

First shipment under the latter program, he said, would be to the M.D. Anderson Hospital for cancer research in Houston, Texas.

He indicated that the nation's present supply of the material is less than a pound—but that only millionths-of-a-gram quantities are required for cancer and other research purposes.

420 Arrested On Drug Charges

A total of 211 adults and 209 juveniles were arrested in Marin on various drug charges during the first six months of the year, according to state Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

Marijuana accounted for the arrests of 155 adults and 171 juveniles, Lunch's report said.

Ten adults were arrested for heroin: 21 for dangerous drugs and 25 for other offenses such as prescription violation and possession of narcotic paraphernalia.

No juveniles were arrested on heroin charges, 21 for dangerous drugs and 17 for other offenses, Lynch said.

Smith, Carlos Make Their Return

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Tommie Smith and John Carlos, two of the world's great sprinters, finished in a dead heat today with newsmen and nobody claimed any medals.

The pair arrived back in the United States yesterday after being shipped home from Mexico City by the United States Olympic Committee for giving the "Black Power" salute while on the victory stand last Wednesday.

The first stop of their controversial exit from Mexico City was Los Angeles on Monday when they arrived via Western Air Lines and raced past newsmen, finally gaining a station wagon after Smith had gone in a wrong direction.

A similar attempt to evade reporters failed after they reached the San Jose airport via United Airlines. They reached a waiting car but had to return to the baggage room and identify their luggage. There they had a brief colloquy with reporters and broadcasters.

"Have you got a flag in your pocket?" Carlos answered one reporter who asked if he would stand for the National Anthem. "I'm not concerned about the National Anthem. It was written for white people."

Smith said he felt that the majority of Mexicans sympathized with their "Black Power" demonstration.

"We have a lot of supporters down there," Smith said.

Smith added he was uncertain about his plans but that he had been drafted by the Los Angeles Rams.

The famed sprinter said he was scheduled to receive his teaching credentials at San Jose State if he remains there. Carlos said he also had returned to San Jose to resume college.

Smith wore a brown sport coat over a blue turtleneck shirt and beads. Carlos was attired in a blue baseball-type of cap, blue shirt and brown slacks.

Bob Seagren, the gold medal winner in the pole vault, arrived about an hour and a half ahead of the sprinters in Los Angeles. Asked about their salute, Seagren said:

"It was kind of cheap of them. If it wasn't for the United States, they wouldn't have been there. I don't think it was very proper. If they don't like the United States, they can always leave."

SOVIET POET PRAISES PROTESTING ATHLETES

Poet Yeveny Yevteushenko published a short poem about the incident, describing Smith and Carlos as "two brave men." "Against the monstrous might of their government, clubs, bombs, destroyers and spit, these two stood and gave thanks in the form of raised fists," Yevtushenko wrote.

Welcome Back, Lefty, Now The Number's Four

YANKEE, COME HOME — Old Yankees never die, they just settle down in Marvelous Marin County.

Recently I mentioned that three Marin residents — Art Schallock, Joe DeMaestri and Charley Wensloff — were World Series alumni, all with the New York Yankees.

Well, one slight omission on my part. I overlooked a guy named Vernon Gomez, better known as Lefty. If you remember Yankee names like Ruth, DiMaggio, Crosetti, Gehrig, Dickey, Lazzeri, Ruffing et al then you are familiar with Lefty Gomez. He was one of the great 'uns and today still holds the record as the winningest unbeaten pitcher in World Series history, a 6-0 mark carved during the 1932, '36, '37 and '38 World Series.

Please forgive my oversight for I was unaware that the great southpaw moved to Fairfax a few months ago.

Does A Lot Of Traveling

"We rented a duplex here to look around before we decide where to build a home," said Mrs. Gomez, the former Broadway actress June O'Dea. "We love it here. But, Lefty hasn't had much time to spend at home in the last few months. He's been to New York five times, plus the World Series and other speaking engagements."

Lefty is a public relations representative for Wilson Sporting Goods and ever in demand as an after-dinner speaker. He travels about 100,000 miles a year to provide 100,000 smiles a year with his witty delivery.

During a chat the other day Lefty mentioned that one of his little known World Series records was tied this year when Dick McAuliffe of Detroit drew two walks in one inning. "I had that record for several years; imagine, a lousy batter like me getting walked twice in one inning," he laughed.

"I think," he said, "that Mickey Lolich (Detroit lefty) deserves a lot of credit. You know, a lot was said about Bob Gibson coming back after only two days' rest, but Lolich did it and won. He showed a lot of guts."

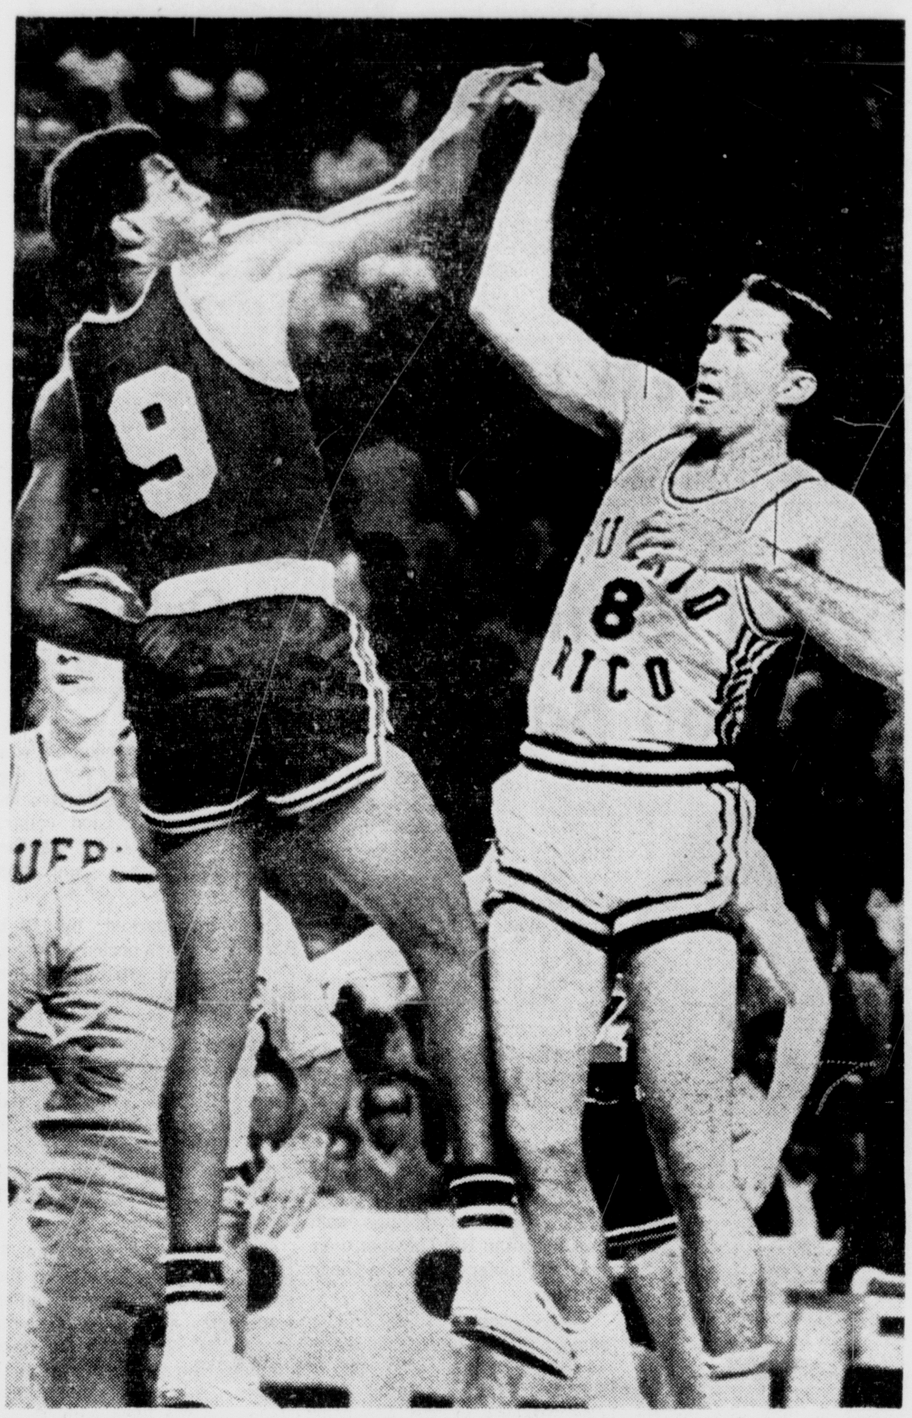
He's Quite A Kidder

Gomez likes to kid himself during speeches. He says: "I made a star out of DiMaggio. He didn't know how to go back on a fly ball until he played in back of me. It's a good thing he was my roommate or I wouldn't have known what he looked like. Out on the field all I saw was his back."

Or the time a lady in the audience asked Gomez if it was true that some of the old Yankee stars drank a quart of liquor a day. "Shucks, ma'am," he dead-panned, "they used to SPILL that much."

Gomez' son, Gary, lives with his wife and child in San Anselmo and ol' Lefty has lived here for three months, but his local ties go way back to the 1920s when he pitched in semi-pro baseball leagues around the Bay Area. In fact, his first taste of national fame came in 1927 when he pitched a no-hit, 22 strikeout game for the old Pt. Reyes town team and lost 1-0. That made Robert Ripley's "Believe-It-Or-Not" column. It's pretty difficult to lose a no-hitter.

Welcome back to Marin, Lefty and June.



BASKETBALL MINUET — Charles Scott (9) of the U.S. and Puerto Rico's Ruben Adorno appear to be doing a minuet during their Olympic battle, won by the U.S.M, 61-56. Tonight the yanks will be going against tough Brazil. (UPI Telephoto)

Aussie Swimmer Surprised

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. basketball team, a pick-up squad spurned by many of the nation's top collegiate stars, faces perhaps its toughest Olympic test tonight against Brazil.

The Americans haven't lost a game since the sport was introduced into the Games in 1932, but Coach Henry Iba is worried —severely so—about his semifinal match.

RESPECT

"If we handle the ball the way we did against Puerto Rico, we will lose," Iba said.

"Brazil is a strong, fast team."

The Yankee team, lacking such stars as Lew Alcindor and Elvin Hayes, just got by Tiny Puerto Rico 61-56 in its last outing and now faces one of the stronger teams in the tournament.

And while Iba was worrying, tall Lynn McClements of Australia found out that America's swimmers are human after all.

"When I came to Mexico, I was very frightened of the American swimmers," said the 17-year-old secretary from Perth. "But when I saw them, I found they were human beings just like myself."

So she promptly broke the American stranglehold on swimming gold medals yesterday, winning the women's 100-meter butterfly in 1:05.5. She was followed, naturally enough, by two Americans who, while human, continue to dominate these 19th Games.

11 MEDALS

The United States picked up 11 more medals, including four golds, and now leads the massive Russian forces by its widest margin so far.

The Americans have a total of 64 medals, 28 of them gold. The Russians have only 39, 13 of them gold. They picked up only two golds yesterday, in team saber and Finn dinghy sailing.

Russia's track and field coach, Gabriel Korobkov, had some words to say about it:

"It is unfair to hold the Games at this altitude," he said

SATURDAY BATTLE

Cal To Face New Kind Of Syracuse

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—They talked about dolls yesterday at the Northern California Football Writers and Broadcasters Luncheon.

"If you were to make a Syracuse doll," said Larry Kimball, sports information director at Syracuse, "it would be big, strong and slow, and when you wound it up it would run and run and run."

But Syracuse has a new breed of football team, as California's Bears will find out this Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

It passes, catches and kicks field goals.

MORE PASSES

"In four games," said Kimball, "Syracuse has thrown more passes than we did during the past seven seasons."

Paul Paolisso, junior quarterback from West Virgina, spearheads the Orange air attack and has thrown 12 times to sophomore end Tony Gabriel of Canada, who has been double-teamed after catching 10 of those in Syracuse's first two games.

Sophomore George Jakowenko, who is 5-foot-9 and weighs 153, has kicked five field goals in eight tries, the longest from 40 yards-and 11 extra points in 13 tries.

Syracuse, whose 3-1 record includes a 20-7 victory over UCLA, downed California 20-14 last year in the first meeting between the two schools.

'AWESOME TASK'

The Bears, 4-1 after dumping UCLA 39-15, face an "Awesome task" in stopping Syracuse, said California coach Ray Willsey.

Willsey praised his defense, wingback Paul Williams and safety Ken Weidemann for making the big plays with a fantastic catch and a pass interception.

Far Western Conference coaches talked about ties and decided they didn't like them.

"A tie is just like a loss," said Les Davis of Hayward State, whose team tied Nevada, 7-7. "I'd just as soon we had played on until someone won, or decided the game on first downs or total yards," he said. His team plays Chico State this weekend.

MISSED TRY

"A tie is like kissing your sister," said Ray Clemons of Sacramento State, whose team lost 14-13 to San Francisco State after missing a two-point conversion try.

"A tie would have been the same as a loss in the conference race," said Clemons. "Besides, we still had five minutes left when we went for the two points."

Cokes Successfully Defends Title Against Argentine

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes isn't completely happy with his successful title defense against Argentina's Ramon La Cruz—and that just about makes it unanimous.

Neither is the challenger, of course, who blames a pulled arm muscle for losing the match, nor are the fans who catcalled and booed the lack of action last night.

"I just wasn't sharp," Cokes explained in his dressing room afterward. "I don't know if I was overtrained or undertrained, but I wasn't sharp."

Whatever it was, the mostly hitless sparring had the crowd stomping on the floor impatiently and the referee, during early rounds, urging the two fighters to mix it up.

The difficulty was the 5-foot-9 Cokes' two-inch advantage in heights and three inches more reach over the stocky South American challenger.

A precision puncher who packs a solid right, Cokes gave a boxing lesson to La Cruz, stinging him repeatedly with long jabs and sudden crosses when the Argentine boxer lunged in to attack.

La Cruz, who weighed a half pound more at 147, ducked, weaved and bobbed so low trying to get under the champion's guard at times that his knees almost touched the canvas. (See picture, page 32.)

Speaking through an interpreter, the challenger from Buenos Aires said if he hadn't hurt his arm in the secod round, "he would be the champion."

La Cruz, who entered the ring with 58 knockouts in his last 105 fights, said he was necer hurt in the bout despite suffering a slight cut over an eyebrow and a split lip.

"El Matador," as the challenger was called by the legion of Spanish shouting compatriots who swarmed ringside waving tiny Argentine flags, said his lip was butted by Cokes.

The champion disagreed.

"I hit him on the lip in the seventh to cause that bleeding. It was then I thought La Cruz started losing maybe some of his steam out of his punches. But it didn't seem to me that La Cruz was a very hard puncher.'

The victory for the 31-year-old champ from Dallas was judged unanimous. Referee Lucien Joubert and judge Maxie Ducosen scored the fight 11-3-1. Judge Pete Giarrusso had it 11-1-3.

The Associated Press card had the fight 9-3-3 in favor of Cokes.

Cokes now has a 55-9-3 record.

Under WBA rules Cokes must defend the title again within six months.

Paid attendance according to promoter Lou Messina, was 5,127 with the gate netting $29,470.

For the champion, the match was worth $20,000, plus television rights. La Cruz got $5,000.

John Unitas Fighting For Quarterback Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Unitas, last season's Most Valuable Player in the National Football League, must prove himself this week to regain a starting role with the Baltimore Colts.

The NFL's all-time passing leader, with 253 touchdown tosses and 2,263 completions, will be scrutinized like a rookie in practice sessions prior to the game with the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams.

"I'll work as hard as I can in practice this week," said Unitas, who is recuperating from a torn muscle in his right elbow, "and then it's up to Shula."

Coach Don Shula faces the agonizing decision of whether to start Unitas or stick with Earl Morrall, the veteran supersub who directed five consecutive victories before Sunday's 30-20 loss to Cleveland.

A decision early in the week would be preferable for better practice planning, but the questionable status of Unitas will force a dlaey.

"With John improving every week," Shula said, "I've got to wait as long as I can before making up my mind."

Unitas, injured in a preseason game, flunked the first extended test of his ailing elbow Sunday and Shula, second-guessing himself, conceded he waited too long to pull Unitas and reinstate Morrall.

Morrall returned in the fourth quarter, after Unitas directed seven series of p plays and pitched his 13th touchdown pass of the season but couldn't prevent Baltimore's first loss.

The setback dropped the Colts one game behind the Rams in the Coastal Division.

Good to your taste.
Good to your purse.

Financial Facts About Giants And Candlestick

Baseball attendance dropped more than 400,000 at Candlestick Park this year. Paid attendance totaled 1,242,480 in 1967. It was 837,220 this year, first time under the million mark since the Giants moved to the Golden Gate in 1958.

What has this meant in revenue loss to the Giants?

Some $600,000. The precise difference between 1967 and 1968 gate income of the Giants won't be known until Horace Stoneham makes his annual report next month to stockholders of National Exhibition Company which owns the Giants. Stoneham is president and chief stockholder of NEC.

AS A RESULT of the drop in attendance, the city of San Francisco had to be content with a minimum Candlestick rental fee this year. Under terms of a 35-year lease, the Giants pay a base rent of $125,000 for Candlestick or 5 per cent of the gate whichever is greater.

This is the first year that the 5 per cent option was not exercised. The city controller settled for the $125,000 minimum.

In 1960, first year of the Giants in Candlestick, the city collected $248, 882.81 in rent—the $125,000 minimum plus $93,882.81 to equal 5 per cent of 1,795,356 paid admissions.

HERE ARE the rent figures for following years: 1961, $168,965.87; 1962, $181,965.83; 1963, $189,681.41; 1964, $183,395.92; 1965, $185,000; 1966, $213,880.34; 1967, $176,440.15 and this year, $125,000.

Holders of Candlestick Park's revenue bonds need not be concerned. It takes a minimum debt service of $325,000 to meet interest and amortization clauses of the $5.5 million bonds each year. The rent, plus parking and miscellaneous fees, will be slightly more than $325,000 this year. In past years the rent, parking and miscellaneous fees have been over $500,000 leaving a tidy surplus in Stadium, Inc., the corporation through which the city legally conducts its Candlestick operations.

THERE IS one bit of business the city conducts directly for itself with the Giants. That is tax business. The Giants thought when they signed the 35-year Candlestick lease that the $125,000 minimum rental or 5 per cent of the gate constituted their complete obligation.

However, in their third year in San Francisco they discovered their Candlestick lease vested them with an intangible property right which San Francisco's tax assessor described as "a possessory interest."

SO VALUABLE was this 'possessory interest" the assessor placed a $117,487.03 tax assessment on it in 1960. Its value has depreciated slightly since 1960 but not appreciably. The Giants' 'possessory interest" tax averages $100,000 a year. It was $100,039.36 this year.

But Stoneham still is going to be able to make a favorable report to stockholders next month nothwithstanding the sharp drop in 1968 baseball attendance at Candlestick. National Exhibition Company's cut from the $10 million entrance fees of Montreal and San Diego to the National League will be $2 million. Stockholders like to hear that kind of news.

Elston Howard Retires; Dodgers Sell Bob Bailey

COMBINED AP & UPI

Elston Howard, who played on 10 championship clubs in 14 seasons in the American League, was set to rejoin the New York Yankees as a coach today after formally announcing his retirement as a player in one of several major league developments.

"As of today, I've retired," the veteran catcher told a hurriedly called news conference in the offices of the Boston Red Sox yesterday. "There's no chance I'll change my mind."

A few hours later the Yankees called a news conference for today. No reason was given, but it appeared an open secret that Howard would be named coach, replacing the recently retired Frank Crosetti on Manager Ralph Houk's staff.

Howard, the league's most valuable player with the Yankees in 1963, was the first Negro to wear a Yankee uniform. He was dealt to Boston in August of 1967, just in time to help the Red Sox in a dramatic surge to their first pennant in 21 years.

ELSTON HOWARD
To be a coach

In other major league deals yesterday:

The Los Angeles Dodgers sold infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey to the new Montreal Expos and obtained relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for lefthander Jimmy Ellis. Bailey former $135,000 bonus star with Pittsburgh, was obtained by the Dodgers in the trade that sent Maury Wills to the Pirates.

Leroy "Satchel" Paige, a baseball pitching legend whose age is believed to be beyond 60, was removed from the Atlanta Braves' active roster and made a coach. The Braves signed Paige last summer to help him complete the 158 days on a major league roster necessary for him to qualify for baseball's minimum pension.

The Cleveland Indians sold first baseman Bill Davis of their Portland roster to the San Diego Padres.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today that it has learned the Padres, who picked shortstop Zoilo Versalles from Los Angeles in the expansion draft, will sell the shortstop to the Indians after the interleague trading period formally begins Nov. 20.

Elmer Norwick Wins Mill Valley Golf

Elmer Norwick won the Mill Valley Golf Club's Guest Day tournament Sunday with a 76-19-57 total, to take it by a stroke.

Second was Paul Davis, 72-14-58, followed by Glenn Goertz, 79-20-59. In a three-way tie for fourth are Ernie Border, 72-11-61; Dr. Dave Schmidt, 75-14-61; and Al Walton, 72-11-61.

32 For Rick As Oaks Win No. 3

OAKLAND (AP) — Last year the Oakland Oaks couldn't win enough games to get out of the American Basketball Association's Western Division cellar. This season the Oaks are the only team to win a game thus far.

Oakland, sparked by Rick Barry's fourth-period surge, won its third straight game without a loss last night as they downed the New Orleans Buccaneers 137-129 to close their three-game road trip.

New Orleans, Indiana and Kentucky are the only teams which have played regular season games this year, all against the Oaks. Each now has an 0-1 record.

The Bucs smothered the 6-foot-7 Barry for most of the game but with eight minutes remaining and New Orleans leading 117-116 he got the Oaks running. Barry finished as high scorer with 32 points. Steve Jones led the Bucs with 28.

of this 1½ mile high city. "Most of the world lives downstairs. They hold the Olympics upstairs. The Games are thrown out of balance."

FOUR GOLDS

Among the United States' 11 medals collected yesterday were four gold, two in yachting and two in swimming, including a 1-2-3 sweep in the the men's 100-meter butterfly.

Doug Russell, from Midland, Tex., led that parade, scoring his first victory over Mark Spitz, the world record holder from Santa Clara, Ross Wales, Youngstown, Ohio, was third. The time was 55.9.

"I thought I could beat Mark, and I was determined to do it tonight," Russell said. "I thought Spitz swam my race and I swam his.

"I made it a point to be with him for the first 75 meters. Mark was a little ahead of me at the turn, but I had too much left and he was too tired."

The defeat knocked Spitz out of a chance to tie or better teammate Don Schollander's record of four gold medals, set in Tokyo in 1964. "The 400-meter medley butterfly leg goes to the winner of the fly," Spitz said.

FOUR ALREADY

Spitz already has two golds for relays, a silver in the butterfly and a bronze for the 100 freestyle. He goes in the 200-meter butterfly, for which he holds the world record, Thursday.

Just 42 minutes after losing to Russell, he swam the third leg on the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team, giving Schollander a lead of about 2½ meters.

Schollander held most of it against an Australian challenge. Russia was a distant third. The winning time was 7:52.3.

Ellie Daniels, Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Shields, Louisville, Ky., were second and third behind Miss McClements' winning 1:05.5 in the women's butterfly.

Of the three finals on today's schedule, the United States, strangely is the underdog to take the gold—in the men's 100-meter backstroke and the men's 200-meter breast stroke, but figure to pick up some seconds and thirds.

DEBBIE

In the other, Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, goes for her second gold in the 200-meter freestyle, in which she holds the world record. With Jane Barkman, Wayne, Pa. and Jan Henne, Oakland, also entered, it could be another American sweep.

Buddy Friedrichs of New Orleans, La., in the Dragon class in Willawaw, and Lowell North of San Diego, with crewman Peter Barrett of Seal Beach, in the Star class with North Star, confirmed their yachting victories that they had clinched the day before.

The United States also picked up a silver in shooting from Lt. John Writer, stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., in the small bore rifle, with 1,156 of a possible 1,200.

The event was won by Bernd Klinger of West Germany with 1,157, and Russian Vitaly Parkhiovich third.

EQUESTRIANS

Another silver came in team equestrian, won by Great Britain with Australia third.

There were a couple of controversies. The Russian equestrian team was found to be using walkie talkies and disqualified. But they were reinstated when they pointed out an interpreter was not present at the briefings.

But in team pursuit cycling, West Germany, first across the finish line, was disqualified when the jury ruled that Jurgen Kissner pushed teammate Karl-Heinz Henrichs, an illegal action.

Denmark, which finished second, was awarded the gold medal and Italy the bronze. A decision on the silver medal will be made later.

JIM MURRAY FROM MEXICO CITY

Olympic Games No Place For A Sportswriter

MEXICO CITY — All right, boss, take back this stopwatch, metric conversion table, binoculars, and send me the collected works of James Baldwin, Richard Wright, and the public utterances of Paul Robeson, Cassius Clay. Get Harry Edwards on the phone.

YOU DON'T need a sportswriter down here, you need a sociologist. I haven't got the foggiest idea how we did in the heats in the 1500. The women's pentathlon is a bigger mystery than usual.

Not much happened in the Olympic Village Friday. We just lost a couple of alternates in the men's 400-meter relay.

You remember when Tommie Smith and John Carlos were going to boycott the Olympics? Well, Friday, the Olympics boycotted them.

THE AMERICAN blacks ere have mistaken the International Olympic movement for the hierarchy of the state of Mississippi.

You wouldn't think you could get in so much trouble with a pair of black gloves unless you slapped a Frenchman across the face with them.

The International Olympic Committee has taken the position Smith and Carlos challenged them to a duel. Their choice of weapons was economic. They gave the athletes 48 hours to get out of the country or pay their own way to stay here.

THE AMERICAN people ponied up over three-quarters of a million dollars to send these youngsters here. They could have gotten someone to insult the flag cheaper than that.

All they required of Tommie Smith was 19 seconds of his time. Carlos, they needed a little longer. There was an Australian between him and Smith.

THE U. S. Olympic Committee doesn't have any problems Abraham Lincoln couldn't solve. No one on the International Committee resembles him very much. Most of these guys have names it takes you five minutes to say and are so full of "vons" and "del la's" that they are hard to pronounce unless you're wearing a monocle or a sword.

Douglas Roby, the American committee president, says they called him on the carpet to explain why he couldn't "control" his athletes. The presumption is no gentleman wears gloves before sundown.

WELL, WE still got 391 athletes in the game, but the last champion to get sacked was in 1936 for drinking champagne (Eleanor Holm). No one ever got it for wearing gloves before.

The uproar was doubtless exacerbated by John Carlos, postrace boasting that what was happening in Mexico City was just a heat compared to what would happen in Munich in '72 when he suggested darkly they would "tear the place down." Generals Bradley, Eisenhower and Montgomery may want to get in touch with him to find out how it is done. They found it took somewhat longer than two weeks and a pair of track shoes when they tried it.

CARLOS' OUTLOOK on white people (whom he accused of treating his people like "ants and roaches") was doubtless colored by the fact he got beat by one of them. Peter Norman treated him like a third-place runner, which was even harder to take.

Carlos' displeasure slopped over to the team bus where he got into a loud, profane, near fist fight with a Californian and ordered a Canadian reporter, Dick Beddoes, to "get to the back of the bus, whitey" when Beddoes tried to make peace.

I arrived at the Village Friday with the innocent intention of interviewing a miler. I found it as a-twitter as an aviary at the approach of a cat, or a raided crap game. "Down with Brundage" banners swung from windows. (Avery Brundage has been as invisible at this Olympics as the amoeba but cursed just as lustily.)

JOHN CARLOS came striding out of Building 11, the American compound, trailing a cloud of cameramen, reporters, television technicians and the whole yelping pack of journalism 1968.

At the stadium later, Carlos and Smith were as available for interviews as a guy running for sheriff, Radio Europe, the BBC, local television and anyone within earshot got the benefit of their combined 49 years of accumulated wisdom.

THE AMERICAN Olympic Committee leaned heavily on the theory that the incident was an insult and "discourtesy" to the "people of Mexico." This will come as a distinct surprise to those of us who could have sworn that was the U. S. flag they were clenching their fists at.

In the Olympic Village courtyard, I got a curious reaction from a Harvard crewman, Jacques Fiechter. The Harvard crew is much better at politics than it is at rowing — which is not saying as much as you might conclude.

"By winning their competition, they won the right to do anything they felt proper," Fiechter concluded, fingering his beard. "It seems to me, in sponsoring an athlete, you don't only sponsor his performance, you sponsor the whole person, the whole consciousness of the athlete. To me, they were justified (in doing this) by their success (on the field). This (the victory platform) was a place they had a right to be, and therefore they could do anything they wanted when they got there."

A NOVEL point of view. Now to the confessional, the altar, the embassy, and the 12-mile limit, you add the Olympic victory stand as a sanctuary, a place where a man is hs own judge, jury and law.

If you've got something to get off your chest, start practicing the 200. We may get our next Hitler out of Lane 4.

AS FOR ME, I feel like a guy who trained for the 100 and got thrown into the steeplechase. Tommie Smith and John Carlos got 48 hours to get out of Mexico. Any direction will do. Under the circumstances, I think I'd better join them. Get Walter Lippmann down here. Or Arnold Toynbee. This thing is just about as athletic as the Vietnam peace talks.

Aerial Trout Plants Enjoy Huge Success

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A 21-gun salute is in order for the California Department of Fish and Game, and to retired senior warden-pilot A. L. Reese, on the completion of 20 years of successful aerial trout plants of back country lakes.

Prior to 1948, the planting of the rainbows and brook trout to high country lakes required a strong back on a horse or mule, big cans of darting trout, careful attention to the temperature of the water throughout the trip and knowledgeable wardens prepared for a lengthy hiking trip.

HIGH COSTS

Even the cost for each 1,000 fish planted soared into high gear as statistics indicated a cost of $18.75 to complete the job of planting the thousand finny battlers in remote mountain lakes.

Then Reese, and the Department of Fish and Game, began the operation which has resulted in the planting of 3,000 mountain lakes regularly by airplane. More than 900 lakes are planted annually with a total of approximately six million fingerling trout.

The DFG uses a twin-engine Beechcraft for the job which requires high altitude flying to the lakes and then swift passages low over the water as the trout releases are made.

AERIAL IDEA

A sharp reduction in the cost of the planting operations occurred when the aerial plant idea was started. Compared to the previous cost of $18.75 per thousand by packmule, the aerial plants reduced that figure to $2.98 per 1,000 fingerlings. Even that cost has now been reduced as increased efficiency and the use of tranquilizing drugs, to permit the carrying of more fish per trip, brought the cost figure down to $1.43 per 1,000 fish planted.

Reese, who retired in 1966, pioneered the aerial planting of trout beginning with experiments in 1946 which determined aerial planting was feasible with a maximum loss of about two per cent to all causes including netting, handling, transporting and dropping. The loss rate, it was found, was no greater than under the old pack-in method.

It was Reese, also, who perfected the system of using tranquilizers in the water to calm the Kokanee and trout during the planting operation and increased the survival rate.

The drops range from a heighth of 200 feet up to 800 feet but normally are about 250 feet above the lake waters.

California pioneered the use of aircraft for fish planting purposes, and, in fact, established the first "Air Wing" for conservation and fish planting purposes.

Technique developments in aeriel planting has resulted in the use of the aircraft to drop wild turkeys into remote areas, and to parachute beaver to their new homes. It seems that the small animals drop gracefully toward their destination, and when they land, the parachute releases the animal.

NO ACCIDENTS

Since Reese has retired, his former assistant, Carrol Faist, 45, now pilots the plane on the planting expeditions. The department proudly reports that during the 20-year span, there have been no accidents or injuries to the pilot or his crew. Reese spent more than 20 years with the department.

The foresight of Reese and the DFG in developing these techniques should be recalled by those readers who pack in to a remote lake to find the fishing is great.

Learn To Dig For Evidence When You Need It For Victory

Counting will help you discover how many cards each opponent holds in each suit, information you sometimes need to make your contract. If the information doesn't lie on the surface of the hand you must dig for it, as South did in today's hand.

DIAMOND SHIFT

West took the top hearts and shifted to the jack of diamonds. South won with the ace of diamonds and saw that his only problem was to locate the queen of spades.

The average player would have two conflicting thoughts. Since West has bid he is more likely than East to have the missing queen. But East, with fewer hearts in his hand, has more room for spades and is therefore more likely to have the queen of spades. With the evidence thus pointing both ways the average player might toss a coin to guess which opponent has the queen of spades.

SURER METHOD

The actual declarer led a club to dummy's nine, ruffed a diamond with the queen of clubs, led a club to dummy's ten and ruffed another diamond. South then drew the last missing trump with the ace of clubs.

South ruffed his last heart in dummy and cashed the king of diamonds. It was now clear that West had started with exactly three clubs and four diamonds.

It was a near certainty that West had started with five hearts for his bid. This was even more likely since if East had held four hearts with his singleton in clubs he would have raised to two hearts.

WEST'S HAND

South summed up what he knew of West's hand: five hearts, four diamonds and three clubs. This accounted for 12 cards, which meant that West could hold only one spade. Declarer therefore cashed dummy's king of spades to dispose of West's singleton and then led a spade to take a marked finesse through East.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K 3 2
♥ Q 3
♦ K 6 5 2
♣ J 10 9 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no trump.

Since you have nine points, you know that the combined count is 25 to 27 points. Even if partner has only a bare 16 points, you have a ten and a nine to bring him closer to the 26 points usually needed for game. If your partner is an inexperienced player you may raise to only two no trump, giving him the chance to stop below game if he has only 16 points.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 22, the 296th day of 1968 with 70 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Gen. Sam Houston was sworn in as first President of the Republic of Texas.

In 1883, the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City staged its grand opening with a performance of "Faust."

In 1953, representatives of France and the Indo-Chinese state of Laos signed a treaty giving Laos its independence.

In 1962, President Kennedy announced anarms blockade of Cuba after Soviet missiles were discovered on the island.

A thought for the day: British playwright George Bernard Shaw, said: "There is only one religion, though there are a hundred versions of it."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Market On Lower Side At Day's End

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed a bit lower today amid a rash of statements about the Vietnam situation.

The market had a slight gain at the start but soon lapsed into irregularity.

Erosion was slow, and most losses were small.

In late trading, however, there were some sharp moves. Bristol Myers dropped several points, and Sinclair advanced around half a dozen. United Fruit dropped sharply.

Prices near the close included:

Brunswick, up ½ at 20; Gulf & Western, up 2¼ at 51¾; Ogden, off 1⅛ at 38; United Fruit, off 3 at 72; General Motors, off 1⅜ at 72; Allied Chemical, up 1 at 36¼; IBA Corp., off 1⅜ at 49⅝; Sinclair, up 5⅜ at 85¼; and Bristol-Myers, off 5¾ at 70.

Among two industrial giants which reported high earnings, Du Pont held a fractional gain while Standard Oil (New Jersey) lost slightly.

A generally lower trend was shown by steels, motors, electronics, rails, utilities, chemicals, oils, drugs and airlines.

Among wider losers, Control Data lost 4, IBM 3, Merck 2, Penn Central and Schering a point each.

American Stock Exchange prices finally followed the example of the Big Board and worked lower in late afternoon after wiping out an initial advance.

Upsurge Forecast For Mutual Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A revolution is enveloping the $50-million mutual fund industry and the opportunities it presents are widespread, says the chairman of the Investment Company Institute.

John R. Haire keynoted the 20th annual International Mutual Fund Dealers Conference yesterday being attended by about 3,000 excutives.

He spoke of the 50,000 life insurance salesmen who will be registered within a year with the National Association of Securities Dealers to sell mutual funds and insurance.

This "revolution", he explained will bring with it questions of commission rates and sales charges, legislation, insider rules, and primarily new competition.

Equal competition, Haire declared, calls for stock exchanges to change rules to permit registered representatives to also sell life insurance.

He pointed out pending legislation would reverse policy of more than 30 years and permit banks to re-enter the equity securities business by selling fund shares.

But, Haire said, just 9 per cent of American households — four million — hold mutual funds, so there is an untapped market of 50 million families.

He told the dealers that the immediate threat to the eight to nine per cent commission charged mutual fund buyers has cooled down.

The rate has been under attack by the Securities and Exchange Commission which feels 5 per cent should be enough.

Haire said even though Congress has rejected SEC proposals for new legislation, the possibility of change still poses a serious challenge to the industry.

Citizens To Advise Novato School Board

A citizens advisory committee to study finances and programs in the Novato Unified School District was created last night by the board of trustees, meeting in the Marion School multi-use room.

The committee will have 30 people selected by the board in about a month from a list of names submitted by various civic organizations and the board members.

The committee will study the district's finances and such programs as speech theraphy, elementary schools librarians, reading specialists and other programs in the district. It will report periodically to the board.

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

CONTRACTS — Awarded an $8,854 contract to Rice, De Martini, Smith Inc. of Novato, lowest of three bidders, to construct two tennis courts at Sinaloa Junior High School, the money to come from community service funds, and a $8,850 contract to Page Construction Co. of Novato, the only bidder, to construct a footbridge at Sinaloa, the cost already budgeted.

PROPERTY SALE — Received an offer, with no amount named, from Little League Inc. to purchase the 2.17-acre ball park beside Rancho School. The board voted to inform the City of Novato of the proposal because it is adjacent to Arroyo Avichi Park and the city council had requested that the district inform it of any proposed sale of school property which might be used for parks. The board also voted to tell the city that it had a $209,632 offer from Eugene McGillicuddy Construction Co. for three acres of the Marion School property along Grant Avenue.

COUNCIL — Received a report that there were 456 members of the Novato Teachers Association, and 25 members of the Novato chapter of the Marin County Federation of Teachers, affiliated with the American Federation of Teachers. The board then allocated eight members on the nine member negotiating council to the Novato Teachers Association and one to the Novato chapter of the Marin County Federation of Teachers.

SIDEWALKS — Postponed any action on the offer of Marin County to pay half the cost of a walkway along the west side of Sutro Avenue from the Pleasant Valley School to Novato Boulevard. The county would pay $4,075, the school district $2,150 and the property owners $2,150 of the $8,300 project.

REPRESENTATIVES — Voted for Mrs. Dorothy Brown of the Dixie School District, and incumbents Laurens Wise of Redwood City school district, Dr. Glen Hayden of Menlo Park City School District and James Cooper of Jefferson Union High School District as representatives on the California School Boards Association from Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo County area.

WARRANTS — Authorized payment of $60,511 in qarrants and $200,641 state school building fund register warrant.

Judge's Son Gets Jail Over Flag

OAKLAND (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Jacqueline Taber sentenced a Superior Court judge's son to 30 days in jail yesterday for desecrating the American flag.

Sentenced was Robert Avakian, 25, a Berkeley writer who is the son of Alameda County Superior Court Judge Spurgeon Avakian.

Young Avakian was arrested July 15 after a flag was cut from a pole outside the county courthouse and an attempt was made to burn it during a demonstration for the release of Black Panther leader Huey Newton.

Next Hospital Session

The next Marin Hospital District board meeting will be at 7 p.m. next Tuesday at Marin General Hospital, not Nov. 29, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Baar To Discuss Senior Housing

L. H. (Bud) Baar, San Rafael councilman and a candidate for the board of supervisors, will speak on housing and a center for senior citizens at a meeting of the Goldenaires at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the city recreation center, Second and Brooks streets.

The Goldenaires are sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department and the meeting is open to all persons over 50.

Additional information is available from the center, through city hall.

Family Life Study Brings Pros, Cons

The Novato School District's family life study program for kindergarten through sixth grade was praised and criticized before more than 300 persons who attended the Novato Unified School District board meeting last night at the Marion School multiuse room.

The board ultimately agreed to hold one or more mass meetings to show parents what material was being presented in the family life program.

Judging from the applause, about one third of the audience seemed against the program and two thirds in favor of it.

The item was placed on last night's agenda at the Oct. 7 meeting when a petition of 26 signatures against the course was given to the board.

Mrs. Carlo D. Canziani of 2378 Dominic Drive, one of the petition signers, that the home and not the public classroom was the proper place to learn the facts of life.

She said that the information being used in the program came from the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States and that Isadore Rubon, editor of "Sexology" magazine was on the council and was a proven communist. She made derogatory remarks about others connected with the council.

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent of instruction, said that none of the material in the course came from the council, but was obtained from books available through the state. He said that the district had used the KQED films "Time of Your Life" last year, but were not using them this year, "because they did not add anything to our own material and were too notorious."

(The materials in the program actually were selected by a committee of 30 citizens after several months of study and adopted by the school board last year.)

Carolyn McBeath, 16, a junior at Novato High School who lives at 1792 Indian Valley Road, said that "children are concerned with sex at an early age."

"That's when I learned the most about it, and I have friends who didn't and they need it," she said.

Her views were supported by Nelson Brinckerhoff, 17, of 26 Harding Drive, a senior at Novato High School.

John C. Anderson of 270 Fairway Drive said that only one in any 25 teachers is capable of teaching the subject.

"Parents need to get communications with their children. We need a night school which parents could go to learn to be parents," said Lawrence S. Witter of 75 Fairway Drive. He urged that school libraries be kept open in the evenings so that these programs could be shown both to parents and children.

Frank Curtin of 1230 Yukon Way said that the course should include the whole being and not just sex.

Rose Rae Kaplan, a school nurse, said that the program was more than just sex. It was an attempt to help children develop their whole being, she said.

"Sex is taught as part of the body the same as the circulatory system or the digestive system," she added.

A. L. Gieleghem of 6 Renata Court thought that the course should be elective with the children.

"If they aren't getting enough sex education at home, then they should be given the choice of taking the course with other children or not taking it," he said.

Board president Dan H. Barber said that it was apparent that there was a great deal of misunderstanding about the program and that it was not just a sex education program. It is a course on the growth and development of all living things, he said.

New Lebanon Cabinet Formed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Premier Abdullah Yafi formed a four-man cabinet Sunday and President Charles Helou withdrew his resignation, ending a 10-day political crisis in this Middle East republic.

The crisis began when Yafi's government resigned and he appeared unable to form a cabinet that satisfied the two opposing blocks in Parliament.

Helou was reported to have submitted his resignation at midnight Saturday. But the speaker of parliament, Kamel el Assaad, refused to accept it, and deputies convinced the president to stay on.

Novato Sets Teacher Talk On Salaries

Novato teachers and the Novato Unified School District board had a standoff last night in an attempt to negotiate salaries for the current fiscal year.

After nearly two hours of debate, the board agreed to have a short school day Monday so that all teachers could meet to discuss salary propositions.

In the meantime, a nine-man teachers' negotiating council will work with supt. James C. Bunker and some board members if possible, at 4 p.m. Thursday, to try to work out some method of financing salaries.

The board then set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 29 to meet with the negotiating council in an open meeting to discuss salaries.

The board last June told both teachers and classified employees that it would consider salary increases when it found out how much federal and state aid it would receive.

The classified employees asked for a 5 per cent cost-of-living increase and teachers asked an 8 per cent increase.

Beverly Alberigi, representing the classified employees, reiterated the request for a 5 per cent increase.

Donald White, president of the negotiating council and vice president of the Novato Teachers Association, asked the board to "use all means possible to authorize the 8 per cent increase."

The present pay range for teachers $6,000 to $12,750. With the 8 per cent raise, the scale would be $6,480 to $13,770.

The NTA proposal would cost the district $456,665 this fiscal year. The group suggested taking $165,000 out of undistributed reserves, $130,000 from public law 874 funds (federal aid for districts serving military bases and $161,655 through reducing other items in the budget.

Jerrold Moore, president of the NTA, and White agreed to work with the district staff and to see how much Public Law 874 money the district will receive. This should be known within a few days, Bunker said.

Several teachers at the rear of the auditorium told the board that they could make more money in other districts.

Robert Aune, a teacher at Novato High School, said he would resign if he got less than a raise of 8 per cent.

John Gardenhire, teacher at Novato High, said, "For six years we've been told you can't do it — well do it! Get the money for it, or resign from the board."

Members of the Novato Chapter of the Marin County Federation of Teachers, passed out mimeographed sheets at the door prior to the meeting suggesting ways in which the district could find the money to increase the salaries. These included abolishing the school bus system and not opening San Marin High, which would leave the high school in split sessions all school year. Novato High uses the campus in the morning and San Marin High in the afternoon.

Helen Keller Play Staged In Summer

William Gibson's play, "The Miracle Worker," is staged at the house Friday nights in the summer months. The play tells the story of Miss Keller's battle to overcome her handicaps of sight and sound.
